Oil Progress Day is to be observed nationally, and Continental Oil Company is participating throughout the country," he said. "I urge everyone who can to take this tour. We will be open every day, and the public is welcome."

Oil Progress Day, Thursday, October 14, has been set aside for the oil industry to report to local communities, by community leaders, said Mr. Robertson, "for the vast ramifications, the petroleum industry is local in character. We—its owners, managers, employees—are just 'folks' like you and your neighbors, and the progress of the industry is of concern to them. The Silvertown Owls rambled to a 31-6 defeat of the Flomot Longhorns. Led by Jett Mason and Donald Rhea, the Owls got off to a slow start but managed to squeeze across a tally late in the first quarter, Jett Mason going over from the 15 yard line on an end run.

The second quarter saw the Owls moving much faster when they scored two times. Rhea bulldozed his way across the double stripe from the 10 yard line with a slash off right tackle. Later in the second period Mason streaked across from the 5 yard line for another marker.

Midway in the third quarter Mason took the ball and behind deceptive blocking twisted and side-stepped his way 40 yards to score standing up. This play provided the fans with much approval as Mason really turned on the steam on this one and nothing could stop him.

The fifth score came in the 4th quarter on a beautifully executed pass play from Rhea to end Wayne Hamilton. The play started on the 40 yard line and culminated across the goal line.

The Longhorns came to town with a woefully weak team but as it was other standouts were Johnnie Bingham, left guard and Jim Mercer, left tackle. Another Owl that showed promise was Jim Howard at end, he spilled the Longhorns for several losses. Billy Satterfield looked good when in the place of Mason. Dick Turner did well on defense.

The Owls go on the road this Friday night, October 8, to take on the powerful Kress Kangaroos at 8 o'clock at Kress. The kangaroos are unbeaten in play this far and have the distinction of holding the class A Lockney Longhorns to a 13-13 deadlock.

The Kangaroos are highly favored to win this one going away; however, the Owls are pointing for an upset. The experts in Kress are giving 3 touchdowns on this one. On the other hand, anything can happen in a ballgame and it might be just as well to spot Kress the 3 touchdowns. This game could determine the district championship.

Captains for the Kress game will be Jett Mason and Flute Hutsell.

Fearless Dog Saves Couple From Two Bears

ANCHORAGE, ALASKA. — A small dog, unawed by a pair of brown bears, went to the defense of its master and his wife, possibly saving their lives.

D. C. Walker, 55, of Kenai had his scalp torn off, his left elbow crushed, an eye injured and fang marks over his body. His scalp was sewed back in place and he is expected to recover.

Walker, his wife and dog, Boots, were returning home from Whitney cannery to dairy farms at the mouth of the Kenai river, where they are caretakers.

Two brown bears broke suddenly from the brush and charged. When 15 feet away one of the bears lunged for the couple. Walker pushed his wife clear, kicked the bear and then fell to the ground to play "dead."

The second bear then charged after Mrs. Walker, who ran back toward the cannery. Boots jumped into the attack and diverted the bear's attention so that it never reached her.

"I tried to play dead and keep under the bear's stomach," Walker said. "But the bear grabbed my head in its mouth. I could feel its tongue working over my head. Then he bit me. I reached up with my left arm to push him away. He crushed my elbow."

By the time Mrs. Walker reached the cannery and help, the dog's barking drew the bear's attention from Walker. The latter started walking toward the cannery.

Mrs. Walker collapsed when she saw her husband still alive.

Badly mangled, Walker was rushed here by plane.

It was the first report of brown bears in the area.

'Valueless' Oil Property Vindicates Convicted Owner

LOS ANGELES. — "Worthless, eh?" said George Leingang in effect as he had his name cleared of a grand theft conviction.

Leingang, 53, of Bakersfield, Calif., was convicted in 1944 of grand theft after two men charged he had sold them valueless oil property in Cuyama valley.

Recently a rich strike was made there. Leingang said that he was now worth nearly a million dollars.

Furthermore, he said, he had paid the two men $6,500 in restitution. The court ordered the conviction wiped off the books.

Alien Cook Learns Quickly About U. S. Wage Minimum

SAN FRANCISCO.—Elsie Schneider, 29, has learned enough since coming to the United States to know she wants more money and shorter hours in her job as cook to the Berkeley household of Dr. Hans M. Huerzeler, Swiss consul here.

Miss Schneider is on strike. While she and the consul general and the immigration service figure out her status, Mrs. Huerzeler and her daughter and even the consul general are doing their best to cook their own meals.

Mrs. Richard G. James told Elsie's story to Berkeley police. The officers had been called when Huerzeler found his cook had moved to Mrs. James' home.

Said Mrs. James: Elsie was brought here by the consul general for domestic purposes. Elsie said she was paid $25 monthly on a 24-hour day, seven-day week basis, with free room and board and time off to go to church.

But she made some friends who told her all about wages and hours, particularly about a scale calling for $130 a month plus room and meals.

The immigration service, reminded by the cookless consul general that Elsie is an alien, ordered an investigation.

Woman Charges Dentist Pulled Teeth Without Her Permission

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind.—A 59-year-old dentist was held on charges of forcing a woman to permit him to yank out 12 of her teeth.

Dr. Jesse R. Bennett said from his jail cell that it was "all a mistake" and then lapsed into silence.

Police said he was unable to post $100 bond on a specific charge of assault and battery.

His alleged victim, Mrs. Margaret Agnew, 33, told authorities that her husband, Morris, 35, invited Bennett to their home to work on her teeth.

She said the dentist arrived with a satchel of tools and her husband went out to buy liquor. She said both of them drank and the dentist forced her to sit in a kitchen chair while he pulled teeth with reckless abandon.

"Every time he'd pull a tooth, he'd take a drink of whiskey," she charged.

Four hours and 12 teeth later, the dentist still had not given her an anesthetic, Mrs. Agnew declared. She said her husband was present throughout the ordeal.

Finally, Mrs. Agnew said, Bennett drank so much that he could pull no more teeth and her husband put him to bed.

Warning By State Health Dept. On Common Colds

Sudden seasonal changes in the weather during the fall months often result in chilling, which in turn is usually followed by widespread incidence of the common cold. This disease always spreads rapidly because of the fact that very few people can live isolated and in any group or crowd without coughing, sneezing and spitting will scatter millions of cold germs among susceptible persons.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State health officer, says that there are countless ways of spreading a cold other than by coughing, sneezing and spitting. "For instance," the doctor said, "if a member of your family has a cold and the other members share a common drinking glass with him, you may expect the whole family to pick up the germs he leaves on the glass. Sometimes a person with a cold thoughtlessly touches his mouth or nostrils with his hand, and then shakes hands with another person. That person can, and very likely will contaminate his own mouth or nostrils with his hand, and the germs are transmitted into his system. A child with a cold may contaminate his toys, and the next child that picks them up and plays with them will certainly obtain the cold germs, along with the toys."

Children, as well as adults, who are suffering from a cold should be put to bed, and if complete rest, light food, and plenty of liquids do not improve his condition in a short time, the family physician should be called. Dr. Cox further advised that dressing properly for the weather, sensible eating, plenty of rest, and avoiding persons with colds can be helpful in preventing your own infection. Colds are costly in time, health, and money, the doctor said, and added, "Prevent them if possible."

VETERANS' NEWS

Prior notice from the Veterans Administration will be sent to veterans whose National Service Life Insurance term policies will start expiring on or after October 8, 1948.

The notice will be sent two months before the expiration date of the original policies. This will give the veterans time to convert their term insurance to a permanent NSLI plan or renew their term insurance for an additional five-year period. Renewals may be made without a physical examination, but at a higher premium rate based on the veterans' attained age at the time of renewal.

VA stressed the fact that veterans who plan to renew their term insurance should submit their renewal application, plus a premium payment, prior to the expiration date of the original term policy.

More than a million and a half veterans were in training under the provisions of the GI Bill on September 1, 1948, VA reported. Over half—871,000—were studying in schools and colleges, with 267,000 enrolled for institutional on-farm training and 414,000 taking training on the job.

"Encouraging progress", especially in the development of new methods of diagnosis, is revealed in first reports from doctors working with the Veterans Administration's radio-isotope research program.

VA revealed that leukemia patients are now being treated with radio-phosphorus in most of the VA hospitals having radio-isotope units. Radio-iodine is being employed to treat some thyroid diseases.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I am a World War II veteran and would like to know if VA will pay my doctor if I go to him for an examination to determine whether I need hospital treatment or domiciliary care?

A—The Government will pay the cost of examinations by a private physician only if Veterans Administration has given the physician prior authority for such examination.

Q—I have purchased my home without a G-I loan. May I secure a guaranteed loan to buy furniture?

A—No.
Q—I am enrolling under the GI Bill in a college that collects tuition in advance. There is a chance that I will be forced to drop out before the end of the semester. Must I refund any money to VA?

A—You must refund the tuition that VA paid for the time you did not attend, or lose the training time covered by these payments.

Q—Is it true that I no longer can reinstate my lapsed National Service Life Insurance policy?

A—No. You still can reinstate your policy on a "comparative health basis" within three months from the date of lapse. If your policy has been lapsed for more than three months, you will be required to pass a physical examination to reinstate. Necessary premiums must be paid.

Our Policy on PONTIAC Deliveries and Prices

Despite the fact that Pontiac has built over a half-million cars since the resumption of production after the war, demand still exceeds supply. In the face of this production record, those who place orders now will still experience some delay in delivery. If you are among the many people who feel that Pontiac represents an outstanding value—and wish to order a Pontiac for future delivery—you will be interested in the following policy on retail distribution which we, as Pontiac dealers, will observe:

WE WANT YOUR ORDER

And the sooner you place it, the sooner you will get delivery. So if you want a Pontiac, order it now.

WE WILL ESTIMATE DELIVERY DATE

Due to conditions beyond our control, we cannot give you an exact date of delivery. But based on anticipated future shipments from the factory, we will, when you place your order, give you an honest estimate of when you may expect your car. Such estimates will be reviewed any time on request.

Since this is our "home town", our business and its future is based on our good relations with the people of this community. We are most happy that so many people here—as all over the country—have made Pontiac their number one choice as a new car.

ORDERS FILLED BY PRIORITY

A definite proportion of the cars we receive from the factory is set aside for preferential delivery to users whose work is in the public welfare and to others with certain occupational requirements. Otherwise, all orders will be filled on the basis of the time when they are received.

YOU PAY ONLY OUR ADVERTISED PRICE

Due to changing economic conditions, we cannot, when you place your order, tell you exactly how much the car will cost when delivered in the future. But, at the time of delivery you will be charged only our advertised price on your model—which will be shown in a published list of local prices.

YOU SPECIFY ACCESSORIES

While most of our customers order their cars equipped with accessories, we do not force accessories as a condition of sale. You specify what accessories you want when ordering your car, and these are the ones (and the only ones) it will carry when delivered. Some items may be lacking due to current shortages; but none will be added.

REGARDING TRADE-INS

Naturally, if you have a car to trade, we would like to have it in order to take care of our regular used car customers. Our appraisals are fair, based on current conditions. But if you do not have a car to turn in, we still want your order and will accept it for delivery based on the conditions outlined above.

Nothing pleases us more than to turn over the keys of a new Pontiac to one of the many people whose orders we have, because we know they have chosen well—for Pontiac is always a thoroughly good car, and a thoroughly good value, this year, next year, any year.

Montague-Teepie Vows Read in Ceremony at Amarillo

Miss Nelda Montague, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Montague and Ray Irwin Teepie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Teepie, were united in marriage Tuesday evening of last week at 7 o'clock in the home of Rev. H. P. Gibson, Austin Street Church of Christ minister in Amarillo.

Attending the wedding were Rinky and LaJuan Ellis of Tulia, friends of the bride and groom. For her wedding the bride chose a pink gabardine suit and carried black accessories. She is a graduate with the class of '48 Silverton High School and the daughter of Briscoe County pioneers. The groom was a member of the graduating class of 1946, and is now in the service of the U. S. Naval Air Corps.

The couple will make their home in Memphis, Tennessee, where he will be schooled in Aerial Photography. Prior to entering the navy he was employed by the Southwestern Wholesale Drug Company at Amarillo.

Recent Bride Is Honored With Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. Arnold F. Pomrenke (nee Louise Grewe) a recent bride, was complimented at a miscellaneous shower given Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Clifford Alard. Hostesses included Mesdames J. E. Wheelock, and R. C. Hutsell; Misses Carrie Dell Waters and Norma Jean Vaughan.

As the guests arrived they were registered by Norma Jean Vaughan. The tea table was laid with African lace cloth and the table center piece was a crystal basket of white and yellow snapdragons. White candles in crystal holder completed the table decorations. Miss Carrie Dell Waters presided over the punch bowl.

Approximately 45 guests registered and sent gifts. Mrs. Pomrenke received many lovely and useful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sanders and Hugh Sanders, of Brice, were in Silverton Wednesday and attended the funeral of Ashel Cross.

Boy Prodigy, 10, Draws Cheers of London Audience

LONDON. — Maestro Pierino Gamba, 10-year-old Italian boy prodigy conductor, has taken London's most critical musical audiences by storm. He even has musicians cheering him.

At his first rehearsal at the Harringway arena, London, little Pierino moved imperiously to the three-step rostrum specially provided for him. He grinned down at the 75 incredulous musicians comprising the Liverpool Philharmonic orchestra.

Then with the assurance of a matador, the piccolo wielded his tiny yellow baton and brought the orchestra through Schubert's Unfinished Symphony without a score. During the interval, the musicians loudly acclaimed this mite in pale blue shirt and short flannel knickerbockers. The three-hour rehearsal proved there was every reason to discount the skepticism which inevitably follows rumors of prodigy.

Critics fell heavily for this infant who peremptorily halted the orchestra, sang the phrases in his fantastic treble, and with vivid energy put them through their paces again.

The orchestra was taken into the intricacies of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony and, if possible, the piccolo's assurance increased. For this is his favorite composition.

The rehearsal was a complete victory for Pierino. The philharmonic's leading violinist, Manoug Parikian, was delighted. Comments ranged from "He's terrific" to "we are amazed."

Pierino has been conducting for two years and knows 33 complete works by memory.

His father, Signor Gamba said: "My son started with his first music lesson on December 5, 1945. A month later he was conducting his first orchestra in Rome."

Critics hail the frail little Italian boy as the only genuine prodigy since Menuhin.

NARCOTICS

Tiny Woman Nabs Thugs

NEW YORK. — Kathryn Barry works from 16 to 18 hours a day, is plenty scared lots of times, shivers miserably in the streets on wintry days, and frequently is forced to wear disreputable looking clothes.

And if you think she feels sorry for herself, you're off the beam. She wouldn't trade her job as a detective, second grade, in the New York city police department's narcotics division for any other job.

"I like my work and I'm glad to help catch these narcotics sellers," Miss Barry said at police headquarters.

On one arrest Miss Barry and four male detectives had a rough time in rounding up their victims. While the other detectives were collaring two men, Miss Barry guarded a third, who was driving a car. He tried to drive off, but she clung to the running-board of the car, fought off his punches as he tried to shove her off, and quelled him by flashing her gun.

Weights 125 Pounds. Although a good scrapper in a pinch, Miss Barry is only 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighs 125 pounds, and has steady blue eyes and a pleasant, soft pitched voice. She can get along fine on four hours' sleep a night, she says; so, winding up her working day anywhere between 3 and 6 a. m. is no hardship. On her weekends she relaxes with her favorite pastimes of golf and bridge.

Miss Barry has been in the police department since 1939, joining in the middle of training for her first rather reluctantly chosen career-teaching.

Her first assignment was with the bureau of police women. She went from there to the juvenile aid bureau, then to the sabotage squad, doing undercover work during the war years, and finally to her present post.

Miss Barry always works with a male partner on a case, separating from him only when it is necessary to do so in order to trail someone. The nature of their job determines whether they'll be working in their car, on foot or in subways or cabs. In the car she carries three changes of clothes and two wigs.

Scared Most of the Time. Asked if she ever was scared, Miss Barry grinned.

"Truthfully, yes—about 90 per cent of the time. But it's mostly when everything is all over. That's the time I get shaky. It's been touch and go several times. Once we were after two men who had big connections in narcotics. One was a prize fighter and the other was 6 feet 3 inches and weighed about 250 pounds. One attempted a break, but then he stopped. He said he was more nervous with a woman than a man because he knew a woman was sure to shoot."

Occasionally comedy has mixed with peril in her career, and Miss Barry didn't mind telling a joke on herself.

"One time we were waiting to enter an apartment and someone came out of another place," she related. "I ducked behind a door and landed below in a coal heap. I showed up really in disguise—blackface."

French Newspaper Chastises People for Lack of Manners

PARIS.—It's a sad state of affairs when Frenchmen have to be reminded one never kisses the hand of a lady in the street, and never, never blows one's nose during a meal.

That's the opinion of the weekly newspaper, France Dimanche, which sadly admits that French manners aren't what they used to be.

"The exquisite politeness for which the Frenchman used to be famous abroad is nothing more than a memory now," the paper moans.

Some of the taboos: Never offer jewels to a married woman without first getting her husband's approval.

In drinking, keep your eyes on the bottom of your glass and never on your neighbors.

Don't dunk your bread in your coffee, blow your nose or blow your nose during a meal.

It is bad taste to bring flowers to your hostess. One gives the impression of wanting to pay one's check in advance.

And, of course, kissing hands on the street is definitely out. Whether the lady wears gloves or not has no bearing.

Photographer Saves Eyes of Diver From Serious Injuries

BALTIMORE.—Fritz Dorah, deep-sea diver, can see today because of the heroism of a Baltimore press photographer.

The photographer, A. Aubrey Bodine, is nursing second-degree burns of his "shutter hand."

Dorah, encased in his deep-sea helmet, was preparing to descend into Baltimore harbor when someone handed him a lit cigarette.

The cigarette ignited the oxygen in Dorah's diving suit just as Bodine snapped his camera shutter.

The photographer dropped his camera and thrust his hand into the blazing helmet to save Dorah's eyes.

Mail Order Auto Market Discussed By Two Firms

Detroit, September 28th—The Kaiser-Frazer Corporation and Sears Roebuck Company are in the preliminary stages of a deal which would permit the mail order house the right to distribute Kaiser and Frazer automobiles, a spokesman for the auto concern disclosed Monday. He said the deal was "in the early stages" and probably would not be completed for at least two months.

It was the first revelation Kaiser-Frazer Corporation and Sears were engaging in negotiations along this line. "Sears has long been interested in marketing passenger cars through its retail outlets as well as by catalog," the spokesman said, "and Kaiser-Frazer has also shown interest in such a tieup." Should the deal be successful, it would be the first time that automobiles have been marketed through mail order catalog basis, the spokesman disclosed.

COOKED ELECTRICALLY

There's little "kitchen heat" from an electric range, even when you have all the cooking units and the oven in operation. When you cook electrically, you use only enough current to heat the cooking utensil, none is wasted to heat up your kitchen. With dependable electricity, and the scientific construction of heating units on your electric range, you can cook many dishes with the cooking unit "off," once it's heated.

Those are just a few of the reasons why more and more folks are going "all-electric." Look over the new ranges, refrigerators, roasters, and other appliances and see if you, too, won't want to go "all-electric."

You'll find electric living is low-cost living.

CAP ROCK SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT

One of the most important objectives in the sound management of range lands is to bring about improvement of the native vegetation so that this protective cover will properly sustain the livestock industry by furnishing the water sheds. A soil, to be fertile and contain the essential plant elements and an abundance of microscopic life that has the power of converting minerals and nitrogen into forms available for plant consumption. The microscopic life thrives in decaying organic refuse from plants, which in turn benefit from the plant food thus made available.

The roots of most desirable pasture grasses are found in greatest abundance in the first 15 inches of the soil, and when abundant and vigorous under good management, they offer a binding understructure resistant to the eroding forces of wind and water. This layer of roots with the accompanying turf cannot survive. Plant leaves and stems shield the soil against the impact of down-pouring rain, when unprotected the soil is muddied by pelting raindrops and the fine soil particles tend to seal the microscopic pores through which the water and air enter. Soil absorption of water is appreciably less when the water is muddy. The surface stubble also acts as a buffer, holding and slowing the flow of water and, in winter, catching and holding snow, therefore, increasing the penetration of water into the soil. The removal of this highly useful cover causes many of the soils to shed water very rapidly into rills and small gulches that may combine to cause floods.

When too intense grazing is introduced into the semi-arid range country, the normal trend in plant succession is reversed and there appears a type of vegetation less able to protect the soil or provide adequate forage for livestock. The most palatable forage species are the first to be thinned out by hungry stock, and in the absence of competition by the most desirable plants, less palatable species become more abundant, and the range deteriorates. Many of these less palatable species, such as thistles, pigweeds, sunflowers, and certain perennial shrubs are less desirable also from other standpoints. Most of them have single taproots incapable of binding the soil into durable sod. Consequently the less protected top layer of fertile soil is subjected to serious erosion and may be transported for many miles by wind or territorial rains that wreck havoc in heavy floods. Adequate protection to such soils is possible only with increased vegetation, and this, in turn, is often practicable only by making greater moisture supplies available to the plants.
