John T. Haynes took upon his own shoulders this week the responsibility of securing donations to pay Silvertown's share that had been pledged, to pay for the swimming pool, at the Boy Scouts Camp northeast of Silvertown. The response was so great that it even surprised Mr. Haynes. The pool was finished last week and Sunday a number of people drove out to see it and make pictures. At the time Mr. Haynes made his report on donations, he stated they had about 10 feet of water in the pool.

The money donated will be used to pay their part on the pool, and to construct a first aid building, and other improvements on the ground.

ACA AIDS WILD-LIFE WITH WATER SUPPLY

In addition to millions of acres of land saved and improved, the conservation practices carried out by farmers participating in the Agricultural Conservation Program are proving a boon for wild-life, says the Briscoe County ACA Committee. Stock-water ponds and small irrigation reservoirs constructed under the program are furnishing over-night stops for ducks in their flights from north to south in the fall and back again the next spring. Ducks soon locate these small bodies of water and use them.

Many of these ponds are being stocked with fish which furnish both sport and food. This is an extra dividend on the investment in conservation. Stocking with fish doesn't interfere with the effectiveness of the dam and pond in conserving soil and water.

Woodlots and windbreaks established under the program as soil and water conserving practices are furnishing protection and nesting places for game birds. They are adding to the beauty of the countryside. But, the committee points out, all of these are just extra dividends. The purpose of the practices is to keep soil from washing and blowing away and to hold moisture needed to grow crops.

Miss Joan Morton, of Canyon, spent the week end with her cousin, Miss Lorraine Houghton.

HOW'S YOUR HOME HARMONY?

Peace and harmony—like charity—begin at home. Family harmony is the foundation of world harmony and peace.

Mrs. Eloise Johnson extension family life education specialist of Texas A. and M. College, says that living together is like singing together, and family members are like members of a choir. A good choir achieves harmony through continued cooperation and practice. Each member of the choir has his own part and each blends with the others to make real harmony.

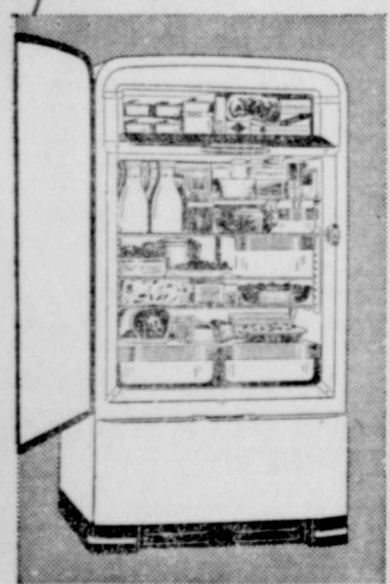

The family voices differ in pitch and volume, she points out. Each one must learn how to make the most pleasing tones possible and to sing with the rest of the family.

"You can measure your own signs of happy home living," she says. "Take stock of your family and home harmony occasionally. You may be surprised at the results."

Questions by which home harmony can be checked include: All family members have a share in making decisions and plans; all members of the family share in the work of the home; the family has a plan for spending that helps each member learn the wise use of money; the family knows the importance of religion and attend Sunday school and church regularly, and the family is interested in community affairs and accepts responsibilities in the community.

"Through practice in cooperative planning, working, playing and praying together, the family can achieve harmony in home living, which is the strongest hope for individual and world peace," Mrs. Johnson concludes.

PREACHER AND FARMER

This is how I threshed grass seed like little bluestem," said Reverend Olen E. Waldrip to Limestone County Agent M. H. Brown, Jr. Reverend Waldrip is pastor of the First Baptist Church at Grosebeck and a Limestone county farmer.

Reverend Waldrip picked up a handful of seed hay and struck it against 20 six-penny nails that were driven in the wall. The downy little bluestem seed were stripped from the stems and settled to the floor when the stems were pulled through the nails.

After threshing a while, he swept up the seed and sacked it. "All this grass came from the park," said Mr. Waldrip. He goes out there every few days, cuts the ripe seed hay by hand and stacks it in a dry shed. Mr. Waldrip says he plans to use this seed in a reproduction plot next spring, and will put the straw out on the pasture. The straw still contains some seed.

Mr. Waldrip has a badly eroded hillside pasture on his farm that he is experimenting with. This hillside grows bluebonnets, johnsongrass, bur-clover and weeds of all kinds. He has already seeded sweet clover, and plans to improve the grasses as he produces the seed.

Little bluestem is only one of several. Mr. Waldrip now has a plot of subterranean clover, and the seed for an acre of KR bluestem. Last spring with a garden rake he harvested about 100 pounds of spotted bur-clover seed on a vacant lot in town.

"I'm going to build the best pasture in Limestone county," says Brother Waldrip. And County Agent Brown says he probably will if he keeps up at his present rate.

Because people don't spend enough time making little things grow into big ones, harvesting, testing to local conditions, and multiplying seed, many new grasses have never got into production from the experimental plots.

The excellence of yellow beard-grass has been known in the experimental plots for a quarter of a century, says Robert R. Lancaster, extension pasture specialist of Texas A. and M. College. It needed some one like Brother Waldrip to get it started. Lancaster highly commends Mr. Waldrip's work.

BIG GUN

Do the initials "UL" mean anything to you? If not, take a look at practically any standard electrical appliance, or at a long list of commodities used in industry, agriculture and the home. You'll find that UL stands for Underwriters' Laboratories, whose seal of approval is known as the "label that keeps death away."

The laboratories were founded as a non-profit activity in 1894, and are sponsored by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Their job is to test items for fire safety. Since the founding more than 375,000 items have gone through the mill. Over 3,500 manufacturers gladly pay the cost of the tests, because the label, as an article in Coronet magazine says, "is a symbol of real safety to millions of Americans." And, once an article has been tested and approved, the job isn't over. At intervals follow-up tests are made by the laboratories' 600-man staff. If it is found that a manufacturer has reduced his standards, and is producing a product of dubious safety, authorization to use the label is canceled at once.

The tests are rigorous, complete and ingenious. As a result, UL's judgment is accepted everywhere. Four times a year, for example, the U. S. government distributes a list of devices which it has approved.

The work of UL is one of the big guns in the war against fire. It is a work which becomes constantly more important, as new appliances and products, which may involve serious fire and shock hazards, are produced. Wise buyers always look for the UL label on anything which may involve a fire risk.

Science Answers Questions About Moths and Fleas

WASHINGTON.—Does a moth chewing your best suit sound like a person munching corn flakes? (Answer: yes.)

How far can a flea jump? Answer: Some farther than others. Sure, you know all about uranium, mesons, neutrons and all that atomic stuff—but how well informed are you on some of the other frontiers of science?

A Cornell university scientist wanted to know what sort of sound a moth makes while chewing fabrics.

He served a moth larva in a cloth sack. The larva had to chew his way out. As he did so, the scientist made a phonograph record of it.

The noise was indeed like a man eating corn flakes.

Scientists once became interested in how far a flea can jump. It turned out some fleas can jump farther than others. Sounds silly, but out of the study these scientists were able to help solve the riddle of bubonic plague.

Fleas Can Jump. It showed that fleas can jump from dead rats to live rats and man and thus revealed how they carry and spread the plague, the Black Death of the Middle Ages that killed millions of people.

These scientists were so curious they even counted the number of plague germs the flea's stomach could hold—5,000. And then they learned a curious thing.

This plague flea belches. If he is feeding on a human being, and belches, he acts as a living hypodermic needle.

A lot of big men are doing a lot of little things that next week or 20 years from now may add years to your life, or make earning a living easier. (Or they may produce a military weapon more deadly than the atom bomb.)

Climate and Baldness. English scientists want to know whether climate, and some other things have anything to do with baldness in men.

They decided a study of the upper lips of women—where fuzz sometimes grows—might produce some important facts about the ability of people to grow hair. They're giving the upper lips of women in Great Britain, Sweden and some other countries the once-over.

Preliminary findings seem to indicate there may be a relationship between baldness and the thickness of the skull, that the thicker the skull the more hair.

Army scientists are curious about how the mosquito found G.I.s concealed in foxholes in the deepest jungles of the South Pacific. They've decided the odor of perspiration may attract mosquitoes, but they're testing other scents, too.

When Gas Rationing Comes, Here's How to Save Fuel

DETROIT.—With the anticipated gasoline shortage, particularly in the Midwest, the engineering division of the Chrysler corporation has conducted tests to demonstrate how gasoline savings up to 70 per cent can be achieved.

W. B. Rice, director of service, reported that the secret of the savings lay in:

1. Proper tune-up of the car, including ignition, carburetion, cooling system, oil change and chassis lubrication, and steering and brake adjustments.

2. Employment of proper driving techniques in handling foot throttle and brakes.

Tests showed that the first 10 per cent of savings were achieved by a tune-up of the car, Rice reported.

Moderate acceleration and braking showed a 60 per cent greater mileage over the "quick stop and start artists," he added.

One test over a 10-mile course in heavy traffic in Detroit showed that the moderate starting and stopping driver made 50 per cent fewer stops and averaged only 2 per cent slower speed.

Professor Claims Solar System Has 'Lost' Planet

COLUMBUS, OHIO.—The solar system once may have had 10 principal planets instead of the present known nine.

That is the theory of Dr. Carl A. Bauer of the University of Michigan observatory.

Bauer told a meeting of the American Astronomical society that his theory is based on a long-standing hypothesis. The belief is that such a planet also was the parent of the thousands of asteroids or minor planets which inhabit the portion of the solar system between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter.

The supposed planet, Bauer said, would have had a make-up similar to that of the earth; nickel-iron ore, intermediate shell of stony-metallic material and an outer mantle of rock. The planet probably was smaller than the earth and therefore solidified earlier, he added. Bauer estimated that the planet exploded several hundred million years ago.

PARASITES COST MONEY TOO

Most of the stockmen know there hasn't been much grass in the pastures and on the range this year. There hasn't been enough to feed the cattle, so there sure isn't enough to feed the cattle parasites too. But lots of farmers and ranchmen are feeding them, and it's costing an awful lot of money to do so, says C. A. King, associate extension entomologist of Texas A. and M. College.

Cattle that are free of parasites have a better appearance, are healthier and more productive than cattle that have to keep switching flies off, or rubbing against the fencepost to scratch the ticks. Cattle lice and four kinds of ticks are the parasites that bother cattle most in the winter time.

Cattle are bothered by lice more in the winter and early spring when the hair is long, so the best time to treat cattle for lice is the fall of the year. Both rotenone and DDT are good for the control of lousy cattle. If you use rotenone, two treatments two weeks apart will give a good lice control. Here's the recipe: one pound of 5 percent rotenone and 10 pounds of wettable sulphur for each 100 gallons of water. Or you can use 50 percent DDT wettable powder to each 100 gallons of water.

Four ticks common to Texas cattle are the Lone Star tick, the spinose ear tick, the Gulf Coast ear tick and the winter tick. All are blood suckers and cause the cattle to lose weight if there are enough ticks.

The Lone Star tick can be controlled by dipping every two weeks, beginning when the first ticks are found and stopping when they are gone. Eight pounds of 50 percent wettable DDT in 100 gallons of water used as a spray or dip is recommended for tick control. The spinose ear tick is a common cattle parasite throughout most of Texas, and can be controlled by treating the ears of livestock with Stock 1029, using a small paint brush. Also it's important to treat all salt, mineral and feed troughs with equal parts of kerosene and lubricating oil. The Gulf Coast ear ticks are found in a 100 mile area from the coastline along the Gulf of Mexico. A good treatment inside the ear and out with Stock 1037 kills any ticks present and holds them off from three to six weeks. The winter tick is found down around San Antonio. A spray or wash with eight-tenths percent DDT will get rid of these winter ticks. Farmers and stockmen will notice better and bigger gains on their livestock if they keep the lice, ticks and mites away, especially during the winter months, says King.

48 hours pay for 40 hours work
Penalty pay for weekends & holidays
25¢ an hour increase
Total 1 1/2 BILLION DOLLARS

1 1/2 Billion Dollar Road Block!

RAILROADS MUST OPERATE around the clock every day and night of the year.

Although they know this, leaders of 16 railroad unions are demanding a five-day, Monday through Friday, week for one million railroad employees.

They want 48 hours pay for 40 hours work—in itself a 20% wage increase.

They also demand a minimum of 12 hours pay for any work performed on Saturdays, and 16 hours pay for any work performed on Sundays and holidays.

On top of all this they want an additional increase of 25c an hour for every employee!

You'd Pay the Bill!

Summing up these demands, they mean that these union leaders seek to force the railroads to give one million employes an annual raise which would average $1500 per employe!

The total cost of this would be no less than 1 1/2 billion dollars per year, which is more than twice the expected net income of the railroads this year.

You'd pay the bill, because if these increased costs are forced on the railroads, they must have still further rate and fare increases.

Demands Unreasonable

These employes have had substantial raises during and since the war. Their average weekly earnings are higher than the average weekly earnings of workers in manufacturing industries. They have more job security than the average worker in American industry. They also enjoy paid vacations, a retirement system and other advantages more generous than the average worker receives.

In contrast with the demands of these 16 unions, which add up to the equivalent of 48c an hour, the Conductors and Trainmen recently settled their wage request for an increase of 10c an hour.

Railroads Run for Everybody—Not Employes Alone

The railroad industry must serve not only many groups—producers, businessmen, shippers, passengers and the general public—night and day, every day of the year. These unions are proceeding in utter disregard of this important difference between railroads and other industries. Industrial plants can be shut down over weekends and holidays, but freight, mail, express and passengers must continue to move. Everybody who enters railroad employment knows this.

Strike Threat

On September 18, 1948, the leaders of these 16 unions began taking a strike vote. But the threat of a strike will not alter the opposition of the railroads to such unreasonable demands!

Duck
Takes His First Swim

LITTLE FERRY, N. J.—A duck named "Dopey," which meets its young mistress at the bus, finally has taken its first swim in four years.

Miss Diane Zimmerman has been trying ever since she acquired Dopey as a duckling to interest him in the water.

Dopey demurred.

But the reluctant duck finally flew through an open window, and, when found, apparently had overcome his fear of the water. He was riding serenely in Willow lake.

It took an hour to coax him out.

Clerk Gambles U. S. Funds on Horses; Loss: $40,000

LOS ANGELES.—A sad story of afternoons playing the races and nights worrying about his losses followed the surrender of a trusted postal clerk.

Andred A. Benson, 40, chief clerk at the Inglewood, Calif., post office and a 20-year veteran of the service, acknowledged embezzlement of $40,000 in government funds to Howard V. Calverly, U. S. commissioner, with the statement, "I couldn't believe any man could lose so consistently."

Benson said he wound up "without a dime" when Hollywood park, located in Inglewood, closed. Lee Miller, postal inspector, said Benson surrendered and declared:

"The horses got me. I couldn't sleep or eat. I knew the federales would pick me up some day, so after Hollywood closed I decided to give myself up and get it over with."

Married and the father of a child, Benson is held in default of $2,500 bond for a federal grand jury. In his county jail cell, he said:

"I was a $2 punter when Santa Anita opened. Gradually I increased my bets to $5 and $10 on the nose. My luck was bad, I got in the hole worse and worse. I tried to get out by playing long shots. They lost. I bet big sums on favorites. They also lost."

He said $1,000 was his largest bet, but he couldn't remember the horse's name. He did remember, however, that it lost.

The $3,900-a-year clerk said he was $22,000 in the hole at the start of the last week of racing at Hollywood park and in a desperate effort to "get even," took $18,000 more of the postal receipts and lost it all.

"I juggled the accounts to cover my defalcations," inspectors quoted him. "Now it's all gone, along with my reputation."

Rocket Mail Delivery Not Recognized by Postmaster

TRONA, CALIF.—The rocket mail didn't go through.

Youthful scientists sent eight rockets loaded with 4,200 letters soaring a mile across dry Searles lake practically into the Trona postmaster's lap.

But that functionary, Don B. MacPherson, refused to accept the mail for sending because it bore stickers resembling U. S. stamps.

Sponsors of the rocket experiment, Reaction Research Society of Glendale, said they had stamped all envelopes "not U. S. postage" as instructed by U. S. District Attorney James Carter of Los Angeles.

The rockets are of stainless steel, 11 feet long and 3 inches slim. Their testers, mostly junior college physics students, claim they go 400 m.p.h. and 4,000 feet high. The young scientists foresee a future transcontinental rocket mail service.

But somebody had better tell the postmasters first.

Toothless Boy, 12, Gets Third Set of False Teeth

DES MOINES.—Twelve-year-old Tommy Black of Shenandoah, Iowa, is having his third set of false teeth made.

The strange case of Tommy—who never has had a tooth of his own—was told at the Iowa Dental society convention by Dr. Joy A. Rotton of Shenandoah.

Dr. Rotton said he fitted Tommy with his first set of dentures when the lad was only eight years of age.

Before getting his first dentures, Tommy could eat only soft foods.

"Now he eats apples, corn on the cob and anything he wants," Dr. Rotton said.

He added he never heard of another child so young with a full set of false teeth.

Trapped Bull in Silo Gives Farmer a Baffling Problem

NEW HAMPTON, IOWA.—Farmer Orvin Knutson has a two-horned dilemma at the bottom of his silo.

A 1,200-pound Guernsey bull fell into the pit, and Knutson doesn't know what to do about it.

Along with a nice set of horns, the critter has such a mean disposition that Knutson doesn't want to descend into the narrow confines to attach hoisting belts.

He said it would cost more than the animal is worth to knock an exit hole through the silo walls. But the animal has not been fattened for slaughtering, he added.

Besides, Knutson has three feet of silage which would be spoiled in the killing.

Supervisors for Cap Rock District—Earl I. Cantwell, Chairman; Obra Watson, Bray H. Cook, L. A. McJimsey and Bill Holmes.

Last December 1, Obra Watson, one of the Supervisors of the Caprock Soil Conservation District planted a three acre patch of winter peas on his farm two and one-half miles northwest of Silverton. Last May these peas were cut and put in his barn to dry. Last October Watson ran these peas and vines through his combine and obtained 100 pounds of seed. These peas were not irrigated. Watson spread the crop residues from these peas over his garden as a mulch to prevent erosion as well as to build up the organic content of his soil. Year before last Earl Cantwell, also a Supervisor whose farm is located in the Rock Creek Conservation Group, harvested 2,200 pounds of winter pea seed from two acres. Cantwell's farm is subject to irrigation but these peas made their growth without being irrigated.

The Board of Supervisors of this district had their regular monthly meeting last Wednesday, October 13, with all members present. The Board reorganized for the coming year with Earl Cantwell, selected as chairman, Bray Cook, vice-chairman, Obra Watson, secretary, and L. A. McJimsey was selected to be the treasurer. R. L. Brunson, who succeeded Bill Helms as Supervisor of sub-division No. 5, was welcomed into the group by the other members. During this meeting applications for assistance were approved for W. E. Autry, and J. M. Thompson. Conservation plans between the district and farmer were Obra Watson, Lee D. Bomar, and Bert Hawkins were also approved by the board of supervisors.

Ben Whitfill, a cooperor of the South Silverton group of the Cap Rock SCS District had SCS technicians locate a high point on his place for an additional irrigation well last week.

Recent Bride Honored With Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. Ray Teeple, nee Nelda Montague, was complimented at a miscellaneous shower given Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Bud McMinn. Hostesses included Mrs. George Seaney, Mrs. Lottie Henderson, Misses Shirley Haynes and Fayree McMinn.

As the guests arrived they were greeted by the receiving line: Mrs. Bud McMinn, Mrs. Ray Teeple, Mrs. Dan Montague, Mrs. Raymond Teeple. The guests were registered by Miss Shirley Haynes and taken to room with gifts on display by Fayree McMinn, then to the diningroom where punch and angel squares were served from a lace covered table centered with yellow dahlias. Misses Helen Beth Joiner and Tresia Crass poured the punch. Sixty-five guests registered and many sent gifts that could not come. Mrs. Teeple received many useful gifts. Mrs. Teeple left Wednesday morning to join her husband at Nashville, Tennessee.

Yum-Yum Elephant Eats $117

ARLINGTON, OHIO.—What does an elephant like better than peanuts? A. A. Hall, a railroad telegrapher here, says $117.45—and just a little hay on top, please.

Hall made his day's receipts into a little package and then threw the package into the baggage car of a New York Central passenger train. Only, Hall discovered too late, it wasn't a baggage car. It was a freight car full of circus elephants. By the time Hall roused the animals' keeper and got into the car to rescue his money there was nothing left but a satisfied expression between two tusks.

Sardine Scarcity Plagues Pacific Coast Canneries

MONTEREY, CALIF.—The little sardine has become a big problem. The problem is faced not only by the 75 million dollar Pacific coast sardine industry with its 12,000 fishermen and additional thousands of cannery workers, but also by housewives, farmers and scientists.

Its effects reach even to the hungry and starving peoples of Europe and the Far East. The problem is the absence of the sardine from his usual haunts along the Pacific coast.

Catches of sardines have fallen drastically in the past few years. From peak year totals of 700,000 tons, last year's catch fell to a mere 124,000 tons.

That means not only a vast reduction in the number of those familiar tins of sardines on grocers' shelves, but an even greater reduction in the amount of oil and meal available.

Oil from the sardine is used extensively in such everyday necessities as soap, cooking fats and oils, cosmetics, high-grade paints and varnishes, glycerine and vitamins.

Why the sardines are missing is a mystery. The best explanation, as advanced by experts in the field, is that overfishing played the most important part in the depletion.

Experts couple that with two other factors: 1—Poor spawning conditions. 2—Possible changes in ocean currents taking the fish on new uncharted paths.

Texan Retires Faithful Model 'T' to Stable Life

EL PASO, TEX.—The Texan who recently retired his 29-year-old car, saying he wanted it to die in the stable like an old faithful horse, took delivery of its successor—a spanking, new jeep station wagon and vowed that it would "last 29 years, too."

"It has everything that old Model 'T' had, and took me over a half million miles. There's no reason the jeep shouldn't last that long. The question is, can I?"

He figures what finally licked his old bus was the difficulty of getting spare parts. It wasn't too comfortable anymore, either.

The jeep distributor in El Paso asked him if he wanted to trade it in.

"No, sir!" was the prompt reply. "That car isn't going to finish its days as some beaten up 'hot-rod.' It is going right into my garage where it can take it easy, just like an old horse that has given faithful service."

Science to Stare 65 Million Miles at Mars for Life Signs

CHICAGO—University of Chicago scientists are getting ready to take a look at Mars with a newly developed electronic device to see if there's any life on the planet.

The device, called a spectral recorder, can analyze matter millions of miles out into space. It will be hooked up to McDonald observatory's 82-inch reflecting telescope at Fort Davis, Tex., when Mars comes within 65 million miles of earth—the closest until 1950.

The astronomers want to know if the green patches on Mars are identical to vegetation growing on earth and whether polar caps are composed of frozen moisture.

They said that if there was thriving plant life on Mars there was a possibility that animal life existed, although probably of a different evolutionary nature than that on earth.

Wolves Find Way to Escape From Circle of Red Hunters

MOSCOW.—The favorite method of hunting wolves in Russia is to make a ring of red flags around the place where the wolves are thought to be hiding. A small gap is left in the ring and here the hunters wait to open fire when the wolves make for the gap.

For hundreds of years this method of hunting has been successful for the wolves feared to run through the cordon of waving red flags. But now some educated wolves in the Moscow area have learned to run through the flag ring and thus avoid the hunters.

It is essential to kill the wolves, says a Moscow paper, because they prey on elks, of which there are nearly 3,000 in the Moscow province forest areas.

Woman Bequeaths Millions to Small Coal Mining Town

PITTSBURGH, PA.—A little coal mining town 30 miles from Pittsburgh inherited millions of dollars left it by a wealthy Philadelphia woman.

Mrs. Mary Fuller Frazier, who inherited several million dollars in 1918, left all but $210,000 of her estate to the village of Perryopolis. Her will was filed for probate.

The amount of the estate was not made known. She inherited $1,350,102 in personal property and a large share of seven million dollars in real estate 30 years ago from her uncle, Alfred M. Fuller of Perryopolis.

After making 18 specific grants totaling $110,000 and setting up a $100,000 trust fund to provide a watchman and constant upkeep for the family mausoleum in Perryopolis, Mrs. Frazier left all the rest for public improvements to the tiny community of 1,300 persons.

Mrs. Frazier explained in her will that Perryopolis was the place where "I was born and lived, and where my father and mother lived and my grandfather and grandmother lived."

One-half of the bequest is to be used outright for "public improvements," while the remainder will be held in trust for the purpose of maintaining the improvements.

Michael Karolik, grocer, theater operator and fire department chief in Perryopolis, said the money would be used to have the streets paved, public school repaired, a library built and the Perry township high school equipped with a stadium.

Home Owner Discovers Alcohol in Water Taps

RARITAN TOWNSHIP, N. J.—John McSorley thought there was something queer about the water in his housing development home. A test showed 12 to 33 per cent alcohol.

The explanation, supplied by the water department:

The builders put alcohol in the pipes to prevent freezing during construction and apparently some had not been removed when the pipes were drained. Apparent lack of a check valve allows the alcohol to back into the water supply line when the water pressure is low.

Absent-Minded Professor Forgets Back-Seat Driver

CHARLOTTESVILLE, IND. — W. J. Cunningham, 72, Cambridge, Mass., a retired professor in the Harvard graduate school of business, and his wife, Ethel, 64, were driving home from a 6,000-mile vacation trip to the West coast.

He stopped the car at Greenfield, Ind., to look at a road map. Mrs. Cunningham got out to mail a postcard.

Forty-five minutes and 30 miles later, Cunningham was driving along U. S. 40 when he noticed his wife wasn't in the car.

Cunningham started back to find her. En route, he stopped at Knightstown, Ind., and called a state policeman. Cunningham parked his car and joined Trooper Fred Forst. Meanwhile, Sheriff Jack Rubush saw a well-dressed woman walking on the road with a crowbar in her hand.

"Are you in trouble?" he asked. "No," the woman replied. "But I'll tell you a funny story about an absent-minded professor."

Rubush drove Mrs. Cunningham to Charlottesville and there they met Forst and Cunningham.

Farmerette Complains Because Driller Strikes Oil on Land

FRISTOE, MO.—When a well driller told Mrs. Lou Brooks Thomas, 73, that he had struck oil on her farm, she objected.

"All I want is good drinking water," she said, "and you can't get that from an oil well."

Bill Barnes, the driller, related that he hit a pocket of oil while re-drilling a water well on Mrs. Thomas' farm, near this west-central Missouri town.

Mrs. Thomas ordered the well sealed with concrete and another one drilled nearby. In drilling the second well, Barnes reported finding a similar rock formation and a slight coating of oil on the water at 102 feet. Mrs. Thomas told him not to go any deeper. She said she was afraid he might strike oil again.

Bald Law Student Defeats Coeds for Queen Title

UNIVERSITY, MISS.—A slightly bald law student, Frederick T. Carney, defeated three coeds in a queen election at the University of Mississippi.

Billed as "the candidate with the fringe on top," Carney led the field with 610 write-in votes.

In a campaign speech he said: "Gen. William T. Sherman said, 'If I'm nominated, I'll not run; if I'm elected I'll not serve.' If I'm elected I will serve."

But the student executive council ruled Carney out because he had not submitted his candidacy before the deadline. They ordered a run-off between a couple of the girls.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—On what priority basis is a World War I veteran admitted to a Veterans Administration hospital?
A—Emergency cases have first priority; those suffering from injuries incurred in or aggravated by wartime service are next on the priority list, and those who swear they are unable to pay hospital charges for nonservice-connected disabilities or illnesses are third. The latter must wait until a bed is available.

Q—Are dependents of a World War I veteran, who died of causes not due to service, entitled to death pension?
A—In most cases, they are entitled to death pension benefits. The widow is disqualified if her annual income exceeds $1,000, or $2,500 if she has a child or children. A child is ineligible if his or her income exceeds $1,000 per year. A widow loses her entitlement upon remarriage, and children normally become ineligible when they reach age 18.

Q—I am a World War I veteran and was discharged from the U. S. Army in 1938. I would like to know if I am eligible for the education, readjustment allowance and guaranty loan provisions of the G-I Bill?
A—No. Benefits of the G-I Bill are available only to World War II veterans.

Shipbuilder Hunts Petrified Remains of Noah's Ark in Turkey

ANNAPOLIS, MD.—Fred Avery, a model shipbuilder, is going to eastern Turkey to hunt for Noah's Ark. He wants to make a model of it.
Avery fashions ship models for the United States Naval Academy here and is known unofficially as commander of the academy museum's "fleet." But building navy ships in miniature has begun to pall.
Avery wants to make an authentic model of the most famous ship of all—the one that Noah built.
Avery has his passport ready and plans to leave on an expedition which he says "has been planned secretly for more than three years."
The explorers will head for Mt. Ararat, where the Ark is supposed to have come to rest after the Great Flood.

Avery says the backers of the expedition have "good reasons" to believe they have discovered the petrified remains of the Biblical ship atop the 16,915-foot mountain.
The adventurers hope to reach eastern Turkey where snow and ice cover Mt. Ararat most of the year.
Avery is reluctant to discuss the expedition except to say:
"There have been a number of reports that there is something up there. It could be Noah's Ark, preserved under the ice and snow all these years and suddenly exposed by an upheaval in the earth."
"Or for all I know, it could be a house on top of a mountain."
But if it is the famous ship, Avery hopes to be on hand to fashion the first authentic model of Noah's Ark.

Rabbits Lead Golfers Astray in Australia

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA.—Out in Goondiwindi golfers are mad at the millions of rabbits in the district. It's not that they eat the greens, burrow in the fairways or steal the caddies away from the course.
The trouble revolves around the high prices of rabbit carcasses and skins. Local caddies now go rabbiting. Schoolboys make up to $52 a week from rabbits in their spare time.
Clever rabbiters are making three times that amount.
Goondiwindi is the center of a sheep raising district in southwestern Queensland.

Bank Needs President; Gets One Through Want Ad in Paper

HOUSTON, TEX.—The Texas bank which advertised for a president in the "help wanted" column has found its man.
Henry Franks Jr. will take over as president of the First State bank of Texas City. For 20 years Franks has been an employee of the South Texas Commercial National Bank of Houston.
"The girl who took my ad laughed," said Dee Walker, board chairman of the Texas City bank, "but the 50 replies I received proved she was wrong."
Walker said the ad brought replies from at least one junior executive of every Houston bank and from as far as Oklahoma and Missouri.
The ad read: "Wanted—Bank president. Opening for president of 2 1/2-million-dollar bank, located within 50 miles of Houston in Texas, in city with population of 25,000."

City Dwellers Have Less Chance to See 'Real' Mule

AKRON, OHIO.—The chances that a city dweller will ever get to see a mule "in person" are rapidly diminishing.
B. F. Goodrich company reports that in 1921 one out of six urbanites could expect at some time during his lifetime to come across a "real" mule. But today, the firm said, only one out of 17 can look forward to the same experience.
The company based its findings on reports of "mule and human populations" and the travel habits of city people. More persons are driving out to the "country," it noted, but when they get there, they are more likely to see rubber-tired tractors than a mule. In fact, there are now less than one-half as many mules and horses as there were in 1921 and 11 times as many tractors.

Unusual Layout Eases House Shortage for Married Couple

LIMA, N. Y.—Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Nataline solved their housing problem by going underground.
Faced with high construction costs, the Natalines decided to build just the basement of their future home. Today, they are living in an attractive, well-designed basement which cost them less than $3,500.
The home consists of a large living room with brick fireplace, bedroom, kitchen, pantry, furnace room, bath and garage. Nataline solved the labor problem by doing most of the work himself.
In five years, the Natalines expect to build the main floor. The basement will be converted into a recreation room, a bar, a laundry and a fruit closet.

STAY YOUNG

Dancing Is His Secret

KANSAS CITY, KAN.—In this town there is a pioneer citizen who has discovered the secret of youth.
"All you have to do," he says, "is put on your dancing shoes and get out among 'em."
He's Frank O. Taylor, a retired truck gardener, whose full time hobby and recreation is dancing. At 89, he spends a minimum of 16 hours a week on the dance floor, and for as long as anybody can remember he's been the dancingest man in these parts.
As a result, he says, "I'm as healthy as a kid of 16." Today, he has a twinkle in his eye and a zip in his step and has never been to a doctor in his life.
Taylor gets out among 'em at least four nights a week. He's a permanent guest at most of the regular "gay nineties" shindigs and a perennial winner of old-fashioned dancing contests.
Learns Latest Steps
But he won't be classified as a yesterday's hooper. He studies the latest steps, learns them quickly. He thinks swing music "has a good, solid beat," and says if we'd had jitterbugging in 1890 everybody would have loved it.
"That's the kind of dancing that puts you in shape," he says. "You have to have bells on your feet and oil in your joints and keep stompin' all night long to really get anywhere."
He finds two things wrong with modern dancing—musicians "who play more intermissions than music" and the tendency of young men to dance only with their own girls.
He preferred the days when a fiddle, guitar and piano pounded out the rhythm from supertime 'til dawn and every young man made it a point to dance with every girl in the hall.
His advice to husbands is along the same line: "Take your wife out any time she asks, but do most of your dancing with somebody else's wife." That's the way they did it in his day.
Former Homesteader
Taylor arrived in this city from a homesteading venture in the west during the gay nineties, but they weren't quite gay enough for him. So he built a house that had a big parlor with a polished hardwood floor and began to invite residents out for square dances after the midnight curfew closed the halls in the city.
"We'd push back the furniture and roll back the rugs and have sets of squares just a-flyin' all night long," he remembers.
After the death of his wife in 1930, Frank stopped dancing for about a year. Then he got back into the swing more than ever. "I've been busy ever since," he says, "and I've never been happier than I am right today."
He works in a small garden in the mornings, then spends most of the late afternoon getting ready for that night's party. When most men his age are taking their last snooze in the sun before dinner, Frank's already on the phone lining up a dancing date with some slick chick of 65.

U. S. Flattop Twists Its Way Safely Through Suez Canal

SUEZ.—The American aircraft carrier Valley Forge—the longest ship ever to enter the Suez canal—was towed safely through the sharp bend in the man-made waterway.
Two admirals sighed in relief. The gray flattop, 888 feet long, entered the canal at noon. Three hours later the riskiest stretch of the 108-mile route to the Mediterranean was passed.
Cost to the United States navy for the entire passage will be about $40,000 in fees.
Rear Adm. George Raymond Henderson, chief of staff of U. S. naval forces in the eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean, flew from London to board the carrier off Suez.
He was greeted by Rear Adm. Harold M. Martin, commander of carrier division five, who is commanding a round-the-world cruise of the Valley Forge and two escorting destroyers.

Polly the Parrot Makes Her Appearance Before a Judge

ELIZABETHTOWN, TENN.—A four-year-old parrot was chief exhibit and unofficial star witness in a case heard by Judge W. R. Pearson.
The bird was involved in a suit filed by Raymond West against Robert L. Smith. West was trying to regain possession of it.
West bought the parrot in Florida and turned it over to an Elizabethtown woman to keep for him. She apparently thought West had given her a present.
She turned it over to another woman, who gave it to Smith.
During the parrot's court experience, it was questioned briefly in the manner of a witness. Asked its name, it replied: "Polly."
West was given custody of the bird by the court. And now, Smith is trying to buy the parrot. It seems he has become "attached" to it.

ROUGHAGE IS MONEY - SAVER FOR STOCKMEN

Ample roughage is essential for the most economical feeding of livestock, even when grains and other feeds are abundant as they are this year, feeding authorities point out.

Rations built around plenty of roughage, properly supplemented with grains and protein concentrates, are most economical and efficient because the roughage furnishes nutrients at low cost, provides bulk needed for proper digestion of other feeds and increases efficiency.

If Don Burson had worked only a few more years with Barnum-Bailey, he wouldn't have missed that barn door. If it hadn't have been muddy and at night he might have made it. What will Hutells do for a barn now? That the boys have visited Flute?

I wonder where Beth and Ukey got the idea that Mr. Talley didn't like them. Why doesn't someone tell them that no one but a mother could love them. Maybe that's why they are mad, someone did!

Spring Lamb Crop Is Predicted to be With Better Prices

The lamb situation looks a little different for the coming year. During recent years, and especially since the war, sheep raisers have been sending a bigger share of the lamb crop to the slaughter houses than they used to. At the same time they have kept back a smaller number for breeding purposes—to use in flock replacements.

C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist of Texas A. and M. College, says that with the prospective winter wheat acreages high and with a good supply of moisture in the sheep raising areas, lambs will be in pretty strong demand to put on the wheat pastures. And most ranchmen expect to hold back more ewe lambs than usual this coming year.

A relatively higher price for both mutton lambs and wool than was received a year ago along with lower feed costs point toward a big increase in next spring's lamb crop.

On Texas farms and ranches last January there were just over 7 and a half million sheep and lambs. This was a record low, says Bates.

USDA economists say that the wool clip was the smallest it has been in the last quarter of a century. Farmers and ranchmen have averaged about the same amount of wool per fleece as usual, but they just didn't have as many sheep to shear. Sheep numbers can only increase if more lambs are kept for stock purposes. With the high prices of meat, farmers and ranchmen have sent more of their lambs to market than in past years, and have kept fewer for breeding stock.

Lamb prices have tended to go up right along with other meat prices, say the economists; but the sheep business depends on the profits from both wool and lambs. And the rise in wool prices has not been as much as the meat price rise during the past several years.

This is why the sheep raisers have kept so few lambs for flock replacements, says Bates, and sheep numbers are now the lowest in 75 years of record.

WALKS ARE TO BE USED

Well placed walks may add much to the looks and the beauty of the home grounds. But they are for use not just to look at. In rainy weather, walks are useful in protecting the family from wet feet, which may result in colds. And stone walks around the yards make it easier on the housewife, since less mud is tracked into the house.

Sadie Hatfield, extension landscape gardening specialist of Texas A. and M. College, says that cool weather is a good time for building stone walks around the grounds. Materials for building walks can be found around most farm homes. What about that pile of stones out in back you have been putting off getting rid of? Or the bunch of rocks over on the west side of the place? They'll work fine if they are good sized stones. Flat stones are perhaps the most attractive and are easier to work with. They may be set together with concrete or allowed to grow green veins of grass.

Around in back or at the side of the house where the walks will be used the most, concrete walks with a rough surface may be the most convenient. Attractive walks can be made of brick, sand or gravel. Miss Hatfield says that anything which will provide a clean, well drained walk about the home, may be used.

For the average cottage-size house the main front walk should be at least three and a half feet wide. Walks in the service area don't have to be quite so wide—15 to 18 inches is wide enough. Slick surfaces on walks are dangerous during cold or wet weather, so keep them rough enough to get a good foothold in bad weather.

All walks should be a few inches higher than the ground so the water will run off. If the soil on each side of the walks is sloping, you can easily run the lawnmower over the walk. If the walks are too high, the grass along the edges will have to be cut by hand rather than with a mower, says Miss Hatfield, and this takes much more time.

Walks do look nice around the place, but they are for use, not ornament.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Wimberly spent Thursday in Lubbock.

Lack of Refrigeration Contributes to Disease Outbreaks

Austin, October 21.—From statistics compiled by the State Health Department, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer has disclosed that a lack of proper refrigeration contributes materially to the total disease outbreaks for one year, caused from foods other than milk products.

During the year, there were 299 outbreaks of diseases from contaminated foods, incapacitating 12,526 persons, 17 of whom died. "The food poisoning was usually caused from contamination through insanitary conditions, infections of food handlers, or of even more significance, lack of early and adequate refrigeration," Dr. Cox said. "Even when contaminated, foods will seldom develop toxins sufficient to cause poisoning if properly refrigerated promptly after preparation. Outbreaks caused from foods have totaled nearly six times the number caused from water or milk."

The State Health Officer pointed out that the consuming public is, in many areas, protected by proper enforcement of sanitation standards for eating establishments such as are set up in the United States Public Health Service Milk Ordinance and Code. The public is entitled to a good, clean, safe and wholesome food supply, including milk which has been produced under strict sanitary conditions and properly refrigerated. This is a great protection against disease outbreaks caused by contaminated foods of various kinds, and Dr. Cox said this was especially obvious in view of the fact that no disease outbreak has as yet been traced to pasteurized grade A milk, which had been adequately refrigerated.
