Brave Ranch Youth Faces Dimes Drive With Courage

Dripping Springs, Texas, Jan 1 —One of the countless reminders of March of Dimes benefits brightens the current Texas story.

It concerns a heroic farm lad—Terry Macfarlane, 17-year-old player on the Dripping Springs six-man high school football team. Stricken with polio at mid-season, Terry shifted his fighting instinct from the playing field to Brackenridge Hospital in Austin.

The husky 185-pounder surprisingly overcame tremendous odds to conquer a crippling polio attack.

Terry, who is treasurer of the local Future Farmers Club, was carried into the hospital paralyzed from the waist down. His arms and shoulders also were affected.

Ed S. Stewart of Abilene, chairman of the 1950 Texas March of Dimes, said such cases usually take months, sometimes years. Complete recovery generally is doubtful.

Terry kept assuring the staff of the Austin polio ward, maintained by the Travis County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. He insisted that he would get back to the football field. You see, he was headed for the University of Texas squad. Besides, his horse, "Tall Boy," needed breaking in better. He had thrown Terry twice.

Terry relentlessly placed his own treatment, pressing the agonizing physical therapy routine so courageously that he had an astonishing comeback. Then he got the tremendous lift of being named mascot for the Longhorns.

The trimming included a last-minute 50-yard line seat. Thus, he triumphantly joined the Cotton Bowl celebrities.

The story of this fine young man has gone a long way toward stimulating interest in the 1951 Texas March of Dimes since this annual campaign raises most of the money to treat polio patients.

Morton Hunting for Hospital Head; Luck Not so Good

Morton, Texas—Cochran county commissioners are looking for someone to run the county's $170,000 hospital. And, to date, their search has been unsuccessful.

After a lengthy discussion Friday at a public hearing, the commissioners decided to lease the hospital to a private firm or individual. Tentative bids already have been placed by four doctors. And handling of lease arrangements is expected in the near future.

West Plains Health Association operated the hospital from August of 1947 until Dec. 1, when it terminated its lease. During that time it employed more than 10 doctors at successive intervals.

"But," explained County Judge Glenn Thompson, "they wuld stay a few months until they could find greener pastures, then move on."

Cochran county now has only one physician, Dr. G. R. Spiller. Another problem facing the new commission which will take office is disposition of some $20,000 worth of hospital equipment which belongs to the association. Opinion is divided as to whether the county should purchase the equipment. The hospital has facilities for 22 patients.

Self-Employed Come Under Social Security Act

Self-employed persons come under the Social Security Act beginning January 1, 1951; however, in most cases the first report will be made at the regular tax paying time in March, 1952, according to John R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo office of the Social Security Administration.

Among the self-employed persons are operators of stores, filling stations, theatres, taxi cabs, advertising agencies, brokers, and certain others who classify themselves as independent contractors. The law specifically exempts farm owners, physicians, lawyers, dentists, architects, funeral directors, engineers accountants, and a few other professions.

An individual must have self-employment income of $400.00 or more in a year to become subject to the law. Only the first $3,600 income in a year is subject to the tax. The tax rate is 2 1/4% from January 1, 1951 through December, 1953.

Partners in a business are considered as self-employed. A professional person may have self-employment income from sole ownership or a partnership outside his profession. Both wages and self-employment income may be credited up to $3,600 per year. Benefits are computed from the average wage or average net self-employment income, or a combination of the two.

A free pamphlet explaining self-employment income and other provisions of the amended Social Security Act may be obtained from the Amarillo Social Security Office.

New Encyclopedia Gives Communists Low-Down on U.S.

MOSCOW, USSR—The Russians have published a new encyclopedia which includes 50 pages of text and illustrations on America.

It described the United States as "the strongest, most aggressive of the imperialist powers and heads the imperialistic, anti-democratic camp."

The United States, it said, not only assumed the dominant position on the entire continent, but appropriated even the name "America," acquiring that right "by force, dreadnaughts and dollars."

It also accused, or described, the United States as acquiring incredible riches as a result of World War II and affords the best example of the rottenness of the parasitism of the capitalist system.

The section also described the United States as a country rampant with racialism and discrimination against national minorities. It printed photographs of public lynchings and "Jim Crowism"—racial segregation.

Illustrating disparities in the distribution of wealth it placed side by side pictures of Wall Street and slum areas, Washington's official buildings and a one room Virginia Negro school, a plantation and a picture of milk being poured into sewers to keep up prices.

It defined the American Federation of Labor (AFL) as "trade unions embodying the labor aristocracy, headed by a corrupt clique of reactionary leaders and agents of imperialism in the labor movement."

The volume was edited by Sergei Vavilov, president of the academy of sciences.

51-Year-Old Bicyclist Pedaled 300,000 Miles

TORONTO, Canada—Basil Raynham of Toronto has only been in an automobile six times in his life and on a streetcar only seven times.

The wiry 51-year-old has logged about 300,000 miles through England, Canada, and the United States since 1914 on his bicycle.

When he came to Canada from England in 1923, he had traveled only 50,000 miles, but has made up for it since then. Trips to South Carolina, Quebec City and the Adirondacks added to his score.

Attica's Cows Stopped From Eating Greek Walls

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Marshall plan experts have finally decided they know why bossy has been chewing down stone walls in Attica, Greece.

Agricultural specialists for the ECA discovered that bossy was gulping whitewash and mortar merely to satisfy her craving for calcium—something she had been missing out on in her basic diet of straw.

Experimenting with various minerals, the experts found that pure marble dust was the cheapest source of calcium for the cows. A hundred pounds costs the dairyman 33 cents, and bossy's daily ration adds up to a mere three ounces.

Today the stone walls of Attica are well preserved. And bossy gets her calcium in doses of marble dust, which is either mixed with her other food or simply left in a convenient trough.

The ECA experts hope to get the word around to other sections of Greece, now that Attica's walls have been saved.

Thief Takes Their Auto, Then Taunts Tulsa Polices

TULSA, Okla.—Tulsa police recently found themselves the subject of a series of jokes by a thief. The thief stole an unmarked police car from police headquarters, then used its two way radio to tease the cops about it.

After some banter, the thief identified himself as "Norman," and named a place where he said he'd leave the vehicle. Other patrol units sped to the spot. No stolen police car. Then came another call from "Norman". He was a mile from where he said he'd be. Another rush of patrol cars—same story.

Using a radio wave length that the stolen car's radio could not receive, police broadcast the automobile's description all over the state. It was found abandoned 160 miles away.

Swedish King's Title Is Centuries Old, and Wrong

STOCKHOLM, Sweden—The title that Swedish kings have used for centuries is wrong. The title of "King of the Swedes, the Goths and the Wends," dates to the 16th century.

King Gustav I, first of Sweden's modern kings, took that title because the names of two ancient parts of Sweden were "Svealand" and "Goetaland", or the land of the Swedes and the land of the Goths.

The Wends were a Slavic people of eastern Germany in the middle ages and there was a popular misconception in Sweden that the Swedes once had conquered them, which they hadn't. But the title remains.

Soldiers Work Miracle For Small Blind Boy

CHORRERA, Panama—Members of the 504th field artillery battalion stationed in Panama have made a miracle come true.

The miracle was for blind, fatherless four-year-old Coco Ramos, who had never slept in a bed, sat on a chair or eaten at a table.

Coco was born blind into a bush family, living in the jungle near Chorrera. Their home was the crudest type of jungle hut without furniture. Most of the time Coco and the three other children in the family ran naked because they had no clothing.

An American learned of Coco's condition and took him to a doctor to see if anything could be done for him. Nothing was possible, but the men of the 504th field artillery battalion heard about him.

Contribute Material

They contributed money for building materials. Panama business firms added some items. To permit the duty free entrance of the materials from the Canal Zone into Panama, the American embassy made a special arrangement with the Panama government.

The mayor of Chorrera deeded two and a half acres of land on the outskirts of the village to Coco, with the village priest to act as trustee until the child became of age.

Then the 504th went to work. On Saturday and Sunday afternoons they cleared off the lot, built a trim, modern house.

On the Sunday after the house was finished an army truck went out into the "bush" and moved in the Ramos family—the widowed Mrs. Ramos, Jose Paulo, 7, the 4-year-old twins, Coco and Jose Alfonso, and the baby, Dilma. Army wives collected shoes and clothing for the naked children and some articles of apparel for Mrs. Ramos.

Inside the house the Ramos family found beds, chairs and a table, drapes in the windows and a tablecloth—all matters of wonder.

Soldiers Attend Party

One hundred fifty soldiers and their wives attended the house warming for the family. The 504th provided the meal which included chicken and rice, breaded veal cutlets, beans, green peas, a tossed salad, hot rolls, fruit cocktail, layer cake and coffee.

Never before in its life had the Ramos family had such a feast. It ate, too, for the first time with silverware off plates. Those wonderful things the family was allowed to keep.

The affairs of the family are settled for more than the moment. The men of the 504th have pledged to contribute $30 to $40 a month indefinitely to make sure the family can eat well in the luxury of its modern home.

That is the miracle of Chorrera.

Corn Believed 800 Years Old Unearthed in Illinois

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—University of Illinois archeologists report they have unearthed a handful of corn more than 800 years old.

Prof. John C. McGregor said the corn was discovered on the site of an ancient Hopewell Indian village, mixed with broken pottery, stone spear points and knives, and other items which definitely date the corn.

It is the oldest ever found in Illinois, and possibly the midwest. The kernels, blackened by fire and time, are about the size of present day popcorn or sweet corn, and considerably smaller than modern field corn.

Four-Year-Old Boy Saves Father Stricken in Bath

ATLANTA, Ga.—Alton Lyon, 4, saved his father's life.

The four-year-old was told to "watch your daddy" by his mother while she went out.

The boy's father, J. T. Lyon, had suffered three recent heart attacks. While Mrs. Lyon was taking Alton's brother, 5, to kindergarten, Lyon had another attack while taking a bath.

"I couldn't wake him up and he was going under the water," Alton said, "so I pulled the plug and the water went away. I guess I remembered how mommy lets the water out of the tub when it gets too deep for me."

Mother Tells Why There's Never Dull Moment at Home

LaPORTE, Ind.—There's never a dull moment when there are children in the house, a LaPorte mother claims. Within four weeks this happened to her:

Daughter Sally blew into a strange dog's face and it knocked one of her front teeth out.

Son Bobby came running home minus his pants, saying someone stole them.

Daughter Dottie helped break an expensive sun-parlor window.

Daughter Sue cut her foot on the glass.

The baby of the family broke out with Chicken-pox.

Her husband's boss and wife dropped in unexpectedly.

Dedicate Unusual Research Tower

RACINE, WIS.—One of the world's most extraordinary research laboratories was dedicated in Racine, Wis., by S. C. Johnson & Son, Inc., makers of wax products for home, industry and agriculture. Designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, the 153-foot high building has no first floor, no supports directly under the side wall. A central core anchored 54 feet in the ground carries the weight. Twenty-one miles of glass tubing circle the building between bands of brick. The company president, H. F. Johnson, right, is here pointing out the features of the building to Dr. Roger Adams, head of the University of Illinois Chemistry Department, who was principal dedication speaker.
