Five Area to celebrate Small Telephone Company Week

Five Area Telephone Cooperative, Inc., of Muleshoe will be celebrating National Small Independent Telephone Company Week, which is being observed Sept. 11-17. The week was proclaimed by Texas Governor Ann Richards. Five Area is also celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Independent Telephone Pioneer's Association of Texas.

The nation's more than 1,000 small independent telephone companies have been providing this country with quality telephone service at reasonable rates for more than 100 years.

They also have a strong record of community involvement. The theme for the week is "Small Telephone Companies - Bringing the Future to Rural America."

There are more than 1,300 small independent telephone companies that are providing

Mules face Mustangs' aerial attack

MULESHOE—When the Muleshoe Mules take the field Friday night to face the Denver City Mustangs in their second game of the season, they know there are a couple of areas they need to concentrate on if they are to move to 2-0.

The first will be showing up to play with intensity and focus in the first half, something that they failed to do in their 26-19 win over Portales last week (the Rams scored on a 74-yard run the first play from scrimmage, while the Mules fumbled away their opening drive in three plays).

"We need to come out and play with enthusiasm and intensity for two halves, and also improve on our technique," said Muleshoe head coach Randy Adair. "That's something we didn't do last week."

The second will be stopping a Mustang offense that rolled up 41 points in their 41-0 pounding of Fort Stockton in their season opener.

Mustang senior quarterback

David Azam riddled Fort Stockton for 223 yards and three touchdowns through the air last week, and Adair knows that the Mule defense will have its hands full.

"Azam's a real good quarterback, the best I've seen in four or five years," Adair said. "He has a tremendous amount of ability throwing the football."

"It will be a huge challenge for us to stop him," Adair added.

Azam (6-4, 180) was an Honorable Mention All-District pick in 1993.

As a team, Denver City (1-0) returns 11 letterman, with three offensive starters and five defensive starters from last year's 6-3-1 team.

Up front, the Mustangs average slightly over 220 pounds per lineman, putting pressure on the Mules to generate a pass rush.

"It's tough to stop a passing team because we don't spend a lot of time on pass rush techniques," Adair said. "You just don't see a lot of high school teams that throw like (Denver City) does."

Defensively, the Mustangs are led by Guy Kinman at linebacker. Kinman was an All-District selection in 1993.

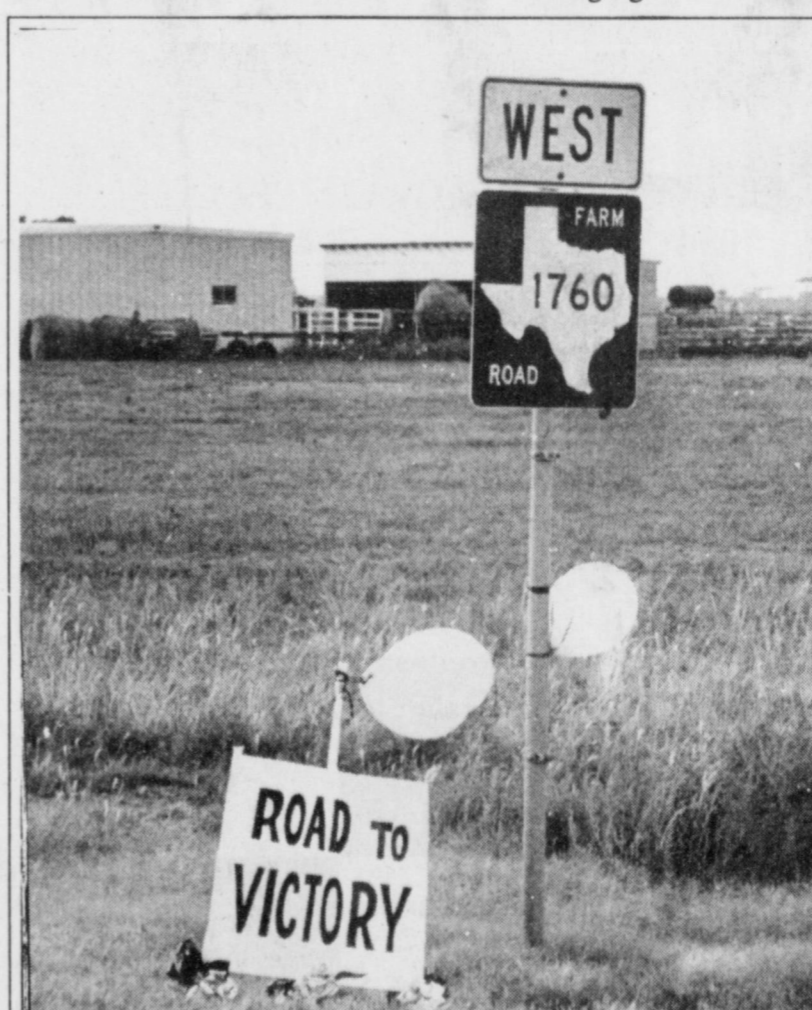

Michael Davis and Jeremy Wells return to man the cornerback positions. Wells was All-District in 1993, while Davis was Honorable Mention.

"Denver City will show us multiple fronts, we're not sure of what they'll do," Adair said. "We've been preparing for them all. It forces us to simplify our game plan a little."

Despite the slow start in their season opener, the Mules late second-quarter drive and their second half defensive efforts were impressive.

Mule quarterback Jimmy Gauna started the season on a positive note, completing 11-21 passes for 190 yards and two scores. The senior signal caller also rushed for 78 yards

Victorious return

This sign was placed on the Kakawate Road going from Muleshoe to Portales Friday evening. And indeed, it proved to be a banner of victory as the Muleshoe Mules defeated the Portales Rams 25-19 and returned home winners.

Orozco captures top place in first football contest of season

Richard Orozco of Rt. 2, Box 165, Muleshoe, claimed the first-place prize in the season-opening football contest, sponsored by the Muleshoe Journal and Bailey County merchants.

A faithful contestant over recent years, Richard was incorrect on just one of the 16 games in his predictions and will receive a $10 check for his efforts.

Second and third places were not so clear cut among the 35 entrants who participated in the first week of the contest. Five contestants had 14-2 marks for the week, sending the judges to the tie-breaker.

Second place and $7.50 goes to Jo Wood of 318 W. 8th, Muleshoe. Of the five who tied for second place, Jo was the only pigskin prognosticator to correctly pick the Dallas Cowboys and the Muleshoe Mules to win their season openers.

The battle for the $5 third prize was waged between Wade Cargile of Farwell and Bill Liles, Mense Nicholas and Terry Field, all of Muleshoe.

Liles, of Box 245, came out the winner, missing the score of both tie-breaker games by 20 points.

Nicholas and Field were each 26 points from the actual scores, while Cargile was 28 points from the scores.

Honorable mention goes to Mrs. John Hayes, Heath Brown, Alma Orozco, Danny May and Sam Harlan, all with 13-3 records for the week.

Stamp cancellation to honor youth in Sudan

SUDAN - If Sudan has anything going for the community, it could be the soundest and best compliment to a small town - the Sudan youth.

Not only in athletics, where both the boys' and girls' basketball, football and track are outstanding - but, in music, academics - you name it, and Sudan excels.

Now, the youth of Sudan will be honored by the U.S. Postal Service with a stamp cancellation that tells everyone what this small community has going for itself.

In October, the U.S. Post Office will begin using a stamp cancellation that everyone will have a chance to see, the Sudan youth cancellation stamp.

And the cancellation will not only honor the Sudan youth, it has to be a compliment to the teachers, coaches, band leaders and school administration. Because the Sudan youth have not only excelled in sports, but also in band and academics.

To set off the accomplishment by the Sudan youth, the Sudan Chamber of Commerce will be selling envelopes with the special cancellation. The envelopes will have the stamp and cancellation, as well as Homecoming '94-Home of Champions" with a Sudan Hornet in the lower left side of the regular size gold envelope.

The envelope cancellation is designed to compliment Sudan youth, but it is not only complimentary to the youth, but to the entire school and the parents of the community.

Each envelope will be numbered and 500 envelopes will be available.

U.J. King designed the cancellation, which features sports for both boys and girls, school books and music.

The envelopes will be available in October, just before homecoming football.

For more information contact the Sudan Chamber of Commerce.

They will also hear reports from the superintendent on the TASB convention, ACET convention, legislative issues and other reports.

Defensive driving course is offered

Shain's Driving School has defensive driving classes offered each month. The classes are National Safety Council/Texas Safety Association, CD228-148, and are for driver improvement, which will in turn, make roadways safer for all users.

Defensive driving can be taken for a deduction on insurance or traffic ticket dismissal. Groups, businesses or companies can call Charles Shain at 272-4753 after 6 p.m. for special classes to fit their needs.

Classes are scheduled for Sept. 17, Oct. 15 and Nov. 19. To sign up for a class, call Wanda at 272-3325 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. After 6 p.m. call 272-4753.

basic local telephone service to nearly 10,000,000 subscribers in 46 states.

These independent companies provide state-of-the-art telecommunications service, linking rural areas to the nation's public network to the benefit of all Americans, both rural and urban, and contribute to the overall competitiveness of the nation.

The majority of these small, independent companies are family-owned businesses or subscriber-owned cooperatives, thus demonstrating their close ties to and interest in their local communities.

Designating a week to raise awareness of small independent telephone companies promotes the important role they play in the continued development of the nation's telecommunications infrastructure, as well as their role in their local communities.

The Texas Chapter of the Independent Telephone Pioneer Association (ITPA) was originated in 1944. Telephone pioneers in Texas are today active participants in the provision of state-of-the-art information and telecommunication services to the people of Texas and are an integral part of the state's high technology business community.

Oyer the years, the Texas Chapter of the ITPA has provided leadership and opportunities for thousands of telephone pioneers to become involved in meeting the community service needs of the citizens of this great state.

The unselfish work of these telephone pioneers in lending a helping hand, exemplifies the true "Spirit of Texas" through service to others and is deserving of special recognition.

It is fitting that the people of Texas recognize the Texas Chapter of ITPA for 50 years of continuous service and the untiring efforts of those telephone men and women throughout Texas who have dedicated their lives to providing essential communications services to all citizens.

Federal Crop Insurance bills expected to pass

LUBBOCK—Legislative issues affecting agriculture continue to make their way through Congress, albeit at a slower pace than expected according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers.

PCG officials say that the passage of legislation to reform Federal Crop Insurance and amend the Plant Variety Protection Act are definitely expected to go through before Congress adjourns this fall.

Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President, notes that producers are interested in the passage of these two bills because of the direct impact they would have on individual farming operations.

"The effects these two pieces of legislation will have is profound," explains Johnson. "While the details will not be completely ironed out until these Bills emerge from both the House and Senate it is likely they will be approved some time during this legislative session."

Status reports from Congressman Larry Combest's office indicate the Federal Crop Insurance proposal is awaiting action in the Senate after recent approval by the Senate Ag Committee. The House of Representatives passed its version of the crop insurance reform bill August 5.

The Plant Variety Protection Act (PVPA) was passed by the Senate and then approved by the House with the addition of one amendment.

"Jimmy is a dealer," Adair said. "You could give him a hat and let him deal in Vegas and he'd be the one with all the money. He comes through when he needs to."

Receivers Daniel Garbarino (4 receptions, 77 yards, 1 TD), Edward Rodriguez (3 receptions, 52 yards, 1 TD), Rashad Kirven (3 receptions, 44 yards) and Jesus Flores (2 rec., 36 yards) will all be instrumental in the Mules passing game.

The Mules also got key performances from backs Robert Toscano (17 carries, 91 yards, 1 TD) and John Brian Cowart (seven carries, 29 yards). Both are scheduled to start this week, as Jake Adair is still out with an injury.

The defense rebounded from their slow start to hold Portales to 57 yards of offense in the second half.

Noseguard John Mesa led the way last week with four sacks, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery.

"My biggest concern is their winning tradition," Adair said. "The game will depend on our ability to overcome that."

"You're looking at a program that's been there versus a program that wants to be there," Adair continued.

Kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m. at Benny Douglas Stadium.

Highlight of Tri-State Fair to be rodeo

AMARILLO - Big name cowboys, feather-bustin broncos and twisting Brahma bulls will be stirring up the dust at the Tri-State Fairgrounds Sept. 23-24 when national pro rodeo circuit gallops into Amarillo for its first debut at the Tri-State Fair.

The two-performance competition sanctions for World Championship points by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association, will be putting the spotlight on five different events - saddle bronc, bareback and bull riding, calf roping and steer wrestling.

More than $15,000 in prize money is expected to be on the line, as the world's top rodeo athletes race toward qualifying for the year-end National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas, Nev.

More than 200 cowboys are expected to compete for the right to challenge tough livestock from the Beutler and Gaylord Rodeo Company of Elk City, Okla. The Beutler name has been synonymous with the stock contracting business since 1929, joining forces with E.K. Gaylord in 1989 and produced 19 head stock for the 1993 National Finals Rodeo.

Adding to the rodeo excitement will be Vickie Tyer and her ancient style of Roman riding. Vickie and her duo of horses will fly around the arena as the two horses work side by side to perform various maneuvers with flying change of leads.

Among the elaborate array of the rodeo grandentry parade, a seemingly frivolous character emerges. Ted Kimzey, Strong City, Okla., nine-time NFR wrangler barrelman will bring a smile to all rodeo visitors while assisting Greg Rumohr, five time NFR bull-fighter from Cleburne, in protecting competing cowboys.

Rodeo events will be held in the Tri-State Fair Coliseum beginning each evening at 8 p.m.

For more information contact Tri-State Fair at P.O. Box 31087, Amarillo, Texas, 79102 or call (806)376-7767.

Students learn about recycling

LAZBUDDIE - Have you ever wadded up a seemingly useless piece of paper and hurled it at the waste basket? These papers are polluting the environment.

The Comprehensive and Management Home Economics Class in Lazbuddie is making an effort to educate their school on the benefits of recycling.

Blanca Pacheco, Heather Hudson and Melissa Aguirre, Katy Jones and Rebecca Mata have asked teachers and administrators to sign an agreement to help encourage all students to put flat paper in a labeled box.

"The students felt that this was a good way to put into practice some of the things they are studying about. They are studying about resources in class," said Barbara Lust, Home Economics teacher.

The paper and aluminum are collected for their value as recycled materials.

"This project will not only help the school, but the environment as well," said Rebecca Mata, a student and helper in this project at Lazbuddie.

The Home Economics class hopes this project will cut down on the volume of trash being carried out. Students will have to think twice before they throw that wadded piece of paper away!

The science of cattle feeding

I wonder which is the more exact science; feeding cattle or betting at the dog track.

I have many friends who are cattle feeders. I have worked for them most of my life. Keeping their attention has never been easy. Libraries and long discussions about the mechanics of rumen metabolism doesn't seem to be their bag.

They're more at home trying to thread a needle while bouncing on a trampoline or playing gin in a wind tunnel.

This summer they got a roller coaster ride. There was an adrenalin cloud over feedlots from Iowa to California. You could smell the nervous sweat in the Ozone layer.

In April, finish cattle sold as high as $77 a hundred weight. Then in June, the market plunged to $59. A month later they soared back to $71. In one week in July, it rose $6 cwt, setting a record. That's a 23% fall from March to June and a 20% increase from June to July.

Big money hung in the balance.

Economists bounced around trying to concoct plausible explanations, i.e. supply and demand, pipeline surges, 4th of July barbecues, sunspots, the Trilateral Commission, Gennifer Flowers and Jupiter's battle with the Comet. They sprang back like Phoenix with his tail feathers burnt clean off, to make new predictions.

Bankers were lined up at the EverReady stand to get their pacemakers recharged. They were making appointments for predictable by-pass surgery.

All of us who make a living servicing the feedlot industry, from grain brokers to pawn brokers, were suffering the highs and lows with them. And many were considering a more stable line of work like the Postal Service or even small appliance repair.

What kind of business is this anyway...cattle feeding? One that can make Hillary rich one day and Joe Blow broke the next.

It takes more than just a big corporation with deep pockets. Because even the net of hedges and futures, going long or going short can't cover every flood, drought, dairy buy out, government edict or cattle buyer's bad hair day.

It takes the mentality of one who enjoys the roll of the dice, has the constitution of a wheel horse and the optimism of a spermatozoa.

Christopher Columbus would have been a cattle feeder if he hadn't been a sailor. And I think the fact that he never found India never bothered him that much. 'Cause just like the cattle feeder, he was in it for the ride.

Clients sought for Small Business Institute

LUBBOCK - The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) has announced that the Small Business Institute (SBI) is in operation at Texas Tech University (TTU) for the fall semester. Client businesses are now being selected for the program according to Walter Fronstin, District Director of the Lubbock SBA office.

Fronstin said, "The program helps about 25 Lubbock area small businesses each year. It provides graduating seniors with a practical 'real world' experience, by providing them with an opportunity to apply to a live business environment the skills they have learned in class."

In past years, Texas Tech student teams have performed such efforts as market research projects, advertising studies, recordkeeping and paperwork analyses, examined business costs compared to industry ratios, and other similar projects.

Career Day to be held at West Texas A & M

CANYON - Anyone looking for a job, contemplating a career move or thinking about graduate school will find the answers at Career Day '94 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 15 in the Virgil Henson Activities Center Ballroom on the West Texas A&M University campus.

"We are expecting over 70 employers and eight graduate school representatives," Denese Skinner, director of WTAMU Career Services, said. "A student could drive their car over thousands of miles to interview with these people or come to the ballroom and spend four hours meeting more interested employers than they could in a one day car trip."

Participants in Career Day will find information on job possibilities and will learn how to enhance employment potential.

Scheduled employers represent business and industry, governmental agencies, health care and education and will be looking for August, December and May graduates. Employers will also be interested in talking with undergraduates about their future job prospects.

"At career Day students get to sample careers and find out what the typical jobs are and what they pay," Skinner said. "Students have the opportunity to become familiar with industries and employers. Getting experience talking with professionals can be very scary. Participating in the Career Day is a way to overcome that fear. Students need to take the time to come and talk to these representatives and find out what they are looking for in an employee."

This is the 19th annual WTAMU Career Day. The event is free of charge and open to the public. For more information, call the WTAMU Office of Career Services at 806/656-2345.

Better Business Bureau

The Better Business Bureau has received many inquiries on a sweepstakes promotion offering cash prizes and "free genuine gemstones" from Lindenwold Fine Jewelers, out of Canton, Ohio. The offer states there is no purchase required to claim your cash prize and goes on to explain that cash prize winners are entitled to receive two genuine mined diamonds and a genuine ruby red garnet "free".

The gemstones have already been mounted in a lady's evening ring by DeVoorst, another division of Lindenwold. The gemstones are free, however the winner must pay a mounting fee of $19.62.

Lindenwold is one of at least 15 different trade names of Suarez Corporation that has marketed jewelry, publications and general merchandise through various promotions since 1971.

The Canton BBB reports that the company has responded to complaints which allege confusion over conditions of winning or receiving cash or merchandise. This company has so many divisions that they have their own zipcode. If you receive something from 44767 zip, it's Suarez Corporation.

For months now we have warned consumers about the credit repair industry and how negative information cannot be removed from your credit history, if it is correct. There are no quick or easy cures for a poor credit history.

Remember, credit histories are maintained by private companies called credit bureaus which collect information reported to them by banks, mortgage companies, department stores and others; credit bureaus can legally report accurate negative credit information for seven years and bankruptcy information for ten years; accurate items that are with the seven or ten year reporting period cannot be permanently erased unless the creditor agrees; time is generally the only thing that will heal a poor credit report; consumers can fix genuine mistakes or outdated items in credit reports themselves.

Before getting involved with a credit repair company, call the BBB first and get a reliability report. Reports are available 24 hours a day at 763-0459.

Lubbock 'Fiesta' celebration to focus on art, music

LUBBOCK - It's back! "Fiesta," one of Lubbock's most popular late summer events. Sponsored by Lubbock Culture and Leisure Services, the festival of arts will be held at the Municipal Garden and Arts center, 4215 University, September 10th from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

This year marks the 24th anniversary of this colorful, free attraction. Jean Schofield Badger, Center Supervisor, anticipates the attendance to surpass the 12,000 mark achieved at last year's event. As "Fiesta" represents art and music in a beautiful park setting, it promises to be family entertainment at its best.

On the rolling green lawns surrounding the center, booths will be erected for 130 artisans who will be exhibiting the fruits of their talents. If one wants a head start on holiday shopping, or a unique item for home or yard, there will be an endless array of items to choose from.

Among the art and craft forms being represented are batik, woodworking, clothing, country crafts, silk and dry flower arrangements, toys and dolls, quilts, tole painting, ceramics, candlemaking, baked goods, weaving, printmaking, stitchery, Christmas items, sculpture, watercolors, calligraphy, jewelry, and basketry.

The sound of music and dancers will compliment the event. The Fiesta stage morning line-up features, 9:15 - folk music by Collins, 10:00 - "Broadway Bound" with Holly

Miller and the Garden and Art Center Players, 10:45 - Susan Grisanti singing and playing classical guitar, 11:30 - Kathy Chamberlain, John Raspberry and John Ingram performing soft rock.

The afternoon attractions are 1:00 - the Carol Christmas Dancers, 2:00 - children of the Story Dance Theater (affiliated with Ballet Lubbock) under Suzanne Acre, 2:30 - Tom and Kimberly Wagner singing popular favorites, 3:30 - Scottish folk singing and dancing by the Prairie Highlanders, and at 4:30 - the Ballet Tenochtitlan Mexican Folklorico Dancers.

Families may want to bring their cameras to capture the excitement and fun of one of Lubbock's best traditions. Join your neighbors at "Fiesta."

Faculty, student develops book series

CANYON - Fourth to eighth grade boys will find more books of interest on the library shelves this fall thanks to authors Dr. Jerry Craven and Kevin Casey and illustrator Jean Dixon. The three teamed up on a six-book series titled the Illustrated History of Martial Arts, published by The Rourke Corporation, Inc. Individual titles include Aikido, Ninja and Tae Kwon Do by Craven and Judo, Karate and King Fu by Casey.

"The publisher has a line of books targeted at reluctant male readers in grades four through eight," Craven, a professor of English and member of the West Texas A&M University faculty since 1970, said.

"On the way home from the Fort Concho Museum Literary Festival in San Angelo several years ago, Kevin (Casey) started talking about his interest in the martial arts. I thought it was a great idea for the series. I agreed to guide Kevin in the writing, and he agreed to guide me in the research."

Craven and Casey, a 1993 graduate of West Texas A&M University, solicited the talents of Jean Dixon, a graduate student pursuing a master of fine arts degree in art at WTAMU, to illustrate the series.

According to Craven, each book traces the roots of modern-day martial arts and includes colorful illustrations and action photos of today's honorable masters.

This is Craven's third series for The Rourke Corporation, Inc. He and Dr. Harry Haines, head of the WTAMU Department of Music and Dance, authored two six-book series on classic cars that were published in 1991 and 1993.

Lack of rain leaves 1994 West Texas cotton harvest questionable

LUBBOCK - USDA's first stab at estimating the 1994 High Plains crop seems to have missed the mark according to many veteran observers. The only problem according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers is that no one can pinpoint the size of this discrepancy, just acknowledge it is there.

The USDA report, released August 11, estimates the U.S. crop will surpass the 19 million bale mark for total Upland and ELS production. Upland cotton production was pegged at 18.827 million bales.

The report estimates production in District 1-N at 710,000 bales with an average yield per harvested acre of 609 pounds. Numbers for District 1-S indicate 2.25 million bales with an average yield per acre of 452 pounds.

Using the 609 pound figure for 1-N as a yardstick for irrigated yields across the High Plains the August estimate indicates an average dryland yield of about 352 pounds per acre, a figure most observers agree is probably much higher than can be expected for most of the dryland acres.

"The lack of sufficient subsoil moisture has played an integral part in diminishing prospects for the 1994 crop".

says Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President. "A majority of producers on the High Plains rely on subsoil moisture in addition to seasonal rainfall to make crops on their non-irrigated and marginally irrigated land. This year we simply haven't received the help we needed when we needed it."

Johnson notes that before the first seed was put in the ground the chances of repeating the 1993 crop or even breaking the 3 million bale mark were remote at best.

The 2.96 million bale estimate easily eclipses even the most optimistic thought of some crop observers. Conventional wisdom sizes the crop anywhere from 2.1 to as high as 2.7 million bales. Most, however, center on a crop at around 2.4 million bales.

Estimates from the Lubbock and Lamesa Cotton Classing offices tend to support a 2.4 million bale crop. The Lubbock and Lamesa offices expect to class 600,000 and 1.8 million bales, respectively.

A crisis exemption issued by the Texas Department of Agriculture for the use of Furadan 4F® to control cotton aphids applies to the entire 25 county High Plains region according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers.

PCG officials note that confusion over which counties are included in the crisis exemption probably stems from the use of several crop reporting districts to indicate the approved counties instead of naming each county individually.

The TDA crisis exemption will remain effective until the Environmental Protection Agency renders a decision on a specific exemption application made by TDA.

Learning strategies workshop to be offered

CLOVIS - Parents can help their children acquire a desire to learn in a Learning Strategies Workshop which will be offered from 8 a.m. to noon and 1-5 p.m. on two consecutive Saturdays, Oct. 8 and 15 at Clovis Community College in Clovis, N.M.

The workshop may be taken either as an audit class or for one credit hour in Academic Career Studies (ACS 268). Registration will take place in the Office of Admissions and Records Oct. 3-7, and students will be asked to file an admission form. Students must register in person and must have their social security number.

Parents can be a determining factor of whether or not students engage themselves in their course work and prepare for the future.

"Parental involvement can often be the essential component of happiness and success. Parents can help their children discover the power and skills necessary to achieve whatever they desire," said Judy Brandon, an instructor.

The instructors will demonstrate, through a variety of interactive exercises, how parents can be actively involved in the process of motivating students to achieve.

For more information regarding the class or registration procedure, contact the Community Services Office at (505)769-4012 or the CCC Admission Office at (505)769-4025.

Combest applauds extension of agriculture program

LUBBOCK—U.S. Representative Larry Combest (R-Texas) is pleased that his recommendation has resulted in the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) offer of one-year voluntary extension of contracts in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) that expire on September 30, 1995.

Combest's 19th Congressional District has 1.5 million acres enrolled in CRP, the sixth largest in the nation; 76,000 of those acres would be expiring next year without extension.

Combest, as ranking member of the House Agriculture Subcommittee on Environment, Credit and Rural Development urged USDA Secretary Mike Espy to offer the one-year CRP contract extension, giving participating farmers and ranchers the option to continue in the program uninterrupted while Congress while Congress develops the 1995 Farm Bill.

All participants with those 1986 CRP contracts will be notified by the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office of dates when they may apply to extend their contracts. Combest spoke in Lubbock Thursday at a public meeting regarding the future of the Conservation Reserve Program.

"The popularity and effectiveness of the CRP program makes my efforts at contract extensions welcome news," said Combest.

"This one-year extension for those contracts provides a bridge for continuing producers as we on the House Agriculture Committee write CRP provisions into the new Farm Bill in 1995.

Secretary Espy's extension offer is significant as a signal to encourage the government budget-planners to continue CRP as a means to keep highly erodible land from washing or blowing away."

Soil erosion rates in the 19th Congressional District before the CRP program amounted to 47 tons per acre, but with the CRP program, soil erosion has been reduced significantly to 2 tons per acre. The 10-year life of CRP contracts in Combest's 19th Congressional District will have saved 680 million total tons.

Airborne dust level have decreased from the planting of acreage with grasses or permanent vegetation cover under the CRP agreements that take farm and ranchland out of production.
