There was much discussion on blood donor, recruitment as to why boys were not able to sign up as many people as needed.

The Treasurers report showed very little money left after buying shop power tools, so it was agreed to have a magazine drive the two weeks before Christmas and a donkey basketball game on January 2. The boys thought some people might be in a quandary as to what to buy someone for Christmas, and a magazine gift subscription would make a very nice gift.

Get Ready Now For Shrub Planting Time In Jan. and February

January and February are good shrub planting months for most of Texas, but now is the time to get ready for them. You will get best results with new shrubs or those transplanted from other areas if you plan for the location, spacing, treatment of the soil with fertilizer, and the cultivation.

Sadie Hatfield, homestead improvement specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service says working six to eight weeks ahead will enable you to have shrub beds that give more satisfaction in your landscape plan. Miss Hatfield offers three suggestions for the preparation of the planting area.

First, check the soil for drainage. You may need to terrace, contour or level the soil around the house to conserve the rain or to prevent washing.

Then, the specialist suggests, locate each plant you hope to include with a peg giving it ample distance from the foundation of the house, walks, drive and other plants. Most shrubs need to be from four to six feet from the house and large shrubs need to be even farther away from walls or walks. Careful spacing also eliminates unnecessary pruning.

The third suggestion in shrub bed preparation is spading and fertilizing the soil. Spade the soil eight or ten inches deep in beds about six or eight feet wide. Work in 5-10-5 or 4-12-4 fertilizer for sandy soils, or 16-20-0 for blackland and soils of West Texas. Leaf mold and barnyard fertilizer will also aid in building up the soil. Remember, the specialist says, shrub beds should be prepared at least six weeks prior to planting the shrubs. For further information on fertilizers for small areas, ask your county agricultural agent for a copy of L-166 How Much Fertilizer Should I Use.

BLOODMOBILE DUE HERE THURSDAY (TODAY) AT HIGH SCHOOL GYM

But only 175 people have pledged themselves. So anyone who has not signed up, please drop by and do so. Many thanks are due to the churches, civic, veterans and other groups that have made a success of this project.

Today Du Pont operates 70 plants and 38 laboratories. It has a payroll of 100,000 workers. Hundreds of additional thousands are employed by others dependent on Du Pont's patented base materials.
