Home Freezer School at Palace Theatre Wednesday, July 25th at 2:30 P. M.

ON PACKING MEATS—Every steak, chop, or meat pattie will keep its individuality if two pieces of waxed paper or freezer wrap are placed between meat cuts when packaging for the freezer. Just the amount you wish to use may be removed and the pieces quickly defrosted or cooked from the frozen state. (See second picture from right). A pad of moisture, vapor wrapping paper placed against boney areas of some cuts of meat protects against puncturing of freezer wrap, keeping meat free from freezer burn.

EMERGENCY HOSPITAL scenes like this would be duplicated across the nation if the assumed toll of "dead" and "injured" during Operation Alert 1956 were not merely "paper casualties." The 200-bed emergency hospital, including part of the sorting (triage) area shown here, has been designed by the FCDA to be moved into disaster areas and set up on short notice. It is complete with X-ray, operating room and other usual hospital equipment. (FCDA Photo)

TULIA JERSEYS CERTIFIED BY CATTLE CLUB

Tulia—A registered bull owned by J. Chester Elliff of the Victory Jersey Farm of Tulia, has been qualified as a tested sire and two registered Jersey cows owned by the same farm have earned special certificates from the American Jersey Cattle Club. The announcements were made from the Columbus, Ohio, headquarters of the AJCC.

The bull, Signal Sable's Wel. Victory, qualified as a tested sire after 10 tested daughters produced an average of 12,061 pounds of milk containing 622 pounds of butterfat on a twice-a-day milking, 305-day mature equivalent basis. This is more than two and one-half times the butterfat production of the average dairy cow in the United States.

The animal has also been officially classified for type by the APCC and given a rating of very good.

The cows received their certificates of recognition on Register of Merit tests. A gold medal certificate went to S. W. V. Model Beauty with a record of 14,373 pounds of milk and 704 pounds of butterfat at the age of five years and three months.

A silver medal certificate went to Commanders Beauty Sable with a record of 10,206 pounds of milk and 524 pounds of butterfat in 305 days. This was at the age of two years and two months.

NEW ORLEANS—Taking its cue from Cupid, medical science has gone into the business of "arrowing" hearts. A little more than a year and half, 43 children underwent operations with the aid of "controlled circulation," a technique that "arrows" the heart and lungs of a person so that surgeons may air defects inside the heart of her. Approximately two-thirds of the children have survived and now have comparably normal hearts. Without surgery, few could have been expected to live to maturity. Progress on the new dramatic technique was presented to a session of the American Heart Association by members of the University of Minnesota team that perfected the procedure and first used it with a human patient in 1954.

Controlled cross circulation creates a complete by-pass of the heart. The amount of blood pumped to a minimum, giving the surgeon a direct view of the operation. He can thus go inside the heart to repair previously inoperable defects. Normal openings in the muscular wall separating the heart's right and left sides. Most of the operations performed by the Minnesota group were of this type. Simple mechanical pump helps to pump blood from the patient's heart to the donor (usually a par-ent or other close relative) so that oxygen can be pumped into the lungs before being returned to the patient's heart. The support to the patient's heart is so that no blood gets to its chambers.

e of Impaired dren a Problem

NEW YORK—Reduction of mortality at the younger ages as a result of the control established by the World Health Organization for infectious diseases makes it necessary to focus greater attention on the care and rehabilitation of a large number of children suffering from physical or mental impairments. The most common defects among children under 21, with the most seriously crippled cases numbering about 500,000, are estimated. The largest single category consists of those suffering from poliomyelitis. Tuberculosis ranks second, and congenital defects third. Other major causes of physical impairment at these ages include rheumatism, cerebral palsy and epilepsy, defects in vision and hearing, adding considerably to the number of impaired young lives. In addition to those physically impaired, many children and adolescents have personality and mental disorders that are serious to their future life and well-being. Thanks to the advances in medical surgery and methods of rehabilitation, many of these young people are now able to overcome their physical and mental handicaps, at least in part.

Police Chief Finds Stolen Items Pronto

BALTIMORE, Md.—Police Chief Rainfrette gave unusually quick service after service station owner Ollie Dore reported three mufflers stolen from in front of his station. Rainfrette took down the car, then jumped into a patrol car to start searching for leads on missing mufflers. He was somewhat startled to find them in the seat of the patrol car. It turned out that the night police had found the mufflers lying in front of the gas station and took them to headquarters for safe-keeping—but forgot to tell the owner.

's a Genuine Checker Enthusiast

OKLAHOMA.—W. E. Weaver, a real checker enthusiast. He loves the game and didn't like the fact he wasn't able to find opponents to play with. He got desperate—he bought a checkers set and installed a table and a couple of extra chairs to some opposition. He is snare a few checker players to keep the checker board busy.

Shortage Cited

WEST AUSTRALIA.—If you nowadays a good man is hard to find, you haven't seen the population figures on Australia. A good woman, or any other person, is hard to find. Figures released by Federal statistics show that there are now more men and women in Australia than there were in 1901, 1904.

Science Plays Big Role in Modern Criminal Detection

WASHINGTON—Science is gradually revolutionizing crime detection and the day may come when it is possible to dispense altogether with human witnesses in criminal investigations. This is the conclusion of Dr. Charles Sannie, professor of organic chemistry at the National Museum of Natural History in Paris. Even radioactive isotopes have made their entry into crime detection. Dr. Sannie points out in a paper published in the annual report of the Smithsonian Institution. Take, for example, murder by arsenic poisoning. It is known that arsenic tends to accumulate in the hair and nails. The quantity found in a tuft of hair, at a given point, makes it possible to ascertain the time the poison was administered since the rate of hair growth, slightly more than half an inch a month, is known.

Identification by blood group may be only in its infancy. Hitherto the law has been concerned only with the well-established A, B, and O groups. Recent research is revealing an ever-increasing number of previously unsuspected specific factors in the blood which are inherited according to the laws of heredity.

A major development, Dr. Sannie says, has been in the detection of stains of biological origin, such as those from saliva and body fluids. In the past there was no means of detecting such stains with certainty on a thick colored material. Now, an ultraviolet lamp does the trick and will also identify animal and vegetable remains, such as fragments of wood, scraps of plants or seeds, or pollen. The fluorescence technique has made practically impossible successful forgeries or counterfeiting of stamps, providing the methods are applied by police. Belgium is now making use of the electron microscope, developed during the war, to enable soldiers to see their opponents in the dark by infrared light.

Pacific Islands Were One Continent

WASHINGTON—Islands of the southwestern Pacific appear to be fragments of an ancient Melanesian continent which broke up 10 or 20 million years ago. This hypothesis, previously advanced by geologists, is amply supported by plant distribution, says Dr. Albert C. Smith, botanist of the U.S. National Museum. Dr. Smith recently completed his third collecting expedition in these islands, during which he visited the wild, little-known Korombasan-basanga Mountains—a region of massive rock columns ringed by precipices and divided by dark chasms, and nearly all covered by steep and silent rain forest. He has collected, however, throughout the archipelago. Dr. Smith's studies indicate that the last land connections to be sundered, as the old continent broke up into its present remnants, were those along the Fiji-New Hebrides Solomon Islands chain.

You Can't Sue TV When You're Caught

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—You can't sue a television station because the news camera catches you where you shouldn't be or with someone you shouldn't be with, the Florida Supreme Court has ruled. "A television newscaster must, like a newspaper reporter, attempt to get before the public 'today's news today,'" declared Justice B. K. Roberts in the unanimous ruling. Any person picked up by the TV cameras, although unwilling, cannot claim invasion of his privacy.

Fire Call Finds Home Owner in Station

UNION, S.C.—Magistrate J. Lee Gregory was watching television at the fire station when an alarm came in. "I'll just sit here and answer the phone until you fellows get back," he told the departing firemen. "You'd better get on this truck. It's your house," yelled the driver. Firemen discovered a badly-burned roast in the Gregory's oven and a pot of scorched beans on the stove.

Fruitless Hunt

DYERSBURG, Tenn.—Police, firemen and volunteers were busy searching a wooded ravine for 17-month-old Chuckie Moody until his father received a phone call that the lad was safe in a barber's shop. His mother, Mrs. E. L. Moody, who spread the alarm, had forgotten she left him there to get a haircut while she shopped.

MISS VIRGINIA RAE WALLEK AND WILBUR FATE BREEDLOVE WED

Miss Virginia Rae Wallek became the bride of Wilbur Fate Breedlove on June 29, 1956 at 6 p. m., at the First Baptist Church in Beeville, Texas.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wallek of the Olmas community, Skidmore, Texas. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Breedlove of Silverton, Texas.

Rev. W. C. Binford performed the double ring ceremony before an archway of greenery. On both sides of the archway were baskets of gladioluses. Wedding music was furnished by soloist Rev. Gene Blanton, of Pettus, Texas, who sang "I Love You Truly" and the "Lord's Prayer," and Mrs. Lucille Kinkler of Clareville, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length wedding dress of white tulle and lace over satin. The fitted lace bodice, came to a V at the waist, was designed with a portrait neckline and long sleeves of lace that came to a point. The lace of the bodice extended into a design on the top layer of tulle. The second layer of tulle was designed with ruffles which extended to the hemline. A coronet of pearl orange blossoms held her shoulder-length veil of tulle which extended into a design on the bottom. She carried a bouquet of white carnations edged with white net. A gift of the groom, was a strand of pearls, which she wore.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Edwin Wallek, Jr., of Olmas, niece of the bride while Edith White, of Beeville, was bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of pale blue polished cotton with wide necklines with fitted bodices and full bouffant skirts. They wore white pumps and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Edwin Wallek, Jr., of Olmas, was best man for his aunt, while John Martin, of Beeville, was groomsmen. Bobby Pickens, of Tynan and Raymond Lehberg, of Beeville ushered.

A reception in the lower temple followed the wedding.

The bride, a 1955 graduate of Skidmore High School attended Clarendon Junior College where she met the groom. She was secretary for the dean of the college.

The groom, a 1953 graduate of Arnett, Oklahoma, attended Clarendon Junior College where he graduated this past May. He plans to continue his schooling at Amarillo this fall.

After a wedding trip to West Texas the couple will live in Silverton and then in Amarillo.
