Snowfall Heavy Over County and Plains Saturday Night

A thick, wet snow-storm, which reached Silvertown Saturday night and continued to fall until around noon Sunday, left up to nine inches, and some of Silvertown's citizens measured as much as fourteen inches. Most farmers reported from 8 to 12 inches. The heaviest snow-fall was reported in the Plainview-Muleshoe area.

Quitaque reported from 2 to 3 inches, with no rain. Most of the crops were harvested and the county agent estimated about 5 per cent of cotton was in the fields.

No high wind accompanied the snow and livestock suffered very little according to Chick Northcutt, who declared it was the "finest" snow I ever saw.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Cochran, of Tullia, and their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Cochran, of Houston, spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. P. H. McKenney and Peggy. Mrs. E. D. Cochran is a sister to Mr. McKenney.

March of Dimes Campaign Begins in Briscoe County

It is again the time of year that we are called upon to give our dimes and dollars to help those that are not as fortunate as ourselves. Out of the funds received locally, 50 per cent goes to the National Foundation and the remainder stays in the county to support local victims when needed. As we all know, the vaccine has greatly reduced this dreaded disease, but there are still many cases that require medical care, iron lungs and artificial limbs.

According to our local chairman, Kenneth Tate, the March of Dimes Campaign started January 6. He will be assisted in the drive by the Briscoe County 4-H Club and the Eta Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority. The 4-H Club will distribute the coin containers and the ESA Chapter will handle the Mothers March on January 20.

Let's all remember the coin containers that will be on our merchants counters, and to turn our porch lights on the night of January 20.

ATTEND FUNERAL OF KNOX STEWART ON MONDAY

Bill Bryant, Joe Brooks and Robert McJimsey attended the funeral of Knox Stewart, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, in Tullia Monday afternoon.

Altogether New Type Of Film Prepared for John Deere Audience

"It's something altogether new and different in the way of a John Deere Day program." Those are the words of Ray Thompson, local John Deere dealer, who will be host to farmers of the area and their families at the John Deere Day program to be held Saturday, January 18.

Describing the program prepared specially for his guests Ray called it a most unusual and delightful package of music, entertainment, and downright valuable information on modern farming practices. "The program," he said, "is like many different shows within a single show—one big colorful unit that has just about everything in it."

A preview of the program offered John Deere Day audiences this year bears him out. The show opens with the camera focused upon the captured curiosity typical of all small boys as one, just as typical of his lot, slips in undetected to see the secret rehearsal of the mythical "John Deere Fair." Through the boy's eyes, the audience is transported hither and yon to witness the myriad and varied and often highly comical sequences.

For the unusual in farming, the camera takes the audience to the snowy woodland of Vermont, where it sees the actual "farming" of maple syrup. The sequence is as beautiful as it is informing and gives an insight to that part of the nation's agriculture which is unfamiliar to many.

With an almost magic carpet of music, with the help of some unusual camera work, boy and audience are both taken on a sight-seeing tour of modern farming practices. They see how many farmers are making both effort and capital for farther by "going six-row"; that is, changing over from four-row row-crop farming to six-row. Some more magic with music and lens, and the audience sees first-hand how farms are being geared; if not to control rainfall; then at least to conserve it and to get the most out of it through irrigation.

Probably the scene to draw as much interest as any in the entire program is that of the "one-man hay making. How? with the use of the closest thing to automation on the farm, the modern farmer can cut, bale, load, elevate, and store his hay; all without the help of so much as one more hand. Many farmers have seen this equipment actually demonstrated, but none tire of watching it.

But that is only part of it. The audience is shown a whole parade of new equipment just as modern and just as time and labor-saving and which promises today's farmer a tomorrow with lower

Life Abounds In Deepest Parts of Ocean

LA JOLLA, Calif.—Recent research has shown that the fundamental processes of life go on in the deepest parts of the ocean, where pressures reach 17,000 pounds per square inch, the temperature hovers just above freezing, and the light of the sun never penetrates.

No more than a decade ago, says Claude E. ZoBell, professor of marine microbiology, University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography, some scientists believed that life could not exist under these conditions, particularly since it was thought that there was no food or free oxygen at great depths.

But painstaking exploration of the great depths of the Pacific has shown that animal life exists there in many forms, ZoBell says. Circulating water masses appear to provide food and fresh oxygen.

ZoBell says that estimates indicate a minimum of about 10 pounds of organic carbon exists per acre on the deep-sea floor. He emphasizes the scarcity of information on the region, however. "Our knowledge of animal life on the deep-sea floor having an area greater than Africa is based upon fewer than 100 grab samples fished from depths exceeding four miles."

ZoBell was aboard the Danish research vessel Galathea during her around-the-world-trip in the early 1950's. The party spent several weeks studying the great depths of the western Pacific.

Although many specimens were collected, the only creatures brought up alive were bacteria. These were shipped to the Scripps Institution in specially designed gear, refrigerated and compressed to 15,000 pounds per square inch.

Earth's Rumbling Said Quite Normal

WASHINGTON—Mt. Etna spews hot sand. Fuego hurls a pall of ash over central Guatemala. Several tremors rock San Francisco, the Aleutians, and Manchuria.

Shaken spectators of nature's fireworks might wonder whether Vulcan is working overtime this year. Traditional hot spots, such as Fuego, have been rekindled. However, statisticians say the situation seems to be normal, if not quiet—along the earth's notorious "Belts of Fire."

The Coast and Geodetic Survey, which keeps one ear to the trembling earth, has listed 266 major earthquakes during early 1957 as compared to 299 during an identical period of time last year.

As for volcanoes, our planet is quite literally—letting off a normal amount of steam. No more than a handful of the earth's 453 active volcanoes speaks at once.

Autos Cripple More Children Than Polio

Automobile accidents make cripples of 25 times as many children as polio does. They involve more than 2,000,000 people a year, killing about 36,000 of them, and costing over $2,000,000. Yet highway officials say that 85 per cent of all traffic accidents could be prevented.

One clear-cut way to attack this vital problem is through the visual factor. Some 3,000,000 American drivers have such poor eyesight that they are a menace on the road at any time. And about 17,500,000 additional drivers have substandard vision. The accident toll would be cut down tremendously if every motorist had frequent eyesight examinations and followed the specialist's advice about any seeing faults which were discovered. Most drivers could be brought up to par by glasses or other means. Some with uncorrectable visual errors could learn to compensate for them and thus pilot their cars safely, at least under certain conditions.

Independence Is Old Story for Ethiopia

WASHINGTON—Ethiopia, mountainous and isolated on the northeast shoulder of Africa, boasts one of the world's oldest traditions of independence. Italy's brief, six-year conquest that ended in 1941 marks the only break in more than 2,000 years of Ethiopian sovereignty.

The African kingdom has an equally ancient tradition of Christianity, having embraced the Coptic form in 330 A.D. The Egyptian Coptic Patriarch formerly headed the Ethiopian Church, but in 1952 the Ethiopians obtained their own Archbishop.

Mining Income

NEW YORK—The direct share of mining in national income ranges among countries from slightly more than 1 per cent (India, China, Greece) to 10 per cent or more in Peru, the Union of South Africa and Chile, observes a Twentieth Century Fund study. It is about 2 per cent in the United States.

Housewife Keeps Busy Corresponding With 20,000 Women

TOLEDO, Ohio—How would you like to keep up a regular correspondence with 20,000 women you've never seen?
That's regular routine for a Toledo woman who deals with 20,000 American homemakers serving as "consultants" for her husband's market research firm.
The woman is Mrs. Howard Trumbull, vice president of National Family Opinion, Inc., which has its headquarters in downtown Toledo and an office in New York City. She's "Mrs. Trumbull" to the firm and "Clara" to her husband who founded the business 10 years ago, but to homemakers in Council Bluffs, Iowa; Craig, Colo.; Blue Mound, Ill.; Los Angeles, Chicago, Miami, Brooklyn, and thousands of other communities across the country, she's "Carol Adams."
She's the woman to whom homemakers speak their minds confidentially about packages they don't like, a new jelly that someone plans to place on the market, an improved sewing machine, and many other products.
The "consultants" are not paid. Mrs. Trumbull explains, but seem to find a special kind of pleasure in being able to tell American business firms what they like and, very often, dislike about their products.
Because Mrs. Trumbull, via her "Carol Adams" pen name, can speak to homemakers on a chat, informal level, get "straight from the shoulder" opinions about products before they are placed on the market, and guarantee her consultants that they will remain anonymous, National Family Opinion has no difficulty obtaining information it asks in behalf of its clients.

Dinosaurs Once Dominated Earth
WASHINGTON—Dinosaurs were the dominant animals on earth for approximately 130,000,000 years. Man and his more or less human-like forerunners have been here, at the most, less than 2 million years, and all human history covers a maximum of little more than 10,000 years. The earliest mammal like creatures date back hardly more than 150 million years.
The story of this long supremacy of a race of extinct reptiles, which first appeared 200,000,000 years ago and persisted to the dawn of the age of mammals about 70,000,000 years ago, is told by Dr. David H. Dunkle, of the Smithsonian Institution's Division of Vertebrate Paleontology, in a 24-page illustrated booklet published by the Institution.
These reptiles, whose nearest extant relatives are the vastly different birds and crocodiles, included the largest creatures ever to inhabit the land. Some of them, however, were no bigger than chickens. During their long tenure of existence they underwent fantastic variations. Many walked upright on their hind legs. Some got about on all four legs. Some developed heavy suits of bony armor.

U. S. Pays 80 Billions To States, Individuals

NEW YORK—The Federal Government has paid a total of $80 1/2 billions to States as grants-in-aid and to individuals in the States over the 23-year period from 1934 to 1956, inclusive, according to a study recently made public by the Congressional Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures, of which Senator Harry F. Byrd is chairman.
Some 60 per cent of this total, adding up to $49 1/2 billions, went to individuals, with payments to States and local units making up the balance. Veterans were the leading recipients in the individual sector, receiving an aggregate of $16 1/2 billions in the 1934-56 period.
A total of more than 125 programs were involved in these payments. In general, the trend of these outlays has been up except for veterans, who received their biggest payments from the Federal Government in the 1948-52 period.

British to Give Extra Pay to Cut-Off Soldiers

LONDON—The British Government recently announced that military men who lose their jobs through the streamlining of the armed forces would be given going-away grants as high as $16,800.
The amounts vary with rank and length of service, the figure above representing the amount that would go to colonels with 15 years' service.
All the grants would be tax free and in addition to normal retirement pay and terminal grants previously paid.
Britain plans to slash its armed forces from 680,000 men to 375,000 men within the next five years.

Painters at Work Year Round Keeping Big Bridges Shiny

WASHINGTON—Drivers crossing the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco and the George Washington Bridge in New York are accustomed to seeing painters wielding their brushes daily at some point on these two magnificent models of architectural magic. Rain or shine, fog or high wind, painting crews work on the bridges eight hours a day, five days a week, fifty-two weeks a year. When the weather is not good for work outside, they turn their skill to the hundreds of small cells in the towers, or to the inside struts, I-beams and hold-downs—all of which must have regular coatings of weather-resistant paint to keep the steel in perfect condition.

The George Washington Bridge—six years older than the somewhat longer San Francisco span—marked its twenty-fifth anniversary last fall. There was little birthday celebrating, however, since the bridge, in typical work-a-day mood, carried some 100,000 automobiles—not counting buses and trucks—across the mighty Hudson which it so gracefully spans.
Bridge authorities, in their determination to use the very best paints available, conduct constant research to determine what type coating is most suitable for each purpose. In the case of the Golden Gate Bridge, over 1,500 samples of paint have been tested since the span first went into construction in 1933. These tests determine which coatings will best stand up to heavy fog, rain and hot sun over the years. The tests are carried on systematically on a weight block on the San Francisco side of the bridge, where rain, wind, fog, salt water and heat of the sun show up the damage they can do to paint.

Eight Died From Rabies During 1956

CHICAGO—Eight Americans died from rabies in 1956, according to a consultant for the Journal of the American Medical Association.
In addition, one other death was attributed to rabies, but was not confirmed by autopsy.
Four of the confirmed deaths were reported to the National Office of Vital Statistics as occurring in Dallas, Texas, in January, June, July and October. The victims were a man aged 63, two boys aged 3 and 12, and a girl aged 12.
The other deaths occurred in Austin, Texas, in a man 39; Mobile County, Ala., in a woman 26; Lake County, Indiana, in a woman 70, and Santa Fe, N. M., in a girl 7.
Rabies, a virus disease, is acquired through the bite of a rabid animal, usually a dog or a cat. Cows, foxes, skunks, bats and other animals also are known to carry the disease. Vaccination of household pets is the best means of stopping the spread of the disease.

Tomato Tests Explore Blood Pressure Problems

LOS ANGELES—"Hot" tomatoes are being used to explore problems related to high blood pressure.
Dr. Irving Zabin, physiological chemist at UCLA medical school is using radioactive tomatoes (the garden variety) to study certain chemical structures similar to those found in cholesterol, the fatty substance in the body thought to be related to high blood pressure.
The center of interest is the substance that makes tomatoes red, a carotenoid pigment. This substance contains a multiple of five carbon structure, which is also found in cholesterol.
Dr. Zabin is tracing the formation of tomato red pigment. Compounds containing radioactive carbon are injected into tiny holes drilled into the green tomatoes, and the holes are sealed with paraffin. When the tomato ripens, the red pigment is extracted and analyzed to see how the radioactive carbon atoms are incorporated in the chemical structure.

Band Plays on Nightly—To an Empty House

WASHINGTON—A dance orchestra played at the Casino Royal for a whole week, but no one danced.
A business agent for a federation of musicians explained it this way: The club management wanted to close the night spot for repairs a week before the orchestra's contract was to expire. The union insisted the club make good its end of the contract. So the orchestra was ordered by the club manager to report nightly throughout the week, dressed in white dinner jackets, and play to the empty house.
Club Manager Leon Zeiger was not available for comment.

Tardiness May Cause More Inconveniences For Taxpayers

Tardiness sometimes merely inconveniences the one who is late, but there are occasions when being late can be more costly, according to John R. Sanderson, District Manager for the Social Security Administration at Amarillo. "A late shopper for Christmas gifts can still find something or other even the day after Christmas, and missing a train or a bus does not mean there won't be another one along a little later," remarks Sanderson, "but missing the December 31 deadline for filing for disability insurance benefits can mean a real loss, not just an inconvenience."

Effective with January 1, 1956, benefits under the disability insurance provisions of the Social Security Act can start no earlier than for the month in which formal application is filed. Sanderson stated that up through December 31, 1957, a claim for disability insurance benefits can result in back-dating payments to July of 1957. He suggests that all disabled persons aged 50 or over check the following requirements and make every effort to get a claim filed before January 1, 1958:

1. The disability must have started at least six months ago.
2. It must be so severe that substantial painful activity is impossible.
3. The disabled person must have had five years of social security credits out of the ten years just before becoming disabled, and at least 1½ years of such credits out of the three years before onset of the disability.
4. The disability must be one that can be medically determined.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd May visited her mother, Mrs. Henry Bailey, of Quitaque, who is seriously ill in Northwest Texas Hospital, Amarillo.

WSCS Met Monday Afternoon, Jan. 6th

The WSCS met Monday afternoon, January 6, in the home of Mrs. Robert L. Hill with eleven members present. Epiphany, a feast celebrated January 6, commemorating the coming of the Magi as being the first manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles, was used as the theme in welcoming new members. Mesdames R. M. Hill and Robert Ledbetter used Matthew 2 as the basis of the program; as the wise men brought gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh, so may each member bring their gifts, prayers and service to Christ.

The WSCS will have a Japanese luncheon in the home of Mrs. C. H. Black at 1 p. m. on Monday, January 13, in preparation for the next foreign missionary study, "Cross and Crisis in Japan". If you have Japanese costumes or jewelry you are asked to wear them for this luncheon.

Mesdames J. H. May, Walter Fleming and Elmer May were in Tulia Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. J. H. May, who has been quite ill, has improved considerably and is feeling much better.
