From Texas State Committee On Public Education

Texans making an all-out study of their public schools this spring are finding that the end result is not only going to be recommendations to the 1959 Legislature, but also resolution of some of their local problems.

This is reported by the Texas State Committee on Public Education, a non-partisan state-wide citizens group concerned with encouraging citizen interest in school improvement. The committee reported on activities which have come to its attention as a result of the Hale-Aikin school studies being made in every Texas county.

The TSCPE, reviewing state-wide newspaper reports and also comments from its own members participating in the studies at the local level, found that more often than not county committees are uncovering and tending to solve local problems right along with others that may call for state action.

In more than one case the county groups have already let their school boards and administrators know that they want more emphasis put on academic achievement stressing the so-called solid subjects. On the other hand, a number have indicated that they don't want to give up "fringe" courses such as driver education.

Out of such discussions have come local decisions, reported TSCPE, which require no legislative action. For instance, some counties, wanting more academic work but unwilling to give up useful non-academic subjects, already have indicated that driver education will be given only in summer school in order to leave more time during the regular term for basic subjects. The Texas Education Agency already allows this. In at least one case, a school system without driver education decided to add it.

Similar actions at the county and local level saw one county planning to take steps to interest high school students in the teaching profession, and another seeking to add more foreign languages to the curriculum. In another case, aptitude tests to discover superior students were suggested for the seventh and eighth grades instead of high school.

At least one county is going to make a point-by-point comparison of its own actions with any recommendation made by the state-wide Hale-Aikin Committee of Twenty Four to see how they match. The Hale-Aikin Committee is the official state group which will coordinate the reports of 254 counties and submit recommendations for legislation.

Another county group discovered what it believed to be a weakness in arithmetic in its schools, and decided to try remedies for that before strengthening arts, crafts and physical education which it also wanted.

Numerous counties have looked into the question of whether they want to go beyond state minimum requirements in courses offered or required. They also looked at the question of whether—and how—to pay teachers more than the minimum. They discussed local administrative practices to permit teachers more time for teaching, with less time for record-keeping and non-class work.

Reporting on these items, the Texas State Committee on Public Education said that although it is evident there will be much diversity in county reports, school systems already are gaining through the studies. The committee president, Mrs. Carter Taylor, said that any citizen who needs information about how to participate in school studies will receive it by writing committee headquarters, 2503 Avalon Place, Houston, or the Texas Education Agency, Austin, or the County Chairman.

Litterbugs Have Been Around for Many Long Years

NEW YORK—Although "litterbug" may be a new word in the dictionary, the species is known to have existed at least as far back as the seventeenth century. But wherever its origin might have been, it is now more prolific than ever!

There is evidence that as early as 1612, warning signs were used in London to deter trash-tossers from their thoughtless deeds. And in 1784 Boston's Selectmen posted notices threatening prosecution for citizens whose littering habits they decried as being not only a public nuisance but also a health hazard.

But despite the conscientious efforts and local accomplishments of government authorities through the years, the litter problem in America today is more acute than it has been at any other time in history.

While the penalties for littering are not the same in the various states, and while considerable experimenting with different types of signs is going on, one significant factor has already emerged. The most effective warning sign is the type that says little—but says a lot forcefully!

Utah, for example, has a sign which is brief, but to the point—"$29 Fine For Littering Highways." New Hampshire, the first state to post the specific amount of a fine, uses the following message: "$25 Fine For Throwing Trash On Highways," while New Jersey signs say "Please! No Litter—Fine $50."

Dogs Are Not Quite So Keen-Eyed

CHICAGO — Contrary to some opinion, dogs do not have very sharp or efficient sight. They use their eyes mainly to avoid obstacles, never to observe details. They get their chief pleasures through their other senses. However, vision helps them find their way home when they get lost.

The vision of different dogs may vary, even if they belong to the same breed. Some can see a moving object 800 yards away but can only recognize it at a distance of 150 yards. A large dog sees farther than a very small one. Quick recognition depends upon attention, and a dog recognizes its

"family history" of a word, such as the Greek origin of 'idea' and 'philosophy,' 'tragedy,' 'comedy,' etc.

"As science grows," Professor Wiedlander declares, "so grows the use of Latin and Greek. Many new drugs and medical discoveries bear Greek or Latin names. And since popular magazines and newspapers now consider science a major news field, and since the terminology of psychology is now a household word, the public has more and more need to understand the words being used in order to avoid being confused."

Pen Not Mightier Than Typewriter, It Seems

LOS ANGELES—The pen may be mightier than the sword but the college student who uses it in preference to a typewriter is likely to get knifed when it comes to a B grade.

"In school work, business and private life the typewritten page is becoming the only acceptable form of communication," according to Dr. Elben Robertson Russon, visiting associate professor of office management and business education at the University of California, Los Angeles.

"The world is too big, busy and impatient to decipher bizarre handwriting," she said. "The typewriter has become an appendage of modern man's fingers and the inability to operate one is now as essential as handwriting used to be."

Yet, she said, many high school students who plan to enter college, where they must prepare volumes of term reports, essays and the like, aren't encouraged to take typing classes because they are studying an academic instead of a commercial curriculum.

Keep Kids Safe

CHICAGO—If you must store your child's toys in the garage or basement, advises Toy Guidance Council, keep them as far as possible from your workshop equipment. Tools and machines usually attract youngsters who are not capable of handling them safely. Make sure your tools are out of their reach.

HOME DEMONSTRATION MEETING WITH MRS. A. H. CHAPPELL

Mrs. A. H. Chappell's home was the scene of a home demonstration meeting Thursday, May 8, on a one dish meal and there were other things demonstrated. A delicious meal was served to the following ladies:

Mrs. Nancy Morckel, Home Economist of the Lighthouse Cooperative, and her mother, Mrs. Buchanan and Mrs. Day, all of Floydada, and Mrs. J. E. Wheelock, Mrs. H. P. Howard, Mrs. C. L. Whitehead, Mrs. O. C. Allard, Mrs. A. J. Rowell, Mrs. Beth Joiner, Mrs. Opal Grabbe, Mrs. G. W. Chappell, and the hostess, Mrs. A. H. Chappell.

Mrs. Morckel would love to hold more of these meetings in the near future.

Mrs. Charles Cowart was a patient in the Lockney hospital over the weekend and early this week.

FORMER SENATOR KARL L. LOVELADY ANNOUNCES FOR STATE SENATE

TO THE VOTERS OF THE 30th SENATORIAL DISTRICT:

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the office of State Senator of the 30th Senatorial District in the forthcoming Democratic Primary. I make this announcement after careful and considered appraisal of the voiced opinions of the many persons who have come to me and that I have gone to see, who have insisted that I make this race based on my past record in the State Senate of Texas to keep the state out of debt and to vote a vote for all the people and not a vote for the chosen few.

I base my candidacy on the following platform:

PROFESSIONS—

I believe that the present laws regulating the illegal and unethical practice of law, medicine and healing arts should be strengthened so that the public may be better protected, and any professional person or so called professional person who, either in private, in public, or in print, willfully misleads the public to obtain a client or a patient should be prosecuted by law for so doing.

WELFARE—

I would give additional aid to all persons under the welfare program where need can be shown to exist. (Any increase in pension checks, etc., would help our economy because they spend their money on the necessities.)

OFFICIAL NOTICES AND CITATIONS—

I would vote for an amendment to the present law on official notices and publications to provide that all official notices and citations now posted at the court house door be published in a newspaper in the County so that the public will be properly informed, and that individual citizens affected will not be deprived of their just rights under our laws.

FREE PRESS—

Our laws should be amended so that all government records and all government meetings shall be open to the press so that the people may be informed on all happenings and acts of the government of state, county and political subdivisions.

TAXES—

The State Comptroller has estimated that by January 1, 1959, the State shall be about $100,000,000 in debt, thus the next session of the Legislature will be faced with the duty of getting the state out of the "red." I think that this can best be done by the abolishing of needless jobs and the elimination of duplicate functions of various state agencies, none of which render any service to the taxpayer. With times getting harder economy should start at Austin.

I would abolish the State Property taxes, as the property tax payer now has too great a burden to carry in supporting our school, cities and county governments.

HONESTY AND INTEGRITY—

The past few years have brought dark clouds of dishonesty and corruption in our state department, and I for one, if elected your State Senator, propose to do my part to see that the people of Texas shall once again have confidence in our government.

FARMING—

I believe in a broader "Farm-to-Market" road program, by trying to get an additional $50,000,000 per year to the amount now spent, for more farm roads.

I believe in a much broader rural electrification and rural telephone program so that every farmer will benefit.

I would like to see a state supported experimental farm, to be located in the heart of the vegetable growing district, for experimentation in the growing of vegetables.

I would support a program to conserve our surface water supply by the state expending money for the construction of dams on all rivers and draws where needed. (In doing this we would also have places for recreation right here in West Texas.)

I would amend the present employment law so that the TEXAS EMPLOYMENT COMMISSION would bring into any given area suitable labor to be used on the farm where said labor is not locally available at the time when this labor is most needed by the farmer.

I would vote for and support a stronger seed regulation law in order to put this state on a par with other states in seed regulation. I will always oppose any legislation to unionize farm labor.

SCHOOLS—

A stronger emphasis on the teaching of the basic subjects of reading, writing and arithmetic in the lower grades, and on mathematics and science in high school, so that we can better equip our students to preserve our leadership as a nation in the world.

Better pay for all school teachers, and more money for better school plants from the state. (I think teachers should receive salaries equal to other professions of similar education and training.) I think we should have a state supported Junior College near the center of the district so that buses can run from the various towns carrying students to said college.

BUSINESS—

I would abolish the State Store Tax, State tax levied on stores that sell cigarettes and charge the collection of all taxes and cosmetics, etc., now collected by the merchant to that of the manufacturer who makes them. (In fact I think the merchant, farmer and all retail businesses should be taken out of the business of collecting taxes for either the state or the federal government.) It is about time the small business man got a break in this government of ours.

The present "Hot Check" law should be amended so that when any person gives or passes a check whether for cash, to pay a bill or to receive merchandise, he or she may be handled by the proper court if said check is not honored at the bank for payment.

Any person who makes a bill for groceries, clothing or drugs, same being necessities, the merchant should have stronger laws than we now have for the collection of said debts.

LOAN SHARKS—

I would vote and support a law to place all loan companies under the same regulations as the Banks are now under.

CITIES AND TOWNS—

I believe that all cities and towns in the state should be given aid from the state, based on population for use in building streets, alleys and for the purchase of highway rights-of-way through their cities and towns. (As you know all this expense is now carried by the property tax payer who already has all the burden he can carry.)

I am not supported by any clique or clan, nor am I fighting any group or individual in this campaign, but if elected your State Senator, I will be your State Senator in fact and in truth, and the fighting that I will do will be on the floor of the State Senate, fighting for your interest. I implore that each person reading this announcement check my past record in the legislative halls of Texas, and as a public spirited citizen in the community in which I reside.

I am outspoken in my beliefs and never ride fence on any issue. Trusting that you will take this announcement to your heart for the good and future prosperity of this district, and that we all go forward together with progress consistent with our times for the good of all of us.

George Slept Here...

He pulled off the highway and asked if he could take a little snooze.

We pride ourselves that Phillips 66 Stations are first-rate service stations. We're even glad to make them sleeping stations in an emergency. So George took his snooze.

Good thing he did because, dog-tired and drowsy, he might have fallen asleep at the wheel while driving.

This little incident suggests, in a small way, the hospitable attitude of Phillips 66 Service men generally. Ask any regular patron of Phillips 66 Stations and he'll tell you that Phillips Dealers go out of their way to treat you and your car right—perform many a service you wouldn't expect to get elsewhere.

Better yet, drive in and see for yourself what "Hospitality on the Highway" means.

New Lighting for Longhorn Cavern

A completely new and improved lighting system has just been installed in Texas Longhorn Cavern near Burnet which provides dramatic illumination designed to best show off the scenic wonders of this marvel of Nature. Many modern theatrical lighting effects have been utilized. More than four miles of wiring were installed and nearly a thousand electric bulbs were used in the project which required over five months.

WILLIE H. TENNYSON CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE OF 89th LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT

Initial Statement:

To The Good People of the 89th Legislative District, Texas House of Representatives; Briscoe, Floyd, Swisher and Hale Counties:

I had been in hopes that some citizen from Briscoe County would offer him or herself for this seat in the Texas House, but since the filing time most came down without them doing so, I hereby so announce. I only gave it a passing thought the first two or three days of May, and mentioned it to a few of my many good friends in and around Silvertown, and having received so much good encouragement; I only gave it serious study for some 72 hours, and pitched my hat in the ring with these three young kid law students, none of whom I know, but am sure they are fine young gents. Ordinarily one would also go see some of his friends in other parts of the District, but I have been to several of the towns since and some whom I saw said they were glad I announced and would help me all they could. This, I am here at the first very grateful for, and if my good friends, and others I hope to make will let us work a little, I firmly believe we can win this election at the first balloting, hence no need for a runoff one. I think enough of Briscoe County where I have resided for many years, to make this race, but for other ample reasons, such as good state government and issues of these hectic days. As I said all of my honorable opponents I am sure are fine young kids, but let us send a man and not a boy to represent the good old 89th District. They are all in the State University, studying their chosen profession of the law; why not let them pursue that highly honored profession, for how could anyone of them, fully represent the good people of this District, study their courses, and live in Austin most of the year—one or the other would certainly go neglected, and there is too much of that now.

I wish to make the following brief statements, and will enlarge upon these and others as time goes on:

1. First, to the people, especially of Briscoe and Swisher counties, and it might well include the others and more territory; let us start work on trying to obtain for our future generations the needed Claud Crossing, dam and reservoir. What a great spot could be made of the water wasted—in every way in recreation, irrigation, etc. Had this dam and reservoir been a reality twelve months ago, enough water could have been stored to last forever, plus future rains, but it will be dry weather again one of these days (some friends tell me this proposed work is enough to carry the vote of at least Swisher and Briscoe counties.)—this would someday irrigate all of Swisher and Briscoe counties, and maybe more. I understand this kind of a proposition must originate in the Legislature of a respective state. I am ready to begin work, conferences, visitations, etc., come July 28th, and not August 25th. In other words no need for a runoff election!
2. I am bitterly opposed to a state sales and / or income tax.

The only place I would be for a small sales tax, or from some other source, without raising (but by saving and economizing and cutting costly duplications—and its in our state government the same as national), would be to give our dear old people, more assistance, who have been the backbone of our society, and some of them have come to the shadows of life, lacking its necessities through no fault of their own, and Texas is among the least of the states in this regard. Or for out of state traffic (but not for our millions of ordinary citizens), which would be unfeasible and unenforceable. It seems the time is far past when the burden of the back breaking taxes must stop, and be lowered if possible, and waste and duplications stopped. Our whole tax system, state and federal, needs revamping and overhauling. Studies are starting along that line, but it is likely to wind up with where can we get more taxes to put on our backs. We may not be able to lower them on the average citizen, but for God's sake, let us not raise them.

3. There is after years, to be a concerted effort in the next session of the Legislature to bring back upon Texas that awful eyecore of destruction in the years ago, namely legalized horse racing, as well as the loosening of the intoxicating beverages laws, rather than tightening. Ordinarily, I do not believe in filibustering, but I would talk, and work until I dropped to oppose any such. There is no such thing as legalizing the devil's tricks and business. In the first place, I would not attend their lobby banquets, and they then could leave off putting a pretty necktie, etc., under my plate. (C.). There will be more high paid lobbyists in Austin, come next January, regardless of the recent weak law passed against them, than ever before.

4. Education Integration Segregation. I am against so called aid to education by the federal government, except where now given, namely to school districts where military installations, etc have increased the population, and those districts are not able to bear more bonded indebtedness. When the federal government get their financial pie fingers (and that's the peoples tax monies or borrowed) into state or local affairs, that soon they will tell how to run them by their laws by regulations, and quasi-judicial setups. A book could be written about these things. I am against the school integration of the white and negro, but it looks like we will have to take it, bayonets and all, but let us be patient and peaceful, and do it gradually, which it will and must be. I would be in favor of a local district speaking the full democratic way namely, at the ballot box. I would at the state level do all possible of course to avoid a Little or Big Rock in Beautiful Texas (with apologies to Pappy). Integration is unconstitutional and hence illegal, illogical, unprecedented, un-Christian and un-Scriptural (Acts. 17-26), and it will have to be done, to be done peacefully over the years and not in a year or two. It might well be that some future Supreme Court may reverse the opinion of the present one—it has been done a number of times. To you school teachers, from an old former one, I would like to see you get your 'compromise', but proposed salary of a few years ago restored to that, with the high cost of living still soaring, and your annuity raised, but they say Texas is going to have a huge deficit, mainly because of the oil import deal (again where the federal government calls the shots), but maybe it can be before too long. I would raise our natural resources taxes that are going to other states for less tax than our own citizens pay. I am a states righter and have no apologies for it. We need more Tom Jeffersons and less Alex Hamiltons in the country. Tom said 'the people who are governed less are governed best', but now it's the other way around. He also said 'a public office is a public trust', but some want to make it a private trough. I have thought for years, the affected states should have many years ago set up a small contingent fund for the building and equipping of negro schools, and it might not be a bad idea now—something like the Confederate pension fund—there are a lot of places funds may be obtained without raising taxes.

If integration ever got anyways near to operating, some of its advocates would probably next want to repeal our miscegenation laws.

5. Agriculture. This is another thing that the federal government has by the tail and a downhill pull, but being born and reared on the same crabgrass, rocky farm in northeast Texas, and worked among and with the "salt of the earth" people all my life, my interest are in them. It seems that much cant probably be done on a state level, though sometimes there is. I would try and get a place on both the House Agriculture, and Education committees. I could say many more things, but this, my first 'spasm' is getting long, and will close now with the following remarks. In recent years some have come to think that one must be a lawyer or law student to know whether a law or proposed law is good or bad. This is most erroneous, and didn't originate with the people of that honored profession. I did not want to say this but since it is true and substantial, I will: Several good and prominent citizens in the district have told me they plain resent children, who are financially able to attend the State University, or trying to get on the peoples' payroll (for some reason) with a salary from the people and live in Austin, and have no assurance they will be able to attend to their legislative duties, and have further said there was now too much of this, even if unable financially to attend the University. I know, what it is and means to have a son and wife in the State University, but going on a financial shoestring (as I will have to wage this righteous campaign)—he worked hard at other jobs, and went as long as a week without sleep and rest—only God's answer to prayers did it, and since they are over the hump; one now, and the other soon on an earned payroll of their own, and it didn't cost Texas taxpayers a penny, it isn't my desire to have this seat in order to help them (there are only two or three reasons why one would so desire this job—to be of probable service to his people of the district and state, or maybe to be a tool of the lucrative lobbyist, or maybe a salary from the people for some other reason), or any reimbursement for what little we were able to cheerfully help them. And as I have said I will live among the good people of this district, and not at Austin on the peoples payroll, while doing something else.

While living among them, I would know their desires, needs and wants, and while the Legislature is in session, would in contact by mail, and infrequent personal contacts, but the rest of the year would be spent among them, and not at Austin pursuing a chosen profession. An honest reason for this job would not be a saving of some money from the salary, as it pays $25 per day for a regular session of 120 days, and ones living expenses would surely take half of that.

I understand we candidates will have questionnaires concerning the next session of the Legislature as to how we stand on various issues and things—from such as tane—Texas Alcohol Narcotics (The old United Texas Drys for years), W. C. T. U. and other groups. I will welcome same, and will answer any pertinent question and not hedge on any issue and give my stand—from any religious or civic group or individual. I should like to have a letter from, anyone from 10 to 90 years of age, giving your ideas, comments and suggestions. In the meantime, let there be "a stirring among the grassroots", and lets win this race the first time at bat, and since my fine, but young and inexperienced—in the vicissitudes of this thing called life, opponents have done scarcely more than say they are 'against sin and for home and mother', I challenge them to come out with a worthwhile platform, and in the first place state to the people of this district how they expect to attend to their committee and legislative duties and at the same time to attend to, pursue their further courses in their chosen profession * * * and for nine months of the year not be among their people, to see what their desires and wants and needs are. I promise to spend every whit of my time that the legislature is not in session doing just that. So, let us send a man, and not a boy to represent the good people of this fine 89th Legislative District. Your help and support will be gratefully appreciated.

Most Respectfully,
WILLIE H. TENNYSON

Candidate, the 89th Legislative District, Texas House of Representatives.

Employment Picture Underwent Changes In Recent Years

NEW YORK—The structure of employment in manufacturing has been undergoing a significant change in recent years as between production and nonproduction workers, according to data compiled by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The figures show that the rise in manufacturing employment in the period since the end of World War II has been dominated by the non-production classification, embracing a diversified group running from executives through research personnel to clerical staffs. Of the 1.6 million persons added to manufacturing payrolls between 1945 and 1956, 1.3 million, or four out of every five, have been in the non-production group.

As a result, the number of non-production workers rose to a record high of more than 3.7 million last year. This was the equivalent of 22 per cent of all persons employed in manufacturing, a proportion seldom approximated in the past. The number of production workers came to 13.2 million in 1956, and has fluctuated in a comparatively narrow range in recent years.

This shift in the composition of jobs in manufacturing is in line with the long-term trend of employment throughout the economy, with the white collar worker catching up with and passing the blue collar classification as the biggest single group in the working population.

Sun Glare Can Cause Accidents

URBANA, Ill.—Sometimes the sun can be an enemy. This is particularly true in the summer months when the sun's glare can be a decided safety threat to drivers, says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois.

Glare from the sun, or reflections from cars and pavement, combined with high speed will produce numerous accidents during the coming vacation season. Many other accidents will result from "visual fatigue" caused by the strain of looking against sun glare.

The new styling of cars, with greater glass area, lavish chrome trims and light-reflecting colors, has greatly increased the hazard from glare. Another factor is the popularity of convertibles and sport cars, whose drivers have little protection from the sun.

Here are Hogsett's suggestions for reducing glare and decreasing danger:

Use a visor to protect your eyes from overhead glare.

Avoid driving at sunrise and sunset, when the rays of the sun hit directly into the windshield.

Prenatal Mortality Continues a Problem

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Prenatal mortality—death of infants before or soon after birth—continues to be a major medical problem, according to a recent study. In recent years prenatal deaths have averaged more than 135,000 a year in the United States. Approximately half of these are stillbirths, and the remaining half are babies dying within one week of birth.

Some progress has been made in reducing the prenatal mortality rate—it fell about one-third between 1940 and 1954—but the improvement has lagged far behind that for childbirth mortality among mothers, which decreased 86 per cent in the same period.

The major factors contributing to the death toll in the prenatal period, the study shows, are lack of early and adequate prenatal care; twin and other plural births; puerperal toxemia; chronic and infectious diseases in the mother; and the use of inadequately trained midwives, a practice which is still fairly common in some sections of the country. Cesarean births, while quite safe for the mother, are still attended with high risk to the infant.

Heart Diseases Hurt American Industry

CHICAGO—Heart diseases rob business and industry of trained men during their most productive years. They deplete manpower of skilled employees and are responsible for a tremendous labor turnover and time loss.

Studies have indicated that these diseases are far more costly than strikes from a standpoint of lost productivity and are about 1/3 as costly as on-the-job accidents.

Witchcraft Still Has a Place in This Modern World

LOS ANGELES—Burn witches, if you will, but you won't kill witchcraft. It's still alive and cackling brewing deeds of dark evil, even in California's bright sunshine.

Dr. Wayland Hand, professor of German and folklore at the University of California, Los Angeles, said that superstition and witchcraft are among the forms of folklore which are still very much alive.

He defined witchcraft as a belief in and a fear of supernatural creatures and forces with power to do evil and to cause physical harm. These creatures are often thought to be in league with the Devil himself.

"Witchcraft is among the oldest forms of folklore and is still known in its primitive forms all over the world," Dr. Hand said.

Wise Credit Use Called a 'Thrift'

CHICAGO—Intelligent use of installment buying has been called an actual thrift.

"The dynamic thrift of the American people has been a major factor in keeping our economy at its present high level," says Richard E. Meier, chairman of the American Finance Conference, national association of independent sales finance companies.

"With the intelligent use of installment buying," Meier declared, "American consumers have raised their standard of living, increased their personal capital assets, and kept national employment at a record peak fulfilling the demand for new products."

Meier emphasized that installment buying is a form of budgeted saving that permits families to own cars, homes and appliances they need and want. People are not "going into debt," he said, but are acquiring capital assets out of current income. They are accumulating possessions with substantial cash value while holding on to their cash reserves for future emergencies.

Water Supply May Be Critical in Future

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa.—The tremendous growth of population, agriculture and industry in recent years has caused the spectre of a water shortage to plague government and industrial leaders.

Dr. Wakefield Dort, Jr., assistant professor of geology at the Pennsylvania State University, says the greatest possible use must be made of existing water supplies, new sources must be located, and basic research concerning water problems encouraged if serious water shortages are to be avoided.

Even Pennsylvania, a State which has a fairly good rainfall average, will face serious trouble if steps are not taken soon, according to the Penn State geologist.

"In most parts of the State there are supplies of surface and subsurface water sufficient to satisfy local demands," Dort says. "However, in some areas, especially centers of recent population increases and the sites of rapid industrial expansion, supplies of chemically and biologically pure water are far from adequate."

Cockroach Is Lending Science Helping Hand

LOS ANGELES—At last they've found a use for the pesky cockroach.

Make him radioactive, and he becomes a useful tool in the quest for more effective insecticides and in furthering the knowledge of heredity chemistry.

Researchers at the University of California are using radioactive carbon to trace pathways of life chemistry in the cockroach. In general they are seeking the ways in which these pathways differ in insects and higher animals, including humans.

Thus the lowly cockroach may contribute to the doom of his own kind as well as other troublesome insects to the benefit of mankind.

Camper's Haven
WASHINGTON—Some 8,000 Explorer Scouts encamp each summer at Philpot Scout Ranch, the largest such camp in the world, and a boy's Wild West dream come true. Located in the Rockies near Cimarron, New Mexico, the ranch is traversed by the historic Santa Fe Trail.

Mr. and Mrs. George Seaney spent Saturday night in Odessa with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Adcock. They went to Seminole and visited Miss Lilian Shearer, a nurse in the hospital there, who is recuperating satisfactorily from recent major surgery; Miss Shearer formerly lived here. On Sunday the Seaneys visited Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Morrow and Mrs. Andrews, old friends and neighbors of the late Mr. and Mrs. Veral Vaughan in House, New Mexico. Later they visited Mrs. James P. Patterson at the Methodist hospital in Lubbock and found her much improved. They called to see Mrs. C. M. Strickland, an invalid, who lived here many years; Mrs. Strickland was very cheerful but does not improve.

R. D. and Mary Ann Wheelock, of Canyon, Mr. and Mrs. Hershell Mills, and Mr. Bill Braley, of Odessa, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wheelock Sunday.

Mrs. L. C. Fawcett, of San Antonio, and her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. August Benner and children, of Lubbock, spent Sunday morning at the Haynes Scout Camp and ate their lunch there; in the afternoon they visited Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Sedgwick. The Sedgwick and Fawcett families were neighbors in San Antonio for many years. Mr. Benner is a District Scout Leader.

Frank Fish, who has been suffering with his right arm for a long time, was back in the Lockney hospital early this week. He says they do not know just what is wrong with the arm.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gidden and children, of Amarillo, were weekend visitors here with her mother, Mrs. Agnes Bingham, and grandmother, Mrs. Cora Donnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Strange and Debra have recently moved from Providence to the home owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brannon, Jr. in the west part of town.

Sunday guests of Mrs. Bryan Strange were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holliver, of Floydada; Mr. and Mrs. Eben Fowler and family, of Dimmitt; Mr. and Mrs. William Strange and son, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Strange and children, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brannon and children, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Strange and sons and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Strange and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Vardell, of El Paso, New Mexico, were here Tuesday afternoon visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Vardell and Mrs. John Vaughan.

Mrs. Bryan Strange left from Amarillo Tuesday evening for Fayetteville, North Carolina, where she will visit her daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Pitts and family. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Strange took his mother to Amarillo.

SILVERTON RECEIVED .65 MOISTURE MONDAY NIGHT

Silverton received .65 of an inch of moisture Monday night, and several farmers reported good showers. J. E. Wheelock said he received .80 Monday night and .20 Monday morning.

Many of the farmers had finished planting cotton and others were rushed to get through. No wind and hail damage was reported, and most of them considered the rain beneficial to wheat.

Mrs. Elmer Vaughan, of Quitaque, visited her mother-in-law, Mrs. John Vaughan, Tuesday afternoon.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Brown over the Mothers day weekend were Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Heard and Dwight and Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Lambert, of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Dock Brown, of Tulia and Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Brown and Sam.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hand, of Friona, and Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Fleming returned home early last week after having spent several days attending the horse races in Phoenix, Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lightsey returned home last Friday from a ten day visit with Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Lightsey and several other cousins at Waxahachie. It rained so much they could not go fishing for several days but caught some fish at Lake Whitney, Lake Waxahachie and some other small lakes. It has rained so much in that area that farmers are way behind with their work and very little planting has been done.

Alva C. Jasper, who has been receiving treatment in the Lockney hospital for several days for burns, was able to return home on Tuesday.

ORDINANCE NO. 179

On September 16, 1955, an Ordinance was passed that the Citizens of the City of Silverton, Texas, must get a permit before they install a culvert in any ditch, or put any kind of a crossing in a ditch. The Ordinance reads as follows:

The Citizens of the City of Silverton, Texas, will have to get a Permit from the City Secretary, before they can put any kind of a crossing in a ditch. After they receive said permit, the Street Commissioner will look at the location that crossing is to be put in, and determine what size culvert or how low crossing should be to keep water from going across the road.

From Texas State Committee On Public Education

Texans making an all-out study of their public schools this spring are finding that the end result is not only going to be recommendations to the 1959 Legislature, but also resolution of some of their local problems.

This is reported by the Texas State Committee on Public Education, a non-partisan statewide citizens group concerned with encouraging citizen interest in school improvement. The committee reported on activities which have come to its attention as a result of the Hale-Aikin school studies being made in every Texas county.

The TSCPE, reviewing statewide newspaper reports and also comments from its own members participating in the studies at the local level, found that more often than not county committees are uncovering and tending to solve local problems right along with others that may call for state action.

In more than one case the county groups have already let their school boards and administrators know that they want more emphasis put on academic achievement stressing the so-called solid subjects. On the other hand, a number have indicated that they don't want to give up "fringe" courses such as driver education.

Out of such discussions have come local decisions, reported TSCPE, which require no legislative action. For instance, some counties, wanting more academic work but unwilling to give up useful non-academic subjects, already have indicated that driver education will be given only in summer school in order to leave more time during the regular term for basic subjects. The Texas Education Agency already allows this. In at least one case, a school system without driver education decided to add it.

Similar actions at the county and local level saw one county planning to take steps to interest high school students in the teaching profession, and another seeking to add more foreign languages to the curriculum. In another case, aptitude tests to discover superior students were suggested for the seventh and eighth grades instead of high school.

At least one county is going to make a point-by-point comparison of its own actions with any recommendation made by the state-wide Hale-Aikin Committee of Twenty Four to see how they match. The Hale-Aikin Committee is the official state group which will coordinate the reports of 254 counties and submit recommendations for legislation.

Another county group discovered what it believed to be a weakness in arithmetic in its schools, and decided to try remedies for that before strengthening arts, crafts and physical education which it also wanted.

Numerous counties have looked into the question of whether they want to go beyond state minimum requirements in courses offered or required. They also looked at the question of whether—and how—to pay teachers more than the minimum. They discussed local administrative practices to permit teachers more time for teaching, with less time for record-keeping and non-class work.

Reporting on these items, the Texas State Committee on Public Education said that although it is evident there will be much diversity in county reports, school systems already are gaining through the studies. The committee president, Mrs. Carter Taylor, said that any citizen who needs information about how to participate in school studies will receive it by writing committee headquarters, 2503 Avalon Place, Houston, or the Texas Education Agency, Austin, or the County Chairman.

MILK-SANDWICH IS NOVEL FOOD IDEA

A glass of milk and sandwiches are hardly a new idea. But, when the sandwiches actually contain a glass of milk, that is new!

The MILK-SANDWICH is a new food idea which combines favorite sandwich fillings and New Pet Instant Nonfat Dry Milk. Two MILK-SANDWICHES are the equivalent to an 8-oz. glass of milk with all of the B vitamins, calcium, phosphorus and protein of fresh pasteurized milk. With less than 1 per cent fat in New Pet Instant the MILK SANDWICH is welcome news to weight-watchers who still need milk in their diets.

Sandwiches, when combined with milk, make for quick and nourishing luncheons or handy TV snack suppers which all the family will enjoy.

The addition of nonfat dry milk to fillings does not change either flavor or texture of the sandwiches.

The following suggestions are for two sandwiches. Quantities may be increased to meet family requirements.

PEANUT BUTTER AND JELLY

Mix together gradually, until smooth, 2 Tbsps. of jelly (apple, plum, etc.) and 1/2 cup Pet Instant (in dry form). Stir in 1/4 cup peanut butter until well blended.

PEANUT BUTTER & HONEY

Mix 4 Tbsps. Honey and 1/2 cup Pet Instant (in dry form) until smooth. Stir in 2 Tbsps. peanut butter until well blended.

CHEESE

Mix together 1/4 cup cheese spread (olive, pimento, bacon-cheese, etc.) and 1/2 cup Pet Instant (in dry form).

CHICKEN SALAD

Have salad prepared (ham, tuna, egg, etc., may be substituted). Stir in 1/2 cup Pet Instant (in dry form) gradually until well blended.

DEVILED HAM

Mix 2 1/2 oz. can of deviled ham spread and 1/2 cup Pet Instant (in dry form) gradually together until well blended.

MILK-SANDWICH CONQUERS "MILK-REBEL"

The MILK-SANDWICH is the ideal way to add extra milk to the diets of youngsters and teenagers, too. If you have a "milk rebel" in the family he won't even know there's milk in his sandwich—and if he likes milk, he'll be intrigued with a MILK-SANDWICH.
