The Democrats woo the back in the fold with the acclamation to nominate Johnson for the Vice Presidential chair? We don't think so. The Happy Herald aptly describes it as "Butler's Burlesque of Democratic Action" that resulted in the nomination of Senator John Kennedy for President on the Democratic ticket.

For all practical purposes, the Democratic National Convention is over. The South lost at every Senator Kennedy has been nominated, a strong Civil Rights plank was placed in the platform and the candidate has made his bid that he will win without a Southern vote — which he has to do. The fact that it never happened that way before doesn't seem to sway the man from Massachusetts from his goal. The South, who once withdrew from the Union, seems to have given the same treatment to the North.

Without a major miracle, the presidential race will be between Kennedy and Nixon. In a country with a national crisis as we have today, a strong man is needed to lead our government. But that man is not in sight. It does seem in the United States there is a split in the country, north and south could follow. His name is Kennedy nor Nixon. We don't really feel that a weaker pair which to select our president could hardly be found in the two parties.

From the close of the Civil War to the Hoover-Smith campaign, the South remained solidly in the Democratic camp. Eight years ago they repaid the South for its support by a declaration of war, a stand on civil rights and states rights. It was repeated in 1956, and underscored in 1960, and in such a way that we are beyond a shadow of a doubt the Democratic party wants no part of the South.

We have always heard that the Democrats are for the big boys, not one serious contender for the Democratic nomination was out of the multi-millionaire class. Of the entire group, Mr. Kennedy was only one who had inherited his millions. Does this sound like a big-man's party?

President Harry Truman in a speech before the convention opened that it was rigged for Kennedy. The first ballot victory was to bear out his statement. Commentators kept comparing Kennedy landslide on the with that of Wendell Wilkie, who suffered a defeat at the polls such as no other candidate in the history of this country. Expect the comparison to repeat the same in November.

All Around the Town

Spent from Thursday to Sunday in the mountains of Mexico, completely cut off from the outside world, communally. We didn't see a newspaper or hear a radio for a couple of days; then on Saturday afternoon slipped out to buy a paper and returned the proud possessor of the latest news—two days old.

My boy enjoyed his vacation in Silverton to the very fullest extent. The dream of his young life was to catch some fish and the dream was fulfilled, even though Papa did have to stand by him to help him catch it. It was worth it for his squeals of delight as he pulled the beautiful rainbows by himself.

Enjoyed fishing in a lake at Silverton (for free) that had been closed with trout the day before. One was catching lots of fish enjoying it much. We had two fish fries with plenty to bring home and what is better proof of a successful fishing trip?

Mosquitoes Thriving In Rainy Weather

First Aid Course To Be Offered in Silverton

The Briscoe County Red Cross will sponsor a first-aid course beginning August 1 and ending August 5. A two-hour session will be held each night beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Methodist Church basement.

Instructor for the course will be Miss Gay Lynn Calloway, who has received her training at West Texas State College. She is a physical education major and will begin her Senior year there this fall. Miss Calloway is also a water-safety instructor. Silverton is very fortunate to have such a well qualified teacher to instruct this course.

All general phases of first-aid procedures will be taught. It is hoped that it will be possible to obtain an instructive film concerning mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. The first-aid procedures which will be taught are those which all of us should learn.

Requirements are that participants must be at least 15 years of age and all must have completed the ninth grade. Everyone is urged to attend and participate in the program, for your sake as well as for the benefit of those you know and love.

Pictured is a mosquito (species unknown) which was captured at the NEWS office this week. Recent heavy rains have aided these pests in growing to an enormous size as can be observed from the photograph. Also pictured is an ordinary pin, which is enlarged from its true length of one inch.

The encephalitis-bearing type of mosquito has increased in Plainview at a rate of 60 per cent above any other type since the recent heavy rains.

The City of Plainview and the federal government set traps. They classify and count the mosquitoes and they know from the samples exactly what is taking place.

People are now being warned of the ratio of increase of the culex species, which bears the dread disease.

Because of our closeness to the Plainview area and because of locally heavy rains, we have reason to believe that this same species may be increasing in number in Silverton. Normal precaution against the bites of these insects is urged more than ever at this time. Repellent should be put on the hands and face and other exposed parts of the body by those who are out-of-doors. Use of sprays in homes and places where the pests rest or live is also urged.

The rains we have received have intensified the mosquito problem, because more breeding places are to be found.

All citizens are asked to cooperate in destroying these breeding places on their own property and destroying or removing any water containers in which water may become stagnant. Low hanging, dense shrubs and other vegetative growth are harbors for the pests.

Weeds should be chopped or mowed.

In reply to requests of several of our readers we have checked into the local situation of spraying. Our information is from Mayor Glen Lindsey.

The City of Silverton has had its spraying equipment reconditioned and it is in good shape. Spraying is being done at every opportunity when the conditions are right for doing so. Many people do not understand that if a strong wind is blowing at the time the fogging machine is in operation, it will do absolutely no good and will result in the waste of the chemicals being used. Often muddy roads and alleys are the reason for the machine's inability to cover a particular area.

Questions have been raised as to the possibility of spraying the city by airplane. The city council voted to do this if it would not run into too great an expense. The city has the chemicals and Stidhams was to furnish a plane. Then it was found that the pilot required 25c an acre or $285.00 every time he made a flight over town to spray. This was deemed by the council more than could be spent by the city.

The city has purchased a new tractor and mower and are working at mowing the vacant lots in Silverton. However, to finance this operation, a charge will be made to the property owner, as is customary in most all other cities.

If you have a vacant lot to be mowed and you do not have the equipment for doing it yourself, contact the city and they will do it for you as your name comes to the top of the waiting list.

Mayor Lindsey urges that property owners cooperate with the city, and he adds that they are doing everything in their power, because they do realize the seriousness of the situation.

Three Traffic Accidents Investigated in June

The Highway Patrol investigated three rural traffic accidents in Briscoe County during June, according to Sergeant D. R. Dowdy, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

Property damage wrecks accounted for one of the total, personal injury for two and none were fatal accidents. These wrecks caused a total property damage of $1,195.00 with two persons injured.

Sergeant Dowdy pointed out that this brings the total for the year in this county to none killed and seven injured, with property damage in excess of $6,130.00. This compares with none killed, ten injured, and property damage of $8,010.00 during the first six months of 1959.

"Prior to July 1 there had been a total of 784 fatal accidents in Texas," Sergeant Dowdy said. "From these accidents, 962 persons have needlessly died," he added.

We'd like to have brought Red River home to Silverton, so that the recreational facilities offered there could be enjoyed here with our mountain-like showers every afternoon.

There is a recreation center in Red River, where under one roof is found a roller rink, bowling alley, pool room, and various entertainment machines, such as the "Shoot the Bear" which is popular with the kids. Adjoining the center is one of the cleverest miniature golf courses I have ever seen.

In addition to this, Red River also has a ski lift that gives rides way up above the tree tops, both winter and summer, to sight-seers and to skiers; a heated pool; a movie house; and a community house that features entertainment in a good, old-fashioned manner to citizens and visitors alike. We attended a Western Squaredance on Saturday night, and, while we don't dance, we did very much enjoy watching and seeing all the beautiful western get-ups everyone was wearing. Some of the ladies had sewed sequins by the "mile" on their dresses, while others had sewed braid, rickrack and other trim in profusion. Underneath these billowing skirts they wore something that I'll bet a country-mile you can't buy in Silverton—pantaloons.

All Around the Town

And if you happen up Red River way, stop in and take a look at the accommodations offered at Grinnell's El Western. The Grinnells lived in Fort Worth until the call of the mountains won out, and they moved to Red River.

Their place offers the ideal way to "rough-it" with all the conveniences of home, including floor furnaces, which make it much nicer than jumping out of bed on a frosty morn and throwing a couple of logs in the stove.

Texas Farm Workday Averages 10.1 Hours

Texas farmers and ranchers had an average workday of 10 hours, six minutes on June 1, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

That's a half hour less than the average for farmers in all states of the nation, more than two hours less than the Wisconsin farm workday, but a full hour more than Nevada and Florida farmers put in.

This was brought out in the farm labor report issued by USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, based on reports from federal-state Crop Reporting Service offices in each state.

The national average was 10.6 hours. Wisconsin led with 12.2 hours, while Nevada and Florida were lowest with 9.1 hours. Colorado farmers averaged 11.2 hours; Kansas, 10.9; New Mexico, 10.7; Oklahoma, 10.2; Texas, 10.1; Arkansas, 9.8; and Louisiana, 9.3 hours.

Farm operators in the state averaged about an hour more each day than their hired hands.

Seasonal length of the farm workday has changed very little in this area during the last three years, although a slowness in the crop season was evident in some locations when the June 1 survey was made. The June 1 average for Texas in 1950 was 11.6 hours. In the war years of 1943, it was 12.8 hours.

Weather at this season seems to have little effect on the amount of

Walter Rogers Writes

PAYING THE PRICE

The national figures for the 1960 census will tell a story that most of us have known for some time. In what may well be the greatest and most significant American migration in recent history, millions of people are forsaking the farm and crossroads to stream toward the great urban centers of our nation. And at least by the time children of these restless, mobile Americans reach high school, a map of the United States will be covered with huge well-like markings to denote the most complex and awesome cities the world has ever known. Many of these city dwellers will work and play in "towns" which range across hundreds of miles without interruption.

The trend has been obvious in many ways. The most casual glance at wedding announcements in Panhandle newspapers will reveal that many young couples choose to abandon their home towns in favor of larger cities. An hour in the bus and railroad stations of a large metropolis will uncover a portion of the millions who set out for the big city each year with their high hopes — and often their every possession — carried with them. Just a short ride along the outskirts of even a moderately large community will uncover row upon row of mass produced, FHA financed homes — the hallmark of sprawling suburbia.

These are the hard facts of an important feature in American life since World War II. In some ways, the massive "urge to move" is perhaps inspiring insofar as it demonstrates that we have not lost the pioneering spirit which made America great. Our people still have the courage to venture into new environments and test new ways. Many of them, I am sure, are hopeful if benefitting their countrymen as well as themselves. We are not, as our enemies would have us believe, such an entirely contented and declining nation at all.

Nevertheless, the uncomfortable feeling remains that much of this surging movement toward our urban complexes is inspired by rather grandiose propaganda. To say that our smaller communities offer no opportunities is, in most cases, sheer fiction. To complain that the more rural areas of our country are "dull" displays an unpleasant modern neurosis, an unhealthy grasping for "something to do" and a strange inability to find it. And to paint universally rosy pictures of life in the metropolis is particularly deceptive, for the individual tragedies that can sometimes occur are as old as O. Henry.

time the farm operator works, even when he can't be in the fields. The number of seasonal hired workers is more sharply influenced by weather conditions, but the workday length for regular hired help is more consistent, even in undesirable weather.

Encouragement is something we all need now and then along our road of life. Whether our problem is some illness, a deep sorrow, or perhaps only a financial disappointment it is always a big help to have some friend lift us up with some cheerful words of hope.

It is hard for most of us to understand why we have to have disappointment in life but someone expressed it in these words: "If tears should never come and wash the dust from our eyes, then we would never catch a glimpse of the souls of those about us."

We do understand that to have someone come and show love and concern for us always lights up our darkened world. It is said: "Love will light a thousand canry's writings.

Old men whittling in front of the country store are as much a part of America as the high pressure brokers on Wall Street. We should be as proud of the kindly old practitioner as we are of the most eminent heart specialist. And the man who rides a tall, bumpy tractor has fully as much stake in the American experiment as does the man who rides from directors meetings in a low, smooth limousine.

We have, I think, committed a fundamental error in emphasizing a certain brand of success all out of proportion to its true worth. We have too often dwelt upon the slick, the super-sophisticated, the "gee-whiz" type of endeavor. We have sometimes been willing to exchange quick, easy fame and success for slow, difficult, but profound satisfaction. This attitude has not been without effect.

We are now beginning to pay the price, and the amazing rush of so many of our people to urban areas is perhaps not the only toll. The source of many of our worries, such as conformity or trend toward bureaucracy, can also be traced to a shift in values. We would do well to remember that American strength lies to a great extent in its diversity and depth. The 1960 census, in revealing a partial loss of this vibrant quality, might well remind us of our duty to keep faith with ALL facets of our life.

dies in the dark, and guide the steps of one who seeks it."

One of the grandest rewards that almost always comes to us friends is that we find that we feel when we try to encourage our better too. The following little poem has mean so very much to me:

If I share another's burdens. . . I forget about my own . . . And in speaking words of comfort; . . . Oft I find my troubles flown. . . I can double all my blessings. . . That God sends me every day . . . If I share them with the comrades . . . That I meet along the way.

THINGS TO COME

There is a day coming when Christ's voice will be heard again. "Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice and shall come forth." (John 5:28,29).

There is a day coming when every eye shall see Jesus. "Behold he cometh in the clouds; and every eye shall see Him, and they also which pierced him; and all kindreds of the earth" (Revelation 1:7). There is a day coming when every soul will stand before Jesus. "And before him shall be gathered all nations; and he shall separate them one from another" (Matt. 25:32, 2 Cor. 5:10). There is a day coming Jesus will say "Come" to the obedient and "Depart" to the disobedient. "Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come" (Matt. 25:34). "Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me" (Matt. 25:41).

There is a day coming when the disobedient will depart from God for ever and when the obedient will abide with him forever. "And these shall go away into everlasting punishment; but the righteous into life eternal." (Matt. 25:46).

The Bible is true. These things are coming. What is in store for you? Are YOU ready for that day? Have you obeyed Jesus? (Mark 16:16).

If you have obeyed Him are you NOW faithful to Him? We are all moving rapidly forward. Eternity will soon be upon us. When that time comes all we have must be left behind and we must stand before Him who loved us so much He gave Himself for us. But if we spurn His invitation now He can do none but reject us then, Whither are you going?

You are invited to come study and worship with us at the Silverton Church of Christ.

I. L. Thornton, Minister

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kahelin of Plant City, Florida, couldn't be happier with the way their new Corvair has worked out as a combination family and business car. On their newspaper distribution route alone they travel more than 400 miles a week over all kinds of roads. Little wonder they're so pleased with the gas mileage they've been getting — "at least twenty-three miles to the gallon with an automatic transmission . . . and we've had no trouble with our Corvair." The Kahelins have equally good things to say about Corvair's easy-going comfort and unique convenience features. They especially like the way the fold-down seat doubles as a built-in baby sitter.

AREA EDITORS VIEW THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION

strange occurrences at the convention. Never before has the state organization in Texas been called upon to absorb so many insults.

Deck's Didactics, by Deskins Wells:

When you sit in front of a TV set watching the so-called open convention of the Democrats, you get to wondering if there could not be a better way of nominating a candidate for presidency of this great and once proud nation. The circus, which is not entertaining, is about the same as it was in New York City in 1924 when Davis was nominated, which I happened to see.

The platform adopted Tuesday is incredible. It might just as well have been written by Walter Reuther and Jimmy Hoffa, with a little assistance from Fidel Castro. Ordinarily little attention is paid to a platform for after being elected the president pays no attention to it, but it should be remembered that both Kennedy and Stevenson are just the sort of men who might try to make it work.

Listening Post, by JLS, Petersburg Journal:

Well, it is all over but the voting this fall. Papa Kennedy's millions put his son, John Kennedy, into orbit Wednesday night on the first ballot at Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles. Senator Kennedy started running the next day after the Convention in 1956 when he was defeated for the Vice Presidential post and he campaigned far and wide.

When you left the South, Johnson was rarely ever mentioned on the roll call of votes of the states, which goes to prove that the North and Northeast will not vote for a man from the Southern regions. We still have the North and South, and don't forget that in future campaigns. The Southern states did not like the Civil Rights plank in the platform, but it was crammed right down their throats, and it is a strong one at that.

The Convention and its results do not necessarily speak for all the people of the United States. It was just a few hand-picked delegates that manipulated politics in every state, and when it comes to electing a president this fall is when you'll really know how the people stand.

Edgar Hays, editor, Lockney Beacon:

One of Monday's daily newspapers carried the story that a majority of delegates favor Johnson but are bound to vote for Kennedy. Another says that a survey among the delegates shows that most of them believe that Johnson can't beat Nixon but Kennedy can't. This is just another indication of the hair-brained escapades of those who apparently control the Democratic party policies. Most of us will never understand why the powers that be insisted on nominating a candidate that apparently has little chance of winning. We predict another four—more likely eight years—of Republican administration.

Uncle Claude, by Cecil O. Waggoner in the Claude News:

Following is a quotation from Sen. Thruston B. Morton (Kentucky), Chairman of the Republican National Committee. He charges that:

"...a deal has been made for a Kennedy-Johnson ticket at the Democratic National Convention and only one ballot will be cast in Los Angeles. . . Kennedy is reported to have offered cabinet posts to Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City, Gov. Michael DiSalle of Ohio, Gov. Robert Meyner of New Jersey and Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago in exchange for support from their controlled delegation. . . Paul Butler is thought to be the choice for attorney general."

When the voter goes to the polls in November he will think long about his own fading "civil rights" i.e. the loss of trial by jury, the loss of freedom of choice in the use and control of private property, the loss of freedom of employment, the loss of the freedom in the choice of associates, the loss of local and state government, federal control of the private affairs and life of United States citizens and on and on.

Those who propose such legislative action are not the least interested in "civil rights." They are interested in a strong, gestapo-like, centralized government and they were feling their shriveled oats Tuesday night.

Bascom Nelson in the Castro County News:

"COW POKES" by ACE REID

"If National Farm Safety Week doesn't git here soon there ain't gonna be none of us left to celebrate it!"

Many protestants in the United States are feling that the Democratic party pulled a faux pas in naming John Kennedy as its nominee for president, since the man is a Catholic.

Admittedly there were certain aspects of the nomination that were quite unsavory and the entire convention had a pre-planned, railroad look. But it's done and Democratic party members should spend much time in thoughtful consideration before letting their religious prejudices guide their vote.

As a man, John Fitzgerald Kennedy has the potential of making one of the best presidents in the history of the United States. He is foreful, driving, intelligent, suave, fully capable, a well developed statesman and he has character.

First of all, we seriously doubt that a man of Kennedy's caliber would ever let himself be influenced by his church. In fact he would probably lean over backward to make impartial appointments. He has said his church will have no effect on his high office if elected. He realizes that the total, absolute division of church and state is completely essential to a democratic form of government and to tamper with these precepts would be pure folly.

To cast a conscientious vote this year will take more study than ever before. Newspapers—including this one if necessary—will try to shed all the light possible on this question before the coming election through interviews with people who should know what effect Kennedy's Catholicism could have on his office.

The reason we are so concerned about the November election is not so much that we are a Democrat and want to see a particular candidate win as we are nervous over the prospect of a Republican victory.

If R. Milhous Nixon is nominated and elected we believe the United States would be entering one of the most disastrous periods of its history. We have several reasons for this, viz:

1. The prestige, force of will, and leadership of the United States in world affairs has been undermined and dissipated to the danger point by a political party whose members would stay in power if Nixon is elected; and
2. The farm situation, which has gone from bad to worse and "worse to worsor" all over the United States will become even more ridiculous and prospects for any significant change will go up in smoke by the election of the party controlling the present Secretary of Agriculture; and
3. Government spending is getting out of hand. So-called the "Conservative Party" for many years, the GOP has managed to spend more money and get less for it than any "liberal" Democratic administration. If the Republican Party is any criteria, the definition of a Conservative would be someone who would spend money and not get anything for it and of a Liberal as someone who spends money but gets something in return.

These are generalizations, naturally. They can easily be refuted on specific points, but even such a Republican-minded periodical as Time Magazine has admitted as much.

We absolutely cannot stand the weak leadership of the Republican party any longer. Granted, Richard Nixon would probably be a lot better President than Eisenhower. At least he would more than likely work at the job and not develop into an ineffectual back-peddeler like Eisenhower. But he's still a Republican and he's still Richard Nixon — two facts that fail to spell out anything but trouble if he's elected.

Editor's Corner, Joe Harrison, in the Texas Spur:

I can only hope that Johnson wins, perhaps with Symington as his Vice President and Stevenson in a major cabinet role. I think that combination would smother Mr. Kennedy and would carry the nation in almost as big a landslide as Roosevelt and Garner.

On the Line, by editor Dick Hapke in the Stateline Tribune:

It's all over now. The Massachusetts senator walked off with the democratic nomination for president, something few people thought was possible several months ago.

Even if a person can't go along with Senator Kennedy's political philosophy, his religion, or his methods of campaigning, his ability to organize does warrant respect. He and his associates put together one of the most effective political machines this country has ever seen.

Claude's Comments, by JCW, in the Memphis Democrat:

Another death that should be of much concern all over America and in various countries of the world occurred at Los Angeles last night. The death victim was the Democrat party, the principles of which were enunciated by Thomas Jefferson. In its stead an element headed by radical ultra liberals bullheadedly ran rough-shod over those who opposed part of the platform that would place practically everything, including freedoms in federal control and doing away with rights of states and individuals, and surely would give Walter Reuther free reign.

Where does it leave the millions of Americans who have always looked to the Democrat party as protector of human rights and states rights? Where does it leave the Southern states after being overrun with civil rights planks that takes away all our freedoms? The Republicans would also take away all Southern sites rights, and now we are all helpless as orphans.

Many think that the nomination of John Kennedy will surely mean the election of a Republican president, who will no doubt be Nixon, who like Kennedy, is not of sufficient stature to lead America in these perilous times.

Perhaps America will need more than ever the guiding ability of Symington and Johnson in the Senate during the next four years. Who knows? Do you?

Words That Affect Us All

History tells us that there are ten words which affect every living human in some degree or throughout the existence of us that have happened and are happening to us today in greater or lesser degrees.

These ten words are:
BONDAGE. Civilization begins in bondage.
FAITH. Out of bondage comes faith in God and faith in ourselves.
COURAGE. And with faith in God comes courage and it comes from no other place.
LIBERTY. And with courage men acquire liberty.
ABUNDANCE. Comes after liberty and men must learn to use it.
SELFISHNESS. Follows close on the heels of abundance and selfishness breeds greed.
COMPLACENCY. Brought on by abundance, fed by selfish "we've got it made, there is nothing more to do."
APATHY. Follows complacency as night the day it brings us to that "don't care" attitude.
DEPENDENCY. The "gimme stage, let George do it, I'll get mine from the government for free."
BONDAGE. Because when we get in the "gimme stage" we are weaving the strands of bondage for ourselves and for our children and so in these ten short words, Bondage to Bondage — the fateful steps of civilization and mankind.

Farm Pond Safety Urged By Council

The farm pond or stock tank has become a familiar sight in Texas. These ponds are important sources of pleasure and that indispensable commodity — water. Unless proper safety precautions are taken, however, these same useful ponds can become a source of tragedy, says the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council.

To emphasize the seriousness of farm pond hazards, the Safety Council points to a recent nationwide tabulation of causes of farm deaths. Texas ranked sixth in the number of deaths caused by drowning. This is one "Top Ten" list, they add, that Texas should not be on.

Anyone who has a pond or tank on his land should observe, and enforce the following precaution. These measures could save a lot of grief, reminds the Safety Council. Post safety instructions for boating and swimming.

Mark safe swimming areas. Place lifesaving devices such as ring buoys, ropes and long poles around the swimming area.

Hi-Plains Hi-Lights

NEWS from the High Plains Research Foundation

Recent rains, which totaled 12 inches, filled the recharge lake at the High Plains Research Foundation with an estimated 110 acre-foot of water. Recharge of the well was started the night of July 4, and has been recharging at the approximate rate of 850 gallons per minute since that time. During the eleven-day period ending the night of Friday, July 15, a total of 43.5 acre-feet of water has been recharging. The well is pumped for one hour every 24 hours and is surged three times at 15 minute intervals during this hour to clean out as much as possible any silt which may be caught in the underground formation.

A filter system installed before the rains to study methods of removing sediment from the water has been of little value. The water level in the lake raised to more than 3 feet over the top of the filter.

After the water had been in the lake 8 days, a form of marine life commonly called "desert shrimp" increased to such numbers that they interfered with recharging by clogging the screens. This requires cleaning the screens very 4 to 6 hours since the screens will become completely clogged within this time.

"WHY, HE WAS IN HERE ONLY YESTERDAY"

That's how it happens . . . quick—like that! In communities all over America, people "who were here only yesterday" are gone forever—killed in traffic accidents that don't have to happen.

Somebody tells you—or you read it in the paper—and you're stunned.

And it will happen nearly 42,000 times this year!

Forty-two thousand men, women and children will drive to their deaths—or will be run down, crashed into, and killed in highway tragedies, according to the present mounting rate.

Yet most of these deaths can be prevented . . . with your cooperation.

Here's how you can help stop traffic deaths now:

- FIRST—Drive safely and courteously yourself. Observe speed limits and warning-signs.
  - Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!
  - SECOND—Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. Traffic regulations work for you, not against you.
  - Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!
  - THIRD—Work through your church, PTA or civic group for extra policing where needed, better street lights and signals, and a school safety program.
  - Where people work actively for safety, deaths go DOWN!
  - FOURTH—Call on your local or state safety council for help in promoting better laws and uniform enforcement.
  - Where everyone understands the law, deaths go DOWN!
- In city after city, day after day, it's been proved over and over again—

Enjoy Vacation In Western States

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mercer, Sandra and Peggy, returned home on Monday after enjoying a 3,000 mile vacation trip.

They enjoyed sightseeing in Arizona, Utah, Nevada and California.

While in California they visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowell and Mrs. Loys Rowell and saw Mr. and Mrs. C. T. (Offy) Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. George Neese and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wallace and several others who formerly lived here. C. T. Wallace has recently undergone eye surgery which was reported to have been exceptionally successful. He is now able to drive in the congested California traffic.

Mrs. Emma Paige of Yucaipa, California, left by bus from Tulia Sunday morning for Lubbock where she is visiting her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Rossell Paige for awhile. She has been here for a few weeks visiting her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Paige, Sr.

Mrs. Paige will be 96 years young next month and is quite active and extremely alert. She recently made the trip alone by train from her home in California to Lubbock. She has made such a trip annually for a good many years, sometimes by train and sometimes by bus, without mishap and she thinks nothing of it.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hyatt, Jr., of Plainview, were among those who had their homes flooded in the recent high waters there. Water was above the top of their cook stove. They were able to salvage most of their clothing, linens, etc. but everything else was badly damaged or a total loss. They are staying with her parents until they are able to return to their home.

J.J. Vardell came home from the Lockney Hospital on Wednesday of last week and has been doing better. He was to go back Tuesday afternoon for a checkup.

Farmers Home Loans Total $507,570 in Year

Loans totaling $507,570 were made by the Farmers Home Administration to farm families in Swisher and Briscoe Counties during the 1960 fiscal year, according to Ralph E. Griffiths, the agency's county supervisor.

Borrowers repaid $732,946 during the year on loans of all types obtained from the Farmers Home Administration. Their repayments on loans came mainly from the sale of crops and livestock. Improvements which Swisher and Briscoe County farmers have achieved, Mr. Griffiths said, include better dairy herds, the use of improved varieties of hybrid seeds, fertilizer, and a better understanding and use of irrigation. There has also been an increased number of farmers marketing their grain through livestock.

Throughout the counties are many farm families who have borrowed in former years and are still making scheduled repayments. Many other families now farming in Swisher and Briscoe counties, and who had borrowed from FHA, have now repaid their loans in full and are financing their needs through banks and other lenders.

The bulk of operating loans were used to pay costs of feed, seed, fertilizer, pesticides, livestock, machinery and equipment, and to make recommended adjustments in
