School Board approves campus plans

By MARTHA TOLES FROST
City Editor

At a School Board meeting held at the Muleshoe High School Library Monday night, a hearing was conducted on MHS's rating as a "low performing campus."

The district is required to hold a hearing at the low performing site and to submit implementation plans by Sept. 30.

An opening session the week of Nov. 27th will be followed by a public forum and an on-site campus review.

The entire process will take from three or four days to a week, MISD Superintendent Bill Moore explained.

There will be a pre-exit conference and an exit conference, with a pre-exit conference with the superintendent to report findings. A written report of the district will fol-

Meals on Wheels finds temporary cure

By MARTHA TOLES FROST

When the meals went up from $2.75 to $4, Meals on Wheels began experiencing difficulties maintaining reserves, according to Berta Combs, the volunteer director of the program.

Monday, the Bailey County Commissioners Court voted unanimously to approve a contract between the Meals on Wheels program and the Carousel of Good Food Restaurant to purchase meals at $3.50 each beginning Oct. 16, 1995.

The contract will be in effect until Oct. 15, 1996 or until the Meals on Wheels program ceases to be operated in Bailey County.

Lavon Henderson of the Carousel Restaurant—who has been catering meetings, parties and wedding rehearsals as well as serving lunch to the public at the restaurant on Sundays—said Betty Hutton had volunteered to help her get the meals into containers.

The meals were being prepared by the Muleshoe Area Healthcare Center at $4 each—up from the previous price of $2.75 per meal.

Hospital Administrator Richard Murphy said Monday that the hospital had raised the price to $4 in November or December of 1994 in order to recover the actual cost of the meals.

He said the hospital had been selling the meals to the program below cost prior to raising the price.

The effect on the hospital will be neither a financial gain nor loss but will simply reduce the hospital's food purchases, Murphy said.

"We felt we were the only one in the community that could produce the meals at cost. And we believed the program had the means to recover the cost of the meals."

The contract between Meals on Wheels and Muleshoe Area Medical Center had been in effect from Dec. 14, 1993. Combs informed Murphy Tuesday morning of the decision to terminate the contract.

Meals on Wheels serves five meals per week—Monday through Friday, excluding certain holidays—to an average of 40 elderly people and shut-ins.

The cost of meals for each recipient will now be approximately $17.50 per week, or a little more than $70 per month.

Recipients must be age 60 or older unless disabled or considered at risk by the Department of Human Services. Many live in senior citizens housing.

Meals on Wheels is funded by memorials and other donations, as well as by reimbursements from South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) through the designated area agency on aging. The Older Americans Act funds 39 percent.

The program receives $4.25 per hour in lieu of wages for approximately 24 adult and seven student volunteers.

Wood finds volunteering rewarding

By MARTHA TOLES FROST

Jo Wood has been delivering Meals on Wheels in Muleshoe for almost three years—since her friend Maxine Ragsdale invited her to go with her on a route.

"I'm 83 years old," Mrs. Wood said, laughing. "I should probably be getting these meals myself."

Tuesday, she delivered baked ham, fried okra, pinto beans, chocolate cake, apples and milk to 10 grateful people on her route.

Many of the people Mrs. Wood visited came out to meet her. She took time to say hello or carry their meals to the table if they needed help.

Ruth Black came to the door with her walker supporting her. She said she appreciated the meals because she gets dizzy and has to stay near her walker all the time.

"It's real good," said 98-year-old Vera Colson. "It helps me. I wouldn't cook. I know it's good for me."

Her daughter, Comedith Colson, appreciates the meals because they help her take care of her mother.

Mrs. Wood also delivered a meal to Dorothy Green Tuesday. Mrs. Green says Meals on Wheels "solves so many problems—some people are unable to prepare their own meals."

Mrs. Green said some days her friends call on her, but other days, the person who brings her meal is the only one she has a conversation with that day.

Mules share common traits with Roosevelt

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

One week they provide a glimpse of the future.

The next week they revive ghosts from the past.

Last week, Muleshoe High School was trying to build on a promising outing when they pushed a heavily-favored Denver City team to the limit before dropping a 17-14 decision.

But the Mules suffered a major collapse, losing to Lubbock Cooper, 41-21, Friday night at home.

"It was so much like the Portales game it was scary," Muleshoe head coach Randy Adair said. The Mules lost to Portales 41-6 in their season opener.

This week, Muleshoe (0-3) travels to Lubbock Roosevelt (8 p.m.).

Roosevelt is similar to Muleshoe—both are trying to shed losing traditions.

But there's one major difference.

"I'd say they're a little ahead of us because they have a win," Muleshoe head coach Randy Adair said. "And I'm sure, like anybody else, that they're in the mindset that they can beat us."

Roosevelt (1-1) beat Ralls 21-14 last week.

Because both teams have fragile psyches, the outcome might be decided early.

"It's critical for both teams in regards to the high and lows we go through," Adair said. "How we get started might decide the outcome. It's real important to have some early success."

Muleshoe's effort against Lubbock Cooper was undermined by poor pass protection and shoddy tackling. Lubbock Cooper rushed for 395 yards and forced five turnovers.

low within 48 hours, Moore said.

Moore told the board, faculty and staff who attended the meeting, "I am not excited about having a campus described as 'low performing,' but I am anxious to learn if there are improvements we can make."

He added, "They are taking a look at the whole program—to keep things improving all the way across the program."

The school board approved departmental action plans that targeted seven goals for the school district:

- By 1998, student performance will be at the state's exemplary level.

- A well-balanced, relevant and challenging curriculum will be provided to all students.

- Parents, community and business members will be invited to be partners in the improvement of all levels of the district.

- The district will remain committed to an effective internal and external communication plan.

- A safe, attractive, comfortable, functional and educationally adequate facility will be provided for all students.

- The district will recruit, retain and develop quality personnel.

- The district will foster a positive and supportive environment for teaching and learning.

Representatives from the various campuses were on hand to answer questions about their specific action plans.

There was a discussion followed by an approval of the local policy worksheet on drug and alcohol testing of all certified drivers in the district. Local bus drivers helped write a new bus driver handbook.

Other topics discussed at the meeting were plans for the new weight room and tennis courts, the current legal climate in regarding prayer at school and forms of harassment, the upcoming school board convention in Houston and the scholarship awarded to Moore.

Sam Harlan was re-appointed as representative to the Bailey County Appraisal District for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1995.

third of its expenses by SPAG, the reimbursements for October, November and December meals might not arrive until January or February.

So the program, with depleted reserves, is counting on donations for the next three months, Combs said.

She would like to see organizations "adopt" a Meals-on-Wheels recipient in order to assure the program's continuance.

At the Bailey County Fair, Jennyslippers collected more than $100 for the program in donations, according to Donna Kirk, president of the organization.

Muleshoe Association to Serve the Hungry (M.A.S.H.) and local restaurant owners—acting as collection points for Meals on Wheels—have worked together since 1992 to help make the program successful, with a recent contribution of $700.

You may donate to Meals on Wheels in the local restaurants or send your check to M.A.S.H., Sharon Grant, 1715 W. Ave. G., Muleshoe.

"Meals on Wheels is good for people who haven't lived in Muleshoe very long and don't have many friends here," Mrs. Green commented.

Juan and Ramona Berlanga are recipients of Meals on Wheels. Both are diabetics requiring a special diet, and both have had open heart surgery.

They were told they could only be on the program for two months. Mr. Berlanga doesn't understand why—and doesn't know what to do about it.

But he hopes his wife will continue to receive the meals even if he is removed from the meal program.

Like many Meals on Wheels recipients, the Berlangas live at the senior citizens complex.

TMAC to develop statewide help for manufacturers

The Texas Department of Commerce has officially opened the Texas Manufacturing Assistance Center (TMAC), which is a statewide system of regional offices with field engineers designed to help both rural and urban manufacturers adopt new manufacturing technologies and techniques to improve their global competitiveness.

TMAC field engineers' manufacturing expertise helps businesses improve quality, reduce operating costs, and increase productivity. Their services include on-site assessments, process improvement, quality engineering, scheduling, planning, inventory management, and productive development.

TMAC field engineers work with small manufacturers that typically cannot afford expensive consultants, which helps small Texas manufacturers modernize along with larger firms.

During a time of transition to commercial markets, TMAC also helps defense-related industries retool their operations to meet civilian-market requirements.

For more information, contact TMAC in Austin at (800) 488-TMAC.

Two options for renewal are available. Applicators may obtain 215 continuing education units, including two credits in laws and regulations and one credit in integrated pest management, by Dec. 31. This process must be repeated every five years. Applicators who cannot meet this deadline have the option of applying for a license.

A win waiting to happen

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

Waiting is the hardest part. The players are waiting for someone to make the big play. The coaching staff is waiting for the players to mature and develop a winning attitude.

Commentary

The fans are waiting for a win.

And after three games, the wait continues.

During Friday's 41-21 loss to Lubbock Cooper, Muleshoe was just one big play from turning the game around.

After giving up an 84-yard touchdown run on the first play from scrimmage, Muleshoe took a 7-6 lead when Jake Adair capped a seven-play, 63-yard drive with a one-yard run.

And then came a turning point, a momentum changer.

Gobbling up huge chunks of yardage on the ground, Lubbock Cooper drove to 70 yards to the Muleshoe three.

Three straight runs and the Pirates didn't gain any ground on the suddenly more-stubborn-than-a-Mule defense.

They Pirates didn't fare any better on fourth down and Muleshoe took over at its own three.

Just what Muleshoe needed, something to build on.

But on the first play, a conservative quarterback sneak intended to get the Mules some operating room, the ball popped loose and into the end zone. Lubbock Cooper had a safety, an 8-7 lead, and got the ball back.

The wait continues.

In the second half included a disastrous third quarter in which Lubbock Cooper scored on its first two possessions (three plays) and the Pirates built leads of 28-7 and 35-14.

But Muleshoe gave itself one more chance to make it exciting when Adair scored from 17 yards out to pull the Mules within two touchdowns with 7 1/2 minutes left in the game.

Do you believe?

On Lubbock Cooper's first play following the kickoff, the Pirates put the ball on the ground when quarterback Greg Armes made a wild pitch on an option play. Just the break the Mules needed.

But Cooper recovered the ball on two plays later, on third-and-16, Mark Smith turned a five-yard hitch into a 17-yard gain and the Pirates went on to score and seal the win.

Waiting is the hardest part.

Eagles fall

Three Way couldn't stop Sean Rowden and lost its first game of the season Friday, 67-37 at Wellman.

Rowden, one of the top running backs in the area according to Three Way coach Rowdy Bryan, rushed for 220 yards and scored five touchdowns.

"We really had to key on him and that opened up some things for other people," Bryan said. "(The big loss) opened our eyes. We have some things to work on."

While Wellman (3-0) had its ground game in gear, the Eagles rushed for a season-low 62 yards. They averaged 150 yards in its two wins.

"That's what opens our passing game is the running game," Bryan said. "We were never able to run the ball."

Force to the air, Jesus Perez completed 17-of-49 passes for 235 yards and four touchdowns. He was intercepted three times, with Wellman converted all three into scores.

Cody Wilson caught a pair of touchdown passes for Three Way, which hosts Southland in its homecoming game Friday night.

How quickly things can change.

After playing fourth-ranked Lamesa Klondike to a standoff in the first-half, Lazbuddie was outscored 40-0 in the second half of a 62-20 loss.

"We lost our composure in the second half," Longhorn coach Mark Scisson said. "It looked like it was going to be a real good ball game. We lost two key people for a while in the third quarter and just self-destructed."

Lazbuddie (1-2) lost three fumbles in the second half on bad snaps, twice from punt formation which resulted in a three-yard fumble return for a touchdown and a safety.

Chris Arismendez caught a pair of touchdown passes for Klondike (3-0) and also scored twice on the ground.

Justin St. Clair, who sat out part of the third quarter after being injured, passed for 200 yards and a touchdown. His one-yard touchdown run gave Lazbuddie a 20-14 lead in the second quarter. He came into the game averaging 275 yards passing.

Brice Foster hooked up with St. Clair for a 31-yard touchdown pass that gave Lazbuddie a 6-0 lead.

Longhorn roundup

The Longhorns are having a tough time replacing all-state running back Jon Colby Miller and its left them one-dimensional.

"What's hurting is we don't have a strong running game," Scisson said. "Right now people are shutting us down and forcing us to throw more." Miller, who set a Texas state

Mule notebook

Muleshoe nearly doubled its season rushing total with a 240-yard effort against Lubbock Cooper. Senior tailback Jake Adair led the way with 129 yards on 18 carries and a pair of touchdowns. He leads the Mules with 235 yards....Senior quarterback Alfredo Gonzales had an off night passing (7-for-21 for 53 yards and four INTs), but he sure had sweet feet. Gonzales gained 73 yards on 15 carries and added 113 yards on four kickoff returns. All told, he had 239 all-purpose yards and a team-high 15 tackles, including two bone-rattling hits. Gonzales is averaging 28.2 yards on eight kickoff returns as teams continue to kick the ball away from Daniel Garbarino. Garbarino, who left the Cooper game with a strained knee, caught four passes for 23 yards against the Pirates and continues to lead the Mules with 11 catches for 124 yards. He'll play Friday. Muleshoe head coach Randy Adair said that Garbarino will likely be moved from split end to A-back in an effort to get him away from double coverage....Linebacker Alfonso Mendoza added 14 tackles against Cooper... Rodney Alanis leads the Mules with 31 tackles...Josh Otwell had a 10-yard sack against Cooper...Littlefield tops this week's Lubbock Aavance-Journal 3A area poll, garnering all six first-place votes. Shallowater is second, Friona fourth and Denver City sixth.

"To put it at it's simplest level, we tackled poorly," Adair said. "They had a lot of big plays because of missed tackles."

Muleshoe quarterback Alfredo Gonzales was under heavy pressure all night, which contributed to his throwing four interceptions.

"Almost all the breakdowns we had offensively were in pass protection," Adair said. "They didn't get many sacks, but (Alfredo Gonzales) was running for his life and being hit every time. That translated into some poor throws and he starting flushing out of the pocket to quickly."

Muleshoe did manage to get its running game going for the first time this season, gaining 240 yards. Senior tailback Jake Adair led the way with 129 yards and two touchdowns.

Roosevelt features a power running game out of the triple-I, which somewhat limits its passing game.

Kevin Davis rushed for 100 yards and 23 carries and quarterback Brett Fagan ran for a pair of touchdowns.

On defense, the Eagles rely on middle linebacker Jason Flowers and free safety John Edwards to make most of the plays.

At Idalou, Peter Graza rushed for 69 yards and two second-half touchdowns as Shallowater rallied for 13-10 win. Shallowater trailed 10-0 at halftime.

Meanwhile, Friona and Dimmitt were upset victims.

Shane Blackburn scored on a five-yard run with less than two minutes left, but Chieftains failed to convert the two-point try and dropped a 20-18 decision to Class 2A Springlake-Earth (3-0).

Kyle Grimsley rushed for a game-high 170 yards and threw a 51-yard touchdown pass to Rusty Simmons for Friona (2-1).

Daniel Gibson's two third-quarter field goals were enough as Tulia beat Dimmitt, 6-0. Dimmitt (1-2) was held to 62 total yards and fumbled six times, losing three of them.

At Post, Zack Absheir scored three touchdowns, two in the fourth quarter as Floydada (1-2) picked up its first win of the season, 24-21. Absheir rushed for 80 yards on 10 carries, scoring on runs of 49, 26 and 2 yards. A blocked punt with two minutes left set up the winning touchdown.

The 6-3, 190-pound senior quarterback, named the Amarillo Daily News Class 3A player of the week, completed 4-of-8 passes for 55 yards.

MHS mines valuable new resource

Muleshoe High School did not have to look hard for an assistant to the new high school resource teacher, Joe Baker.

Right across the street at the junior high they found DeAnna Rasco, a perfect candidate for a resource aid.

Not only is Mrs. Rasco qualified for a teacher's assistant position, but she also has experience in the medical field.

She is a medical receptionist college graduate who has worked with the licensed EMT ambulance service.

Mrs. Rasco attended Amarillo College before becoming a teaching assistant at Watson Junior High School here in Muleshoe.

Moving up to the high school after six years at the junior high seemed like a good idea, because Mrs. Rasco wanted a chance to work with older students, which she thoroughly enjoys.

She was worried at first about the expectations that would be placed upon her at the high school, but she now feels the job is less stressful than she earlier anticipated.

Raising her own exceptional children has been a major accomplishment in Mrs. Rasco's life. She and her husband, Larry, who run a small upholstery business together, have two sons.

Bryan is 20 and Jason a 16-year-old student athlete at MHS.

Apart from mothering and teaching, Mrs. Rasco finds pleasure in sewing, gardening, reading, crafts and participating in the United Methodist Church Handbell Choir. She is also a member of the Athletic Boosters Club.

Mrs. Rasco's patience and dedication to her job as a resource assistant make her valuable to the MHS staff. We wish her luck in the coming school year.

Coach Welch finds big changes after short move

Not only did Coach Ron Welch move across the street to coach—he is also closer to his wife, Robin, who is a math teacher.

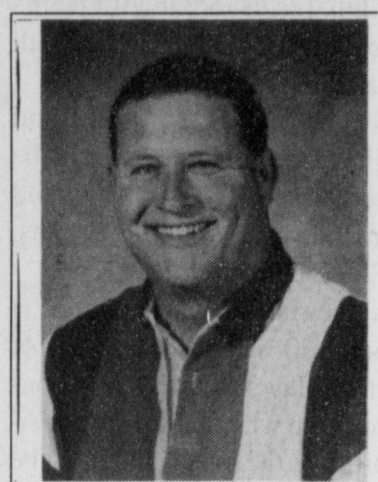

This is not the first job for Coach Welch. By coincidence, his first job was at Watson Junior High School.

He coached in the WJHS boys' athletic department for four years before taking the promotion of coaching at high school.

He will take on football, freshman boys' basketball and track. Included in this stressful list are several classes of health.

Coach Welch received his education at Stanton High School, then proceeded on to Texas Tech University. While attending Tech for four years, he received a degree in physical education with a minor in health.

Among his hobbies are hunting, snow skiing and water skiing. This past summer, he visited Lake Canyon, where he and his wife enjoyed water skiing.

When asked about the difference between junior, high and high school, Coach Welch replied, "The kids in high school are not as spastic, and the block scheduling is taking a while to get used to."

We welcome Coach Ron Welch to Muleshoe High School and wish him a wonderful year.

Sharry Jenkins

Newest Jenkins brings wealth of experience

The Muleshoe Independent School District was excited at the introduction of David Jenkins into the high school last year, and now it seems that his wife has decided to follow his lead.

Sharry Jenkins now teaches English I and II classes at Muleshoe High School. She previously taught English and business to high school students for twenty-five years at Portales, NM, then retired and started here in Muleshoe.

This continuance of her teaching career proves that Mrs. Jenkins has great dedication towards her work. Her husband is the current vice-principal at MHS.

They are now involved in the construction of a new house in Muleshoe. The couple has one daughter, Shawna Stevenson.

Mrs. Jenkins completed her masters degree in business at Eastern New Mexico University. She enjoys gardening and golfing in her spare time.

Her favorite reading material is Shakespeare, which is obvious by the numerous Shakespeare posters and articles adorning her classroom walls.

Teaching has always been her planned profession, partly because Mrs. Jenkins works well with students.

Her goals here at MHS include helping the students improve their English skills, getting acquainted with new people, and enjoying the relaxed, small-town life Muleshoe has to offer.

Her past experiences in teaching and eager work habits will surely make Mrs. Jenkins a wonderful addition to our high school. We welcome her here and hope she has a successful year.

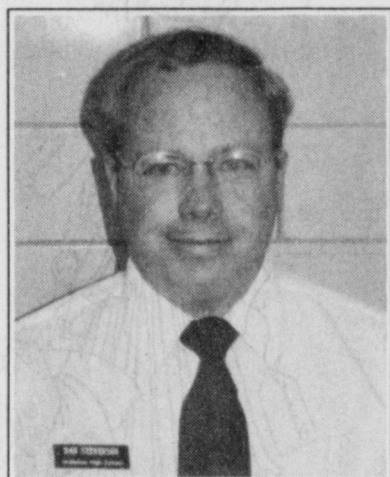

Spanish teacher provides first-hand knowledge

What better to use as a teaching guide for Spanish than someone who practiced the language in an actual Spanish culture!

Dan Stevenson has recently accepted his first teaching position at Muleshoe High School. He is in charge of six Spanish I classes, mostly comprised of sophomores.

Mr. Stevenson achieved his bachelor of arts degree in Spanish at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

Lubbock was also his home-town as a teenager, which made the short adjustment to Muleshoe much easier to handle.

He says he feels that Muleshoe will give him an excellent foundation for his progressive teaching career.

Johnson on par in new venture

Carolyn Johnson is no newcomer to Muleshoe. She and her husband Buck have lived and worked in Muleshoe for several years.

Mrs. Johnson has first-hand experience in home economics, having been a homemaker and wife.

Mrs. Johnson was an active student in high school. She was a cheerleader and a member of FHA, Student Council and the Honor Society.

She also played basketball and was all-state one year. She attended college at East Texas State and has a bachelor's degree in science.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were married on a golf course. Since they both love to golf, this seemed to be the perfect and unique place for them to get married.

Mrs. Johnson seems to be an adventurous person, considering she has been skydiving, parasailing and has taken a 30-state tour on a motorcycle.

Although she loves adventure, her idea of a good time is simply to be out on the lake in a boat with a fishing rod cast into the water.

When asked what she thought of the attire of the students, she said that she

Holmans assists in new program

LaDonna Holmans takes on a drastic change from Dillman Elementary to the new and somewhat challenging high school.

Mrs. Holmans is one of the two new teacher assistants at Muleshoe High School. She is currently assisting Matt Owens with a program called Life Skills in which the students stay all day in the same classroom.

She recently made a prominent change to high school from teaching eleven years at Dillman Elementary. She attained her education at Mrs. Holmans enjoys sewing and all kinds of crafts. Also among her interests is being a mother and a wife.

She is married to Tony Holmans and has two daughters—Michelle, 22, and Kristen, 19—who are both attending college. This leaves the house quiet except for their dog, Jordan, who creates a little excitement.

Holman regards her best accomplishment as raising two wonderful children and having them attend college.

She is also extremely proud of working with students and helping them feel successful in all they achieve.

Cotton prices continue rising

LUBBOCK — The weighted average price received by growers continued its rise through the month of July.

According to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG), the month of July is traditionally the low water mark as far as monthly marketings are concerned.

PCG officials note that with the weighted average price received by growers continuing to increase, the possibility of any type of deficiency payment in 1995 seems very unlikely.

In order for a deficiency payment to be realized, the weighted average price would have to drop below the 71.9 cent Upland cotton target price.

That cotton prices continue to stay high is good news for producers, who look to get a decent price for their 1995 crop.

A significant drop in the latest USDA crop estimate coupled with revisions to estimated carry-over stocks have worked to further push prices up.

Marketing figures for the month of July indicate a total of 4.349 million bales of cotton have been marketed during the first seven months of 1995. USDA's preliminary estimate of July marketings totaled 180,000 bales.

The average price received by farmers during the month was 86.6 cents per pound.

Through the first seven months of the year, the weighted average price received by farmers totals 81.9 cents, 9 cents above the 72.9 cent upland cotton target price.

Marketing and price figures quoted above were taken from the national Agricultural Statistics Service and are subject to revision.

The Visionaries

Mother Teresa, the Nobel Prize-winning missionary leader, has said: "We cannot do great things, only small things with great love." Yet the message of The Visionaries — a new 13-part series about individuals and organizations around the world devoted to helping others — is that small things done with great love are great things for both the doer and the recipient.

The Visionaries is hosted by noted actor Sam Waterston.

Shot in locales ranging from El Salvador, The Philippines, and the Sudan to South Dakota, North Carolina, and Appalachia, each half-hour program in The Visionaries seeks to explore why people want to give of themselves in this way, and what happens to them in the process of doing it. The producer, Bill Mosher, hopes the series will help viewers overcome the cynicism and despair created by constant exposure to the nightly news, and see the large value of contributing their own small efforts. "These are good-news stories," says Mosher, "not soppy human-interest pieces, but real-life experiences that demonstrate the value of the individual and of individual initiative."

By design, The Visionaries focuses on ordinary people whose lives have placed them in extraordinary situations. Their ability to cope with adversity when experienced or encountered — and see in it the opportunity to make a difference — is what this series is all about.

The Visionaries will be broadcast Saturday, September 30th at 7:00 a.m. on KENW-TV.

The Germans: Portrait of a New Nation

Perhaps no Western country has felt more immediately the impact of the end of the cold war than Germany. For 40 years, Germany was divided between East and West, its border the focus of a nuclear and conventional military standoff. On October 3rd, 1990, both Germanies were joined into a single democratic country. Today, five years after unification, Germany is emerging as Europe's most powerful country. Its size, geography, economic strength, and military potential assure Germany a central role in shaping the post-cold war world. Yet the German people face a number of challenges both at home and abroad.

So who are the Germans today? How can Americans better understand the profound changes taking place in Germany, and how will these changes affect American interests abroad and at home?

The Germans: Portrait of a New Nation is a one-hour documentary that profiles the German people at this critical juncture in history.

The documentary profiles individuals and families from both former East and West Germany, and features commentary by leading public officials and experts, including an exclusive interview with Chancellor Helmut Kohl.

The Germans: Portrait of a New Nation airs Saturday, September 30th at 11:00 p.m.

High-wire snake gives local couple a charge

Morris McKillip sat quietly on the brick barbecue pit ledge in his farm home's backyard during the late afternoon of August, 1995.

He idly glanced up and saw something strangely enlarging a space in the cable that transmits electricity from the meter pole to the house.

After a prompt investigation, McKillip went into the house and found his wife, LaVonne, using the computer in their office.

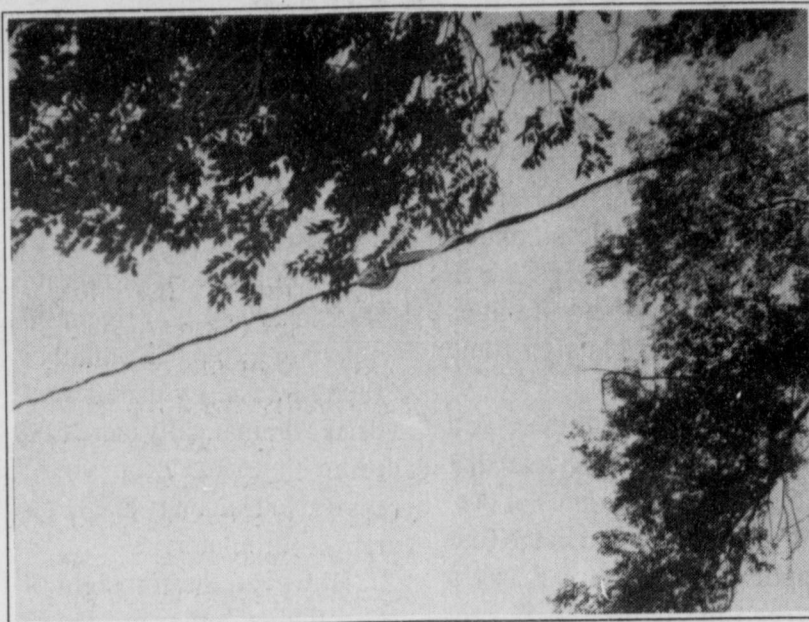

Morris, a retired farmer, calmly informed LaVonne that there was something he wanted her to see outside. He led her to a vantage point to see a strangely enlarged spot on the transmission line to the house. He wondered, "What is that?"

LaVonne anxiously questioned him, "is that a snake?"

Her husband of 54 years replied, "I believe that it is, but I don't know what kind it is. See that tree limb hanging over the electric cable? I think that the snake somehow left or fell off the tree branch onto the electric line. It has wrapped itself around the wire to keep from falling to the ground which would be at least a fall of fifteen feet."

The puzzled farmer and his wife pondered just what they were going to do. LaVonne got a hoe to use in trying to shake the reptile down. Morris went to work trying to poke it down while the snake hissed warnings and continued to cling tightly to the strong twisted wire transmission line.

Even though the snake refused to unwind and simply fall to the ground below, they still wanted to get the snake down.

Unwisely, with no sense of the electrical danger, the McKillips used a twenty-foot length of four-inch aluminum irrigation pipe as a means of coaxing the reluctant snake to descend. The pipe was placed against the electrical wiring, while Morris used the hoe to punch at the fearful reptile.

It finally entered the four-inch pipe making an audible sound as it slid to the ground below. The snake was too frightened to leave the pipe.

After putting their curious Doberman in his pen and waiting an interminable time, the scared visitor, cautiously stuck its head out and minutes later crawled slowly out of the conduit.

Finally, Morris and LaVonne were able to see that it was a harmless; beneficial, five-foot, well-fed, bull snake.

They watched it slither away, unharmed. It could continue its farmstead eradication program diet by eating crop-destroying birds and rodents.

Minding Your Own Business

By Don Taylor

The Power Process

I enjoy watching successful people. They accomplish unbelievable amounts of work, often snatch victory from the jaws of defeat and appear to be lucky in being in the right place at the right time.

However, if you analyze their routines and work habits you will find luck isn't involved. They plan carefully, focus intensely and know exactly where they want to go.

I believe you can identify seven steps that successful people take to develop their power-packed lives. I submit these for your consideration.

Seven powerful steps

Step One. Successful people know exactly where they want to go. Once they have identified what they want to accomplish and the results they want to achieve, they write them down. These written objectives become the life-altering targets for which they aim.

Step Two. Successful people make certain they pinpoint their targets in ways that are specific, achievable and measurable. For example, a success-oriented college student might identify her target as achieving a bachelor's degree.

She could zero in even closer on her target by breaking it down into measurable segments. For example, 15 hours in semester one, 16 in semester two, six hours in the summer, etc. She could add a grade point average target to her goals as well.

Step Three. Successful people focus on targets in many areas of their lives. They are careful not to become obsessed with a single area of accomplishment. Happiness is best achieved by living a balanced, but focused life.

A few years ago a business friend of mine got so focused on growing his business that he nearly destroyed his marriage and wrecked his family relationship.

Fortunately, he recovered in time, but it took years to mend the broken fences. Now he maintains a more balanced lifestyle and sets goals in several areas of his life.

Step Four. Successful people celebrate their progress. They reward themselves for every step they take that brings them closer to their goals. They even celebrate small victories.

The college student we mentioned earlier might plan a pizza party for a few close friends after getting high marks on her first semester tests.

A businessman might give bonus time off for employees after a highly profitable quarter.

Celebrate small accomplishments, but never lose sight of your larger goals.

Step Five. Successful people keep on, keeping on. Even when the going is tough, they persevere. They understand that quitters never win and winners never quit.

Successful people know that success is not the hand of cards you are dealt in life, but rather how you play those cards. You can overcome most adversity with perseverance.

Step Six. Successful people are seldom content with "good enough." They focus on continued improvement. They know that someone will raise the standard tomorrow, so they work hard to be the one who improves the mark.

The Japanese call it Kaizen. Kaizen means continuing improvement, involving everyone. While they celebrate their progress, successful people never rest on their laurels.

Military News

Marine Lance Cpl. Richard Flores, son of Noelia Flores of 310 E. Dallas, Muleshoe, recently received a Certificate of Appreciation while assigned with marine Aviation Logistics Squadron 13, 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing, Marine Corps Air Station, Yuma, AZ.

Flores was recognized for his superior performance of duty. Flores consistently performed his demanding duties in an exemplary and highly professional manner.

Flores is an essential part of today's naval forces as they shift focus away from long-distance war at sea to handling the challenges of regional conflicts affecting U.S. interests.

Whether helping provide humanitarian assistance and disaster-relief or projecting power ashore and providing forward presence. Sailors like Flores are making a difference as they work assigned to ships, squadrons or shore commands around the world.

Better Business Bureau Report

Several months ago, your Better Business Bureau alerted consumers to a possible pyramid company called Gold Unlimited.

They were recruiting people into their multi-level marketing program selling gold and silver coins and jewelry.

The latest information is that the Federal Grand Jury in Louisville, Kentucky indicted David & Martha Crowe and Gold Unlimited on 22 counts of mail fraud, securities fraud and money laundering.

The indictment described the company as a massive pyramid or "ponzi scheme" in which payments of seemingly large profits were paid to early investors, rather than from any profits or commissions earned by the underlying business venture.

Just in the last few weeks, the U.S. District Court in Western Kentucky appointed a receiver to review all participant's requests for refunds.

Refund requests should be sent to J. Daniel Kemp, Attorney at Law, 608 South Main St., P.O. Box 648, Hopkinsville, KY 42241. If you wish a copy of the full report, call the BBB at 763-0459 or (800) 687-7890.

Over the last several months, your Better Business Bureau has received an exorbitant number of consumer calls inquiring about companies that use a 900 number to claim a prize.

The Bureau has been able to cross-reference many of the 900 numbers to the same company—Direct American Marketers out of Irvine, CA.

Remember, it is not a prize if you have to pay something to receive it.

Program hopes to rid High Plains of dreaded boll weevil

Kicking off the 1995 Enhanced Boll Weevil Diapause Program September 26, Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG) is putting the final pieces in place to begin what should be the beginning of the end for the boll weevil on the Texas High Plains.

Pilots and aircraft are reporting to their operational bases in Lamesa, Floydada, Seminole, Big Spring and Post for final installation of monitoring and guidance equipment to be used on the Program.

All of the 31 aircraft being used on the Program will be equipped with the Satloc Global Positioning System (GPS) hardware and software.

Preparations for the Program began early in the summer when cotton fields in 22 High Plains counties were located and plotted on maps to be used during the Program's treatment phase that begins on September 26. In all over 15,000 fields totaling approximately 2.4 million acres were mapped.

Early season trapping helped the program get a feel for what type of boll weevil pressure could be expected by the time treatment operations began. At this time an extensive gridwork of traps are in place, or are being put out as rapidly as possible after some weather delays.

Initial trap catches and manual surveys indicate that 1.5 to 1.6 million acres of cotton could be treated in the first application. This total would exceed the largest spray program ever completed in the 32 year history of the PCG Control Program. The 1965 program treated 1.5 million acres. Up to 5 million aggregate acres could be treated this year.

"The significant increase in the size of this year's Program is the direct result of five mild winters in a row. The number of acres infested with boll weevil have dramatically increased during the 1995 crop year," says Roger Haldenby PCG Program Coordinator.

"However, the foresight of High Plains cotton producers who recognized this building threat and overwhelmingly approved the formation of the High Plains Boll Weevil Eradication Zone will allow us to fight back against the pest."

Haldenby adds that the 1995 Program's "Control Zone" stretches some 225 miles from north to south and 130 miles from east to west. Carrying out such a large program takes the cooperation of many individuals and agencies.

While the PCG Diapause Control Program is not run by the federal government, USDA does help out in several important areas. The first is cost-sharing, mainly through the loan of government vehicles to be used on the Program. This year 49 vehicles are on loan from USDA and will be operating throughout the area.

The second is through the operation of the Environmental Monitoring Plan. This plan helps ensure that the High Plains Program is as environmentally friendly as possible. Soil, water and vegetation samples are taken throughout the control zone and sent to Gulfport, Mississippi for analysis at the National Research Analysis Laboratory.

HERO elects officers for 1995-96 school year

Home Economics Related Occupations (HERO), a youth leadership organization associated with the Home Economics Cooperative Education Program (HECE) elected officers for the school year 1995-96.

Elected were Crystal Casto, president; Lisa Rodriguez, vice president; Candy Garcia, secretary; Kit Dominguez, treasurer; Marthella Lewis, reporter; Sarah Villareal, historian; and Crystal Castorena, student council representative.

The organization experienced real democracy in action through election process. To be elected, each candidate was nominated by a peer who gave a nomination speech in his or her favor.

Each candidate had to deliver a speech to all members convincing them that they were the best candidate for the office. Votes were cast, and a group of leaders emerged.

The purpose of this leadership program is to help youth assume their roles in society through family and consumer education in areas of personal growth, family life, vocational preparation, and community involvement.
