

Residents concerned about waste site

By MARTHA TOLES FROST
City Editor

Seventeen Bailey County landowners and residents visited the Muleshoe City Council meeting Tuesday to discuss an item that was not on the agenda.

County residents asked the Council to drop or postpone its application to Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission (TNRCC) for approval of a solid waste transfer facility near their property at the closed Warren Airport.

Attorney Corky Green, whose mother Ruby Surlock lives in the proposed site area, said a postponement of the public hearing would allow residents to voice their concerns to the Council first.

Concerns by residents included the lowering their quality of life, the downgrading of property values, additional traffic, and loose trash with its accompanying odor and attraction for flies.

City Mayor Robert Montgomery assured the group that the transfer station would not be a place to pile trash or have the usual landfill conditions.

Councilman Tom Bonds explained that solid waste would be transferred from one truck to another in an enclosed building at the facility.

Members of the group also expressed concern that TNRCC might approve the requested site and refuse to consider another site in the future.

Mayor Robert Montgomery said, "Even if the TNRCC approves the site, we don't have to implement it."

Montgomery told the group, "We will take under heavy advisement the feelings of the people represented here... We started this process in April. We looked at the economics of the situation. Our costs are escalating and we try to hold a line on taxes."

"But," he added, "nothing will be shoved down the public's throat that's not desirable."

More than $.5 million owed in taxes

By MARTHA TOLES FROST

City Editor

Approximately 534 law suits been filed with either the District Court or Justice of the Peace Court for delinquent property taxes, according to Chief Appraiser Kaye Elliott.

The uncollected taxes represent three percent of the tax roll, amounting to over half a million dollars, not including penalties and interest.

Elliott said the taxes were delinquent in February. She said that after the taxes have been delinquent for two years, the property is sold on the courthouse steps to get it back on the tax roll.

Eggheads

Students in Kevin Noack's physics class (pictured above) took a class trip to field test egg containers they built as part of an experiment to test terminal velocity. The containers were dropped more than 2,000 feet from an airplane. Pictured are (from left) Barak Harlan, Dacia Stewart, Daniel Garbarino, pilot Fred Locker, Holly Hutton, Brandi Harrison, John Embry, Carolyn Schuster, Chad Johnson and Stefan Sutton. Mark McGuire and Holly Hutton (above, right) show off an egg that survived a 2,000 foot free fall in the container Hutton made for an experiment in her physics class.

Students reach new heights

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

Kevin Noack's physics class is reaching new heights.

For two years, his classes have been designing and building containers to prevent an egg from breaking when dropped from various heights. It's a practical demonstration of terminal velocity, which is the maximum speed a falling object can reach.

Last year, the maximum height was the press box at Benny Douglass Stadium, which is about 35-40 feet.

But this year's students had loftier goals.

Most survived the press box test. The talk station at Southwestern Public Service was next (110 feet). Then the boiler stacks (400 feet) at SPS.

Finally, they forced Noack to take (a) flight by designing containers that far exceeded past projects.

Last week, with the help of local pilot Fred Locker, Noack dropped nine containers more than 2,000 feet from an airplane as it circled an open field off the Friona Highway. More than half the eggs survived impact (three were lost).

"Sometimes the kids just go through the motions," Noack

Friona next as Mules try to build off solid effort

By RICK WHITE

Muleshoe stood its ground against District 2-3A bully Littlefield.

Now head coach Randy Adair is interested in how his team responds to taking on someone its own size when the Mules host Friona this Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Benny Douglass Stadium.

"The big question is are we satisfied with our performance against Littlefield, or are we ready to take it to the next level?," Adair said.

The Mules pressured perennial district power Littlefield deep into the fourth quarter last Friday until a turnover led to a Wildcat touchdown that sealed the 21-0 win.

The Wildcats (6-0, 1-0) were a 48-point favorite in the Harris Ratings.

"The last three years they beat us by a combined score of about 180-2," Adair said. "To say they've intimidated us over the last three years is an understatement. This year the kids were not intimidated. That's a big positive for us."

Friona and Muleshoe are alike in many ways, especially in size and community makeup, and it's led to a pretty intense rivalry.

"I felt when I first came here that they got a lot more excited about playing us, than us playing them," Adair said. "After getting here, and seeing their junior high kids, and their coaches, I decided we'd better get a little more excited about playing them."

Friona (4-2, 0-1) is coming off a 27-17 loss to Shallowater in which it failed to capitalize on several golden opportunities in the first half

The Chieftains are led by a big, physical defense.

Adair said the triangle of nose guard Hugo Santiago, and linebackers Juan Santiago and Leonard Alvarado is as good as it gets in the district.

On offense, the Chieftains run the wishbone.

The Mules' (0-6, 0-1) first concern is stopping bruising fullback Lance Looper, who gained 116 yards on 16 carries against Shallowater. Quarterbacks Kyle Grimsley and Tony Mejia also present problems on the option.

Muleshoe played well offensively against Littlefield despite the shutout.

The Mules controlled the ball, especially in the second half when they had the ball inside the Littlefield 20 twice only to come up empty.

The Mules held a 247-243 edge in total yards and ran of 63 plays to 33 for the Wildcats.

"That game could have easily been a one- or two-point game," Adair said.

Senior Daniel Garbarino showed considerable improvement in his second start at quarterback, completing 8-of-16 passes for 85 yards and added 54 yards rushing.

"I'd be pretty nervous about defending him as a quarter-

Crawford wins Power Points in upset week

Lazbuddie's Sharli Crawford had the right combination in the Muleshoe Journal Power Points football contest for games of the week of Oct. 7-9.

Crawford was correct on nine of her 11 top choices and won the contest with 109 points for the week.

Crawford didn't escape the week's upsets, such as Texas Tech over Texas A&M, Jacksonville over Pittsburgh, Detroit over Cleveland and Indianapolis over Miami. But she placed them low on her list of games. She wins $10 cash as well as a gift certificate from Leal's Restaurant.

Second with 104 points was Francisco Torres of 814 West 2nd, Muleshoe. Torres suffered all the same upsets as Crawford, but also made the mistake of picking Green Bay over Dallas. But his efforts were still good enough for the $7.50 second prize.

Third was Bill James of 1609 W. Ave C, Muleshoe, with 103 points. James actually had the fewest incorrect choices of the top three, but lost 14 points when he used Pittsburgh in that slot. He receives $5.

Getting into the honorable mention category for the week were all those local contestants who scored over 100 points: John Purdy and Elizabeth

Dear Editor:

In a recent blood drive sponsored by the Assembly of God Church in Muleshoe, members helped with recruiting, registration, refreshments and providing a space to hold the drive. Sixty volunteered to donate and 55 were able to give.

Blood drives don't just happen. Hours of work are necessary to organize a successful drive. Glenda Powell was instrumental in organizing locally.

When we visit Muleshoe, we are counting on the community to supply blood for patients in 22 area hospitals. Muleshoe always comes through!

Landfill

When Ruby Spurlock asked if an existing building could be moved to the current landfill, Montgomery said the feasibility would have to be studied.

City Manager Dave Marr Jr. said the most economical course of action would be to use the existing facilities at the old airport, which would require little modification, rather than build or move a facility and then provide access to water and sewage.

Marr agreed to do a study of the cost of constructing an appropriate facility at the present landfill.

But Marr warned Bailey County residents that city residents paying for the additional costs of a new facility might present another side of the issue at the public hearing on Thursday.

He said issues are put on the agenda and public hearings are held so people on all sides can speak.

"We are prepared to make presentations with diagrams at that time," Marr said. "But the transfer station is not on the agenda. The council can't make that decision today," Marr said.

The site in question is on the southeast side of U.S. 70, 0.3 miles northeast of State Highway 214, within the boundaries of the old airport north of Muleshoe in Bailey County.

The City of Muleshoe has posted notice in the Muleshoe Journal of a public meeting 10:30 a.m. Thursday in the Council Chambers concerning the application for the transfer station.

Marr said Tuesday afternoon that the Council had determined to proceed as advertised to allow public input.

said "This is something that's fun and it gets them to think about things. That's one of things school should do is teach the kids how to think."

Judging by his student's reactions as they were tracking their containers against the dark blue sky, Noack has succeed in making learning fun.

"Before I took this class, I thought Newton was just a guy who made cookies," said Holly Hutton, whose egg survived last week's free fall. "He makes us do experiments as a fun way of learning. In his class, he helps you figure things out for yourself."

The most important lesson he's teaching is that learning can be fun.

Wildlife officials seek help

Up to 150 endangered whooping cranes, including 20-25 young, are expected to migrate south this fall from nesting grounds in Canada, said the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Biologists counted 47 pairs nesting in early June and 25 young whoopers were seen during a survey in August. The cranes will winter near the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge on the Texas Gulf Coast north of Corpus Christi. Last fall, 133 whoopers, including 8 young, made the fall migration.

Whooping cranes take several weeks to make the 2,500-mile journey, traveling through Alberta and Saskatchewan provinces of Canada; South Dakota, Montana, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas. Southward migration requires up to 50 days, including a two-day flight from the breeding range at Wood Buffalo National Park in the Northwest Territories to southern Saskatchewan grains fields, where birds remain one to five weeks. A rapid trip across U.S. prairie states follows. Migration by yearlings and subadults began in mid-September; family groups and paired adults start by early October.

Wildlife officials ask that anyone seeing a whooping crane this fall to report the time, place and other details of the sighting to local wildlife officials. Jim Lewis, National Whooping Crane coordinator for the Fish and Wildlife Service, said, "The information is invaluable. We will learn more about the birds' migration behavior and can also monitor their health."

Adult whooping cranes are white with black wingtips and a red forehead. Juveniles have white and rusty brown body feathers and black wingtips. In flight, the bird's long neck is held straight forward and its long black legs extend beyond the tail. The bird weighs 14-16 pounds and has a wingspan of seven feet. At five feet in height, the whooping crane is the tallest bird in North America.

Whooping cranes migrate during the day, making regular stops to feed and rest away from human activity. They travel as singles, in pairs and family groups, or in flocks of four to five adults, sometimes joining with sandhill cranes as part of the migration. The most common flight grouping is a V-formation at an altitude of 600 to 1,500 yards. Average speed of travel is 250 miles over seven to eight hours. Navigation is

Fall beef promos launched

More than 600 "Beef. It's What's For Dinner." Television commercials will run on major networks, and two print advertisements will have 15 placements in women's magazines between October and December as part of the beef checkoff's fall promotion.

The purpose of these commercials and advertisements is to encourage consumers to buy more beef during fall months, according to the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

There is certainly no shortage of beef this year. Beef production during the first quarter of 1995 was up two percent from a year earlier, according to the National Cattlemen's Association.

This increase followed an increase in 1994 of six percent over the previous year, putting beef output at the highest level since 1986.

Better Business By Nan Campbell

Many businesses across the country have received what appear to be invoices for ad space in the familiar, locally distributed, yellow page directories.

The BBB warns that these invoices are actually solicitations for listings in alternative business directories that differ from the well-known yellow pages.

In fact, the alternative directories may not be that widely distributed, can be of little or no value to advertisers, or may never be published at all.

The solicitation may look like an invoice and may feature the "yellow pages" or "walking fingers" logo and falsely state that the publisher is affiliated with the local telephone company or another bona fide yellow pages publisher.

Be on alert to look out for disguised solicitations and carefully check suspicious bills from companies with which you do not normally do not do business. Check the reliability of the company with your BBB by calling 763-0459 or (800) 687-7890.

Minimizing the likelihood of damage to your clothing during the drycleaning or laundering begins with the purchase of the garment.

Federal law requires apparel manufacturers to attach permanent labels to garments with instructions for drycleaning or laundering. The care necessary to keep a garment clean and attractive may be important to your purchase decision.

If you are in doubt about the serviceability of a particular garment, ask about the store's return policy before making the purchase. If the policy permits, you might then buy the garment with the understanding that it may be returned after you check with your drycleaner.

When you pick up your garment from the cleaner, examine it and point out any problems right away, since this is the best time to resolve a problem.

Sideline chat

Muleshoe head coach Randy Adair gives instructions to Chris Shelburne (12) and the rest of the defense during a timeout Friday in the Mules' 21-0 loss at Littlefield.

Defense suddenly stubborn as a Mule

One week after playing Jake Adair. So the Mules snapped the ball to upback Daniel Garbarino, who flipped the ball over the hard charging Wildcats to Doug Fields. Fields picked up the first down with two yards to spare.

Muleshoe head coach Randy Adair said it was more metal than physical.

"We've been doing the same thing since week one," Adair said. "We didn't change a thing. The difference was psychological. The kids are tired of all the negative stuff and tired of losing. Plus it's district. It's like starting over."

Benton, listed at a generous 5-8, combines strength and speed in an explosive package, as he showed on a pair of 10-yard touchdown runs.

Muleshoe, for the first time since the Denver City game, swarmed to the ball and attacked the Littlefield ball carriers. They were meeting Benton and his backfield mates on the front side of the hole, instead of the back side. And once they got there, they were wrapping up and getting help for teammates.

Double dare

Muleshoe has a unique theory about punt protection. It takes the offensive.

The Mules invite teams to come after the punter, like Littlefield did Friday night.

With Muleshoe facing fourth-and-16 at its own 23 in the second quarter, Littlefield decided to come after punter Littlefield, which blocked seven punts in its first four games, never came after Adair again.

"Their kids expect to win," Adair said. "When you get that sort of mentality ingrained into the kids, that's when you really have a chance to win every week because the kids find a way to win even if they don't play that well."

And there's a lot to be said about continuity," Adair added.

Too many men

Shallowater scored 27 unanswered points, including interception returns for touchdowns on consecutive possessions, and upset Friona, 27-17, at home.

'Horns in showdown with top-ranked Amherst

It's been a year since Amherst lost.

In between, the Bulldogs have won 14-straight games, including the 1994 six-man football title. They've been ranked No. 1 in the state all year and don't appear to be slowing down.

"I don't think you can stop their offense," said Lazbuddie coach Mark Scisson, whose team handed Amherst its last loss. "You just hope to slow them down."

That's Lazbuddie's task when they host Amherst this Friday (7:30 p.m.) in one of the state's top games at any level.

Lazbuddie (4-2, 1-0) surprised the Bulldogs last year, 34-28, on a last-second touchdown en route to the District 1-2A title.

"I know this will be the toughest game we will play all year," Scisson said. "If we don't play well, they'll take care of us like they took care of Three Way."

Amherst (6-0, 1-0) is coming off a 52-8 rout of Three Way in which all-state running back Dwayne Miles rushed for 220 yards and six touchdowns.

"We want them to earn their touchdowns," Scisson said. "We don't want (Miles) turning short gains into long touchdowns."

They have a much better passing game to go with the running of Miles," Scisson said. "They're so physical. And experienced. I think they're better than last year."

Lazbuddie, a 54-8 winner over Cotton Center last week, is led by junior quarterback Justin St. Clair, and a host of sure-handed receivers. St. Clair has shredded enemy defenses for 1,200 yards and 17 touchdowns this fall. Four Longhorns have more than 200 receiving yards.

"We have to outscore them," Scisson said, "and keep their offense off the field."

In other another local 1-2A games Friday, Three Way tries to rebound from its dishearten-

Longhorns run over Cotton Center, 54-8

LAZBUDDIE — Lazbuddie grounded its normally potent passing game in a 54-8 win over Cotton Center here Friday night.

Instead, the Longhorns opted to take the land route in a District 1-2A tune-up for top-ranked Amherst this week.

The Longhorns (4-2) punished the Elks (1-5) for 221 yards rushing. Juan Reyes rushed for 108 yards and had touchdown runs of 70 and 25 yards in the second quarter.

Justin St. Clair accounted for three touchdowns in the first quarter, running 47 yards for one score and firing touchdown passes of 45 yards to Josh Warren and four yards to Junior Lopez as Lazbuddie built a 42-0 halftime lead.

The game was halted in the fourth quarter by the 45-point rule.

The Longhorns, who averaged almost 250 yards passing per game, finished with 59.

Lazbuddie coach Mark Scisson pull his starters early in the second quarter.

"It feels good going in healthy (to the Amherst game)," Scisson said. "It might have been a little bit better to play a more competitive game," Scisson said. "But you have to take what you get and go with it."

The Longhorns also limited Bryan Nichols to 128 yards passing, nearly 170 yards below his average. Nichols was

Mule notebook

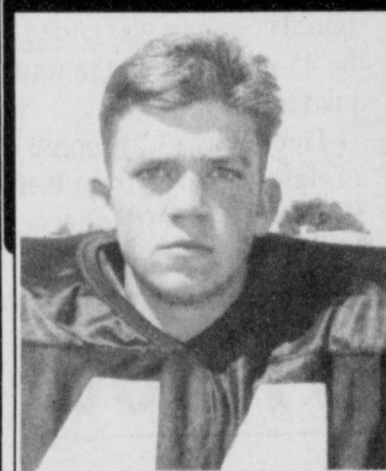

Doug Fields has football instincts beyond his years. The sophomore LB/RB, a key cog in the Mules defense, has showed in the last two games that he's becoming a factor on offense as well. Fields rushed for 34 yards on five carries against Littlefield and added five catches for another 49 yards, including a 19-yarder for a first down on a fake punt. Fields also had five tackles (two for losses) and recovered a fumble... Another sophomore exhibiting good instincts is inside linebacker Rodney Alanis, who led the Mules with nine tackles against Littlefield... Junior tight end Jarrold Redwine has seen his role in the passing game increase since the Mules switched to its new offense. Redwine had two receptions for 26 yards Friday and caught a 25-yard touchdown pass against Seminole two weeks ago. In the Mules' one-back set. Redwine was often held in for pass protection... Adair was surprised Littlefield didn't pass the ball more often. Wildcat QB Danny Vargas was 1-for-2, a 43-yarder that helped set up the Wildcats' second touchdown. "I thought if we shut down their running game they'd air it out a little," Muleshoe head coach Randy Adair said.... Trivia: What Lone Star Conference school did Dallas Cowboy backup quarterback Wade Wilson attend?..... Key stat in the Littlefield game: Muleshoe ran 63 plays to Littlefield's 33... Dimmitt's Oscar Rueda was named the Amarillo Globe's 3A player of the week. Rueda, a 5-10, 170-pound junior rushed for 109 yards and two touchdowns in the Bobcats' 21-11 win over Floydada... Other scores of note this weekend: Seminole 28, Slaton 28. Brownfield 42, Roosevelt 7. Denver City 28, Cooper 12... Trivia answer: East Texas State in Commerce.

Quote of Note

"To say they've intimidated us over the last three years is an understatement. This year the kids were not intimidated. That's a big positive for us."

Texas Resource Commission issues report

AUSTIN — The Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission (TNRCC) has released a report on how environmental regulations affect small businesses in the state.

Common concerns voiced by small businesses include burdensome and costly regulations, excessive paperwork, and confusing enforcement methods.

Their suggestions for improvements were to consolidate forms, use plain language and develop electronic reporting as an alternative to paperwork.

They also suggested providing small businesses with clear information on their rights and obligations; coordinating inspections to minimize disruptions; and making compliance assistance an element of enforcement.

To obtain a copy of the report, call the Small Business Assistance Division at (512) 239-1066.

Dent completes group climb of Pike's Peak

COLORADO SPRINGS—Monty Dent, son of Ronnie and Peggy Dent of Muleshoe, this summer joined a group of Denver residents in a hike up the 14,110-foot Pike's Peak.

The group left the Barr Trail Head at 5:45 a.m., ready for a 12.5-mile assault on the peak. Dent trained for two weeks for the climb, which he said was one of the most grueling efforts he had experienced.

For approximately nine miles, the trail zig-zagged through the forest and over streams created by snow at the top of the Peak. The last three miles were the most demanding, however, as the hikers were well above the timber line, with no shade or protection from storm clouds that could roll in within minutes. Making the climb more difficult were rocks and snow.

At the summit

Monty Dent (bottom row, middle) joined a group of Denver residents in a hike up Pike's Peak this summer. Monty is the son of Ronnie and Peggy Dent of Muleshoe.

Seven hours later, the climb ended at the summit.

"Even though the challenge of the climb was physical, the hardest part was mental," Dent said. "There were lots of times I wanted to quit, but I knew the trip would be well worth it once I reached the top."

After interception returns by Nick Martin (45 yards) and Roberts (40 yards), Jeff Jackson's two-yard run made it 27-3 with 8:22 left in the game.

Friona (4-2) failed to take advantage of three first-half turnovers by Shallowater, managing only a 34-yard field goal by Angel Vega.

Lance Looper ran for 116 yards on 16 carries for Friona, which outgained Shallowater, 234-190, and forced five turnovers.

The Chieftains were 13-point favorites.

Dimmitt pounded out a 21-11 win at Floydada behind 100-yard performances by Oscar Rueda and Dagon Newton.

Rueda rushed for 119 yards and two touchdowns on 15 carries and Newton added 115 yards and one touchdown on 15 carries.

Dimmitt rushed for 292 yards.

Newton's 56-yard run gave Dimmitt a 14-3 halftime lead.

gation is partially by recognition of land features, such as rivers or large reservoirs.

The day's flight may end mid-afternoon or later, when the cranes again feed and rest before going to roost at dusk. At night, they stand (roost) in shallow water in lakes, ponds and along rivers.

The whooping crane is fully protected under the Endangered Species Act. The public is cautioned not to shoot or unduly disturb the whoopers, because they can be frightened into flying into wires or other obstacles.

The Challengers '96

Who are the people challenging President Clinton in the 1996 election? Veteran journalist Ken Bode reports on the character, philosophy, and ambitions of each of the presidential contenders in The Challengers '96. This four-part series is likely to be the first set of in-depth interviews with election 1996 candidates. The Challengers '96 is part of PBS' Democracy Project.

Each one-hour program will feature two half-hour profiles on individual candidates. Each profile will open with a brief video segment on the featured candidate and then move to a one-on-one interview conducted by Bode.

The Challengers '96 airs Fridays at 10:00 p.m. begins October 20th.

Sex, Teens and Public Schools

The United States has the highest adolescent pregnancy, abortion, and birth rates in the industrialized world. Sex, Teens and Public Schools, hosted by broadcast journalist Jane Pauley, investigates the causes, costs, and consequences of adolescent childbearing. The documentary illustrates the volatile debate over the role of public schools in preventing early and unwanted pregnancy and provides intimate portraits of pregnant and parenting teens.

Sex, Teens and Public Schools visits classrooms throughout the country, including Vista, California, where the school board ignited a divisive battle by voting to replace the district's comprehensive sex education program, Values and Choices, with an abstinence-only program, Sex Respect. In nearby communities, the documentary observes both curricula in action, and follows several teens as they discuss their beliefs about the merits and drawbacks of each program.

Sex, Teens & Public Schools airs Monday, October 23rd at 10:00 p.m.

The NewsHour with Jim Lehrer

On Friday, October 20, 1995, The MacNeil/Lehrer NewsHour will become The NewsHour with Jim Lehrer when Robert MacNeil, who announced his retirement late last year, steps down as co-anchor of the nightly newscast. The date simultaneously marks The MacNeil/Lehrer NewsHour's 20th anniversary, the poignant conclusion of a powerful, on-air journalistic partnership, and an important new phase in the program's distinguished history.

The NewsHour with Jim Lehrer will be broadcast Monday through Friday at 7:00 p.m. and 1:00 a.m. beginning October 23rd.
