

All Around the Town

by Mary Ann Sarchet

We have three most-important propositions on the ballot in both the Democratic and Republican primaries on May 5, on which the voters are to decide.

PROPOSITION No. 1 is for or against the Legislature submitting a Constitutional Amendment to legalize parimutuel wagering on horse racing.

PROPOSITION No. 2 is for or against the Legislature enacting a law legalizing parimutuel wagering on horse racing with the state and the track sharing fourteen per cent of the parimutuel pool, the home county receiving two per cent of the total pool, and all other counties receiving one-half of the net state share on the basis of population with no racing on Sunday.

PROPOSITION No. 3 is for or against the Legislature submitting a Constitutional Amendment to abolish the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting.

The question of parimutuel wagering on horse racing to us is a question of moral principles. To me it falls into about the same classification as would a proposition for or against the selling of liquor in our hometown. This is a thing which each individual voter must weigh carefully on which to make an honest decision.

We have never lived in an area where parimutuel wagering on horse races was permitted, neither have we attended horse races. A lot of our friends do attend.

But, that is not the question. You are not being asked whether you like to attend the races or whether you like to gamble. You are being asked whether you would like to have a race track with parimutuel wagering here, in Briscoe County. You must decide whether you want it here, with the things that accompany it, or whether you prefer to continue to travel to another state to attend the races.

Those who have lived with and attended horse races are better judges of this than we; however, the voter owes it to himself, his family and his friends to consider propositions one and two very carefully before voting.

Proposition No. 3 is one which would be the most important of any issue to be decided. For a long time we have advocated the abolition of the poll taxes for the simple reason that unscrupulous politicians often watch the poll tax records closely, in order to call important issues to a vote during the so-called "off years" when many are not qualified to vote.

Recently there was a case in a Texas county where a merchant, in order to control a large number of votes, paid poll taxes for more than 150 transients residing in a labor camp. He, therefore, controlled all their votes, in addition to the one to which he was entitled.

If you consider this situation carefully and weigh its consequences, you will come to realize, as we have, what a similar character could accomplish with much less money if no $1.75 were required for the privilege of voting. A very small group could influence large numbers of voters with small monetary "gifts" or bribes. One person, with small promises, could herd large groups of illiterates, who possibly understand little enough English to really not understand at all, to the polls for the purpose of "swinging" an election. A very small bottle of alcoholic beverages could, no doubt, buy votes.

This would be very dangerous. Actually, the privilege of voting is golden, worth much more than $1.75. We of the Briscoe County News urge each voter to vote AGAINST abolishment of the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting.

Cottonwood Lake Now Leasing Camping Sites

by Mary Ann Sarchet

Cottonwood Lake, located three miles west and two miles south of Quitaque in Briscoe County, is now open to members for camping and fishing.

Half the camping sites have now been leased, according to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smith, owners. Fishing began April 1, 1962.

The lake, completed in February, 1961, lacks only about two feet being filled to capacity. Almost no rain has fallen in the area since the completion of the dam, and more than 95 per cent of the water has been furnished by springs along the main channel. The water is clear and very beautiful!

Cottonwood Lake holds approximately 175 acre feet of water with about 20 surface acres. The lake was stocked in March, 1961, with bass, crappie, channel catfish and blue gill. During April, 1962, these fish have been caught ranging in size from 8 to 12 inches, taken on minnows, worms and artificial bait.

"We fished for a couple of hours at Cottonwood Lake recently," said Charlie Rodgers of Silverton, "and caught about 75 nice bass ranging in size from three-quarters of a pound to a pound or better."

Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their son, Dale, have long dreamed of a dam on their portion of Cottonwood Creek. They have owned the land since 1947, and have lived in the house which now overlooks the lake all but two years of that time.

One of the first things Mr. Smith did on completion of the dam was to remodel the house and prepare to move back there from Quitaque, where they had made their home. The remodeling included installation of a large picture window from which they have a view of the entire lake.

Camp cabin sites are still being leased to sportsmen who enjoy camping, and fishing privileges are given with the lease. Annual lease payments are $100.00 per year and entitle the entire family residing in the household full privileges of camping and fishing.

Each lease holder will be permitted to invite one guest to Cottonwood Lake. A member of a family, part of a family or an entire family will constitute the "guest," and three members of the guest family may fish in addition to the member family.

"The lake and lake area are dedicated to fishing and camping, and water skiing and speed boating will not be allowed," Smith said. "Lake craft will be required to travel no faster than trolling speed, except in case of an emergency."

The number of lease holders has been limited to 50, and this number will not be increased unless a majority vote of the lease holders demands the increase.

Camp housing facilities are now being moved into the area by some of the first lease holders. Durward Brown of Plainview, one of the first to lease a camp

KENT CREEK WATERSHED APPLICATION IS SIGNED

The last and formal signing of Kent Creek Watershed applications by the sponsoring agencies, the Kent Creek Water Control Improvement District, the Caprock Soil Conservation District, Hall County Commissioners' Court and the Hall County Soil Conservation District took place recently in Quitaque.

Approximately 25 were present at the meeting. About 40 review drafts of the Watershed Plan had been previously sent out to various governmental agencies and other interested parties inviting them to attend. Purpose of the meeting was to discuss the plan and all its phases. A member of the Survey Team of the State Soil Conservation Service presided at the meeting and answered inquiries.

The plan was accepted and formally signed by the agencies.

The plan will now be submitted to Congress for approval, and that approval is expected to come by the first of July.

Within the next few days members of the Kent Creek Watershed will begin work to secure the necessary easements for structure and channel improvements in Briscoe and Hall counties.

After easements have been secured and application has been signed by Congress, advertisements for bids for construction of structures will be run. It is hoped that construction will begin on the structures about January 1.

The plan sent to Washington calls for seven structures to be built over eight miles of channel improvements, to include concrete drop structures. Improvement work will continue past Highway 70 in Hall County but all the holding structures will be in Briscoe County.

The work is estimated to cost more than $540,000 set up over a five year completion period. Three structures are slated to be built in 1963.

Among those agencies represented at the meeting were the State Soil Conservation Board, Fort Worth and Denver Railroad, Federal Housing Administration, Texas Highway Department, Briscoe County Agricultural Agent, Soil Conservation Service, interested parties residing in the Watershed, and members of the four sponsoring agencies.

Who Pays the Price of Race Track Gambling?

Gambling drains the salaries, savings and investments of a community into a business enterprise that serves no human need. The bill is paid by the wage earner, the business man, the desperate wife and mother, hungry children and by the state itself . . . in the form of multiplied costs for police protection, additional court costs, unemployment payments and more jails.

Everybody pays for race track gambling . . . except the gambling racketeers, the Siegels, the Costellos, the Sedways, the Binions and others, large and small, of their ilk.

Ask a bank examiner. Ask a divorce court judge. Ask a probation officer. Ask your retail credit association. Ask a relief officer. The easy money boys won't give you the answer.

The sad fact of race track gambling can be told in four words of Damon Runyon, "Horse players die broke." A two-dollar bet is murder. The three D's of gambling are Debt, Degradation and Death.

Who pays the price of race track gambling? You do. We do. Our neighbors do. Our families do.

For a clean Texas, vote "against."

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have minnows and worms for sale at the lake. Mrs. Smith ordered 10,000 fishing worms, all band breeders, some time ago and they are doing well in the beds she prepared for them.

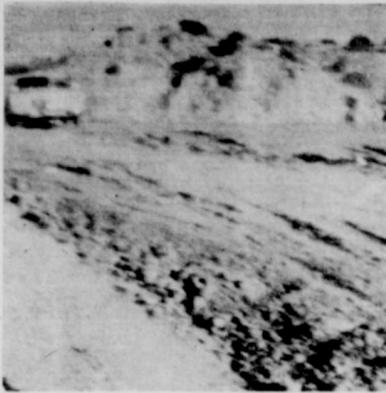

Cottonwood Lake is part of a soil and water conservation project. Five farmers and ranchers entered into the Great Plains Conservation Program to install soil and water conservation practices on land adjacent to Cottonwood Creek, according to Virgil Henson of the Silverton Soil Conservation Service office.

Those who have cooperated in this program include E. A. Birdwell, Walter Graham, J. T. Rogers, sr., J. T. Rogers, jr., Jim Stroup and Smith, who own land through which Cottonwood Creek flows.

"The cropland is rich but had been washing away until terraces, diversions, erosion control dams and other soil conservation practices were put into use in the past eighteen months," Henson stated. "Water conservation and recreation as exemplified by Smith's lake are other important projects on Cottonwood Creek," he added.

Walter Graham has detailed plans and will probably start construction this summer on a large dam on Cottonwood Creek above the one belonging to the Smiths. Graham's lake will be used for irrigation as well as for recreation and wildlife.

In addition to these dams, Jim Stroup is now considering another large dam further down Cottonwood Creek, according to the Soil Conservation Service.

The Graham dam will protect the Cottonwood Lake dam. It will prevent a great deal of silt from washing into Cottonwood Lake, and will also give protection to Smith's dam in the event of heavy rains and flooding.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are good examples of the friendly people who live in Briscoe County. They welcome all visitors to the lake, and would be happy to have anyone who is interested to come out to look over Cottonwood Lake.

"We plan to keep the lake well stocked and fertilized so that fishermen will take home a good mess of fish often," Smith said. "Just follow the signs from Highway 86 out to Cottonwood Lake."

HISTORY OF THE ROCK CREEK CHURCH OF CHRIST

by Earl Cantwell

(The first in a series of articles.) The first effort put forth by the people of the Church of Christ was a protracted meeting which was held in the year 1913. This meeting was conducted in a one-room school house which was then located in the Francis pasture.

pel to a new frontier country was brought about through the efforts of two families, Brother and Sister J. L. Francis and Brother and Sister Stark.

A Brother Kyle Mitchell did the preaching during this meeting and one the following year. Of course, it is almost impossible to ascertain who all attended, but it is certain that all who lived within "horse and buggy" distance probably came to the services. Some that can be recalled are the Francis, Starks, Burlesons, Wimberlys, and of course, the Montagues.

During this protracted effort there were at least five young people baptized into Christ. They were Louis and Hollie Francis, and the three eldest Stark sisters. It is to be regretted that this writer did not conceive the idea of a history while the first generation of christians were still alive. It would have been a rare and thrilling experience to sit and listen to the details of the very beginning of what later became the congregation now meeting at Rock Creek. Even so, it is good to have that information that has been supplied by the descendants of those who have gone.

There is a lapse of time following the gospel meetings in the old Francis school house that is difficult in which to fit the details of just what happened, but we may be certain that the will to serve God did not perish. It is established, however, that the Francis family along with others, traveled all the way to Silverton which was at that time a tremendous distance to attend worship (the church was then meeting in the courthouse at Silverton.)

History moves and with it came other families who were determined to set up housekeeping for the Lord. So through the determined efforts of Brother and Sister W. E. Redin, Brother T. J. Crass, Brother and Sister B. F. Smith, Brother and Sister Bob McDaniel, sr., and Brother Massie, along with others possibly, began regular church services.

They met in the school house. For a while they assembled in the fore noon, but there were other religious people also in the community who decided to have services, so the Methodists and the Baptists began what was then called a "Union Sunday School." They wanted the morning time in which to gather. As a result of this, the brethren changed their time in which to worship to the afternoon. This seems strange now though in that day it was somewhat common as there was but one place available for religious services. There was, of course, some difficulty and animosity, as is almost always the case when differing concepts of christianity meet head on (and they surely did in the early days.) This incident seems to be a mild beginning of the persecution that several years later resulted in the school house doors being locked against the church.

This small band of christians thought it wise to have a gospel preacher to hold a meeting. The call was sent to Brother Alva Johnson, who responded by conducting a two week meeting during which there were four baptisms. John Lee Francis, Ava (Holt) Dickerson and Vallie Stark were among those baptised. Others were baptised but it is not certain whether during the first meeting or at a later date. The baptising was done in stock watering tanks at the old Davis place (now the Datis Martin home) and at the Dave Mayfield place west of Rock Creek.

In the year following, others were added to the church through obedience to the gospel. Among these were Sister Dave Mayfield and Sister P. D. Jasper in the year 1917.

The faith of this band of christians manifested itself in many ways as they regularly continued Lord's day services. "Arguing" with anyone at anytime, who opposed the truth as they understood it, they invited all neighbors and made them welcome at the services of the church.

They met once each Lord's day because distance and mode of travel combined to make it a little less than practical to meet together more often. As to their worship, it was conducted along lines of informality and simplicity with a view only to servign and praising Almighty God, and showing to all who would come, the way of life.

They were poor in this world's goods, but rich in faith and held to the great hope as the "anchor for the soul" which enters to that within the veil.

It was this continual labor and faith which began to bear fruit in the following years of growth of the church. (To be continued)

NOTABLE NOTES

By Robert Hughes
Kid Day Has Come
And Gone

Yes, Senior Kid Day has come and gone. And with its passing it marked the beginning of the end of one way of life for the Seniors. To the teachers Kid Day was just a amusing nuisance to be endured to the rest of the students it was a source of amusement; and to the Seniors it was a day of fun and release from the necessity of being our age. Yet, Kid Day is more than this—especially to the seniors; Kid Day is in reality a prolonged parting with the past. Each year before this one, there is always been "next year in high school," another year before we would be expected to take our places in the adult world. But for seniors it is not so. There is no "next year" for Seniors. Regardless of what we do after graduation—go to college, join the service, or get a job—a part of our life is gone forever. The door is closing and shutting out a way of life that we will never know again. Kid Day is our farewell to Act I of our lives—our last look behind the door before it closes.

So it is with a touch of sadness that we, the 1962 Seniors, have

Seniors Celebrate Kid Day Thursday

Thursday, April 19, was Kid Day in Silvertown High School. All the senior girls were dressed in similar short dresses made of pink and white checked material. The boys were dressed in a variety of costumes ranging from bermuda shorts to knickers to short overalls. Large bows, cute hats, teddy bears, huge suckers, and a variety of toys added to the costumes.

The Senior "kids" presented an assembly program the same morning. In the assembly program various teachers who have taught and are teaching the seniors, were portrayed in short skits. Representing the grade school was a portrayal of Mrs. Elms by Becky Mallow; representing junior high was Mr. Wilmett played by Robert Hughes; in high school Larry Elms played Mr. Rampley, Bobby Kitchens played Mr. Whittington, and Ann Wingo played Mrs. Lacy.

After the skits, a rhyme spelling out the word SENIORS was presented followed by the whole class singing "School Days."

During the noon period several of the seniors ate lunch in the lunch room with the first graders after which they went to the room of Mrs. Elms who was the first grade teacher of many of the seniors. Mrs. Elms presented each of them with a gift and a small diploma.

At 12:30 the whole class, accompanied by the sponsor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Verden, went to Lubbock for an afternoon of fun. The group bowled a few games and then went ice skating. After the ice skating, the groups broke up with some playing miniature golf, some going to a movie, and some coming home early.

Miniature stars hung in profusion from the ceiling, and a wall of sky blue crepe paper cut a portion of the hall off for the tables.

Entertainment was provided by nine girls from the First Baptist Church in Plainview. They sang "Swinging on a Star," "On the Street Where You Live," and "Somewhere Over the Rainbow."

Speaker for the night was Rev. Tommy Jones, pastor of the Baptist Church at Halfway, Texas.

Survival Booklet Available

Fallout Protection Guide At CD, Post Offices Now

A pocket-sized booklet with the most essential, up-to-the-minute information for families and individuals on how to survive a nuclear attack is now available to Americans without charge from any post office or state or local civil defense office.

The 48-page, yellow-covered booklet, entitled "Fallout Protection—What to Know and Do About Nuclear Attack," includes specific instructions on how to survive fallout, build a fallout shelter or improvise a last-minute shelter if necessary, stock and ventilate the shelter, and take sanitary and first aid measures. Special information for farmers is provided on protecting or decontaminating livestock, food and equipment in a fallout zone.

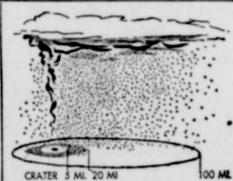

The Department of Defense, Office of Civil Defense, produced the booklet to provide up-to-date, easily-readable survival information in one publication. So far, 25 million of the booklets have been printed and placed in distribution.

The booklet also points out other ways in which the Defense Department's new civil defense program will provide increasing protection:

- The National Shelter Survey now under way will identify fallout shelter spaces in existing structures for about 50 million persons. Identification, marking and stocking with austerity food and water rations, first aid kits, radiation detection instruments and other essentials will cost less than $4 per space.
- The proposed Federal Shelter Incentive Program would provide Federal grants of something less than the cost of constructing fallout shelters in schools, hospitals and in other non-profit institutions. Many shelters also would serve a dual peace-time function.
- The existing National Warning System is being extended to provide Americans near-instant attack warning.

Where to Get Booklet

You can obtain your free copy of the Defense Department's survival booklet for all Americans, "Fallout Protection," at your local post office or your community civil defense office. After April 1, 1962, it will be available only from civil defense offices.

How Fallout Endangers U.S. Told in Booklet

What is fallout? This frequently-discussed and even more frequently misunderstood phenomenon of the nuclear age is simply explained in the Department of Defense's "Fallout Protection" booklet now available to the public through post offices and local civil defense offices.

This drawing from the booklet shows how fine dust and debris from a nuclear explosion can be carried downwind from the blast, the amount of fallout gradually diminishing with the distance. Each dust particle is like a tiny X-ray machine whose gamma radiation will penetrate lighter materials but will dissipate in a relatively short time and do little harm to those protected by a sufficient amount of dense materials in shelters.

COMMUNITY FALLOUT shelter in Laketon Township, near Muskegon, Mich., under construction on a do-it-yourself basis by men from most of the families which joined in a non-profit corporation to pay for the underground shelter. Participants pay $40 per family member if they work on the shelter, and $75 per person if they don't. The shelter, now entirely covered by earth and nearing completion, will include a community room, kitchen, lavatories, 25 family compartments, deep well, a gasoline-operated generator and standby generator, and a control room and radio room for outside communication during an emergency. (Muskegon Chronicle Photo)

Community Fallout Shelter Need Backed by U.S. Individual Action

The United States, through the Department of Defense, has launched a major program to provide fallout shelters for Americans as the key element of a greatly expanded civil defense program.

The new "Fallout Protection" booklet, prepared by the Defense Department and available to the public through post offices and local civil defense offices, explains that community fallout shelters are now being stressed because:

1. A LARGER than family-size group probably would be better prepared to face a nuclear attack than a single family, particularly if some members should be away from home at the time of an attack.
2. There would be more opportunity to find first aid and other emergency skills in a group, and the risk of radiation exposure after an attack could be more widely shared.
3. Community shelters would provide shelter for persons away from their homes at the time of an attack.
4. Group shelters could serve as a focus for integrated community recovery activities in a post-attack period.
5. Group shelters could serve other community purposes, as well as offer protection from fallout following an attack.

Group shelters in office buildings, schools, hospitals, subways and other structures accessible to the public will be stocked with austerity rations of food and water for five days, radiation detection instruments, first aid kits, and necessary tools. Many structures are easily-adaptable as community shelters.

In addition, neighborhood and community groups in various parts of the country are forming tax districts or non-profit corporations to construct shelters for themselves. A typical example of such a group is in Laketon Township, near Muskegon, Mich., where a 175 x 30-foot underground concrete block structure is nearly complete for 200 persons (48 families). By do-it-yourself methods, the shelter cost has been cut to $40 per person for those helping with the work, and $75 per person for those unable to work.

PROJECT HEAD William Weisner and the group working with him started the ball rolling by sending a circular to all registered voters of Laketon Township setting a meeting time and place to discuss the shelter. Expecting a turnout of about 75, they were overwhelmed by an interested crowd of about 300. Enough signed up to go ahead with the shelter by pooling finances and designing and constructing talent. The "Fallout Protection" booklet also recognizes that "many families, because of their location or individual preferences, will choose family fallout shelters." Several home fallout shelter designs are offered in the booklet, including some which could be built on a do-it-yourself basis for $150 or less.
