All Around the Town

by Mary Ann Sarchet

The News Office will be closed again this Friday. I have been taking allergy skin tests and have a Friday morning appointment in Lubbock. Like some other of the cowardly country drivers, I don't trust myself to go alone.

We hope our customers will bear with us for a few Fridays. The office, which is customarily closed on Saturdays, will be open on Saturday for the next several weeks.

Due to the absence from the city early this week of County Agent Clarence Kerns, the report of the livestock show is incomplete. The details of the show will be in the next issue.

Court Favors State Board In Suit Over New Tulia Bank

A district court in Austin has ruled in favor of the State Banking Board of Texas in a suit against the board by the First National Bank of Tulia. The decision has been appealed, according to lawyers for the plaintiff.

The suit was filed last May after a charter had been granted by the state board for a state bank in Tulia. The plaintiff asked that the action of the defendants in approving a charter for the proposed First State Bank of Tulia be declared null and void, and challenged the board's action on the grounds that "no public necessity exists for an additional banking facility in or around Tulia, and the board's finding to the contrary if such finding was made, is not supported by substantial evidence."

Other opponents of the proposed bank were the First National Bank of Lubbock and the First State Bank of Dimmitt. Burrell Evans, Tulia attorney, is representing the First National Bank of Tulia.

Briscoe County Attorney, George Miller spokesman for the charter-seeking group, based his plea on prosperity and economic growth in the area.

The First National Bank of which Marvin Carlile is president, said that only through sizeable deposits is a bank able to offer many of the services it does.

Spokesmen for both the First National and proposed First State Banks said that the issue is not one of personalities and that they do not wish to wage the suit on that basis.

Proposed stockholders of the new bank appearing at the hearing in Austin when the charter was granted included James F. Smith, president of the First State Bank of Silvertown, president of the Amarillo Savings and Loan Association, and director of the North State Bank of Amarillo; T. W. Rutledge, vice president of the Empire State Bank of Dallas; J. F. Smith, Jr., Amarillo, director of the Silvertown bank and of North State Bank of Amarillo; Perry Whittemore, executive vice president of the Silvertown bank; Sam Lusk of Tulia and Silvertown, formerly associated with the North State Bank of Amarillo; D. T. Northcutt, director of the Silvertown bank; John Earl Simpson of Silvertown and Tulia; Merle McMurry, Murray May, C. W. Reeves, Robert E. Goodwin and Emery Mills.

District Judge Jack Roberts authorized Tuesday issuance of a charter to the First State Bank in Tulia.

Perry Whittemore, president of the new bank, has announced that a temporary location is being prepared at 200 North Austin, the Burk Clinic building, and that it is hoped the bank will be open for business in the next few days.

Sonny Lowery, an employee of Allard Butane in Silvertown, is pictured with a large bobcat which he shot with a .22 rifle early Tuesday morning near the J. E. Wheelock home east of town. The cat was sitting on the crossarm of a utility pole, where he had taken refuge earlier in the day. Mr. Wheelock, who lives on the edge of the canyon, said he has often hunted bobcats in the area.

Max Garrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pascal Garrison, is pictured with his heavy Angus steer, which was Grand Champion of the Briscoe County Junior Fat Stock Show last week, and placed third in its class in the Amarillo Fat Stock Show. Steers belonging to Garner Garrison and Roy Gene Stephens placed second and third in the heavy-weight division of the local show.

Garner Garrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Garrison, showed the first place Hereford steer in the light-weight division of the Briscoe County Junior Fat Stock Show. This animal was selected as Reserve Champion of the local show. Another Hereford steer shown by Garner in the Amarillo Fat Stock Show was placed fifth in its class. Steers belonging to Danny Vaughan and Wayne Nance placed second and third in the light-weight division of the Briscoe show.

Last Rites Held For Mrs. Mattie Simpson

Funeral services for Mrs. Mattie Simpson were conducted at 3:00 p.m. Friday, January 18, in the Silvertown Methodist Church of which she was a member. Officiating at the services were the Rev. Marvin Fisher, pastor of the church, and the Rev. Clesby Patterson, pastor of the Turkey Methodist Church. Burial was in the Silvertown Cemetery beside her late husband, Jeff Simpson, who died in 1949.

Pallbearers were Bailey and Bob Hill, George Seane, Arnold Turner, Jack Strange and Clifford Allard.

Mrs. Simpson had been a resident of Inez's Rest Home in Clarendon since breaking her hip in a fall at her home here in 1959. She died in Adair Hospital there at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday, January 16.

Mrs. Mattie Fort Simpson was born December 13, 1873, at Cranfills Gap in Bosque County, Texas. The family moved to Silvertown in 1917 and Mrs. Simpson had made her home here until entering the rest home.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Simpson were faithful members of the local church, and were firm believers in tithing and the support of the church institutions and policies. They ever kept the welfare of the community and their neighbors in their minds and hearts, and were always ready to assist the needy, the sick, and those in trouble.

Yesterday students exercised one of their greatest rights, one that their parents often neglect, the privilege of voting. It was probably accepted as a matter of fact, one of those things that are done because there is no other way of selecting a candidate to serve that particular position. Too often today we forget that we have a privilege not an obligation, in voting. We start young to learn the importance of voting but occasionally we forget before we reach the voting age when we make important decisions. These elections though they are for only passing offices and not of national importance are important to the building of America's future in politics, and politics are the groundwork of democracy. To these elections we owe "getting the feeling" of the thing, voters who participate in High School elections are not queezy when the walk into the polls to ballot.

The publicity that goes with the polling naturally has to be given to the high school candidates. One of the greatest reminders is to pick a candidate that you feel is actually qualified, not necessarily the one who is in your class, but the one who fits the requirements most perfectly. If you are going to vote (and you better!) please, please, don't make the mistake of voting for the person who is in your class just because he is in your class, and that applies for the elections all through your high school years, not just this one election.

Elections are important, participate, get out there and tell everyone what you think of the candidates. Participate however you do it just participate.

HOOT

PUBLIC EYE

By I. C. Everything

I checked in at the office at 8:30—the phone was ringing but I decided to let it ring, a habit I picked up from Mr. Rampley in my high school days. After about five minutes of ringing I picked it up. Seems like it was some young lady trying to get in contact with one David House. After about ten consecutive tries (she got me every-time) she decided the lines were crossed. (I decided he had switched numbers with me.)

A little while later I picked up the phone to do my daily calling and I was rudely interrupted by the voice of Wayne Nance asking "Have you seen any women?" Then came the reply from several girls, "No, but have any of you boys seen any men around here." I hung up. Surely the rest of the conversation was unrepeatable.

Going through my old files I recalled several incidents from a few years ago. Quite interesting indeed. But—time has changed things a great deal. For instance, the time was when Emmett Tomlin was after Susie Hill, David House was after Gloria Wallace, Bobby Durham and Benny Bingham were after Sharon Weaver, and Jim Edd was after Deana. But as I said before, my files are very, very outdated.

Around 1:13 a high school mother entered my office to ask help in a very interesting case. She believed that her older son Freddie had been devoting a lot of time to extracurricular activities, but with a little investigation I found that it wasn't Pat—it was semester tests. This investigation seemed to ease the minds of several other mothers, too.

Then (after most of my important business was finished) I wandered over to the Silverton Recreation Center, about which you all know, and upon entering I was almost blasted right back out the door. There were to be found 20 or more high school boys singing joyously, with smiles a mile wide on each of their faces. It seems that they had finally lived over the semester exams and decided to celebrate. The tables were lined up clear to the door, so I waited for about 30 minutes and came to the conclusion that either the thick smoke or the waiting one would eventually get me down. I left about an hour later.

Stralling casually back to my office, I came across several Sen-

Seniors Receive Results of Tests

Results were satisfactory on the tests taken six weeks ago. Sgt. Pete Wilson reported the the seniors had surpassed most schools, and he and the seniors contribute their success to the excellent training they receive here at SHS.

There were four phases of the test, administrative, general, mechanical, and electrical. Out of the small class of 21 there was a number of perfect scores. The girls made good ratings on electrical and mechanical where it is generally accepted that girls should barely score.

These tests could not be failed or passed. They merely register whether you could possibly find employment in certain civilian and USAF fields.

The teacher had taken her pupils for a trip through the Museum of Natural History.

"Well, my lad," asked Papa of little Sonny on the latter's return, "where did you go with your teacher this afternoon?"

"Huh," replied Sonny with disdain, "She took us to a dead circus."

As the shades of night began to fall and I stepped out of my office on my way home, a carload of girls whizzed by me screaming something like, "The Army convoy—which way did it go?" They were obviously looking for the Army men and not paying attention to their driving, for a flailing arm slapped me across the face. I didn't hear a word of apology, either. I just can't figure out what they were talking about or what they were after, but they weren't the only ones. About three more carloads were hot on their trail. I guess I'll have to sleep on that one.

How To Be A Slob

Do you want to be a slob? Here's how:

Don't brush or polish your shoes regularly. Let the heels get run down, too.

Don't learn how to remove stains or spots from your own clothes, and don't learn how to iron or press your own clothes. Always let the cleaners or mother do it. Then when she gets sick, you won't know how to take care of your things, and you can be a helpless slob.

Never use a clothes brush on your suit before you leave home.

If you are unsure that what you are wearing is in good taste, never ask mother, father or older brother or sister. Trust yourself, always. Be independent.

Boys: never put ties on tie rack at night. Just throw them on a chair and leave knots in them.

Boys: don't hang your suit jacket on a hanger. It is too much trouble. Don't empty your pockets just because the practice prevents sagging.

Girls: be independent thinkers. Wear your hair to school in bobby pins no matter how it looks.

Girls: go ahead and put your makeup on in class.

Don't bother to change your socks or hose each day.

Comb your hair and fix your nails in public.

Delay your hair shampoo ten days or two weeks regardless of how icky your locks look to everyone.

Wash your hands on schedule. Even if they get dirty off schedule, keep to your schedule.

If you are sleepy in the morning, forget about washing your face and teeth. This will make you a real slob.

Boys: believe that only girls need to use deodorants.

Follow the above rules and you are guaranteed to be a No. 1, Triple Star Slob in the eyes of everyone who has to be around you.

These students were chosen as the candidates for all of these positions. In a way, they, or the winners that is, will represent Silverton High School and all of its good qualities. The winners truly deserve the titles that they receive because they are chosen by the entire high school and not by a select group of people. Everyone knows how appreciated any of these titles can be by these students, for all like to be well thought of by my students, teachers, and everyone in general. Congratulations must surely go to the winners.

S-CLUB NEWS

by John Jowell

On Monday, January 21, the S-club met and decided to have a regular meeting every Friday. The senior members were appointed to a committee for organizing the initiation of the new members of the club. It was decided that the Constitution would be read at every initiation.

On February 2, we plan to attend the indoor track meet at Lubbock.

Unlikely History Revealed On Exam

While grading his Texas History semester exams recently, Coach Whelchel was amused as well as disappointed with some of the answers he received.

One girl stated that the state bird is the Jaybird.

As for the state song, "The Yellow Rose of Texas," "Star Spangled Banner," and "The Eyes of Texas" were some of the guesses.

According to several students, Texas ranks third, fourth and sixth in relation to the size of the other states. Apparently Texas is shrinking before our very eyes without anyone but these boys noticing it at all.

When asked to name a breed of Texas cattle, steer was given.

June 19, 1865 was submitted as the date when Texas seceded from the Union. This might be excusable because very few people can remember this date.

What is a joint resolution. One poor soul (he must have given up completely by the time he reached this question) answered this way: "It consisted of a group of things, but my memory has gone totally blank as to what they were."
