

All Around the Town

by Mary Ann Sarchet

The weather in Silvertown this week has been cold with a snow cover of approximately 4 1/2 inches. Winds which increased in velocity after night on Sunday whipped the snow into drifts making an exact measurement of the snowfall impossible.

Snow continued Monday, and about one-half to three-quarters of an inch of new snow fell Monday evening.

Grady Martin, who melted a sample of the snow Monday to determine its moisture content, reported 30 of an inch from the storm. In previous snows, the moisture has melted out with the ratio of 10 of an inch from 1 1/2 inches of snow. Thus, it may be assumed that 4 1/2 inches was received.

All highways leading out of Silvertown have been open and in good condition due to the diligence of the state highway department employees who were working to clear the highways before midnight Sunday.

Daytime temperatures early this week hovered near the twenty degree mark. Sunshine on Wednesday promised thawing and above-freezing temperatures.

Crop Residues, Burr Spreading Good Conservation Practice

Several farmers in Briscoe County have protected their fields from wind erosion by leaving crop residues such as grain sorghum stalks or applying cotton burrs on their cultivated fields.

E. J. Hamilton, Leroy Hamilton and Bob Bailey of Quitaque are a few of the farmers who have applied cotton burrs to their fields. John Rogers and Glynn Morrison of Quitaque are doing a good job of leaving grain sorghum stalks on their fields to protect them from blowing.

During periods of high winds similar to those of the past weeks, crop residues on the fields prevent wind erosion of our valuable top soil. In addition to prevention of wind erosion, these residues conserve soil moisture, increase infiltration of water, and improve soil tilth.

Residues of grain sorghum may be left undisturbed and grazed, shredded, mowed, or knocked down with a stalk cutter. Loose residues resulting from grazing or cutting should be partially covered by some type of tillage to prevent blowing away.

Standing grain sorghum stalks also hold snow which helps accumulate more moisture in the soil.

Cotton burrs, three to five tons per acre, substitute for crop residues on low residue producing crops such as cotton. These cotton burrs should be spread evenly on the soil surface and partially covered by some type of tillage.

Where a crop residue is not available, a cover crop such as rye or other small grains should be grown through the critical erosion period. The rye or cover crop produces winter and spring grazing for a cash return in addition to soil protection.

LEON MILLER BURIED HERE

Last rites for Leon Hoyet (Sonny) Miller, former Silvertown resident, who died Friday, February 8, in Edinburg, were conducted at 2:00 p.m. Sunday at the Silvertown First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Carlos McLeod, pastor, and Earl Cantwell, minister of the Rock Creek Church of Christ, officiated. Burial was in the Silvertown Cemetery under the direction of Roberts Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Edward Edwards, Dock Wallace, Berle Fisch, Donie Hester, L. B. McGavock and Buck Thomas.

Mr. Miller, 42, was a car salesman. He had moved to Edinburg about a week ago. Death was due to an apparent heart attack.

A native of Colorado, he was born October 8, 1920, at Campo. He served with the Army during World War II.

He is survived by two sons, Danny and Bobby Miller, and a daughter, Clarice Miller, all of North Little Rock, Arkansas; and his father, Bob Miller, of Bard, New Mexico.

Governor John Connally proclaims February 16-23 FFA Week in Texas. L-R: Jerry Clark, president, Texas FFA Association, Governor John Connally, and Clemon Montgomery, executive secretary, Texas FFA.

Official Memorandum By The Governor Of Texas

The Future Farmers of America organization is playing an outstanding role in assuring the future progress and prosperity of our State and Nation.

The importance of agriculture in our State increases as Texas progresses, and it is vital to our well-being that we train skilled farmers and ranchers to provide a plentiful supply of food products in years to come.

The FFA is composed of boys who are studying vocational agriculture in the public schools in preparation for careers in farming, ranching, and related fields. In studying the science of agriculture, these Future Farmers are striving to continuously improve this great industry for the welfare of all citizens.

Texas now has over 900 active FFA chapters with over 39,000 active members and more than a quarter of a million former members. During the past 34 years, the Texas Association, FFA, has performed valuable services to our State by developing leadership, encouraging cooperation, promoting good citizenship, teaching sound methods of farming, and inspiring patriotism among its members. THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the week of February 16-23, 1963, as FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA WEEK in Texas, and urge all citizens to give recognition and encouragement to these young men who are preparing for careers in agriculture.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 17th day of January, 1963.

Bruton-Eden Vows Are Repeated

The wedding of Miss Barbara Ann Bruton and Kenneth Edward Eden, both of Amarillo, was solemnized Thursday evening, February 7, in the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Blakeley, 708 Cedar Street, in Plainview.

The double ring service was directed by the Rev. George Lane, pastor of the Antioch Missionary Baptist Church.

Mrs. Eden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Bruton of Silverton. For her wedding she was attired in a white wool suit with red accessories and a corsage of red roses. She carried out the bridal tradition of something old and new, borrowed and blue.

Attendants of the couple were Miss Margie Ford of Amarillo, and Ike Bruton, brother of the bride, of Silverton. Miss Ford wore a suit of turquoise wool with white accessories and a white corsage.

A small reception was held in the home following the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Samnorwood High School, and the groom is a Plainview High School graduate. Both Mr. and Mrs. Eden are employed in Amarillo by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

After a wedding trip to points in New Mexico, the couple will be at home in Amarillo.

Agriculture--Vital To America

by Preston Smith, Lt. Governor
Agriculture has always been, and will remain, a basic factor in the Texas economy. It is also a vital part of the Texas economy. It is also a vital part of the Texas tradition. Even though our towns and cities are rapidly running up a big population lead over our rural areas, Texans will always be thought of as people of the farm, the ranch, the great outdoors.

Change and challenge are the order of the day for Texas agriculture. To conquer our new problems and temper our old ones, Texas agriculture needs now—as never before—people who are equipped, trained and dedicated to a role of modern farm leadership.

I know of no better training ground for this vital leadership than the Future Farmers of America program. Having grown up on the farm myself, I have always

THE ROLE OF THE VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE TEACHER TODAY

By Alton Ice, Executive Secretary Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association of Texas

What has happened in Agriculture during the last half century? If you are a close observer of the Agricultural Industry—your reply would no doubt be—plenty!! In fact, few would question that we had more than a casual interest in FFA work. Past accomplishments have been most praiseworthy. In my opinion, the responsibility and the opportunity for service are greater today than ever.

Intelligent, progressive, aggressive solutions of the "farm problem," in all of its modern connotations, are necessary—not merely for a healthy agricultural industry, but for the general health of our state and national economies. The Future Farmers of America will be in the forefront of our march toward a better tomorrow for Texas Agriculture.

have had a revolution in the last half century.

The agricultural abundance in America is the envy of people throughout the world. Yet during the last half century, the number of acres and man power utilized in agricultural production has decreased while production has increased. This points to advanced technology which has been most effectively applied to give the world its best fed and clothed nation in the history of mankind.

The Smith-Hughes Act of 1917 gave the states of our nation the ignition for a program which has sparked the agricultural revolution. The Vocational Agriculture teacher has played the major role in the education of our farm and ranch people as they work together with other agencies, commercial and governmental research and the local communities.

The curriculum of Vocational Agriculture has encountered as much revolution as Agriculture itself. Some major items in the first Vocational Agriculture classes included seed corn selection, harness repair, elementary pruning of plants, and running of terrace lines. The 1963 Vocational Agriculture student in our 875 high schools throughout the State will find that he is studying complex plant and animal breeding programs, complete conservation programs for our land and other natural resources, and spending an increasing amount of time in the areas of business management of the farm. In the farm shop, he will be studying electricity, plumbing, farm construction, welding and the management of expensive farm machinery and equipment.

The Vocational Agriculture teacher must be well trained to cope with the ever increasing complexities of Agriculture, and he must be alert to the challenging needs of the Agriculture he serves.

The farm jobs known to the farm boy of a half century ago have moved to town. The wood he chopped, the water he drew for livestock, the hand milking chores, the laborious household and farmstead chores are now performed by machines and conveniences not dreamed of in his day. There are large numbers of workers employed in agricultural occupations and professions to support the efficient farmer of today. More will be needed in the years to come and the Vocational Agriculture teacher will have an important part in the training needed by these farmers and workers in the Agricultural Industry.

A chemical firm manager said recently, "Agricultural Science is calling youth." By 1970 over 20,000 additional scientists will be needed to feed the nation's population. This is a 40 per cent increase over today. Careers in agricultural chemistry, biology and marketing, to name a few, must come from students in schools today. Space-men will need food, possibly grown aboard their capsules, the chemist said. His plea to Future Farmers? Stay and train in Agricultural Technology.

The Vocational Agriculture student's challenge of tomorrow are the Vocational Agriculture teacher's role in Agriculture today.

Mrs. W. L. McMinn and Mr. and Mrs. Bud McMinn were in Plainview for regular checkups with their doctors on Saturday. All received good reports.

What FFA Training Has Meant To Me

by Jerry Clark, President Texas Association, FFA

Next to my church work, the organization of the Future Farmers of America has made the most satisfying and useful contribution thus far to affect my life. As I reflect on my years spent in the FFA and all that I have enjoyed and gained, it seems as though it was there just to fill my particular needs. History, present day relations, and logic prove that I am not the only boy to feel this way about our organization. I came into the FFA as a young boy wanting to do what was right and best, just as many other boys have in the past and I hope, will in the future. Certainly I was open and ready for the sound directives and inspiring challenge of this great farm boy organization.

Now as an older member, I look back and see that truly I was receiving the most basic training and growing in the purest of Christian and American virtues. I will always be gratefully indebted to this program interwoven with our Agricultural education in America. Training and experience in leadership ability, cooperative activities, patriotic activity, scholarship, and over-all good citizenship are the things which I needed and desired and found in the FFA organization. These and many others have been the challenging fields of opportunity to enter my mind and heart.

Our organization seeks not only to make the member aware of opportunity, but also to give him ways and means for utilizing this opportunity thus helping it to become experience, which is the greatest teacher.

We, as Future Farmers, believe in and love our organization. We will "practice brotherhood, honor rural opportunities and responsibilities and develop those qualities of leadership which a Future Farmer should possess."

SUPERVISED FARMING PROGRAMS IN FFA

Future Farmers of Texas make a big business out of the laboratory experiences in vocational agriculture. Last year 38,000 FFA members in Texas cleared over four million dollars from 102,000 head of livestock, 51,000 acres of crops, and nearly a million head of poultry.

In the classrooms of over 900 high schools in Texas, students study scientific agricultural practices as a part of their regular high school curriculum. When the school day is over, all is not finished for the vocational agriculture student, because he is responsible for his supervised farming program which is supervised by his vocational agriculture teacher. With money he earns from his project, using improved practices he has studied in class, the student launches into the very competitive field of agricultural production where he must use every managerial skill at his command to show a profit.
