(Eighth in a series of articles commemorating the 75th anniversary of the organization of Silverton and Briscoe County)

Selection of the County Seat Quite a struggle went on in Briscoe County in regard to the election of a county seat. The three sites listed on the original ballot in 1892 were Silverton, Linguas and Tarlton.

Following is a reprint of a circular which was distributed by the Briscoe Joint Stock Company during the campaign which ensued before the election.

The Last Warning "We have been diligent in trying to expose the many frauds that the Linguas Town-Site boomers are attempting to perpetrate upon the people of Briscoe County and as the result of our efforts in exposing their trickery and fraud, they have moved the location of said Linguas to three different sections. The first section upon which it was located, they claimed to have perfect title to, but under the light of our investigation, it was shown that they had no title whatsoever, and neither could they obtain any. They then went to section 77, claiming to the people that their title in same was perfect, but by referring them to the records we showed them that it was so heavily encumbered with mortgages it would be impossible to obtain title. They now have moved to the school section 70. The records of Donley County show that said section has never been filed on nor awarded to anyone, which, if correct, they can have no title in whatever or shadow of title.

The plan adopted by the Linguas men to dispose their lots is contrary to law, being in the form of a lottery, and under the laws of Texas, said men are liable to indictment and prosecution for establishing a lottery. On March 9, the Linguas men claimed to have 2,942 lots, but on March 12 they claimed to have increased the number of lots to 5,000, which makes said town plat worthless and lots of no value, owing to their diminutive size. It will take three lots of such size to make one good lot; therefore, if they should fulfill their promise, they would only give an equivalent of 9 lots to the voter.

"At the Linguas drawing of town lots, there were between 25 and 50 drawings for parties that are not citizens of Briscoe County. This scheme was worked to mislead the voters of the county. The so-called bond given by D. Brunson is void—it is without any consideration—made to the citizens of Briscoe County and held by D. Brunson, the maker of the bond, and is no matter of record, while all transactions concerning Silverton are matters of record and therefore open to inspection and have been examined but never attacked on one single point.

"Fellow citizens: We appeal to your honor and the interest you have in the future welfare of your county and entreat you not to allow yourselves to be duped by such bare-faced frauds and tricks. "Vote for the right—Vote for the people." From this it can be seen that even in the early 1890's, politics were heated.

The First Ballot The following names were listed on the first ballot, with the winners in each race listed in bold-face type. Some were elected by write-in.

Mackenzie Authority Officers Are Re-Elected

Directors of Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority re-elected the Board's officer slate at a meeting held in Lockney Monday night. Lon Davis of Floydada remains as president. Others re-named are Jim Tom Nichols of Tulia, vice-president and John Ziegler of Tulia, secretary-treasurer. Don Bookout of Tulia is attorney for the Authority. Other directors are S. W. Ross of Floydada, Tom Moore and C. Bailey of Lockney, Charles Whitfill and Milton Dudley. Lengthy discussion during the session stemmed on the fact Tulia and Floydada do not want out of the Authority although the City Councils of both member cities have proposed to explore other means of acquiring municipal water rather than the approximately $7.9 million proposed Mackenzie Dam northwest of Silverton. Lockney Director Tom Moore said among possibilities pointed out during Monday's discussion was purchasing underground water or "land with underground water on it."

Moore explained the two cities are "holding off" to be certain all avenues of supply have been explored and the people understand the issue. Action of Silverton and Lockney City Councils, after the final engineers' and finance report on the Mackenzie project was given recently, were to choose between one of two methods of finance thereby indicating approval of the proposed dam. One method of financing the Mackenzie project calls for issuance of revenue bonds by the Authority secured by a pledge of net revenues of the Authority. Revenues would come from the sale of water to cities under contract. Another plan would be a combination of revenue and tax bonds. The Authority could issue revenue and tax bonds secured by a pledge of the net revenues of the Authority and from ad valorem taxes to be levied on all taxable properties in the authority. Recommended plan calls for both tax and revenue bonds with alternate charges for the water—one at 30 cents per 1,000-gallon rate and another at 35 cents per 1000-gallon rate. Before further action can be taken on the Mackenzie project, the City Councils of the four member cities must submit a preference of financing and then reach an agreement on one plan. An article in last week's Floydada paper indicated that that city could probably find enough water to supply residents for 20 years. But the Floydada City Council, like councilmen from the other cities are looking ahead, and asking, "What about 40 years from now?" It is likely that, if the four cities do not agree to enter the entire $7.9 million project at this time, that they will within the next two years begin construction of the dam, leaving the treatment plant, pumping station and pipeline to be financed later. This, the Silverton Council feels, would be a step in the right direction, but the lake water won't flow into Silverton in time to prevent the water shortage problems that can be expected.

Hughes Appointed To Air Force Academy

Congressman Bob Price announced this week the appointment of Randy Hughes to the Air Force Academy. He went on to say that Randy scored well on a series of very competitive examinations required of applicants for the congressional appointment. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Berton Hughes, Randy is the Salutatorian of the 1967 graduating class of Silverton High School. Having been on the honor roll four years, a member of the National Honor Society three years and active in Interscholastic League persuasive speaking contests, Randy has also shown his ability as an athlete, and the athletic ability is taken into consideration when nominees are appointed to the Air Force Academy. Randy played football four years, earning the All-District honors on the offensive team and an honorable mention on the district defensive team this year. He was the Globe News' Back of the Week last fall. He has run track and played basketball, and was a captain of the basketball team this year. He took part in the Junior and Senior plays, has served as class officers, has been elected to Who's Who, has received perfect attendance awards and has a certificate of educational achievement. The faculty chose Randy as the Boy Most Likely to Succeed in this year's graduating class, and it looks like he is well on his way with the congressional appointment.

Postal Increase Effective This Week

An increase in international surface and airmail rates went into effect Monday, May 1, Postmaster Fred Strange announced today. The new international rates, he said, will not apply to mailings for members of the Armed Forces overseas. Domestic postage rates are applicable to mail addressed through APO's and FPO's. The rate increases for both surface and airmail—averaging 13%—were first proposed on January 14 and publicly confirmed on March 1. The Department explained at that time that they were needed to help offset a deficit of about $16 million in international mail operations. Specific information on the new international rates can be obtained from the service window at the post office. Postmaster Strange said.

This was the first general increase in international rates since July 1961. The increases are:

- 1. Airmail letters to Central America and Caribbean area from 13c a half ounce to 15c.
- 2. Airmail to the rest of the Western Hemisphere remains 15c a half ounce, except for Canada and Mexico.
- 3. Airmail to Europe and Mediterranean Africa from 15c a half ounce to 20c.
- 4. Airmail letter rates to the rest of the world remain unchanged at 25c a half ounce.
- 5. Aerograms and air post cards increased 2c from 11c to 13c.
- 6. Items sent by air, other than letters and parcels, such as small packages, books, periodicals and other printed matter increased 10c per piece to all countries except Canada.
- 7. Most letters going by surface transportation to all nations (excluding Canada and Mexico) increased from 11c to 13c. Post cards raised from 7c to 8c.
- 8. Most printed matter, including publications, increased one cent a piece. For second class publications to Canada only, the one cent increase will be deferred for six months to become effective November 1, 1967. Also, the present bundling rate which permits postage to be computed on the bulk weight of packages of publications addressed to Canadian post offices will remain in effect until November 1, 1968, at which time it will be discontinued.
- 9. Surface parcel post rates to all nations increased 20c a parcel, an average of 7%.

Time For Texas To Act!

One of the major issues facing the Texas Legislature today is the question of a teacher pay raise. Regardless of Governor Connally's recent recommendation to the Legislature calling for a one-year appropriation, the fact remains unchanged that Texas will face its most critical teaching shortage next fall.

Texas Classroom Teachers Association, representing 45,000 classroom teachers across the state, has gone on record in support of the proposal by Texas State Teachers Association to raise teachers' salaries an average $775 a year.

Many Texans agree that teaching salaries in Texas are inadequate, but many do not realize the real urgency of the situation. TCTA contends that action on teaching salaries is imperative this session.

If nothing is done now, not only will Texas' recruitment situation deteriorate, but so will the quality of education offered to Texas youth.

Twelve states have teacher salary bills before them at this time, and seven of these states rank below Texas. If Texas does not advance, how long will it be before these states join the 26 others in outranking Texas teachers' salaries?

Texas has now dropped to 33rd in the nation in the ranking of our average classroom teachers' salaries. The national average is now $6821; Texas' average is $6025. How far down the scale will we drop before Texas realizes that professionals must be paid professional salaries?

Consider what other occupations and professions offer as starting salaries to attract educated prospects into their fields.

|------------------|--------|
| Engineers | $7994 |
| Accounting | $6948 |
| General Business | $6600 |
| Sales | $6558 |

Yet what does teaching in Texas offer? $4104 on the Minimum Foundation Program. Even the average starting salary for a teacher is only $4600.

In 1965, 40 per cent of the teacher education graduates in Texas failed to enter the teaching profession. This number continues to grow each year. Texas Education Agency's reports show that in Texas 25 per cent of all elementary teachers currently employed have 39 years or more experience—which means that many of these teachers will retire in the next five years and will need to be replaced. Where will these replacements come from unless Texas alleviates its teaching shortage?

We can well afford to spend more money on education in Texas. In total personal income, Texas ranks seventh in the United States, with $24,761,000 in 1965. In public school enrollment, Texas ranks third. Yet in per capita state and local expenditures for local schools, we rank 22nd. On the amount of money spent per pupil in average daily attendance, we rank 36th.

How is this affecting teacher salaries? We have already stated that Texas ranks 33rd in the average salary paid to classroom teachers. In addition, only 22.4 per cent of the 116,895 teachers employed as instructional staff in Texas are paid more than $6500—ranking Texas behind 35 other states.

In ten years (1957-67), Texas increased teacher salaries by 54.8 per cent, but 38 other states increased their salaries by larger percentages.

How is this lack of attention to education paying off?

- In overcrowded classrooms—Texas ranks 31st in the nation in teacher load.
- In illiteracy—In 1960, 4.1 per cent of Texas' population older than 14 was illiterate. Only six other states had worse records.
- In drop-outs—In 1960 Texans over 25 had completed on an average of only 10.4 years of school. Non-whites had completed only 8.1 years. Our ranking? 31st.
- In mental incompetence—Texas had 38.6 per cent of its 18-year-olds disqualified for military service for mental reasons between July, 1964 and December, 1965. (Only 9 states had more rejections.) Our ranking? 41st.

Statistics can prove anything, sceptics are fond of saying. But these statistics were not pulled out of thin air by TCTA in a search for substantiating evidence. They were prepared by the National Education Association and published in a national research publication, "Ranking of the States, 1967."

What's more, these statistics prove something specific. They prove that it is long past time for Texans to take a hard, close look at the way they support their schools and the results they are getting.

The time for action is now.

Thanks are also in order to the fine committee who prepared the exhibit. Mrs. Garland Francis was chairman, and committee members are Mrs. Robert Ledbetter and Mrs. Raymond McJimsey.

The month of May has also been proclaimed Senior Citizens Month by President Lyndon B. Johnson. A similar proclamation was issued by Governor John Connally for the State of Texas in joining in the National observance of the contribution our older citizens are making to today's society. The theme for Senior Citizens Month in 1967 is "Meeting the Challenge of the Later Years." The President challenges us with the following statement quoted from his proclamation March 31, 1967:

"Let citizens help, in whatever way he can, to make this month memorable by working to provide within each community those benefits and opportunities which will add satisfaction and dignity to the lives of older Americans."

Which beef cut shall I buy? How shall I cook it? How can I recognize a tender piece of beef?

Those and other questions often come to the attention of Miss Frances Resonover, Extension Foods and Nutrition Specialist with Texas A & M University. Here are a few of her answers:

Dry heat cooking such as broiling or roasting is the best way to cook the more tender cuts of beef like sirloin steak. A thicker cut of tender beef, like a rolled or standing rib roast, should be roasted in an open pan in a moderately low oven at 300-325 degrees, to an internal temperature of 140 - 176 degrees F., depending on doneness desired. Steaks, because they're thinly cut, can be broiled.

Less tender cuts, on the other hand, cook more satisfactorily in moist heat. This can be done either on top of the stove or in the oven by braising, pot roasting, or stewing in a heavy utensil with a tight-fitting cover.

Here's where we may have been missing a good bet. Some of us reserve broiling and roasting for only the better grades of beef, such as choice-grade T-bone steak. Actually, a tender cut like this will broil satisfactorily even though it comes from a lower grade animal.

Also, the top round and chuck, traditionally considered best for braising with a cover, rated just as tender and flavorful when they were broiled or roasted.

An important point to remember in cooking beef with dry heat is the need for slow cooking in a low to moderate oven, approximately 300 degrees. This helps retain moisture and keep food tender.

When choosing beef for broiling or roasting, look for meat with small flakes of fat within each individual muscle and a minimum of tough, white, connective tissue. These are signs of tender, juicy beef.

Whether you wash quilts and mattress pads by hand or machine, use more soap or detergent than for other articles. These items are especially absorbent.

To figure the true cost of clothing, remember that the original cost plus the cost of upkeep equals the total cost of a garment.

The average housewife washes 340 tons of dishes in a lifetime.

Mr. and Mrs. George Miller of Amarillo were business visitors in Silvertown Monday. They were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Morris and sons.

Greg Towe, Larry McWilliams, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cox, Leslie Joe Self, Dwight and Wayne Rampley, students at Southwest State College, Weatherford, Oklahoma, spent the weekend here.

All pastors like to know when members need special attention. Consider this.
Mrs. Huff is up the Miff Tree on a seat fixed good and firm, and she'd like to tell the pastor a few things, and make him squirm! Mrs. Huff was sick abed, sir, yes sir, sick abed a week; and the pastor didn't call, sir, never even took a peek. Wasn't that enough, enough sir, to provoke a saint to wrath? And to make a Christian pilgrim wander from the churchly path?

When I asked her if the doctor called to see her, she said "Sure" and she looked as if she thought I needed some good strong mind cure. Then I asked her how the doctor knew that sickness laid her low, and she said that she had called him on the phone and told him so. So the doctor knew that she was ill and the pastor didn't know. Now the doctor gets his bill paid with a nicely written check, but the pastor—for not knowing, simply "gets it in the neck."

Mrs. Bood Myers was a patient in the Lockney hospital recently for almost a week.

Roy Garrison was a patient in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo Thursday and Friday. She had four impacted wisdom teeth removed. She and her mother, Mrs. Don Garrison, were in Amarillo Monday to have the stitches removed.

Garner Garrison, a student at Tarleton State College spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Garrison.

Club Members Tour Colony Catherine

"Color It Original" being the theme for the Century of Progress Study Club fine arts program, members visited the Colony Catherine Studio Location out of Amarillo on the rim of Palo Duro Canyon on April 26.

Colony Catherine, Inc. is a project to provide residences and work buildings, consultation and national market outlet for professional craftsmen and artists producing products for the interior design trade. The colony contains 42 acres of land which provides an atmosphere and a place where true artist-craftsmen can have an outlet for their products and a share of sympathy and understanding of those who are working in the same direction.

The tour was most interesting and members attending were given a presentation of fabric design and printing. Mrs. Clark, tour guide, directed the tour of "the Barn." This building is an old barn moved to the location from the McKensie farm. Mr. McKensie is secretary of the colony. It is now used for displaying and working with interior decorators and clients, who come to purchase the silk screened fabrics, clipped velvets or printed Belgian linen fabrics, as well as other objects of art. It has been very uniquely decorated and each room is a conversation within itself. Members were shown through the home of Mr. Roberts, vice president of the colony. This, too, was moved from the McKensie farm, having been a silo at one time. It is now a cleverly-designed bachelor apartment. Art, wood and clay shops were also visited.

The business meeting was held at Clark's in Canyon. The theme of study for the 1967-68 club year was chosen and will be "To Everything a Time." Following the business, Mrs. George Long was hostess for the refreshment hour.

Words of Wisdom

Saturday Evening Post
It has long been part of the American mythology that no honest man would accept handouts from the Government. The corollary is that anyone who does take Government handouts is probably shiftless and immoral. None of this applies, of course, to the middle classes, who accept Government handouts with perfectly clear consciences. The professor with a grant for scientific research, the wheat rancher getting federal subsidies, the war veteran with a monthly pension—all manner of Americans consider themselves entitled to receive the Government dotes. Only the poor are patronized or condemned for doing the same thing.

Because of this moralistic attitude toward supporting the poor, because it is assumed that the poor will try to cheat, the whole welfare system is designed not only to support the poor but to punish them for their poverty. It is generally forbidden, for example, for a poor family to get child-support payments if there is an employable man in the house; therefore, a poor man can help his family by deserting it—or pretending to; therefore, to prevent cheating, the welfare people stage night-time raids in search of hiding husbands. Similarly, if a jobless man earns some money, he is penalized for it by having his welfare payments reduced. The result of this system is that the number of people on the dole grows every year, until there are now a million families on welfare, including 3.6 million children, that the cost of simply administering the mess amounts to more than $600 million, and that the recipients of uncharitable charity live in a state of apathy, hostility and despair.

In the past few years some imaginative people in and out of Government have begun to try figuring out alternative solutions. There are various plans, but most of them center on some form of guaranteed income. The basic idea is generally credited to Dr. Milton Friedman, an ex-economic advisor to Barry Goldwater, who argued for a "negative income tax" that would guarantee a basic income of about $1,500 for a family of four, but would also permit the poor to add to this by their earnings. These plans need a great deal of further study and testing, but they seem to be gathering support. To that trend, we add our own support.

Educational Meeting Attended by Teachers

Mrs. Lee D. Bomar and Mrs. A. L. Redin attended a district meeting at Tulia on April 25, at 5:00 p.m. The meeting was sponsored by Clark Hall and the Special Education department. The students presented a delightful dinner program. The dining room and tables were decorated to remind everyone that it was the season of "April Showers and May Flowers." Speakers from West Texas, Tech, and local high schools were consultants for the various section meetings.

State F.H.A. Meeting Held In Dallas

The state meeting of the Texas Association of the Future Homemakers of America was held in Dallas April 21-22, 1967. Representing the Silverton chapter was the president-elect, Vicki Vaughan, and the voting delegate, Ian Lanham. The sponsor, Mrs. Billie Carr, and her two sons, accompanied the girls.

The theme—Design for Living—was the subject for the keynote speaker, Dr. Glenn R. Hawkes. Dr. Hawkes is Associate Dean of Family and Consumer Sciences in the College of Agriculture, Agricultural Experiment Station, The University of California, Davis, California.

The meeting consisted of four general sessions. In the first meeting, greetings were extended to all visiting FHA's from the host-Dallas clubs. Mrs. Sybil Hamilton, City Councilwoman from Dallas, welcomed members to her city. Marcus Hill, State FFA president from Sulphur Springs, extended an invitation for the girls to attend the FFA Convention in Dallas this summer. Greetings were also extended by Davis Carter, State DECA President, and Marcus Burnam, State VICA President, and Mrs. Grady Crossland, State Young Homemakers President.

The Friday afternoon session consisted of conferring of State degrees. Friday night was Fun Night. The program, "Through The Looking Glass—a Look at the Past, Present and Future of FHA," was presented by Areas VI, VII, VIII, IX and X.

Saturday morning, the voting delegates held a business meeting, followed by the installation of the 1967-68 State officers.

The Silverton group stayed at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Dallas. The Friday afternoon session consisted of conferring of State degrees. Friday night was Fun Night. The program, "Through The Looking Glass—a Look at the Past, Present and Future of FHA," was presented by Areas VI, VII, VIII, IX and X.

JUNIORS, IT WAS GREAT!

As a manner of thanking the Junior class for all the effort they put into the banquet honoring the Senior class, we would like to tell about the banquet from the Senior point of view.

Upon entering Cinderella's Ball the first thing we noticed was the beautiful decorations. A huge mural hung on the south wall and glowed under the black lights. The ceiling and walls were draped with metallic gold crepe paper. After being announced at the entrance, we were escorted to our table by a waiter. After a few minutes the hostess, Debbie Dickerson, welcomed the Seniors and other guests. The Senior president responded to the welcome, after which the invocation was heard, and the meal was served.

The meal was the best anyone could remember having eaten at a banquet. The hot chicken-fried steak was so tender it could be cut with a fork. Served with the steak were creamed potatoes, green beans, rolls, tea and hot fudge sundae for dessert.

After dinner, Jim Burson read the class history; Sharon Martin read the prophecy, and Margaret Minyard read the will.

Servers were Roy Wood, Juanah Nance, Danny Vaughan, Carron Montague, Paul McWilliams, Ginger Martin, Lannie Arnold, Diana Strange, Donald West and Carol Montague.

Music was provided by Jekyll and the Hydes from Lubbock.

All in all, it was one of the greatest banquets ever, and the Seniors extend a big hearty THANKS!

Students Enter History Contest

Some 300 world and American history students gathered on the campus of West Texas State University in Canyon to participate in the history contests on Thursday, April 27. The contests have been sponsored annually by the college since 1959.

Entries in the events were from area schools ranging from class AAAA to B. Each school was allotted a specific number of contestants. For example, the AAAA schools could have 15 participants whereas the B schools could have only three. Silverton was allowed six.

Precisely at 10:00 a.m. the first general session began with a welcome to the college by President James P. Cornette. The students were assigned to rooms by the head of the Department of History, Dr. Lowell H. Harrison, and at 10:30 the testing began. By 11:55 the tests were completed, and the dinner break commenced.

At 1:15 the second general session began and the winners were announced. The first place in the world history contest went to a boy from Friona and second place went to a student from Memphis. First and second places in the American history contest went to boys from Pampa.

Those participating in the contests from Silverton were Jimmy Burson and Debbie Dickerson in American history, and Crockett Grabbe, Johnnie Roy Weaver and Barbara Davis in world history. Silverton High School will be informed of their scores at a later date.

A small girl was entertaining the visitors while her mother was in the kitchen. One woman guest cast an appraising look at the little girl and then whispered to her friend: "Not very p-r-e-t-t-y."
"No," answered the child, "but awfully s-m-a-r-t."

Special Reading Class Project

by Mrs. A. L. Redin
The sixth, seventh and eighth grade students have enjoyed reading "The Briscoe County News" one day each week this semester as their reading lesson. I think this has been an excellent project. The students were eager to read about the local happenings, and they had many good discussions about items read. Several of them took the papers home with them and reported that their parents enjoyed the paper, too.

The students and their teacher thank Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sarchet for making the papers available.

Thanks Extended

The Juniors would like to extend a note of thanks to those who helped make the Junior - Senior Ball a success:

To Agnes Bingham for catering the food.
To Faye Whitfill, Carolyn Self, Dorothy Bomar, Carrie Dickerson, Nelda Teeple, Ethelyn May and Laverne Laird for helping with the food.

To Bula Baird for supervising in the kitchen.
To the Sophomores who served so graciously.

To the Seniors for openly showing their appreciation for all the work and worry.

To LaNelle Montague for her beautiful painting.

To Jekyll and the Hydes for the music.

And especially to the Junior sponsor, Miss Zobia Self, for handling the financial affairs, being so patient, for being the sponsor this past year, and most of all, for just being Zobia Self.

Thank you all and the many more who could not possibly be named here.

Driving Film And Demonstration Seen

Safe driving must be made a personal habit of every motorist if the slaughter on America's highways is to be curbed, Ben Bullard, Assistant Safety Director, Texas Farm Bureau, declared Friday morning as he spoke prior to conducting driving tests at Silverton High School.

"Excessive speed is the greatest single cause of automobile accidents," Bullard said. In the demonstration which followed, he pointed out the conditions under which even 20, 30 or 40 miles per hour can be excessive.

Bullard added, "When drivers know the true facts and base their driving on those facts, highway accidents will drop sharply."

A film on traffic safety was shown to the students, teachers, and guests. Students and teachers took part in the tests which were conducted in a specially equipped car. The test driver was signalled to stop by an electrically controlled detonator. As the shell was fired, the street was marked with yellow paint. A second bullet was fired as brakes were applied and a third after the car came to a complete stop. Distances between the spots were carefully measured to determine in feet and inches how far the car traveled before the driver applied the brakes, or the reaction distance, and how far it traveled after the brakes were applied, or the braking distance.

Bullard emphasized the fact that a driver who observes the speed laws carefully is not a safe driver if he neglects many other items such as proper signalling for turns, approaching an intersection in the proper lane for a turn, the proper way to turn around, and many other things which are essential for safe driving.

Taking part in the special traffic program were Leland Wood and Sharon Martin each driving the specially equipped car at 20 m.p.h. and Coach Tommie Thornburg driving 30 m.p.h.

Others taking part were John Montague, Tina Weaver, Margaret Minyard, Mitchell McDaniel and Connie Dudley.

DEAR MEDUSA,
I am a Senior boy with a small, but big problem. There is this Junior girl who is always embarrassing me. Everytime I do anything, she always does or says something that embarrasses me. One time I came to school with this little tear in my pants. Nobody noticed it. But then SHE struck. She notices the little tear and poked her little finger in it and pulled down. Needless to say, I was very embarrassed the rest of the day. There are many more things she does to embarrass me but I would be too embarrassed to tell you. Please help me.

Embarrassable
Dear Em,
You really have a very serious problem on your hands. It must be hard to always be in fear of embarrassment. This girl you are talking about must be heartless, cruel, monstrous, cunning, un-earthly and simple. There is no hope for a girl of this type. Her mind can only bend so far and then "snap." I'm afraid there is no advice I can give to you but just try to remember that she is no longer responsible for her actions. She is completely mad and there is no hope.

Keep More of Your Marbles In the Home Game

After all ... here's where you get to take your turn at shooting

Our big-city neighbors offer invitations to us every day to put our marbles in their bigger and fancier rings . . . so they can take out more for themselves.

But the game that OUR winnings have to come out of . . . is the HOME game. And . . . the more of our marbles we put into THIS game, the more WE get a chance to take out.

Maybe you've noticed the city folks bragging about how much trade volume they take away from the small towns like ours in their "trade area" . . . getting our marbles into their pockets for keeps.

Trading at home . . . and making it more attractive for our neighbors to trade here . . . is the direct and positive route to better jobs, better property values . . . better schools, better living . . . a better community for US to live in.

Are You Feeding Your Dog Properly?

Before determining the correct amount of food for your dog it's important to make sure the food you give him represents a well-rounded meal that will meet all his energy and growth requirements. Contrary to popular belief, if you simply feed him as much as he wants or whatever he happens to like, the chances are that it will affect his health in an adverse way.

For example, dogs usually like table scraps but too much of the type of foods eaten by humans do not necessarily comprise a balanced diet for dogs. According to Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, a major supplier of tin-plated steel used for canned dog food and other canned products, a balanced diet for dogs will include carbohydrates (vegetable matter), minerals, vitamins, proteins and fat. J&L advises that you look for these ingredients in the dog food you buy.

Having established the nutritional value of the food you are giving your dog, you can then decide how much you ought to be feeding him. This depends on a number of variables. Very active dogs obviously need more food than older dogs who tend to spend most of their time sleeping. Growing puppies need more food for their size than adult dogs, whose needs tend to remain fairly constant.

A dog weighing 15 pounds will require one can of food per day, assuming the food contains at least 450 calories. This basic proportion can be adapted to dogs of various sizes. For example, an active, medium-sized cocker spaniel weighing 30 pounds will require two cans of dog food a day.

Jones & Laughlin reminds dog owners of the importance of water to maintain a dog's minimum requirements. But a supply of fresh water should be available at all times in a convenient place.
