

All Around the Town

by Mary Ann Sarchet

The other day I was watching a television panel show that I had never seen before due to its being during the day when I am seldom home. Bill Cullen and Joan Fountaine were two of the panelists, and their responses to two of the questions they were asked impressed me.

Bill Cullen, in response to being asked how he judges the trustworthiness of a person, said: "You cannot trust a person who tells tales or the secrets of another." Joan Fountaine made a similar reply when she was asked what thing in particular helped her enjoy a perfect day: "The thing that contributes most to the making of a perfect day is not hearing anyone say anything unkind."

We might imagine that people in show business have enough excitement and glamour in their everyday lives to be above being concerned with tale-carrying and unkind words, but the more thought we gave to the subject the more we realized that no one is above being hurt by this.

We like to read "The Shepherd" by Julien C. Hyer in the Amarillo paper, and Monday morning this little article dealt with scruples. In effect it said: Woe to those who do not adhere to high standards and do not care to live by higher codes and better values. Woe to those who regard all things as the same, whose lives are marred more by indulgence than by restraint, who gloat on quarrel and complaint, who seek compromise and fail to learn that conscience should be strict and stern.

And, because I was already thinking along this line, I looked up the subject in the Book of Proverbs and the following excerpts from Proverbs were especially meaningful.

Pleasant words are as honeycomb, sweet to the soul, and health to the bone . . . A friend loveth at all times . . . A friend man soweth strife; and a whisperer separateth friends . . . He that hath knowledge spareth his words; and a man of understanding is of an excellent spirit . . . Even a fool, when he holdeth his peace, is counted wise; and he that shutteth his lips is esteemed as a man of understanding . . .

He that is void of wisdom despiseth his neighbors; but a man of understanding holdeth his peace . . . Debate thy cause with thy neighbor himself; and discover not a secret to another; let he that heareth it put to shame, and thine infamy turn not away . . . A talebearer revealeth secrets; but he that is of a faithful spirit concealeth the matter . . . Go from the presence of a foolish man, when thou perceivest not in him the lips of knowledge . . . The heart of the prudent getteth knowledge; and the ear of the wise seeketh knowledge . . .

The words of a talebearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermost parts . . . The spirit of a man will sustain his infirmity; but a wounded spirit who can bear? A brother offended is harder to be won than a strong city; and their contentions are like the bars of a castle . . .

A false witness shall not be unpunished and he that speaketh lies shall perish . . .

Texans To Vote on Proposed Amendments Saturday

Texans vote Saturday, November 11, on six more patches to the much-amended state constitution while five areas of the state will also try to fill vacancies in the Texas Senate and House.

A light vote is expected Saturday due to its being the opening day of the deer and turkey season in most of the state and officials expect a large portion of the absentee vote to have been cast by eager hunters.

Saturday is also Veteran's Day, which backers of a proposed constitutional amendment to revive the veterans land program hope will favorably influence voters.

Ballots will look different to most Texans. This is the first general election for the "x" system of voting. If a person wants to vote for a constitutional amendment, he will place an "x" in the "FOR" box beside the proposition. To cast a negative vote, he will place an "x" in the "AGAINST" box beside the proposition.

The six proposed amendments on the ballot, as listed, include:

NUMBER 1: Authorize counties to put all their revenues into a single big general fund. Presently there are several funds with limitations on the spending from each. Opponents say the single big fund would be too tempting to county commissioners. Supporters say it would streamline county government and make spending more flexible.

NUMBER 2: To let cities, counties and other political subdivisions spend tax money for mental health and mental retardation work when there is a hospital district in operation. Opponents say mental health programs should be financed through present hospital districts to prevent taxing duplication.

NUMBER 3: To set up a $200 million bond issue fund to revive the veterans land program of letting veterans buy farm and ranch land from the state on low interest 40-year payment plans. It would also extend the privilege to veterans of the Vietnam and cold war activity. The proposal has been defeated twice, but those who favor this say that this program is one of few that pays its own way. This one certainly deserves close consideration for the benefit of all those who are defending the country in these troubled times.

NUMBER 4: Make it legal for counties to pay medical bills for county law enforcement officers injured in the line of duty. If approved, the payments would be permissive but not mandatory.

NUMBER 5: To allow the state to issue $75 million in bonds and use the money to buy land and build state parks. An admission fee, probably $1 a car, would be charged for use of state parks to pay off the bonds. Supporters say the extra boost in park financing is needed to face a fast-growing population that is more recreation minded each year. Opponents say federal money should be used for long-range financing with the state furnishing cash for operations.

NUMBER 6: Allow non-elective state officials and employees to serve on state and federal boards and commissions. Present law says they cannot hold down two such jobs at the same time.

Owls Give Bronchos Close Race; Host Claude Next

still another editorial view
by Mary Ann Sarchet

The Owls dropped their game at Clarendon 29-20 Friday night, but the team played such a good game and tried so hard for a win that the road home didn't seem nearly as long as it has been from conference games in past seasons. Silvertown will host the Claude Mustangs in the last game of the season Friday at 7:30 p.m. The Owls will be trying to battle their way out of the District 2-A cellar and to even their season record at 5-5 by taking a win from the Mustangs. The district championship will be on the line when Wheeler hosts Clarendon Friday night.

The Owl defense was a little less than its best at Clarendon, and the offensive line's blocking didn't look quite up to par, but as a team, the players turned in a fine effort and from the first whistle to the final seconds on the clock, kept trying for a win. We think none of the fans who braved the cold to cheer for the Owls was disappointed at having traveled to Clarendon to support the team.

Silvertown made 10 first downs, Clarendon 16. The Bronchos gained 408 yards, 258 rushing, 70 passing and 80 on penalties against the Owls; the Owls gained 306 yards, 245 rushing, 26 passing and 40 on Broncho penalties.

Clarendon fumbled five times, but the Owls were able to recover only two of them (Larry Comer came up with one recovery). Donald West did another good job of punting and had a 30-yard punt average after runbacks.

While we realize that criticism of the game officials is the epitome of poor sportsmanship and one of the poorest "excuses" that anyone could devise to explain failure, it is our opinion that the officiating at Clarendon was among the poorest we have seen. We have always held the opinion that referees are honest and make the calls the way they see them—making mistakes occasionally due to their being human and subject to the same imperfections as the rest of us. But—the team of referees at Clarendon certainly did go to great lengths to be sure that Silvertown's infractions were punished, while overlooking similar Broncho offenses.

We felt that the referees stole a score from the Owls and that they assisted a little more than should have been in their authority to do so with one of the Broncho scores. We thought that if Lynn Frizzell had realized that the Owls would not get points when he recovered the fumble in the Broncho end zone, he might have demonstrated a little more showmanship, and belly-flopped on the football as quickly as possible in order to show the referees that he thought the ball had been handled by his opponent. In this instance, it was ruled that the Clarendon player did not touch the ball, even though we were almost positive he did, and the ball was brought out to the 20-yard line on a touchback even though Frizzell recovered it in the end zone.

There were several questionable official decisions, but the Owls responded very well to the situation and accepted all decisions without question, as indeed we all must.

It's praise time again! We must

Mrs. Emilee Stephens Is Buried Here

Funeral services for Mrs. Emilee Stephens, 59, were conducted at 2:00 p.m. Saturday at the Silvertown Church of Christ. Richard Williams of Altus, Oklahoma, and Haun Kite of Olton, former ministers of the Silvertown church, and Charles Cranford, present minister, officiated.

Burial was in the Silvertown Cemetery, with arrangements under the direction of the Silvertown Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Kenneth Bean, J. D. McGavock, J. C. Fowler, Bob Reeves, Doh Burson and Bill Boling.

Mrs. Stephens died Wednesday at the M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston. A native of Hillsboro, Mrs. Stephens was married December 7, 1926, at Silvertown. She and her husband, B. L. (Barney) Stephens, farmed nine miles southwest of Silvertown, and Mrs. Stephens had been employed as a bus driver for the Silvertown schools for about 27 years. She had been employed by the Douglas Flower Shop for 24 years. She was a member of the Silvertown Church of Christ.

Survivors include her husband, Barney; a daughter, Mrs. Lona Ann Isbell of Albuquerque, New Mexico; two sisters, Mrs. Mae Dudley of Pasadena and Mrs. Lona Neal of LaMarque; two brothers, John Lawrence of Texas City and George Lawrence of LaMarque; and seven grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by two sons and three grandchildren.

share the opinion extended by a Clarendon fan at halftime. He told us twice that "Silvertown's number 10 is one of the finest little ball-players we've seen." We have been aware of Lannie Arnold's value all season, and we're sure his tremendous efforts haven't gone unnoticed by Owl fans. But, it made us feel warm on a cold night to have one who wanted badly to see the Owls beaten compliment an individual on Silvertown's team. Arnold averaged 4.5 yards a carry, according to our calculations, in addition to doing the passing, making some run-backs, carrying extra points, and absorbing some very bruising tackles while rushing for 69 yards.

Mike Tate is doing a superb job at quarterback, getting smoother all the time, working in a very cool manner with one of the best balanced backfields Silvertown has had in some time. We can't recall when the Owls have had a better group of running backs combined

Western Swing Kings To Present Program

Jack Daniels and the Western Swing Kings of Tulia will present a program in the Silvertown school auditorium at 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday, November 14. Admission will be 75c for adults and 25c for students.

Miss Emmitt is presently in the process of copyrighting some of her songs on the advice of an agent from Nashville, Tennessee, who made tapes of their performance in Amarillo recently. Jerry Clayton is also having some music copyrighted.

The group promises an evening of toe-tapping entertainment, and invite everyone who likes to hear western music to join them here next Tuesday night at the school auditorium.

W. H. Tennison Rifes Conducted Here

Funeral services for Willie Hobson Tennison, 69, were conducted at 2:00 p.m. Thursday in the First Baptist Church here. The pastor, Rev. C. H. Murphy, jr., and a former pastor, Rev. Clyde Cain, officiated.

Pallbearers were Gilbert Elms, Allen Kellum, O. C. Maples, Verlin Towe, Charles Whitfill and Johnnie Lanham.

Burial was in Resthaven Memorial Cemetery in Lubbock with arrangements under the direction of Silvertown Funeral Home.

Mr. Tennison died Wednesday morning in a Tulia hospital following a lengthy illness.

A native of Pearsall, Mr. Tennison had lived in Silvertown for 26 years and had worked for the United States Post Office for 32 years. He was employed by the Lubbock post office for three years, served as a rural mail carrier at Anton for 14 years and, after moving to Silvertown, served as a rural carrier for 15 years before retiring.

He married the former Miss Lillie Mae Keen April 6, 1923, at Munday. He was a charter member of the Silvertown Lions Club, having served as Lion Boss and secretary of the club. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the First Baptist Church.

Those surviving include his wife, Lillie; two daughters, Mrs. Gene Klein, jr. of Amarillo and Mrs. Freida Denson of Lubbock; two sons, James Tennison of Amarillo and Bill Tennison of Stinnett; one sister, Mrs. Inice Williams of Pearsall; one brother, Charles Tennison of Austin; and 11 grandchildren, among whom are Linda and Joe Mercer.

It isn't often that a Tackle has an opportunity to be the ballcarrier, but Friday night at Clarendon a short kick landed in the arms of Harvey Masey, No. 73, and he was off and running. "Block for me, somebody," was his battle cry as he looked about for a backfield man for a hand-off. Other Owls in the picture are Gary Whitfill, 50; Randy Cantwell, 82; and Larry Comer, 62.

touchdown from 15 yards out, and score in addition to picking up the final yardage for several first downs. Strange carried the ball a total of 98 yards.

Harvey Masey made one run-back, and amused those on the sideline by calling for blockers, while looking about for one of the backfield men to lateral the ball to.

The Clarendon football program didn't list Silverton's freshman players—and this was ironic, since Strange and Alvin May have played a lot this year. May received a knee injury Friday night and it will necessitate surgery. This is much to the sorrow of the team and fans alike, but as one fan put it, "If anyone can have a hurt knee and make a comeback in spite of it, Alvin can!"

Analysis of past season records and comparison to the record the Owls have established this year supports our belief that after many uneventful seasons, the Owls have begun to develop the attitude toward athletics that must be had before teams can win championships. We cannot praise the Owls too much for their team performances in the last two games. They are beginning to look beyond themselves and are discovering that extra effort does not go unrewarded.

This season, the Owls have scored 104 points while winning four games of nine. Our opponents have scored 164 points, only 60 points more than the Owls—less than a one-touchdown per game average. In past seasons, the Owls have lost single games by margins of from 50 to 60 points. In conference play so far this season (three games), the Owls have scored 28 points while the opponents have scored 76. In 1966, the Owls scored 34 points as compared with 107 for their opponents in four district games and their season record was 3-1 in conference play. The way the Owls are playing football now seems to indicate that they will finish with a much better district record this year—this already having proved to be 25 points better in one less game.

Do you remember the winless season in 1961, when we had games like the one with Petersburg (52-14) and games in 1964 like Springlake (56-17)? In 1965

we were losing at the rate of 55-0 (Memphis) and 52-7 (Farwell).

Last year, Clarendon beat Silverton 35-0, with both teams having about the same players—a far cry from the action last Friday when the Bronchos were awfully lucky to keep their unblemished district record!

The Owls have learned that:

1. They don't have to give up because they are behind
2. That extra teamwork pays off
3. That second effort can add points to their score
4. That they are football players and do have a team that is worth driving many miles to see
5. That nothing is hopeless just because the odds seem unfavorable

Had some of the teams in previous years discovered some of these things and had the players not listened to criticisms of their teammates and coaches producing the dissention that split the team, they could have had better season records. We think the improved attitude will have an effect on the athletic program throughout the year, and McLean, Wheeler, Clarendon and Claude had better watch out for the Owls in the second go-round (basketball).

Regardless of whether the team ever wins a ball game, we are so prejudiced for the Owls that we believe they are the greatest group of boys alive—and when people in other towns describe the many acts of malicious mischief and delinquency that take place in their towns, we are proud to tell them that our kids don't stoop to that kind of "entertainment." While some things do take place that we would rather overlook, the incidents are usually caused by a fringe of irresponsible youngsters who haven't grown up, and should not be allowed out at night. Growing up, as we use this term here, has nothing to do with physical size; rather, it refers to the extremely childish mental condition in which malicious acts are devised.

USDA Releases Quality Report on Panhandle Cotton

Although cotton harvesting has been slow, it came to a stand-still last week due to high winds, blowing sand, light rain and snow, according to K. E. Voelkel, in charge of the USDA's cotton classing office in Memphis. It was estimated that 75 to 85 percent of the cotton is open, but that farmers were waiting for killing frost, which has now occurred.

Sample receipts were sufficient last week to keep two classing tables busy this week. Through Friday, November 3, a seasonal total of 8,000 samples had been classed compared with 1500 as of the same date last year.

Based on 4400 samples classed last week, the quality of cotton showed 23 percent in the white grades, 69 percent light spotted, and 3 percent spotted. The chief grades were: 20 percent middling, 5 percent strict low middling, 9 percent strict middling light spotted, 55 percent middling light spotted, and 5 percent strict low middling light spotted.

The staple length ranged from 7/8 inch to 1-9/32 inches with 15/16 inch the predominant length showing 70 percent. Other lengths

Commercial and Farm Loan Program Announced for 1967

Wheat, corn, sorghum, soybeans, oats and barley from the 1967 crops which are under price-support loans in commercial storage, will be eligible for loan extensions (reseat) before the respective crop loans mature in the spring and summer of 1968, it was announced recently by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. Farm storage loan extensions will also be available, subject to the approval of the State ASC Committee. Decisions on resealing of current crops are normally made near the end of the marketing year.

were 7/8 and 29/32, 7 percent; 31/32 inch, 10 percent; 1 inch to 1 1/8 inches, 5 percent; and, 1 1/8 inches and longer, 8 percent.

The micronaire readings, which indicates the fineness and maturity of the cotton fiber, showed 82 percent in the 30 point premium range of 3.5-4.9. Seven (7) percent read 3.4 and below, and 11 percent was 5.0 and above.

Pressley strength tests conducted in cooperation with the Cotton Research Committee of Texas, reflected stronger fiber than last season. Seventy-five (75) percent tested 75,000 pounds per square inch and above, with 25 percent in the grouping 74,000 and below. It was of interest to note that 2 percent tested 100,000 psi and above.

Average prices paid farmers for the main qualities selling with mike readings 3.5-4.9 were: middling, 15/16-20.00; middling 31/32-21.80; middling light spotted, 15/16-19.20; and middling light spotted, 31/32-22.15.

Cottonseed brought the farmers $55 to $57 per ton at most gin points.

This early announcement will permit better advance planning by farmers and should strengthen prices.

All farmers who are eligible for price support on 1967 crops will be eligible for reseat in commercial storage or farm storage if approved for the State. Storage costs accruing during the reseat period will be paid by CCC. These payments will be made to farmers who provide farm storage or who prepay warehouse storage charges for the extended period. If warehouse charges are not prepaid, CCC will make these payments for the extended period direct to the storing warehouseman. Payments by CCC to the warehouseman will not relieve producers of their obligation for warehouse charges which accrued during the initial loan period.

Secretary Freeman, in making this announcement, declared, "I think it's much better to establish conditions under which commodities can be carried over into the next marketing year with farmers owning the grain—on their farm, in their cooperative elevators, or in privately-owned facilities—than to have the commodities forced on the market or delivered to CCC. This action can materially strengthen prices in the year ahead. For the first time, it gives farmers in many areas a practical opportunity to use reseat."

"For many years, USDA has offered reseat privileges for certain commodities stored on the farm. This program has been used as an aid to orderly marketing, especially when production exceeded expected utilization or when market prices were weak. Extension of the reseat program to commercial storage facilities will give more farmers a chance to plan long-range marketing and avoid lower prices during times when the markets are overloaded.

Tenant farmers who could not build their own storage can now place their commodities under loan in commercial warehouses and continue the loan under reseat there.

From The County Agent's Desk

There isn't much doubt that winter weather is just around the corner. And, it is time to prepare for the colder days ahead.

It is a matter of record that, when outside temperatures drop, indoor fire dangers rise. The home heating system is often at the root of the problem.

A thorough check of the heating system should be made even though it may have already been in operation. When it is pushing hard in cold weather, any weakness in the equipment or installation may show up with possible disastrous results.

Clean furnaces and heaters at regular intervals and keep com-bustibles away from them. Do not place portable heaters in halls, doorways, or other spots which might block escape. Be sure heaters are away from curtains, clothes racks and other combustibles. Remember, all heaters that burn gas, oil, coal or wood (combustible materials) must be vented to be entirely safe.

And while you are checking heating equipment I suggest that fire extinguishers also get attention. Be sure they are ready for use in case they are needed.

Details of 1968 Upland Cotton Program Announced

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman recently announced provisions of the 1968 crop program for upland cotton. The Secretary made the following statement:

The 1968 program will be the third year of operation under the Cotton and Agriculture Act of 1965, which authorized a cotton program for four years. Basic objectives of the program were to:

1. Adjust supplies over the four years from an all-time high of 18.6 million bales to a more normal carryover of around 6.5 or 7 million bales.
2. Maintain and improve farm income.
3. Keep cotton competitive with other fibers and with cotton produced in other countries, and
4. Reduce Government expenditures for the cotton program.

"Cotton has been kept competitive; farm income has been improved; and Government expenditures have been materially reduced under the 1966 and 1967 programs. Because of high farm participation in the diversion programs offered for 1966 and 1967, and because of abnormal weather conditions and insect infestation, total supply adjustment expected over a four-year period has been accomplished in two years. Furthermore, because of the abnormally small crops in 1966 and 1967 and an increased demand for the medium and longer staple cottons, the current supply contains a disproportionate share of the shorter staples. The 1968 program is, therefore, designed to increase production of cotton above the levels produced in 1966 and 1967 and to encourage production of a higher percentage of the medium and longer staples."

Secretary Freeman went on to say, "This decision has been made only after the broadest consultation ever held with all segments of the cotton industry. With this background of advice, cotton experts in the U. S. Department of Agriculture carefully analyzed the production response to different conditions that under law the Secretary of Agriculture is directed to consider. Personally, I have spent many hours in careful consultation and analysis within and outside the USDA. The estimates on which my decisions have been made, can, of course, be changed by uncontrollable outside forces, such as the weather. But barring unusual weather, it is my best judgment that a year from now we will at long last have cotton in supply and demand balance with adequate supplies of good quality cotton and good prospects for the future."

The principal changes from the 1967 program are: 1. The required diversion for farmers who wish to be cooperators in the acreage diversion program has been reduced from 12.5 percent to 5 percent of the regular allotment. The payment rate will be 10.76 cents per pound.

2. The payment rate for voluntary diversion (up to an additional 30 percent of the allotment) has been reduced to 6 cents per pound.
3. The rules for measuring cotton planted in a skip-row pattern have been changed to those rules used from 1962 through 1965.

Major program provisions which remain the same as for 1967 are:

1. The national average allotment remains unchanged.
2. A referendum will again be held by mail (Dec. 4-8) to determine if the program will be operative.
3. The national projected yield remains unchanged.
4. The domestic acreage allotment provisions remain unchanged.
5. The loan rate remains at 20.25 cents per pound for middling 1-inch cotton at average location.
6. The cotton diversion program is continued and is voluntary.
7. Price support payments will be made as in 1967. (The rate at 12.24 cents per pound, however, will be higher.)
8. Small farm provisions are continued.
9. Export market acreage remains the same.

Details of the 1968 Program

1. Acreage Allotment: The national marketing quota will be 16,100,000 bales (standard bales of 500 pounds gross weight) and the national acreage allotment will be 16 million acres—the smallest permitted under present law. In addition, a national acreage reserve of 200,000 acres will be available for the establishment of minimum farm allotments as provided by law.
2. The quota of 16,100,000 bales is the result of converting to bales the 16-million-acre national allotment on the basis of a four-year (1963-66) average yield of 483 pounds per acre as required by law.

The national acreage allotment of 16 million acres and the national reserve of 200,000 acres for 1968-crop upland cotton are apportioned to States according to provisions of law. This allotment with comparison of the total 1967-crop acreage allotted to Texas is:

Texas Allotment for 1968 will be 6,803,918, as compared with 6,841,084, the 1967-crop total acreage allotted to the state (including the national reserve). The state's 1968 share of the national reserve will be 36,042. The 1968 total allotment available for distribution to states is 6,839,960 acres.

The law provides that no State shall receive an allotment for upland cotton for 1968 which is less than the smaller of 4,000 acres or the highest acreage planted to cotton in the State in any of the years 1965, 1966 and 1967. The remainder of the national acreage allotment is apportioned among other States on the basis of acreages planted to cotton in the years 1962 through 1966, with adjustments in these acreages as required by law. The national reserve is apportioned to States as in 1967.

The 1968 upland cotton allotment for each State will be apportioned among the counties and the county allotments among the farms according to provisions of the law and regulations issued by the Secretary of Agriculture.

2. Referendum: A marketing quota referendum will be held by mail during the period Dec. 4 through 8. Notices of farm acreage allotments will be mailed to operators of cotton farms prior to the referendum.

If marketing quotas for the 1968 upland cotton crop are disapproved by farmers, the allotment program will remain in effect, but there will be no acreage diversion program and no price support payments. Price support loans, however, will be available at 50 percent of parity to cooperators who plant within their allotments as provided by law.

Marketing quotas are in effect for 1967-crop upland cotton. They were approved by 91.6 percent of growers voting in referendum conducted by mail during the period Dec. 5-9, 1966.

3. Projected Yields: A projected national yield of 545 pounds per acre has been established for the 1968 crop. This yield is the same as for 1967.

The projected State yields are based on 1962-1966 harvested yields, adjusted for abnormal weather conditions, for trends, and for changes in production practices. The State projected yields average out to the national yield of 545 pounds.

The 1968 projected yield for Texas is 400 pounds.

4. Domestic Acreage Allotment: For the 1968 crop, the farm domestic acreage allotment has been set at 65 percent of the farm acreage allotment, the minimum authorized by law. Farmers who sign up to participate in the program and who plant at least 90 percent of their farm's domestic acreage allotment, but not in excess of the permitted acreage for the farm, will be eligible for price support loans and for price support payments on the farm domestic allotment.

5. Loan Rate: Price support loans will be available to cooperators in the cotton acreage diversion program. The loan rates for individual qualities of cotton will be based on a national average loan rate of 20.25 cents per pound for middling 1-inch cotton at average location—the same loan rate as that now in effect for the 1967 crop.

The loan rate is established pursuant to provisions of law which provide that it shall not exceed a level which will reflect—for middling 1-inch upland cotton at average location in the United States—90 percent of the estimated average world price for such cotton for the 1968-69 marketing year. The loan rate of 20.25 cents will continue "one-price" cotton and will make it possible for U. S. cotton to move in either domestic or export channels without the need for either an equalization payment or an export payment.

6. Diversion Program: Participation in the cotton diversion program is voluntary. The farmer who wants to take part in the program and thus become a cooperator agrees to divert at least 5 percent of his effective cotton allotment into soil conserving uses. For this, he will be eligible to receive price support loans and payments and acreage diversion payments.

The price support payment of 12.24 cents per pound is made in addition to the price support loan available to cooperating producers. The payment rate compares with 9.42 cents in 1966 and 11.53 cents in 1967. This payment is the amount necessary, in addition to the loan, to provide producers at least 65 percent of parity on cotton produced within the farm permitted acreage (95% of the effective farm allotment). The payment is made on the projected yield of the acreage planted to cotton but not in excess of the domestic allotment established for the farm.

To qualify for payments a producer is required to plant cotton in a workmanlike manner with the expectation of producing a normal crop. If the first planting fails, the producer will be expected to replant in the normal planting date for the area. If the cotton acreage fails and the normal planting date has passed, or if disaster conditions prevent the planting of cotton during the normal planting period, producers may devote the failed acreage or unplanted acreage to another income-producing crop, such as soybeans, but only after approval by the local ASCS county office on a written application from the farm operator. Acreage which the county committee determines was planted in an unworkmanlike manner solely for the purpose of qualifying for payment will not be approved.

The payment rate for required diversion will be 10.76 cents per pound and for additional diversion not to exceed 30 percent of the farm allotment the payment rate will be 6 cents per pound. These payments will be earned on the acreage diverted from cotton production and put to conserving uses. For 1967 the required diversion was 12.5 percent, the voluntary diversion not to exceed an additional 22.5%, and the payment rate was 10.78 cents.

Farmers will have the choice of diverting any acreage they wish between 5 percent and 35 percent of the farm's effective acreage allotment. The acreage diverted for payment may not exceed 35 percent of the acreage allotment. Unless farmers divert the acreage they sign up for they will not be eligible for full program benefits.

As during the 1967 cotton crop year, it will be necessary for farmers both large and small to sign up, showing they intend to take part in the cotton program. The sign-up period will begin not later than February 5, and will close not later than March 15, 1968.

7. Small Farms: Small farms under the program are those with a cotton allotment of not more than 10 acres, or on which the projected production is not more than 3,600 pounds. No acreage reduction is required on these farms to receive program benefits. However, small farms that do voluntarily divert up to 35 percent of their farm allotment will receive an additional diversion payment for such acreage at the rate applicable to voluntary diversion. Farms from which any acreage is released for reapportionment will not be eligible for small farm benefits.

8. Skip-Row Rules: The Department has given careful consideration to the rules in effect for 1966 and 1967 crop cotton planted in skip-row patterns. On the basis of recommendations from most areas of the Cotton Belt emphasizing that a change in these rules will tend to aid farmers in producing more cotton in 1968, officials said the skip-row rules which were in effect for the 1965 crop will be reinstated and made applicable to the 1968 crop. In general, under the 1965 rules, only the land actually planted to cotton was counted as cotton land in determining compliance with program provisions.

9. Lease and Sale of Allotments: The final date for filing applications for the sale or lease of cotton allotments is January 2, 1968. Producers in 445 cotton-producing counties in the U. S. have approved the transfer of allotments to farms outside the county. Allotments, however, cannot be transferred from one State to another.

10. Export Market Acreage: Under a formula in the law, an export acreage reserve of 250,000 acres is established—the same as for 1967. All cotton produced on farms participating in this part of the program must be exported. Price support will not be available for any of the cotton produced on a participating farm, or on any other farm in which the operator with export market acreage has a substantial or controlling interest.

For the 1967 cotton crop year, applications were approved for about 75,000 acres of export market acreage reserve. Forms for applying for export market acreage for 1968 are available in the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices of cotton-producing counties. The closing date for filing applications is January 2, 1968.

Silverton To Wind Up Season Against Claude Mustangs

by Vicki Vaughan

The Silverton Owls will meet the Claude Mustangs at Owls Stadium at 7:30 Friday night, November 10. This game will wind up an explosive season for both Coach Jerry Cannon's team and Coach Bobby Stephens' Owls.

At the beginning of the season, Silverton and Claude shared a title—"the under-dogs." In the pre-season poll, Claude was ranked fourth and Silverton fifth in a 5-team district.

When the season began and Claude returned its entire starting unit, little was said until the Mustangs upset state-ranked White Deer in their third start. Claude had been the only team to outscore White Deer this season until Gruber topped them for the District 1-A title last week.

At one time, Claude was ranked No. 1 and Silverton No. 4 in Class 2-A. Needless to say, this was the highest either team has ranked in several years.

At the time Claude has a record of 5-4 and 0-3 in district play, while Silverton is 4-5 and 0-3. This game will decide who is fourth in District 2-A as Silverton and Claude are tied.

In the past five years, Silverton has topped Claude in two games and Claude has won in three. It's time that score was evened.

Silverton got off to an outstanding start this season by winning the first four games. The fact that the Owls have been on the short end for the last five games doesn't reflect what tough games they have been.

Due to his performance in the White Deer game, Quarterback Edwin Campbell has been receiving a lot of publicity this season. As a junior, he was selected All-District Quarterback, and chances are good that he will receive the honor again this year. Recipient of the Amarillo Daily News "Back of the Week" award for his performance in the Claude-Groom game, Campbell is definitely the man to look out for.

On the other hand, the Owls have Lannie Arnold, Cletus Grady, Bill Strange and Lynn Frizzell, who will no doubt combine to beat anything Claude has dreamed up to stop them.

Although Lannie was out of action for a while due to a serious neck injury, he is back now and going in fine style. Lannie seemed to spark the Owls last week against Clarendon, and the entire team played a good, hard-fought battle.

With Mike Tate at quarterback now, it leaves Lannie free to run with the ball, and this seemed to be a good combination against Clarendon.

When the Owls win over Claude Friday, they will have a record of 5-5 for the year. As Coach Fox has said, "This is still a winning season."

Seven Seniors to Play In Their Last Game

by Vicki Vaughan

Friday, November 10, will be a date that seven senior boys and two senior girls will never forget. Lynn Frizzell, Joe Mercer, Dale Sissney, Randy Cantwell, Van May, Tim Mattheus and Harvey Masey will, in all probabilities, be playing their last football game Friday night.

Debbie Dickerson, who has represented the Class of '68 as a cheerleader all four years in high school and who is now serving as Head Cheerleader, and Nancy Long, who is senior cheerleader and was recently crowned Football Queen, will be cheering their team on to one last victory.

Lynn Frizzell, 83, has been one of the Owl quarterback's favorite receivers, besides making several decisive interceptions in the past season. Lynn has proved that an end need not be big to be a good ballplayer. He has been putting all 152 pounds to good use in carrying that pigskin for long gains. A co-captain, Lynn scored six points against Groom, and aided greatly in gaining the total of 104 points that the Owls have accumulated so far this season.

Joe Mercer has also played a good year of ball. Joe, 30, at end, is playing his first year of ball in high school, therefore, he hasn't seen a great deal of action this year, although he has played in every game, contributing his full share.

Randy Cantwell, known as "Candy" by some of his teammates, is number 82. Randy, a 195-pound end, sees more action as a guard for the backs than as an actual ballcarrier, and he does a fine job of stopping the opponent.

Dale Sissney, 75 in the red and 70 in the white, is the big tackle who has done so much for the Owls this season. Co-captain and a two-year letterman, Dale was selected as a Player of the Week against Lefors.

Harvey Masey, 73, is Dale's "twin" in the line. Another co-captain, Harvey throws all he's got into that offensive line. As a junior, his ability earned him the title of All-District Defensive Lineman, and he received two Player of the Week awards that year. A three-year letterman, it's time Harvey's talents were recognized.

Van May, 63, a co-captain, is a guard, and one of our most outstanding players. As a junior, Van was selected All-District Center. This year he was chosen Player of the Week following his perfor-

Owls Receive Wind - Breakers

Head Coach Bobby Stephens presented the football players with their long-awaited wind-breakers Friday of last week.

The light-weight zipper jackets are red trimmed with white. Each player's number appears on both sleeves with "Owls" inscribed on the left side.

The wind-breakers were purchased by members of the A and B teams.

Mrs. Rampley Attends Workshop

Mrs. O. C. Rampley attended a Business Education Workshop on the campus of West Texas State University Saturday. Business teachers from schools all over the Panhandle of Texas were present.

Miss Ruth Ann Minyard, chairman of the West Texas State Hospitality Committee, was on hand to greet the visitors. A sophomore this year, Ruth Ann has recently been elected secretary of her class.

Miss Dianne Davis, a junior, majoring in Business Education, was in charge of arrangements for a style show that was presented by Pi Gamma Pi. Dianne is a member of this honor sorority for business students; she modeled two numbers in the show.

Jim Baird, a senior at WTSU, was also present for the morning's activities.

Take a minute to think about Vietnam. Think about brave men. A rifleman in a rice paddy. The gunner's mate who postponed college. The 'copter pilot and his wounded marine passenger. Those men are Americans. Those men are there. Those men are fighting for freedom—and supporting it with their dollars, too, through the Payroll Savings Plan. They deserve your support.

DRILLING THE DEEPEST

Humble Oil & Refining Company's Rig 32 is shown here in the Gomez field of West Texas drilling the world's deepest producing well. The new ultradeep producer — the Henry Willbanks No. 11 — was completed in the Ellenberger formation at 21,883 to 22,610 feet. The well, located in Pecos County about 10 miles northwest of Fort Stockton, flowed gas at a calculated open flow rate of 14 million cubic feet a day.

Address Cards And Parcels Correctly

During this Christmas mailing season, there will be thousands of cards and parcels that will not be delivered due to illegible addresses, no address at all, or poorly-wrapped parcels from which the address labels or outer wrappings become separated.

Always write or print addresses carefully and use ZIP codes, says Postmaster Fred Strange. If you have trouble reading the address, the people at the post offices will have the same problem.

Use of first-class postage on greeting cards will make sure your mail is forwarded if the recipient has moved. Mail will be returned to you if it is poorly addressed or there is no forwarding address. This is one reason for using the special five-cent Christmas stamp. Cards sent by third-class mail, (four-cent stamp) which cannot be delivered wind up in the dead letter office.

Wrap your packages neatly and well. Pad your gifts securely so there is no rattling and there is sufficient support for other packages.

A card or piece of paper inside the package carrying your name and address and that of the person to whom the parcel is addressed will insure delivery in case the wrapping comes loose. A list of the contents will help postal "rewrap" clerks in the event your package is poorly wrapped and bursts.

Place the address and return address on only one side of the parcel. Some people will repeat the address on more than one side. Postal employees who are working at top speed to meet transportation connections for mail do not have time to check other sides and assume that postage is due.

Please mail early. This gives the Post Offices plenty of time to deliver your mail before the holiday.

The Pet Corner

Dog Feeding Hints Few dog owners spend as much time as they should planning meals for their dogs. Too often they tend to buy the kind of food their dog likes with little thought of its nutritional value. But now the American emphasis on health and dieting is moving into the pet world. A number of canned diet pet foods are available today which are claimed to lengthen dog life and increase general well-being. All this points to the fact that there's more to feeding a dog than just picking out something he likes and giving it to him. Some dog foods may not contain the balanced diet a dog needs. Prolonged indifference to your dog's diet could shorten his life and lead to unnecessary vet bills. Here are some hints from Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, a major producer of steel used in the making of cans for dog food and other canned products:

- 1) Check the contents of dog food before you buy. Does it contain the balanced ingredients your dog needs? It should include protein, fat, minerals, vitamins and carbohydrates (vegetable matter).
- 2) Make sure your dog has plenty of water, especially during summer months. Canned dog foods already contain some of the water to fulfill his minimum requirements, but always be sure there is an extra supply of fresh water on hand.
- 3) Always use a clean dish. Leftover food can cause worms if eaten at a later time.
- 4) In cold weather try heating the food a little. One advantage of canned foods is that this can be done easily by placing the opened can in hot water.
- 5) Feed your dog at a regular time each day. Before adult support time is best since this will reduce the temptation to beg at the table.
- 6) Make sure you feed him the right amount. A 15-pound dog needs a can a day; a 30-pound dog needs two cans a day.
