and you won't ever have to worry about stopping. The day soon arrives when every smoker is told by a doctor to quit smoking, and on that day, I'm sure that each wisher he had never started.

Breaking any habit before you let it get to be a habit can't be as hard as trying to shake one that really has hold of you.

The same advice applies to many other things. Avoid committing little crimes that lead to bigger ones, because they are habit forming; and besides that, your moment of weakness could cost you a whole lifetime of happiness—RIGHT NOW—to say nothing of the embarrassment, shame and disgrace that misbehavior brings to the ones who love you. If these thoughts aren't enough to make you stop and think before doing something you know is wrong, consider these things to help alert your conscience to the dangers that wait for you just a little further down the road that you are taking.

Lots of young people probably don't realize what a tragedy it is to have a misdemeanor on his or her record. And for committing a felony, he can be sent directly to reform school, the penitentiary or given a suspended sentence that places a large number of restrictions on his activities.

A misdemeanor, so you can understand this a little better, is usually considered to be the theft or destruction of property valued at less than $50.00 and a felony is a more serious crime: theft or destruction of property valued at more than $50.00. Breaking other laws can also constitute these offenses.

This won't apply to you for a few years probably, but I want you to know that there are lots of job application forms that ask: "Have you ever been accused of a felony?" Note this carefully: I did not say anything about such a charge being proven—I said accused of a felony. Not too long ago I read a story about a teacher in another state who was accused of using and selling dope by a group of students who didn't like her. Even though it was later proven that she was innocent of all the charges, she could not answer the application form question with "no", and therefore found that a completely unfound-

ATTEND RAINBOW GRAND ASSEMBLY IN DALLAS

The Silverton Rainbow Assembly was represented by three officers and one member of its ed accusation against her had jeopardized her teaching career.

If a person can't answer "no" to job application questions regarding misdemeanors and felonies, they will find themselves having trouble getting a job with any of the larger companies, or as a teacher or highway patrolman, for example. Once a person has been convicted of a misdemeanor or a felony, he can NEVER get it off his record no matter how young and innocent he may have seemed at the time or how good an upstanding citizen he may later prove to be. It is something that becomes as permanently a part of you as your fingerprints.

The April issue of "Comings, Goings & Doings" published by First National Bank at Quitaque contained an article regarding the drug problem. This applies to drugs, but it also gives you an idea of the stark seriousness of other offenses.

It stated: "One of the greatest menaces facing our youth of today is the heavy drug traffic that is so prevalent across the country. Much publicity has been given to the physical and mental damage that can be inflicted by these drugs, as well as the heavy penalties that are handed out to those convicted for selling or using them. Very little information, however, has been given as to what happens when a person is given a suspended sentence and released. What has he lost? John D. McDonald of Fawcett Publications, Inc. tells us that a young person who is convicted of possession of drugs, then given a suspended sentence, has lost these things:

1. He has lost the right to vote, the right to own a gun, the right to run for public office.
 2. He can never become a doctor, dentist, Certified Public Accountant, engineer, lawyer, architect, realtor, osteopath, physical therapist, private detective, pharmacist, school teacher, barber, funeral director, masseur or stock broker.

3. He can never get a job where he is to be bonded or licensed. He can't work for the city, county or federal government. He can't get into West Point, Annapolis, or the Air Force Academy.

4. He can enlist in the military, but he will be denied his choice of service, and probably will be assigned to a labor battalion."

No matter what your age, if you can read you must realize the significance of the above material. If you don't understand it, ask someone to explain it to you. In a nutshell, it means that you can lose all the rights and privileges of being a citizen of the United States of America.

Do you understand now why I believe you should be so careful not to let a moment of carelessness or weakness ruin the rest of your life?

Break bad habits before they have a chance to get started by ridding your mind of thoughts of them. Go out on the sandlot, ride a bicycle, develop a hobby if it's nothing but collecting rocks (a fascinating hobby!), play ball, skate, walk on a barrel, play hopscotch or marbles—ANYTHING! but get any thoughts you may have been dwelling on regarding smoking, drugs, shop-lifting, etc. out of your mind and back in the Devil's Den where they belong. They can't do you any good, and you don't need them!

Our priceless heritage embodied in the flag of the United States, is as alive today as it was when written for the ages in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. It stands for all the world to see and for all Americans to cherish. And in the tradition of Washington, Jefferson, and Hamilton, we, too, have a privilege, a right, and a duty. While we may disagree as to the methods, we should not disagree as to the goal—that of preserving the greatest democratic society the world has ever known.

Our flag is a symbol, not of sentiment, but of history, the history of men and women willing to live and die for it. Surely this willingness is with us still, because daily we experience more of the blessings that are ours—ours because we are Americans.

Here are a group of students who are occupying a building not belonging to them, and demanding certain changes in policy. Possibly, there are things that are wrong with this university. However, there are also many things that are right. But the most wrong-doing of all, is that they are breaking the law and through force are insisting that their demands be met. This method of insisting upon their point of view cannot be tolerated. These students came to learn, not to dictate. Yes, of course, students should have the right of dissent and their voices should be heard. But the taking over of such property should never be tolerated. Why are some of our university administrations lacking in courage and strength to take whatever action is necessary to maintain law and order and to provide an education for the majority of the students? It took courage, strength, and determination, and sometimes, high risk, to build this great nation of ours. Surely, we can muster the strength one more time to preserve our great country.
