Tobacco Case Decision Summarized.

The Tobacco Trust decision is characterized by Attorney Ceneral Wickersham as a "most com prehensive and sweeping victory for the Government.'

The Trust is held to be a combination in restraint of trade, a monopoly in violation of the law. The decision affects sixty-five American corporations and twenty-nine individual defendants.

An opportunity is given the trust to disintegrate and recre a condition of transacting business not repugnant to law.

If, at the end of six to eight months, the corporations fail to bring themselves within the law, a receivership and dissolution by court decree will follow.

The trust is held to have been guilty of intimidation and clearly to have shown a purpose to stifle competition.

Chief Justice White announced the decision which practically was unanimous, although Justice Harlan dissented on several points.

As in the Standard Oil case, Justice Harlan resents the application of the "rule of reason" to the Sherman anti-trust law.

The court having held the de fendant corporations guilty of conscious wrongdoing, Justice Harlan "is not at all anxious" to perpetuate any new combination growing out of them.

Sunday School Matters

Last Sunday was Children's day at Arah and oh, I did regret not to get there as I had promised. I do certainly enjoy attending those children's day exercises

They are always good, I intended to get there and be with them until afternoon and come back according to previous announcement and give a talk at Union, but being sick, did not feel able to make so long a trip. It was the first time in my life that physical inability ever prevented me from being at an appointment. I will say to Arah, don't think hard of me; you had a good day that was highly enjoyed by that large crowd.

Every one that I have seen report a great day. I got as far as Union and did not feel like that I would be doing myself justice to go any further.

At Union they had a good ser- trustworthy. mon by Brother Leach, the pastor. Their dinner was spread and such a dinner. There was enough to feed that vast audience and enough left for supper.
