PROCEEDINGS OF THE 39TH DISTRICT COURT

Grand Jury Organized and Charged Lists of Grand Juries for First and Second Week

Judge John B. Thomas and District Attorney Stinson arrived in Snyder this morning accompanied by Court Reporter Jas. A. Henderson.

Already a great number of the citizenship had come in from their farms and the September term of the Scurry county District Court was opened in due and ancient form.

The first work was to organize the grand jury.

Judge Thomas delivered to them the regulation charge covering all lines of crime presumed to come under their notice.

W. C. Jones of Fluvanna was appointed foreman and the twelve went to their room to begin the investigation of the moral status of the country.

The court then sounded the docket and proceeded to outline a schedule for taking up and hearing the cases to be adjudicated.

A suggestion was made to try to get the Judge to continue the business so the farmers may be at home to gather their crops, but the court probably thought the rights of litigants should be adjusted.

ANOTHER TRAMP COMET APPEARS

ITS TAIL LOOKS LIKE A BLOTCH ACROSS THE

OTHER COMETS LOOK SMALL

Declared May Be Observed in the Southwest During Next Two Weeks

St. Louis, Sept. 17.—A hobo comet which makes Halley's and other comets appear like amateurs is hovering about 45,000,000 miles southwest of St. Louis, according to Father Martins Brennon, noted western Priest-astronomer. It has been hovering modestly there for several days and may be observed in the same general direction for two weeks more.

The sky hobo is speeding however at several countless thousands of miles, a minute further in to the vistas of the astral southwest and will gradually disappear from view.

It is a real publicity seeker for its tail may be plainly seen with opera glasses. The head of the nucleus is visible to the naked eye just to the south and west of the star Chuban which is known as the "tail of the dragon" It was closest to the earth tonight.

The mammoth tail of the comet appears like a light blotch across the sky. The "Coma" or fringe of the comet is also easily visible with glasses.

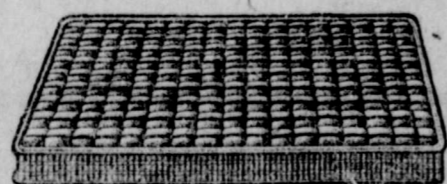

The comet is forming into two circles. Through the telescope, Father Brennon says the comet is the most satisfactory to observers of the many labeled and unlabeled direliets of the sky which have infested the firmament recently.

Through Father Brennon's powerful telescope the core or nucleus is distinctly visible as is also the remarkable extent of the tail. This tail, though large, is shallow. It is perched high in the heavens and is travelling rapidly toward the sun.

This comet is declared to be in addition to the one named for Brooks and which has recently been seen toward the north star.

MONOPOLY OFFICIALS BEING ARE INDICTED

Government Seeks to Bring Shoe Machinery Company to Account

By Associated Press:

Boston, Sept. 19.—The indictments have been returned today against the officers of the United Shoe Machinery Company and one against the Company itself, charging unlawful methods of conducting business in restraint of trade. This company grew from a small shoe shop owned by Sidney L. Winslow at Salem, Mass. Other small concerns united with it. They manufactured shoe making machines and leased them for a royalty.

The Company would not sell a machine without binding the buyer to purchase his wire nails, eyelets and other accessories from them.

It is said that the royalty charged was 2 2-3 cents on each pair of shoes made.

The difference between the rich mail order houses and the local merchant is this: The mail order houses know that advertising is an investment, whereas the local merchant too often imagines that it is an item of expense. That is why the mail order houses are so hard to compete with. Their advertisements go on forever and draws like mustard plasters. Every newspaper man often hears a merchant say: "I haven't any money to advertise with just now." The mail order foxy grandpa's motto is different, his idea is this: "I must advertise liberally so as to get more business," and the mail order man doesn't care a whoop whether it is June or December. He knows that advertising is his salvation." —Devine Reporter.

Parents, Teachers and Pupils

The Dallas News prints a practical article relative to the duties and responsibilities of teachers in cases where pupils have the correct moral training at home and says that under such conditions the teacher must supply the shortage or leave the pupil to suffer for it. The suggestion is good and is quite applicable in cities where moral training is more generally given.

There is another trouble in the smaller towns and it is more trying to teachers than that of becoming a moral preceptor to the child of moral neglect. We have homes where the parents teach the children the Lord's prayer, the Beatitudes and see that the children live circumspectly, while in their sight and parents are then apt to indulge then a degree of confidence which may have bad effect on the child. The school days may be considered the formative period in the construction of character. The home training may be according to family rules and they may possibly measure up to a fairly correct standard, yet the rules for family government may not apply to community conditions and when the boy starts to school he becomes a member of a community or common wealth.

Parents may soon notice changes in his manner and in his conversation. These changes come from the inclination to conform to custom and it is right at that point that the parents may as well consent to divide authority and influence with the teacher and with the public.

It is some times the case that parents are not willing to surrender authority to the teacher and when the child is chastised there is feeling that the teacher has been unjust. Just here is a critical point in a boy's life. The teacher must exercise government over her community. She cannot maintain individual rules but her laws must be applied impartially to all her citizens alike. If parents uphold their children in contempt for school rules the foundation will be laid for contempt for the laws of the country. If the teacher is not supported in her administration of school discipline the child may grow up to have disregard for laws of the land. He chafes under school restraint and is apt to rebel against the authority of the state. If the school boy is taught to respect and obey the authority of the school he is more apt to have regard for the laws of his country. A boy is encouraged to a disregard for school rules, and whose parents make trouble with the teacher when she seeks to chastise him, will some time rise up against the laws of the country. There he will find that all men are created equal, and parental indulgence will not avail. Since the school boy is to become a citizen of the state and must conform to the laws, he may as well be taught in school days the importance of yielding obedience to the constituted authorities, and parents should be exceedingly careful to avoid any course of home training that may lead to disrespect toward the school and the state government.

Time for Political Peace.

It is yet too early, of course to form an estimate as to how much Senator Bailey's renunciation of the regret of his friends and the elation of his enemies must have time to become fully vented. Senator Vaughan urges that the anti-Bailey people get together and name as their candidate for governor some man whom the pros can accept. Let us hope fervently that they will do nothing of the kind. There is, we believe some anti-Bailey organization in the state. Let it hold one more meeting for the purpose of decreeing formally and quietly its own complete dissolution. One can claim membership in a clan only to the derogation of its citizenship. Every man, whether he has been a Baileyite or an anti-Baileyite, can now renounce his allegiance to his clan without any feeling of disloyalty, and rightly reclaim the boon of independent and unmodified citizenship. We ourselves have had some part in the warfare. We hope it may turn out that we shall enjoy frequent, though perhaps brief, comradeship with men who, in the cause of Senator Bailey, have been arrayed in antagonism to us. It were time the uniform of faction were put aside and the habiliment of plain citizenship put on again.—Dallas News.

Pro Leaders Meet.

The prohibition executive committee met last week in Dallas and after consultation decided to have no court contest of the statewide election. There was a vast deal of slatmaking done but it developed that there are so many state-widers who want to go to the United States Senate or the Governor's Mansion that all slates were broken and thrown into the junk pile and several political lightning rods are still up. It was believed that the junta would nominate Campbell for Governor and Ball for the Senate but this idea was put aside.

Some of the crowd thought these two if named at all should be placed the other way. Others believe that Judge Ramsey could easily be elected over Colquitt where there is some doubt about Campbell being able to smooth down some rough places made by his four years as Governor. Any way the waters got muddy. A politician couldn't see the pebbles at the bottom and they posted the pasture and went home.

A Description of Christ.

This was found in an ancient manuscript, sent by Publius Lentulus, governor of Judes, to the Roman Senate.

"There lives in this Judea a man of singular character whose name is Jesus Christ. The barbarians esteem him as a prophet but his followers esteem him as the immediate offspring of God. He is endowed with such unparalleled virtues as to be able to call back the dead from their graves and heal any sort of disease with a word or touch. His person is tall and elegantly shaped, his aspect amiable and reverend, his hair flows to those beautiful shades which no united graceful curves below, agreeably parting on the crown of his head called Nazerenes. His forehead is smooth and his cheeks without a spot save them that are of a lovely red. His nose and mouth are formed with exquisite symmetry; his beard thick and suited to the hair of his head, reaching below his chin, and parted in the middle like a fork. His eyes are bright, clear and serene. He rebukes with majesty and counsels with persuasive whether in word or deed, being excellent, grave and strictly characteristic of so exalted a being. No man has ever seen him though but at Judea and frequently he held us weep, and so penititudes are unable to refrain. He is modest, temperate and wise. Whatever this phenomena may be in the end he now seems to be a man of strength every way surpassing the earthly beauty and divine perfection in dren of men."

Since J. R. Hamilton purchased the Slaton Journal, he has changed the makeup of it from six to five columns and is getting out an eight page paper, as neat as a new spring bonnet and him full of good reading.

Rufus and Dickey make a strong team. They are both boosters and realize that Slaton is a live proposition and the Slaton country is as good as can be found in the great plains scope. The Journal is a pioneer in Slaton. It was born with the new town. The Signal is glad to see the business men rally to the Journal, for it is in capable hands and will be in the front of every movement for the upbuilding of the town.

We are gratified to see the Journal carry evidences of prosperity and if the Slaton people will give it substantial support, it will prove one of the strong factors in town building.

The Austin Statesman sums up the recent turmoil something like this—The pros have worn themselves out and the antis by their educational work have produced fruit. A little later it will be noted that the pros have recuperated and that while the antis were scared into making all kinds of promises to be good, they will stick to it just as long as they have to do so.

The Rental Question
In discussing the rental question from one of the oldest cotton planters of north Texas will be of interest at this time:
"I do not think the high price of Collin county farming lands ought to cause any change in the present customary rentals—one-fourth of the cotton and one-third of the grain.

"Surely because land is worth $60.00 to $70.00 per acre does not increase its earning capacity. In fact, when worth $30.00 to $40.00 per acre the lands were more fertile and produced larger crops under the same tillage. Besides the increased cost of living of the renter and his family is much greater nowadays; namely, every implement or mule or cow he buys as well as groceries, cost him at least 30 per cent more, hence a land owner cannot consistently agree to any change in the present customary rentals. Thirty-five years ago, the time I moved from South Texas to Collin county

Johnson county farmers who poisoned their cotton have had good results. The difference is plainly seen in fields where the poison was not used.

Frank Bowren's paper, the Graham Leader carries at least 5 pages of display ads, besides the smaller spaces and locals and the Graham merchants are thrifty and enjoying good trade. It is always so when merchants are not afraid to advertise.

Wm. T. Nichols at Pine Bluff, Arkansas cut his wife's throat because she was trying to take their children away with her. The two had separated and the court had decreed that she could have possession of the children two days in each week.

A negro at Jacksonville Florida met Cicero Thompson and a lady on their way home from the car line and shot Thompson to death then criminally assaulted the woman. A pastor in Fort Worth advocates the revival of the family pew in a hope of influencing the children to attend church. It will not work. The young eads will not agree to sit with the old folks through even a service of modern duration. They had rather be on the outer edge.

American cotton dealers have rejected Liverpool's plan to validate cotton bills of lading. The conference adopted a resolution declaring the plan offensive to reputable and honorable business men and repugnant to Southern business principle.

Our grand mothers used eatnip sage, elder berries, yellow root, slippery elm bark, flax seed and various other roots and herbs in compounding remedies for common ailments and nobody ever heard of pellagra appendicitis or other ites, now so common.

A Denver woman proposed to establish a barber shop in Fort Worth where female barbers will be employed. It is a safe guess that the shop will have to get patronage from the ranks of visitors and unmarried men. The Fort Worth wives will not stand for their husbands being shaved there.

Whenever the democratic party leaves the old track of solid honesty built by its early advocates and swings off after doubtful expedients it loses force as an organized party and seeking to please all elements of political thought is apt to satisfy none. Well posted leaders may go down in trying to stem the wavering, but history is apt to show they were right.

Everyday Misnomers

A vast number of incorrect notions are acquired by reason of misleading names. For instance weak for a Dutch clock. We get the kind we want, so it really does not matter that it is not a dutch clock at all, but one of German The clocks, called Dutch are made in the village of Freyburg in the Black Forest. This misnomer is due to simple mispronunciation—:Deutsch" meaning of course, German.

Nothing is more natural than to assume that India ink comes from India, but it does not and never did any more than does India Rubber. India ink is a Chinese product and India rubber comes from South America.

Camel hair brushes are not made from the hair of camels, but from the hair of the tails of Russian and Siberian squirrels. Camels hair is however employed in the manufacture of certain fabrics to be made into shawls, etc and it is sometimes mixed with silks.

French brier pipes are not made from the roots of brier, but from the root of a white heath which attains considerable size in the south of France, where it is lously cultivated for pipemaking purposes. The name is derived from the French "bruyere" the dialect form of which is briere, meaning heath.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN

Cotton is being gathered rapidly and marketed at from 7 1-2 to 7 3-4 cents per pound. Corn and oats are good and selling at 20 cents per bushel.

The election held in Snyder yesterday, was quite a victory for morality, peace and general prosperity. The vote as counted, stands 53 for prohibition and 23 against.

Mr. J. V. Riley has bought property in the suburbs of Dark and expects to move his family there soon. We think he anticipates running for mayor and Wild Dick for marshal of Dark City.

Last Sunday at Jumbo, while Rev. W. W. Werner was preaching fire started on the prairie. Nearly all of the men ran from meeting to fight the fire, but one Mr. Griffith ran away with Miss Lelia Wilson, to Snyder to be married. They were all smiles, as they returned in the evening.

We wish the young couple a safe and pleasant journey as they glide down life's stream together.

WHEN HER BACK ACHES

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Snyder women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail, make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headache, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of dropsy or Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only. They attack kidney diseases by striking at the cause.

Can Snyder sufferers desire stronger proof than this woman's word?

Mrs. C. Scharbauer, of Midland, Texas, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me of a severe attack of backache which had troubled me off and on for several years. The secretions from my kidneys were also unnatural. I tried several remedies but was unable to find relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills."

DAVIS & FELMY.

The Texas farmers buy approximately 100 car loads of pork per week while hogs can be raised as cheap on a Texas farm as in any state in the Union. In fact, all the necessities and most all the luxuries of life can be raised in Texas and by so doing we will solve many of our perplexing problems relating to the high cost of living.

Officers in New Orleans believe they have captured Ben Myatt, the Falls county man who brutally murdered his wife and then played crazy. He afterwards escaped from jail in Corsicana.

Pensions For The Clergy.

Whatever any man may think of the wisdom of pension laws such as are in force in the nation and in many of the states, there can be no question in the mind of any fair-minded man but that there should be made, by all of the various religions denominations, systematic, permanent and ample provision for aged and infirm clergymen.

Most of the churches have some character of organization the purpose of which is to provide a fund for the support of ministers who are no longer able to do active ministerial work, but the fund of no denomination is adequate for the very worthy purpose.

The Episcopal church has entered upon the task of raising $5,000,000, the interest upon which is to be applied to the support of aged or infirm clergymen, and the movement should receive cordial support, not only by members of that denomination, but by the general public.

The United States Government is paying out something like $140,000,000 per annum to those who served in the war which began half century ago, and, unfortunately, many who deceive the bounty of their government have been shown to be the most unworthy; but even those who need and deserve the pension are not worthier to receive it than are those who have served long and faithfully in the army of the church militant.

That there are many ministers of very limited intellectual capacity is true, but upon the whole they are not only as intelligent as those engaged in every other vocation, but are, in the main, devoted, unselfish, self-sacrificing and poor.

While there are many preachers who would not be successful in any secular vocation, it is just as true that there are many who would be forceful factors in any field of industry and enterprise, but who, in obedience to their convictions of duty, put aside and give their whole thought and care and service to the welfare of their fellow men.

Taken as a whole, there can be found no where a more self-sacrificing, unselfish body of men than are the ministers of the various religious denominations of this country. They give the full strength and vigor of their lives to the service of their master, generally for most inadequate stipends. They are paid salaries so meager that it is beyond all possibility for them to accumulate a fund for a "rainy day" and in nine instances out of ten they approach the sunset of life not only poor in purse, but unfitted for toiling at any secular pursuit, and hence many of them are dependent upon relatives or upon the support of the churches.

Cuban Sugar.

The British steamer, Indianapolis, which arrived in Galveston last week from Havana, brought the sixth sugar cargo that has been received at this port for the Sugarland Refineries during the past few months.

The cargo consisted of 20,000 bags of sugar, valued at approximately $300,000, and after being weighed and sampled, the sugar will be shipped to Sugarland to be refined.

Every ship that comes to Galveston loaded with sugar affords cheaper rates back to Cuba for Texas products, such as rice, packing house products, cotton seed oil, cattle, flour, corn food-stuffs, stock food and a great many other things.

This instance illustrates one of the many benefits which accrue to the people of Texas by having large manufacturing concerns located in the state and one of the greatest encouragements that can be given a firm is to patronize its products.

Tribute Paid at Home

The Stevensville Tribune in reporting the recent death of Grandpa Lockhart in that town, a report of which was published in the Signal, after noting that he was converted and began preaching while yet a mere youth says further:

For 72 years he manfully battled at the citadel of Satan, and helped more than any other Baptist minister in Texas to uplift men and women and make them live purer and better lives. His was a stormy life, too, with many, many hardships to endure, and obstacles of almost insurmountable proportions to overcome, but in all his efforts he succeeded. In early preaching days his pathway was not entirely strewn with roses. There were times when the meat barrel seemed as if it would become entirely empty, but he had an abiding confidence that a way would be provided, and he never lost hope or courage. And in those early days—some 72 years ago, remember—Baptist churches were few and far apart, and the country was almost in its primeval condition, but the few people there, were poor but generous, and helped the cause Mr. Lockhart represented as best they could, and when preaching day came it was no unusual thing for a pioneer to travel 20 miles to hear this rugged man of the Baptist faith point out the way to the better life. There were no churches with slender spires pointing heavenward, no organs to chime in with the human voices to soften and mellow the tones—nothing to awaken in man that feeling of spiritual awe except the story of Jesus Christ that the preacher knew so well how to tell, and this attracted worshippers. He preached under arbors, and abided patiently the time until people could build churches, and lived to see fine structures reared on spots where he had once preached under an arbor or tree. But when a man has preached the gospel for seventy years, and the major portion of this time in a country just beginning to feel the pulsation of an awakened civilization his life is filled with interesting reminiscences, and no life lived in Texas had more of these than the beloved old man whose remains went back to mother earth on September 5th.

The Joy of Home Building.

Honesty has its birthplace in the home and in the heart of the generation receives its inspiration from the fireside. The imagination can conceive of no pleasure greater than that of a happy home. No man can become fully qualified for citizenship until the joys of home building have enriched his life.

We have in Texas 548,600 homes and of this number 416,377 are rural and 132,223 urban. We spend $50,000,000 per annum in building homes. We build 137 homes a day.

Cupid is a home builder. We have approximately 60,000 marriages per annum and yet we have 400,000 unmarried women of marriageable age. Cupid is not do need more marriages, more families and more homes.

Opponents of Senator Bailey and many of his friends believe that the voluntary retirement of the Senator will do much to harmonize the democratic party in Texas, but it will not be so if Ousley is to succeed him. Ousley has been the mouthpiece and intemper defender of Bailey for several years and seems to get his ideas from the Gainesville man.

An ominous cloud came up Sunday evening from the northwest. There was considerable lightning and some thunder but only a very light sprinkle of rain.

PENSION SYSTEM SCORED

Opposed to Physical Examination—Ask for Better Hospital System.

Kansas City Sept. 19.—Circular letters giving the Union side of the dispute with the Harriman lines are being sent to all members of the Blacksmiths, boiler-makers and machinists unions.

These letters are signed by A. E. L. Reguinn president of the organization and mailed in San Francisco.

The federation objects to the criticism of its apprentice system and explains that it became that had been practiced by the various employes.

The unions contend that their employes should not be subjected to physical examination but that the foreman should be left to judge the ability of the men to do their work.
