City tables trash talk

By RICK WHITE Managing Editor

The Muleshoe City Council Tuesday spent nearly an hour talking trash.

Not the combative kind that has crept into college and professional sports, but possible solutions to the city's solid waste management problems.

Forced to close its current landfill by October of 1997 because of new state guidelines, the council discussed hiring a private contractor to handle the city's solid waste disposal.

The cost of building and maintaining a new landfill that would satisfy the Texas Natural Resources Conservation Committee's new environmentally-conscious guidelines is exorbitant.

Two companies have submitted bid on the city's solid waste contract: Browning-Ferris Industries, international company with an office in Amarillo; and South Plains Waste Services, a small, four-year-old company in Olton.

BFI's bid includes a monthly fee of $14.95 for residential customers and the purchase of the city's two sanitation trucks for a total of $6,500.

South Plains submitted two much lower bids.

The first was for $8.40 a

Changing of the guard

■ Muleshoe PD getting major facelift

By RICK WHITE Managing Editor

In the days of earth tones and muted mauves, the fresh white paint is refreshingly bright.

The door to the spacious office is wide open as new Muleshoe Police Chief Rick Henegar rises from behind his uncluttered desk and offers a handshake.

Western paintings by his mother-in-law and wife hang on opposite walls.

Just a few steps into the building and already it feels Henegar plans to leave his same mark on the whole Muleshoe Police Department — refreshing change.

New police uniforms and badges are on order. Red and white decals for the city's three new police cars sit waiting next to his desk.

He says it's going to be a complete makeover.

"I want the Muleshoe Police Department to get a total new look," said Henegar Monday, after his first week on the job. "We've got a brand new chief and we want a brand new look.

Henegar has also made sweeping changes regarding personnel in the 13-member department.

Before his arrival, the department had three command officers and two patrolmen.

Now, it's a police chief and five patrolmen at straight hourly wages. All dispatchers now have the same rank and pay.

After 15 months without a full-time police chief, Henegar was hired by the City Council in February.

Muleshoe had been without a permanent police chief since November of 1995. Muleshoe city manager James Fisher called it a brand new beginning. "Right now, we meet at least daily to discuss what is

Council reshapes economic board

The City Council Tuesday made sweeping changes in the makeup of the Muleshoe Eco-Development nomic Corporation Board.

Alfonso Posadas was the only previous board member reappointed in a vote by the City Council.

Others elected to the fivemember economic development board were Mark Morton, Arnold Price, Ronald Ashford and J.B. Douglas.

The terms of all the previous board members had expired in the last two years, the result of an oversight Muleshoe city manager, James Fisher said.

The original board was appointed by the city council in 1993 when city voters approved a 1/2 cent sales tax increase to form an economic development corporation.

The city has about $400,000 in its economic development fund.

The money is dedicated to attracting new businesses and expanding existing ones. In other business Tuesday, the council award two grants totaling $10,000 from the Hotel/Motel Tax Fund to a pair of non-profit organizations. Funds can be used for tourism-related advertising and historical restoration or preservation projects.

The City collected slightly more than $31,000 in Hotel/ Motel tax last year.

Academics success leads to scholarships at LHS

By SAMUEL VILLARREAL Journal Staff Writer

Lazbuddie High School Principal Hardy Carlyle believes his school's academic success comes from a strong LHS will participate this week in the University Interscholastic League District 1-1A academic meet in Amarillo, hoping to add to the six state titles it has already won.

The halls at LHS may be somewhat quiet this week. Of the 76 students in the high school, 42 will be participating in the competition.

Lazbuddie has a history of success when it comes to academic activities. The school has won four state titles in accounting and two in computer science.

"Kids want to part of a winning program," Carlyle said. "They see their friends win, and they think, 'I can do what they do.' "

Carlyle said UIL academics offers such a vast array of different activities that most kids will find something they enjoy doing. A variety of English, math, journalism, speech, debate, and science events are sponsored by UIL.

Carlyle said that once a winning program is established, it is easier to get kids to participate. In fact, so many kids participate that some have to be turned away when team spots are filled.

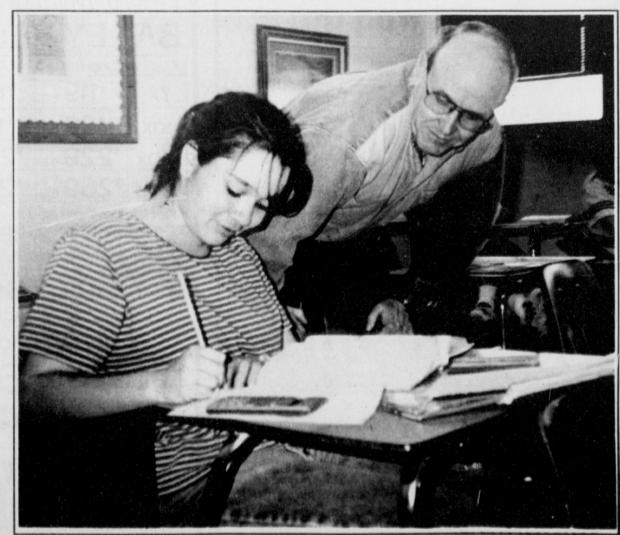

LHS sets aside one class period per week to allow students an added opportunity to meet with their coaches. The class is scheduled during a differnt period each week. By rotating the class through the schedule, students only miss each of their classes once every six-weeks.

Carlyle insist the class is an insignificant compared to the hours students put in before and after school hours.

Participation in UIL activities can go a long way in helping students obtain scholarships, Carlyle said. Students who make the state academic meet are become eligible for special UIL scholarships.

In 1995, three LHS students

With the end of another school year a little more than two months away, school officials are preparing for the latest round of summer school.

The Board of Trustees of the Muleshoe Independent School District Monday discusses plans for the summer school program.

Summer school will be held June 5 to July 2 for students in kindergarten through 8th grade. School officials project 250-270 students will take classes reading, writing, math, social studies.

"Students in summer school will have the opportunity to gain credit or promotion for their work," MISD Superintendent Bill Moore.

Moore said. said at-risk high school students will have the opportunity to take courses for credit at Pep High School during the summer.

A technology course will also be offered for high school students who wish to learn about computer presentations.

Students will spend two weeks learning about spreadsheets, data bases, word processing. They will also learn how to utilize optical projectors in conjunction with computers.

Moore compared the program to audio/video clubs that once assisted teachers by transporting and assembling projects for class films. Student "techies" would serve a similar function in a modern fashion.

The district has budgeted $65,000 for the summer school program. The budget includes teacher salaries and supplies. The district will also provide transportation for students enrolled in summer school.

A summer nutrition program will be offered in conjunction with the summer school program. The district is required to offer a summer nutrition program because more than 60 percent of its students receive free or reduced meals.

According to food services manager Jason Jones, the program is not limited to persons in the summer school program. The district will be federally reimbursed for every for meal to persons age 18 and under the district feeds. The meals will be available to any person who meets the age requirements, regardless of family

The district will prepare breakfast and lunch at the MHS cafeteria. Students attending summer school at Mary De-Shazo and Dillman elementary will be bused to the high school campus for the meals.

In other business, trustees approved personnel contracts for the 1997-98 school year.

Contracts for 134 MISD instructors were extended for one year as recommended by campus principals.

In addition, contracts for part-time instructors Marilyn Miller and Bob Graves will also be extended pending enrollment in their respective classes.

Progress

BAXTER
BLACK
ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SEN

Imagine you were a livestock man in medieval England a thousand years ago. It's early spring. Snow on the ground, mud in the cow lot. You walk the small pasture where the heavy heifers are kept. It's hard to see much with just the moonlight. But you spot one that's down in a swale. She's on her side in the process of calving. One foot is showing.

You check the rest of the cows the best you can and go back to the heifer. No progress. You wait a little longer, then resigned to your duty, you walk back to the cow lot and set the gates.

On your way back to get the heifer the wind blows down your neck and you shiver. Using a long stick you got the heifer up and drive her into the cow lot. There's some straw scattered behind the windbreak. She finds it and lays down.

You walk to the earthen roofed shed to collect your tools. You manage to ease up on her and drop a homemade halter over her head and tie her loosely to a post on the windbreak.

There is tepid water in you oaken bucket. After takin' off your tunic you wash yer arms and kneel down behind her.

Taking a three foot leather thong you slip a noose around the protruding foot. Following yer father's advice you next slip a hand inside and search for the other foot. You attach a second thong to it, take a wrap around each hand and begin to pull.

By pulling when she pushes, resting when she rests, you and she finally deliver the calf two hours later.

You rub him down, get him under the flank to such and get to bed at daybreak.

Sound familiar? However we have made some progress in a thousand years. We've traded the moonlight for a flashlight, a (grass-hemp) rope for a nylon, wool underwear for goose down, leather shoes for rubber boots, leather thongs for chrome plated O.B. chains and we've traded patience for a ratchet calf puller.

But for the most part much of the process remains the same. Cold feet, bare arms, sweat in your eyes, small heifers and big calves, manual labor and dogged determination

Progress has mechanized, modernized and computerized much of our world from farming to pharmacy, from coal mining to dentistry, from astronomy to architecture.

But those of us who practice the ancient art of birthing livestock could trade places with our counterparts a thousand years ago, or even two thousand years ago, and we'd be interchangeable almost immediately.

Sorta like horseshoers, acupuncturists, dog trainers and herbal medicine salesmen. Makes ya think, doesn't it?

House ag chair rips Clinton

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee said the Clinton Administration plans to pay for a controversial giveaway of $65 million in federal assets by delaying two million acres from enrollment in the conservation reserve program (CRP) was "wrongheaded and completely unacceptable," and pledged to fight the proposal.

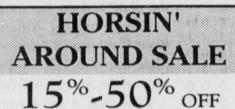

Last fall, during the height of the presidential campaign, President Clinton promised Crown Butte Mines, Inc. $65 million worth of federal oil, gas, and coal reserves in exchange for the company's promise not to mine an area just outside the northern corner of Yellowstone National Park.

However, under the Budget Enforcement Act of 1990, the legislation is required to reduce expenditures by the amount of royalties used for the exchange.

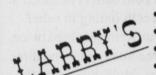

Last week, the Clinton Administration announced that it proposed to cover the $65 million by delaying the sign-up of two million acres of cropland under the Conservation Reserve Program.

"It may well be that some of the Administration's campaign promises are coming back to haunt them," U.S. Rep. Bob Smith (R-Oregon) said. "But the notion that the Adminstration would seriously propose to pay for this give-away on the backs of the Conservation Reserve Program, which Secretary Glickman himself has called the most successful conservation program in history, is simply incredible to me.

"Taking conservation reserve program funds, supposedly to protect the environment, is the ultimate example of robbing Peter to pay Paul. Farmers have every right to question whether the Clinton Administration understands or, cares abut their concerns."

Academics -

received a total of $27,000 in UIL scholarships. Another year, two students received $12,500 each in UIL scholarships.

Carlyle said in a small school like Lazbuddie, academic scholarships are more feasible than athletic scholarships.

"Very few kids get athletic scholarships in a school this small," Carlyle said.

According to Carlyle, teacher support is as vital to the success of academic competitions as the enthusiastic student participation.

"I don't have to ask "Who's going to take this, and whose going to take that?" Carlyle said. "I have teachers approach me wanting to sponsor activities and work with the kids."

Even Carlyle pitches in when it comes to coaching academic teams. Carlyle coached the computer science team before becoming principle at LHS. He said he enjoys coaching so much he will juggle the requirements of the two rather than stop coaching.

JV Mules rally past RR

A six-run rally in the bottom of the sixth inning lifted Muleshoe to a 13-10 Saturday in a District 1-3A junior varsity game at the city baseball field.

The JV Mules collected five hits while winning their first game of the season in three outings.

Back-to-back singles by Mitch Mason and Ishmael Nunez fueled the six-run uprising in the sixth that gave Muleshoe a 13-9

Cameron Nix picked up the win in relief for the Mules.

Kyle Hahn had a bases-loaded triple in a four-run fifth inning that put Muleshoe ahead 7-6.

River Road collected 10 hits off three Muleshoe pitchers.

Unknown rider

This unidentified rider was one of hundreds to take part in the Muleshoe Roadrider's annual motorcycle rally Saturday at the Bailey County Coliseum. He's pictured here lining up for the parade down American Boulevard and Main Street. No more information was available.

month per household and included the purchase of the both trucks for $37,000. The second bid was for $9.40 and included the purchase of the two trucks plus all the city's alley dumpsters.

The five-year bids include a 5% franchise fee for the city.

South Plains said it would use the trucks it purchases from the city as part of its Muleshoe operation.

"We're going to have to look at this as more than just what it costs us to pick up the trash," Muleshoe city manager James Fisher told the council.

"We have to take a long, hard look at this. Once we get out (of the sanitation business), we have to get out for good." If South Plains is awarded the contract, it would double the size of the company.

Fisher and several councilmen wondered about the financial viability of the Olton company.

One of the four co-owners of South Plains admitted to the council during questioning that the company has been operating on a "shoestring budget" but is surviving.

BFI is an already established, worldwide company.

Fisher also said the council needs to consider the expertise of the company in state and federal regulations, should a situation arise.

"I would not expect the council to make a decision today," Fisher said. "I think we all need to sit down and study this more closely."

The council tabled a motion to award the bid and planned to hold a workshop, possibly next week, to gather more information.

The city would petition TNRCC to keep open and even expand its Type IV landfill, which is used for large, bulky items.

"Otherwise, that kind of stuff would end up in the county bar ditches and roads," Fisher said. "We've got to make sure we don't put a burden on the county."

Buenrostro named top MAHD employee

Sandy Buenrostro was named the Muleshoe Area Hospital District's Employee of the Year.

Buenrostro has been an employee of Muleshoe Area Medical Center since August 1989, when she was hired as a nurse aide. In 1992 she transferred to the lab as a phlebotomist and specializes in drawing blood.

Buenrostro and her husband, Gilbert, have four children, Marissa, Anthony, Amanda and Thomas.

Buenrostro was chosen from

MHS one-act play advances

AMARILLO — Muleshoe High School's one-act play, "The Ceremony of Innocence", was chosen Tuesday to advance to the district level of University Interscholastic League competition at Amarillo College.

Carlos Rojas, Steven Madrid, Kermit Price and Scotty Mills were named to the all-star cast. Honorable mentions were Kenzie Brown, Twyla Gear and John Bryan Cowart.

MHS will represent the south zone at the UIL 1-3A one-act play competition along with Friona High School.

FHS's play, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," received the best actor and best actress awards at the zone competition.

going on," Fisher said. "Obviously, we're going to be talking a lot, but it's his department to run."

The image of the Muleshoe Police Department has suffered

Former police chief Julian Dominguez resigned a year and a half ago amid allegations of domestic abuse.

The city is a defendant in a whistleblower lawsuit filed by a former city patrolman who was fired two days after stopping then city manager Dave Marr for an alleged traffic violation

Several local businesses and community members have expressed to Fisher and several City Councilmen a total lack of faith in city police.

Fisher said the department was due for a major shake-up.

"It doesn't do any good to point fingers or deal in the past, because they've done some good things," Fisher said. "What we're interested in is restoring the trust of the community. "

Another problem was animosity between the Muleshoe PD and the Bailey County Sheriff's Department.

Henegar said that problem has already been addressed.

"Everybody (from the Sheriff's Department) has gone out of their way to come over and offer their help in any way they could," Henegar said. "That won't be a problem as long as I'm here."

One patrolman and one dispatcher have resigned since Henegar took over March 10.

Patrolman Kenny Evans resignation is for personal reasons and not related to changes in the department, according to Fisher. Evans was hired in September of 1995.

Another change in the department was a switch from 12-hour shifts to eight-hour rotating shifts.

The move helps eliminate overtime and gives all the officers an opportunity to work the preferred shifts.

"I've got some officers who haven't seen the light of day in two years," said Henegar, a 14year veteran of the Kermit PD.

Henegar said he moved his office to the front of the building because he believes in an open-door policy.

A new security light will be installed above the front door on what is otherwise dim street.

"We want people to know we're here to help 24 hours a

Lazbuddie brass quintet qualifies for state meet

Seven Lazbuddie students recently competed at UIL Solo and Ensemble contest in Lubbock. All seven came home with a l rating which is the highest rating given. The brass quintet composed of Jamie Bohler, 1st Trumpet; Kristen Carson, 2nd Trumpet; Shena Seaton, French Horn; Michael Carson, Trombone; and Brice Redwine, Tuba played a Bach Fugue. The rating of I on a class I ensemble earns them the right to compete at State competition in San Marcos in May.

Sarah Watson received a I on a class 2 xylophone solo entitled 'Water Drops". She received very good comments from the judge on her performance. Leah Turner a freshman also received a I on her Piano Solo, Bugatelle #9 by Tcherepnin. This was also a class 2 solo. Leah's I rating will require her to play a class I solo at any further UIL Solo competitions.

Laz UIL choir

Members of the Lazbuddie High School Choir participated in the District UIL vocal solo and ensemble competition earlier this month. The choir performed as a small ensemble singing "Once More the Flowers Bloom", a class I title. This was a first time event for the Lazbuddie choir and were very proud to bring home a rating of excellent. National Agriculture Week is March 16-22

Texas farmers and ranchers will join in the 24th celebration of National Agriculture Week on March 16-22 as the nation honors its food and fiber produc-

National Agriculture Week is held to unite the entire food and agriculture industry and provide an opportunity to promote a better understanding among consumers about the important role this industry plays.

From the cotton corn and sorghum fields of the South Plains; the cattle feedlots and wheat fields of the Panhandle an Rolling Plains, to the vegetable fields and citrus groves of South Texas and the timber forests of East Texas, Texas contributes heavily to the nation's agricultural economy.

It ranks first in the nation in the production of cotton and spinach, cattle, beef cows, cattle on feed, sheep and ewes.

Despite a severe drought which ravaged much of the state in 1996, Texas producers still marketed agricultural products valued at $13,87 billion, said Dr. Jackie Smith, professor of agricultural economics and marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Lubbock. That, in turn, had an economic impact on the state of more than $45 billion, he said.

In Texas, agriculture employs about 18 percent of the workforce, the Extension Service economist noted. It includes persons engaged in producing, processing, transporting and marketing agricultural products.

"Most people are unaware of the connection between themselves and agriculture — They see themselves as totally removed from the farm. However, they or someone they now is probably employed by the food and agriculture industry,' he Nearly 185,000 farms and ranches occupy nearly 80 percent of the 168 million acres in Texas. However, less than two percent of the state's population live on those farms or ranches.

Nationally, agriculture produces about 16 percent of the gross national product; that figure is about the same as the state level.

Keepers of the Legend will be held Aug. 8-11.

"We realized we could have done a more effective job last year of advertising," Smith said.

Last year, the Council turned down a request by Mule-Plex for $10,000 toward purchasing sound system.

Councilmen Larry Kirk and Roger Williams both said they voted against the sound system project because the city had already agreed to purchase bleachers to be used for the play.

"I think $5,000 is sufficient for any one group," Williams said. "I think the money is there to be spread around."
