SNYDER, TEXAS, FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 30, 1930

NUMBER FORTY-ONE

HUGE CROWD EXPECTED TO HEAR MARKETING PLAN

CITY OUTLINES REQUIREMENTS FOR FRANCHISE

Communication Sent to Samples And Passed as Resolution by City Aldermen.

A number of Snyder citizens were present at a called meeting of the city council Thursday evening, May 22, when the following communication was addressed to Glen Samples and passed as a resolution: Mr. Glen Samples, Snyder, Texas.

Dear Sir: The city council of Snyder has carefully considered your application for franchise to construct and operate an electric generating plant and distribution system in the city of Snyder, and the council is naturally mindful of the expression of the voters of Snyder in the election which this council called for the purpose of having the voters state their wishes on the matter of having a competitive light and power plant and distributing system in Snyder.

The council desires to issue a franchise to you and to meet your wishes in every reasonable way. Nevertheless, the city council is under the necessity of taking reasonable and proper precaution to see that the franchise contains those provisions necessary to protect the city and its citizens and tax payers as far as possible against any damage and to guarantee that the provisions and requirements of the franchise be fully carried out, and to insure as nearly as possible that the city and its citizens and tax payers will secure, in the granting of this franchise, the results which they were led to expect by your representations made to the council and to the voters in connection with your application and with the election recently held. We therefore feel this end can only be attained by your absolute compliance with the following conditions:

FIRST: The stipulation in the franchise submitted by you with respect to the option of the city to purchase from you the electric plant and distribution system shall be stricken from the franchise since the laws of the state of Texas provide fully for

OIL TEST WILL BE NEAR TOWN

If the hopes of J. R. Cleveland and others of Rotan are realized, Snyder will have a producing oil well within a stone's throw of her city limits.

The Rotan man was in town Wednesday completing final arrangements for the drilling of a test on the Roy Strayhorn 72 acres, a part of the R. Wells lease, just south of Snyder, 350 feet from the south line and 240 feet from the east line of Section 154. It is about 500 feet from the bridge just outside the city limits.

The rig is being placed on the location this week-end, and Mr. Cleveland stated Wednesday that drilling would be started Monday. While the driller, O. N. Gilliland, of Sweetwater, will be equipped to go 2,500 feet, Mr. Cleveland is confident that a producer will be found at a much shallower depth. The Fort Worth spudders will be on the job.

"There is oil on that location," Mr. Cleveland states, "and I believe we will find it. All we ask is the cooperation of Snyder in seeing that a real test is made."

Cemetery Clean-Up Be Held Next Week

The first week in June has been set aside as clean-up week for the Snyder cemetery, and everyone interested in seeing the city of the dead beautiful and free of weeds should be ready to help in the great work, according to members of the Cemetery Association committee.

Spring rains have brought many weeds and other unsightly things to the grounds, and this concerted drive is intended to put the cemetery in its usual beautiful state so that the caretaker may have no trouble in maintaining it throughout the season.

Corrected Report of Census Enumeration Gives County 12,187

Scurry County's total population is 12,187, according to a preliminary count reported by Supervisor I. E. Barr of Lubbock early this week. This is five less than the number at first reported, as gained from addition of the town and precinct returns.

Only 9,003 people were in the county in 1920.

There were 1,562 farms enumerated in the count during the census. These figures, which are subject to correction even at this late date, may be added to if those who haven't been enumerated will send their names to this office.

These figures are only preliminary, and are subject to change when a re-count is made.

METHODISTS GO TO CONFERENCE

Five Scurry County men attended the annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in Dallas last week. D. P. Yoder, as lay leader from this district, was present for some time previous to the open sessions last week. Others who attended were Pastor Cal C. Wright of Snyder, Pastor R. D. Farmer of Dunn, E. D. Curry and Ralph Odum of Snyder.

The Methodists report that the session was inspiring in every respect. The prosecution of Bishop Cannon, given such prominence in newspaper headlines, was little more than a private grudge against the man who has been described as the country's foremost citizen, according to a member of the delegation. His exoneration was certain before the vote was taken, it is asserted.

SOIL SURVEY TO BE BEGUN SOON

The detailed soil survey of Scurry County will start early in June under the supervision of the United States Department of Agriculture and the A. & M. College of Texas. There will be from five to 14 soil survey agents working throughout the county and it will require several months to complete the job.

County Agent W. O. Logan and others are locating suitable office space for the indoor work, and have been advised that the advance work probably will start in a few days, when the surveying party finishes its work in Randall County.

This work is one of outstanding advancement for an agricultural county because it deals with the chemical composition of the various types of soil. Not only will it deal with the composition of the soil but will show the water level, the topography and general physical conditions.

While this survey is not costing Scurry County anything, there is need for every citizen to feel an interest in the work, and the survey agents will be on every forty acres of land in the county.

Especially where soil varies, and changes occur, it will be necessary to take sample of many of them. Therefore every land owner, as well as every tenant, should be anxious to assist in directing and permitting the survey agents to cover their premises and answer questions, and in every way help to make the records of our soil complete and make the work of the survey men more pleasant.

THEY'VE BEEN TRIED!

HAVE you read that cigarette advertisement—"What a WHALE of a difference just a FEW cents make"? And what a WHALE of a difference just A FEW cents make when CLASSIFIED ads in this paper are BEING considered! For as little AS 25 cents you may run a CLASSIFIED that may sell your COTTON seed, buy you a horse, rent AN apartment, sell a place, make A PROFITABLE trade. But DON'T take our word... Ask THE man who has used one!

THANK!

To Speak on Cotton Coop Plans

C. O. Moser, nationally known cotton authority, will be the principal speaker at a gathering of Scurry County citizens who are interested in securing most efficient handling of the cotton crop of this vicinity in Snyder next Thursday, June 5. He will explain the plan of operation and benefits of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, the federal government's cotton handling and sales agency. Mr. Moser is vice-President of the Association. The meeting will be held at the City Auditorium.

Corp. Eagen and Rookies to Appear in Play Next Week

An excellent cast, the most outstanding both for their ability to entertain and for their prominence in local business and social circles, is rehearsing daily for "Corporal Eagen," that irresistible comedy of rookie life in an army camp which the American Legion will present Thursday and Friday of next week at the high school auditorium.

Committees have been selected and are hard at work on the various phases of the production. Lee Stinson is general chairman and has charge of making all arrangements for the play. Mrs. A. G. Eiland, Jimmie Smith and Miss Elva Lemons have charge of the advertising. Mrs. J. C. Dorwood is chairman of baby pageant committee, Mrs. Lee Stinson chairman of the ticket committee, and Walla Fish is property chairman.

At 8:15 on next Thursday and Friday nights the house lights will go out and taps will ring out into the darkness. As the last note of taps fades away, E. J. Anderson, dressed in soldier uniform, will step in front of the curtain and give "My Dream of the Big Parade."

Following a pageant in which 150 youngsters, dressed as sailors, soldiers, nurses, etc., take part, will come 20 minutes of one of the snappiest minstrel acts ever seen here. Lee Stinson will be master of ceremonies, and J. M. Harris, Cal C. Wright, D. P. Yoder and O. O. Harris will be end men. Twenty-five of Snyder's prettiest and most popular girls will make up the choruses. Names of these girls, as well as the men who compose the soldiers' and sailors' choruses, will be found on page eight of this issue. Then there will be the rookie squad, whose names you may also find on the last page.

As for "Corporal Eagen" itself, it's a scream from start to finish. With the leading characters an Irishman and Jew, what more could one expect? Reserve seats go on sale at Stinson's Drug Store No. 1 Wednesday, June 4, at 8:00 a. m. Set your alarm clock if you want a good seat.

New Miniature Golf Grounds Are Opened

Opening Wednesday evening with full fairways and greens, the Green Flag golf course, Snyder's miniature putting grounds, has easily become the leading summer sport, and it continues to draw large crowds in the evenings and at night.

Eighteen adventurous holes, with hazards ranging from trees to a home-made cannon, provide thrills galore for the amateur or the professional player. Unlike most miniature courses, the local links provides plenty of room and more than the usual number of natural hazards.

Located just north of the Woodrow Hotel, on the north highway, the new course is operated by Charley Kelley, Maurice and Max Brownfield. Bedford McClinton will assist.

Two Churches Hold Tabernacle Services

A series of religious services will be conducted at the city tabernacle each evening of next week by Bro. W. M. Speck and Bro. Thomas M. Broadfoot.

The services will begin Sunday evening and will continue until the next Sunday, with E. M. Taylor directing the singing. Bro. Broadfoot will speak on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights, while on Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights Bro. Speck will speak.

Services will be held as usual at both churches on Sunday morning, but everyone in Snyder is invited to be present at the evening services.

Good progress is being made in the electrification of Austrian railways.

BAND GOES TO ABILENE TO BE IN WTCC GROUP

Thirty-Nine Musicians, Directed by J. W. Crowley, Competes in Three-Day Meeting.

Thirty-nine members of the Scurry County band, with Director J. W. Crowley, left Snyder early Thursday morning for Abilene, scene of the 1930 West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, where they are competing during the three-day session with bands from all parts of West Texas.

The climax of several weeks of practicing was reached Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, when four daily practices were held. Each evening the musicians marched to the square in full regalia, led by Drum Major John Billie Beggs. Arrayed in their white trousers, white shirts, black ties and regular band caps, the 39 marchers entertained large crowds of listeners with popular and classical numbers.

The two contest numbers, "Conqueror Overture" and "Avenger March," have been practiced until the director believes his band capable of winning a prize in the one-year-old class in which they will be entered.

Ten cabins were reserved at Camp Selma for 42 people, the probable number in the group. Every facility for comfort and convenience is provided, and meals are taken at the select Tourist Hotel. Seven meals will be provided by the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce, through whose efforts the trip was financed.

Members of the band who are making the trip include: Leighton Griffin, Melvin Wile, J. W. Hendryx, Horace Holley, Bob Hamilton, Lee Francis York, Luke Weems of Fluvanna, E. V. Boynton of Fluvanna, cornets; Fred Wolcott and Corwin Patterson, altos; Borden Gray and Sude Smith, baritone; E. J. Bradbury Jr., Hugh Taylor Jr., Kenneth Pitner, and Miss Vera Stavelly of Fluvanna, trombones; Emmett Askins, W. F. Cox, B. O. Stavelly of Fluvanna, and Mrs. J. W. Crowley, bases; Verba Adams, T. J. Teter, Harold Davidson, Miss Maurine Cunningham, Wiley Crowley, Travis La Rue, Misses Mattie Lynn Beavers, Exa Patterson and Inez Gleghorn of Fluvanna, clarinets; Miss Rose Marie Clawson of Fluvanna, piccolo; Morris Sturdivant, Willard Lewis, W. H. Shuler, Murray Gray, and Mrs. B. O. Stavelly of Fluvanna, saxophones; Banie Smith, William Miller and Norman York, drums.

FLUVANNA WILL HAVE BAPTISTS

W. D. Greene, Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Association missionary, submits the following program for the workers conference to be held at Fluvanna Tuesday, June 3. "The Value of the Missionary Ideal" will be the theme of the meeting.

10:00 a. m.—"Value of the Missionary Ideal to the Layman"—J. L. Bowen.

10:20—"Value of the Missionary Ideal to the Minister"—Rev. John W. Cobb.

10:45—"Value of the Missionary Ideal to a Church"—A. W. Shumaker.

11:10—Special song by Fluvanna church.

11:15—Sermon by Rev. G. W. Parks.

12:15 p. m.—Lunch.

1:30—Board meetings, men and women.

2:30—"Value of the Missionary Ideal to a Denomination"—Rev. W. C. Ashford.

3:00—"Value of the Missionary Ideal to a Lost World"—C. A. Jones.

3:30—"Facing the Whole Task"—Rev. Philip C. McGahey.

Memorial Services Planned.

Special services will be conducted by the American Legion Sunday afternoon at the Snyder cemetery, in honor of the soldier dead. Harrie Winston is in charge. Graves will be decorated and brief tributes will be given. Announcement as to time will be made at church services Sunday morning.

Clint Small, Seeker Of Governor's Place, In Town Thursday

The "smokes rean brigade" of professional politicians who would misrepresent facts to get votes" came under the scornful criticism of Clint C. Small, democratic candidate for governor, in an address here Thursday afternoon.

Directing his attack primarily against statements of Earle Mayfield who is advocating a tax on ginger ale and malt extracts in order to reduce the ad valorem levy, Mr. Small warned his audience against what he termed fanciful illusions of an ambitious politician.

Mr. Small said that in his opinion the ad valorem tax eventually might be reduced through efficient state management, but held that no person could reduce it arbitrarily.

He discussed the penitentiary middle and recommended that convicts be placed at labor to produce the necessary dairy and farm foods and much of the equipment necessary for the operation of the penal institution.

LOCAL SCHOOL ADDRESS GIVEN BY PREACHER

Local School Ends Friday Evening When Graduates Appear at Commencement.

Boys and girls, with real smiles on their faces, assembled in their respective classes in the Snyder schools Friday morning to receive their report cards and to be dismissed until the fall semester begins in September.

On Friday evening, commencement exercises were held for those who will not be returning in the fall.

A splendid address was made by Rev. J. A. Green, Baptist minister from Sweetwater, to the graduates, his subject being "Having Dominion." Col. Bill Easterwood, who was scheduled to deliver the address, was unable to come. Superintendent C. Wedgeworth presented the diplomas and other honors, introducing the valedictorian, Maxey Chenault, and the salutatorian, Miss Gladys Lewis.

Miss Maurine Stinson favored the audience with a vocal selection.

168 GRADUATES GET DIPLOMAS

One hundred and sixty-eight seventh grade graduates, from schools in all sections of the county, received their diplomas in a county-wide commencement held in Snyder high school auditorium last Friday morning. A crowd that overflowed into the balcony heard the program, in spite of the fact that planting season was at its height.

Judge James P. Stinson of Abilene addressed the graduates on "Preparing for Life's Service." Only 38 out of the total of 206 seventh grade graduates in the county failed to attend the exercises. One hundred of the attendants were from strictly rural schools. Thirty-nine were from Snyder.

County Superintendent A. A. Bullock declares that this is the largest class to graduate over the three-year period during which the special exercises have been held.

All county schools, with four exceptions, closed last week. Crowder, Independence and Pyron are closing this week, and Arah will have her final program next week.

NEW BAPTIST PASTOR TO TAKE OVER WORK SUNDAY

The first sermon of his Snyder pastorate will be preached by the Rev. Philip C. McGahey Sunday evening, it was learned from the pulp committee of the First Baptist church, early this week. The new pastor, who has been leader of the Wilson Baptist church, accepted the pastorate two weeks ago, to begin June 1.

Mrs. McGahey and the small child of the couple will probably come to Snyder Sunday with the minister. Their household goods are here.

ALL PARTS OF COUNTY TO BE REPRESENTED

C. O. Moser to Tell of Plan That May Give Branch Office and Stabilize Cotton.

When C. O. Moser comes to Snyder on the afternoon of Thursday, June 5, he will be heard by the largest group of farmers and merchants ever assembled in Scurry County for a common, cooperative cause.

That assurance comes from those who are keeping their hand on the pulse of interest in the government's cotton marketing plan.

The immediate result of assembling a large crowd to greet Mr. Moser will, it is believed by Scurry County committeemen, be the establishment of a branch office in this county for the American Cotton Cooperative Association, the government's organization for stabilizing the market and seeing that the producer and the consumer are brought several steps closer together.

Graders Would Be in County.

Should a branch office be established here, one or more graders and staplers will be in the county at all times, together with the necessary office force. Every portion of the county would receive equal benefits from such a branch, since Snyder, as the county seat, will be only the hub of activities.

Mr. Moser, who is vice president of the association, will discuss every outstanding phase of the association's plan when he speaks in the city auditorium at 2:30 on the afternoon of June 5—Thursday. He will be here from Dallas for that purpose, and he is said to be one of the most convincing straight-from-the-shoulder talkers to be found anywhere. His message will not beat around the bush. It will not make promises that cannot and will not be carried out. It will be backed by millions of dollars that have been set aside by the government for no other purpose than to help the farmer to obtain a fairer price for his products. Such is the reputation of the man who may inaugurate a new era of cotton farming and marketing in Scurry County.

Many Farmers to Come.

Farmers from all parts of the county have expressed their determination to be on hand when Mr. Moser speaks. Practically every merchant in Snyder and many from nearby towns will be in the audience.

Mr. Porter, of Colorado, Farm Bureau agent for this district, states that interest in the government's plan of marketing is growing steadily in West Texas. Communities such as Snyder and Colorado because of their aggressiveness in attempting to secure the branch offices, and because of their natural positions in the center of a big cotton raising area, have splendid chances of securing the important branches, he says.

The permanent committee representing the association in this county is composed of J. L. Carrell, M. W. Boussett, W. O. Moore and E. J. Anderson. The steering committee is composed of representatives of the banks, the Lions Club of Snyder, the Scurry Chamber of Commerce, and various other community enterprises, with A. D. Erwin as chairman.

Yoder Installs Small Broadcasting Station

Radio Station Snyder is now in operation.

C. J. Yoder, of the Yoder Electric Company, has just installed a small broadcasting outfit, capable of sending programs of any kind as far out as three or four miles, on a wave length below the 300-meter mark beyond which a license is required from the radio commission.

While he has not yet installed the standard microphone, Mr. Yoder has been broadcasting records, mixed with short speeches now and then, which have been heard in all parts of town. He plans to broadcast programs prepared by the county talent in the near future. He invites radio owners living in and near Snyder to tune in at any time. A regular broadcasting schedule will be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. K. A. McLachlin of Loving, New Mexico, are visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Blakely.

Four Club Year Books Completed.

Year books for four local clubs have been recently published by The Snyder News.

The Alpha Study Club book, with a pink torador cover carrying out the club colors of pink and white, consists of 12 printed pages with programs on six of those pages.

The cover for the Twentieth Century Club book is of white Beckett with the lettering in gold, carrying out their color note of gold and white. There are 16 pages with a sheet of glassine parchment preceding the first page.

The Mother's Self Culture Club selected a pretty Roloc cover in gray. There are 16 pages in this book, with two programs listed on each of nine of the pages.

A white cover with the lettering in green, emphasizes the colors of the Altrurian Club on their year book.

In each club book, lists of the members, County Federation delegates, committees and officers are given. Each club's constitution and by-laws are also given.

Would You Do This?

If you owned a Ford business, and a man like you came in to see you about terms on a Ford Car, would you let him walk away or would you make it possible for him to drive away?

Now, we are just as eager for business as you would be and just as much inclined to help every deserving man or woman to own a Ford.

We will make terms within the bounds of good business that are required in any case to fit a man's pocket-book.

Your Model T Ford will more than likely be sufficient for the down payment; or we'll accept as little as $150 as the first payment.

We have made it possible for many, many persons to own Fords who really never thought they could.

Regardless of where you live or what you do, we invite you to come in and talk with us about terms you can meet. We don't believe there is any need for you to wait another day. It is much easier for you to pay while you ride than it is to save while you walk.

The Snyder News Creed.

For the cause that needs assistance;
For the wrongs that need resistance;
For the future in the distance,
And the good that we can do.

The Weekly Dozen.

So many worthless pieces of publicity come to a newspaper desk that the trashman is kept busy emptying the wastebaskets. But occasionally comes a letter, an advertising circular, or a paper with something so far from the ordinary walks of life that it is worthy of reproduction and comment. Eleven of them might be of interest to you.

Honest Abe Used His Head.

Here is a little folder from the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, with a "Believe It or Not" story. When Lincoln was appointed postmaster of New Salem, Illinois, the folder says, the town had a postmaster, but no post office—and Lincoln was financially unable to rent one. What did he do? The answer is in the 1930 almanac of the company, which we have ordered for this desk.

Railroads—Clippings—Publicity.

And here are some clippings from the dailies of several weeks ago in regard to extension of the Katy over to Snyder from Rotan. Apparently, we are no nearer getting the road than we were three or four years ago. But it does no harm to keep up a hue and cry for a road, and if we have a good crop year, the extension would be not only practical but profitable.

What to Do Tomorrow.

Just a sheet of paper. It has some funny marks on it. They are parts of a schedule one member of the paper force was to carry out during the week. Letters to write. Meetings to attend. Men to see. Records to compile. News stories to write. Yep—it's all in the week's work. If you want a million things to do, and not time in which to do them properly, try running a country weekly or do church work.

Hershey Gets Its Share.

Hershey, the new crop introduced into Scurry County by F. I. Townsend, has received some hard knocks. Some Scurry Countians have planted it, however, and think it will be successful. A clipping from The Dallas News, cut out several weeks ago, tells how some of the doubters treated early reports of the new crop. "It's not new," most of them claimed. We shall see what we shall see.

Whither Bound? Let's Travel.

"From Mexico to Terra del Fuego." "Countries of the World." So are two of the headings on a little folder advertising books and magazines. One can not but read it all. The desire for travel must be in the heart of us all. We want to go and go and go, whether circumstances forbid or not. Books and magazines, moving and talking pictures, travelers and lecturers are so thick and so cheap these days that one can almost see the world through pages and cinemas.

Fort Worth vs. Abilene.

It's a merry fight for subscribers between the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and the Abilene Reporter-News. The latter paper is stepping pretty hard on the Cowtown paper's toes. They are both good papers, or West Texas wouldn't read them. Here's a letter from the Telegram, telling how very, very cheap that paper could be obtained for four months.

What West Texas Makes, West Texas Elects.

A clipping, from the Lynn County News, we think, says: "We are thinking of two West Texans just now that everybody out this way ought to support in the primaries this summer. One is George Shepherd of Sweetwater, recently appointed by Governor Moody as comptroller, to succeed Sam H. Terrell, resigned. The other West Texan that all of us should support is Charley Lockhart, now an employee in the state treasurer's office at Austin. If all West Texas doesn't give both these fine gentlemen almost unanimous vote, we shall decide that West Texas just doesn't know its onions, that's all." A little strong, but pretty logical, at that.

A Great Meeting—For You.

Have you been, or are you going, to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Abilene this weekend? You are interested, of course, in the social side of the annual gathering, but there will be big business for West Texas to attend to. It won't hurt things a bit, and it might broaden your vision, to sit in on some of the sessions. A publicity story from Abilene reminded us of the great convention.

What Else Did It Do, Pray Tell?

"It rained." That is the heading of an attractive ad found in an exchange on the desk. Sure enough? The rest of the ad's heading is pretty good philosophy: "And it gave us a wonderful prospect for a good crop year! But it did not rain us any money to be used for the next few months, so we should guard our expenses very carefully and make what money we have so as far as possible."

Stories? Or Just Plain Imagination Gone Wild?

A lot of sample stories come to the desk, too. The latest one is "Bat on the Blond." How's this for a lead-off for the story: "If a horse and a golden-haired girl are both named Guinevere and put in the same story, that is sure to develop a problem, and here it is." Guin's picture, by the way, makes one believe that several problems might develop.

School Days—Happy-Go-Lucky Rule Days.

A copy of the Tiger's Tale, Snyder High School publication, reminds us that school days are a thing of the past until September. In a way, we are glad. But we'll miss the kids that came by the office three times a day . . . and their chatter . . . and the way they looked into our window . . . and the way some of them waved at us . . . and looked wise at everybody.

West Texas Salesmanship.

As a means of acquainting the world with its slogan—"West Texas, the Raw Material Capital of the World"—and thereby stimulate development of the territory's resources, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has arranged for a cooperative advertising campaign to cover the entire United States, in which every town and city in the district can join with the regional organization for individual and collective exploitation.

An order has been placed by the WTCC for 100,000 sheets of 15 lithographed stamps and for 300,000 four-color booklet covers as the start of the campaign. Distribution of the stamps and booklet covers will start at the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Abilene now in session, D. A. Bandy, general manager, announces.

All towns in West Texas will be asked to use the stamps and booklets. Each local chamber of commerce will sell the stamps to business and industrial establishments in the community served for use on all correspondence.

The booklet covers will have a special color design with sufficient blank space to allow each town to publish a distinctive piece of community advertising literature that will have an individuality and at the same time carry out the general idea of connecting each town using them with West Texas and the general campaign to advertise the territory, the general manager says.

Each of the 15 stamps will carry the WTCC slogan and also call attention to some outstanding feature or fact of the section.

Approval of the plan has been accorded by a large number of commercial organization executives in West Texas and the chambers of commerce of Fort Worth, Amarillo, El Paso, Stamford, Graham, Coleman and Sweetwater, together with Wimberly-Hubbard Agency of Fort Worth, have joined the regional organization in sponsoring the undertaking.

All towns in West Texas, no matter how small, will be enabled, Bandy declares, through this cooperative advertising campaign, to issue a booklet giving information about the community, with an outlay of money that can be afforded. The stamps will be sold at a low price, but one which will give a margin of profit over the cost, and the difference will be used to pay for the literature, according to the plan of the campaign.

Talk Gets Cheaper and Cheaper.

When trans-Atlantic telephone service was first established it cost $84 to talk three minutes to London. Last year the rate was reduced to $54 for three minutes. Now anyone may talk to London three minutes for $39 which is a very low rate indeed. The only trouble is, we don't know anyone in London except Lloyd George, King George and the Prince of Wales, and none of them knows us.

Last week the London Daily Mail called up Governor Dan Moody on the long distance telephone and inquired about the Sherman riot, asking if such occurrences were frequent. It was almost noon in London, and they had to get Governor Moody out of bed at around 5:00 o'clock to talk the call.—De Leon Free Press.

Conductor—"Can't you see that sign, 'No Smoking?'" Passenger—"Sure, but you can't pay any attention to everything you see. That other sign says, 'Wear Gossard Corsets' but I couldn't do it."

"SOME FOLKS ARE SO ANXIOUS TO GET TO THE TOP THEY NEVER FIND OUT HOW MUCH FUN YOU CAN HAVE AT THE BOTTOM OF THE LADDER!"

Memorial Day.

Once again, in the course of time, the nation pauses for a day, set apart in the honor of, and to commemorate, the brave sons of this republic who have, in the past, sacrificed their lives on the altar of liberty.

It would be tragic indeed if those of us now living, who have enjoyed the blessings of a great nation, should forget the supreme service that has been rendered, and allow the dead past to bury glorious heroism and noble patriotism.

The blind worship of war, now gradually being discarded, should not be confused with the proper recognition of duty well performed, or hinder a grateful people in paying homage to those who responded in the hour of national peril. Whatever may be our idea about the abolition of war the men who gave themselves to meet dangerous emergencies deserve the appreciation of their posterity.

The Snyder News joins with its readers in calling attention to the purpose of Memorial Day and gladly halts in its labor to direct public attention to the virtue and valor of American soldiers, sailors and marines. May those of us, now living in peace, practice in daily life the same patriotic impulses which moved them and unselfishly give ourselves to the service of our state and nation, to the end that this republic shall well and truly be, "of the people, by the people and for the people."

A Strange Tail.

A woman arriving in this country after a short visit to Europe was asked the usual question by the customs official at the port: "Anything to declare, madam?"

"No," she replied, sweetly, "nothing."

"Then, madam," said the official, "am I to take it that the fur tail hanging down under your coat is your own?"

Thus it is that many liars are recognized by their improbable tales and by this reason are rendered almost harmless. But we still have with us the many fancy liars not so easily detected. We do not refer now to the mere "fanciful" liar or "romancer" who yawns wildly of his strange exploits or past accomplishments, but rather to the man who might be called a good liar if such a use of words is permissible; or, perhaps, we should say an accomplished or artistic liar—one of those fellows who you might easily believe, yet once detected in a lie, leaves you uncertain ever after whether he is telling you the truth or merely what he would have you, for his own ends, believe.

It occurs to us that liars of this category are fundamentally cowards who, being unwilling to face facts, to assume responsibility for their acts or omissions, seek cover in untruthful statements. Moral cowards are Another Nugget.

A certain breeder of dairy cattle in one of the southern states is distinguished for two things—the excellent quality of his cattle and his relentless insistence on his hired hands keeping busy. A negro came to him one day and applied for a job as milker.

"You don't look to me like a nigger that wants a steady job," replied the dairyman, eyeing him critically.

"Yassuh, boss, Ah wants a stiddy job."

"Well, go to work, then, but I'm telling you, I don't like your looks."

The negro went, and found that he not only had to milk twenty cows, but care for the milk, wash the utensils, curry the cows and feed them, clean the stalls and drive the cows to and from the pasture. In fact, he put in about eighteen hours a day. He was game, though, and stayed with it for two months. Then he gave notice.

"I knew it! I knew it!" railed the dairyman. "I knew you didn't want a steady job, you no-account nigger!"

"Yassuh, boss, Ah does," protested the dandy, "but you's been layin' me off six hours ever' night."

Hearing nothing below, the husband called down to his wife: "Has that old gossip gone yet?"

"The woman was still there. Mrs. Horn, however, was equal to the emergency.

"Yes, dear," she answered, "she left nearly a half hour ago. Mrs. Corbin is here now."

of little use either in times of war or peace, and we know of no employer who would not far rather have a frank acknowledgment of error from an employee than an untruthful excuse, an "alibi" passing the fault on to another, or a misstatement to hide existing facts. You, naturally, have to admire a man who will stand up and own that he is wrong, even though you may have to "fire" him in spite of your admiration.

Liars seldom learn, for they think it easier to lie out of their incompetence than, through study and application, to master their work; yet we believe that lying is a growing habit which many a young man and young woman must combat if they would not become of small value in the business world.

The man who thinks he can become a chronic liar and "get away with it" is deceiving himself, for sooner or later some furry tale will show below his coat, as in the case of the lady traveler, and he will not only be known as a liar but recognized as an ass.—Southwestern Ambassador.

Constructive Criticism

Complaint is frequent that such and such a man is unduly or unjustly sharp in his criticisms of methods, enterprises or even of people.

The complaint is almost always that the critic offers no particular solution of the problem his criticism creates. But is not all criticism constructive? Can we expect keen, capable and busy people who perhaps sense something wrong to waste their time devising methods for the elimination of evil or the solution of the problems which are not of their own making or concern? Is it not enough that they direct them to our attention or to the attention of others?

We can ignore the unintelligent or thoughtless, but when we, our methods or enterprises are criticised by an intelligent and capable person, the criticism itself should prove constructive, setting us to the task of finding wherein they may have sensed our ineffectiveness.—Office Cat.

When Spring Breezes Cease . . . Then is the time to get an Electric Fan

Hot summer days and uncomfortably warm nights have arrived. This typical Texas weather will continue from now until the latter part of September, or almost four months.

When natural breezes cease, an electric fan brings freedom from heat, in the home, in the office, in the store.

Economical to use (two full hours for less than one cent) and built for long service (20 years of average use) an electric fan adds to human comfort and relieves summer fatigue.

A wide range of electric fans of well-known manufacturers can be seen in our sales office. A fan will be delivered to your home for a small down payment, the rest payable in monthly installments with your electric service bill. Fans are priced from $5 up.

Tune in on the Texas Electric Service Company radio program each Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock over WFLA, Fort Worth.

Miss Nobody from Nowhere

BY ELIZABETH JORDAN

Fourth Installment

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

A beautiful young woman finds herself on the sidewalk in a strange city. She can't remember her name or where she came from. She has nothing in her purse to tell herself who she is. A young man who has seen her in the hotel where she is stopping notices her and takes her to the hotel in a cab. There they find that she registered, in French, as "Miss Eye Nobody of Nowhere." The clerk has been calling her "Miss Parsons." The young man tells her she is in New York. His name is Eric Hamilton of Chicago. She is terrified at her loss of memory. He asks his friend, Dr. Carrick, a nerve specialist, to call at the hotel. Dr. Carrick talks encouragingly, but says he will send a nurse to stay with the mysterious "Miss Parsons" that night.

"Miss Nobody" listens while Hamilton tells her what the doctor has said, then steps into another room. When the nurse arrives, the girl has vanished from the hotel!

Now go on with the story—

Miss Adams remained in the taxi-cab at the club door while Hamilton went into the club-house and interviewed, in a small reception room, a psychiatrist who was at first somewhat resentful and then deeply interested. The Good Samaritan was soothed by the discovery that the doctor's surprise over the patient's disappearance was as great as his own. To Hamilton the suspicion that his carelessness was responsible for the girl's flight had been the turn of the screw.

"She left this for you," he ended, taking the envelope from his pocket and handing it over. "I'm hoping there's some clue in it."

Doctor Carrick opened the envelope. It contained a blank sheet of paper and a bank-note for twenty dollars.

He dropped the envelope and paper on the floor and Hamilton bent and picked them up.

"May I have these?" he asked, and put them into his pocket without waiting for permission.

Carrick got up and strolled around the room, in the manner of men who think best on their feet.

"You're sure no one else called on her, and that she didn't receive any

They do queer things when they're in that state."

"He couldn't help much," Hamilton reported to Miss Adams. "Where shall I have the driver take you?"

She gave him her address and he paid the chauffeur in advance, adding, on a sudden memory, the amount due for a night's service. It was a comfort to watch the taxicab vanish toward Fifth Avenue. He had a frantic wish to be alone, to begin his quest at once. In a case like this every minute counted. But—where could he begin?

Carrick's club was in the Forties, off Broadway, and the roar of the city came to Hamilton from every side as he stood at the curb for a moment, looking around for another taxicab.

What a damned heartless world it was! There was a moon in the sky—a fat moon, which seemed to be leering down at him. . . . This town was an awful place for a helpless girl to be alone, at night. . . . "Miss Nobody from Nowhere" . . . and she had confessed that she hadn't brought much money. . . .

"God!" he breathed. It was as near a prayer as any he had uttered since he was a very little boy.

As if in answer to it a calming memory came to him. He saw her as she had been in the park, as she had been with him, as she had been with the doctor. . . . thinking clearly, deciding swiftly. . . . terrified, yes, but "holding fast" in a situation that would have appalled the strongest soul; and his nerves steadied. She was fighting with her back to a blank wall, but even in those few hours she had opened new windows of life to him, and he had gained in understanding. He would find her.

He leaned forward and gave to the waiting driver the address of a newspaper on whose staff was one of his friends.

When Eve left her visitor in her hotel sitting-room and went into her bedroom, supposedly to get ready for the nurse, she absent-mindedly tripped over a projecting end of the cot she had ordered. The little episode underlined her dread of the night, and she stood staring at the cot as if already she saw its occupant there. It was larger fee than the cot-bringing justified, while with an increasing tremor she considered what the encounter might mean to her. The young Frenchman would earn much more than a fifty-cent tip before their interview ended, but the instinct of caution developed in her during the past few hours made her quiet her singing nerves and move slowly.

"And you have remembered my name all this time?" she asked, in a voice she vainly tried to keep steady.

The young porter, however, observed nothing unusual about it, for here the entente between them, so agreeable up till now, experienced a sudden chill. He flushed and stammered. It was incredible; it was unpardonable; he abased himself before her; but the fact was that for the moment he did not remember Mademoiselle's name. Her face, of course, one would never forget. Even though he himself had been a mere boy of seventeen when he last saw it, had he not remembered it at once, after four years? Eve let the flow of compliments pour forth. Her mind was working clearly and rapidly. She had merely intended to get away from the hotel, without knowing how she was going to do it. Now she realized that this youth could help her and that she must establish a relationship between them which would enable her to keep in touch with him. Mentally she considered a plan while her brain subconsciously registered what the porter was saying.

Undoubtedly, he assured her, the name would come to him at any minute. This, she knew, was possible. Sooner or later he ought to recall that name. He might recall, too, if he did not now remember them, the names of the friends to whom he had carried those notes, the names of friends who had come to see her, episodes of the life she had lived in Paris—all or any of which, when he told them to her, could be the clues she needed. Yes, in those gesticulating and not-over-clean young heads might lie the strings that would lead her back into the normal world.

"What is your name?" she abruptly asked him.

"Marcel Charpentier, mademoiselle," he told her.

"Listen, Marcel," she said, still in his own language. "Listen attentively. I have a plan and perhaps you can help me. If you can, I know you will, for we were acquaintances in France." She stopped with a gesture, his eager assurance looked understandingly at his brightening face, and went on: "Besides, I will, of course, pay you well for any time and trouble you give to my service."

"I desire to leave this hotel, Marcel," she continued, "and to find a new home in this city. I must, of course, see the clerk and pay him when I go. But there are reasons why I wish no one to know where I am, except you. You, I am sure, I can trust."

The tribute, she was glad to observe, left him almost speechless. "What I can do for Mademoiselle will be done," was all he could bring out, his black eyes avid with interest. "Thank you. Then tell me, first, do you know of a good place where I

GOVERNMENT'S COTTON MARKETING PLAN

Who Mr. Moser Is

Mr. C. O. Moser is Vice President of the American Cotton Cooperative Marketing Association, which is the Government's Cotton Sales Agency. He is probably the best informed man in Texas concerning our cotton problems.

We do not hesitate to recommend the Government's plan to our customers. We feel that we should inform ourselves on every plan and program which has for its purpose the bettering of farm conditions—for when the farmer prospers, we prosper; and when he suffers, we are likewise affected.

HELP MR. MOSER TO HELP YOU!

Our Cotton Market

The Government's plan is to locate branch offices in leading cotton centers, and Mr. Moser has indicated that one of these will probably be located in Scurry County. Such an office would give our farmers the same advantages of price and marketing as are afforded the larger cotton centers of the South.

Scurry County's response when Mr. Moser speaks here on Thursday, June 5, will largely determine whether we will get a branch office and with it the best possible price for our cotton at marketing time next Fall.

telephone message?" he asked at last. "Not to my knowledge. The telephone was in the sitting-room where I was reading, so I'd have heard it, and I suppose any card or guest would have come to the sitting-room door," Hamilton said.

"Probably," Carrick took another turn, while Hamilton sat still and gloomily watched him.

"Then what's back of it?" he muttered. "Just panic? In her condition she might easily have been afraid of me, and of the nurse, too; but I got a strong impression that she had confidence in you." He stopped and met Hamilton's eyes with a sudden keenly professional look. "You felt that, too, didn't you?"

"Yes, I did. It touched me very much. It's one of the things that makes me feel that I can't let her down," Hamilton admitted. "I've simply got to find her and be sure she's all right."

Carrick nodded. "It's going to be a big job to find her," he predicted. "And I'm afraid it's a job where I can't help you much. Left to herself, she'll give sanitoriums and doctors and nurses the widest kind of berth."

There seemed nothing more to say, but for a moment longer they faced each other uncertainly. Then Hamilton straightened his shoulders with a gesture his intimates would have recognized as characteristic of him in moments of final decision.

"I'll tackle it," he announced, referring to the "big job."

"Good!" said the doctor, heartily. "And keep me posted," he added, not quite so heartily, for Carrick was a man hard-driven by his practice. "Let me know if I can be of any use."

They shook hands.

"Better go a little more fully into all the details of her leaving the hotel," was Carrick's final advice. "Interview everyone who could possibly have seen her or talked to her, in place, the chambermaid had gone, the room was in order, and the opposite door of the bedroom, which led into a rear hall of the hotel, was just closing on the modest exit of the porter. She stopped the man with a word, a ready hand mechanically reaching into her hand-bag for her purse. He was a young Frenchman, and as he came back into the room in answer to her summons his expectant smile suddenly broadened into a look of pleased recognition.

"Good evening, mademoiselle," he said with the eagerness of a lonely person who sees a familiar face in a strange land; and he added in French rather blankly, as he caught her expression of surprise, "But Mademoiselle does not remember me?"

"No doubt I should do so," Eve answered in his own tongue, and again he smiled and brightened. "Just where did you see me?" she asked.

He began to explain, volubly and happily, enchanted, it was clear, by this unexpected encounter with a former patron, and perhaps foreseeing, too, agreeable possibilities of fees in the new association. They were standing near the entrance he had used, and with a gesture she drew him over the threshold and out into the hall, closing the door behind them.

It was in Paris they had met, the porter explained, in the little Hotel Voltaire of the Quai Voltaire on the left bank, when Mademoiselle had spent the winter there three. . . . no, it was four years ago. It was not surprising that Mademoiselle did not remember him, he humbly admitted. He himself had then been of an unimaginable unimportance—not even her waiter, but merely a waiter's boy. Still, in that lowly capacity, he had daily seen Mademoiselle, and once or twice had done small services for her such as carrying notes to her friends.

Despite his Gallic courtesy, it was clearly that he was disappointed by her failure to recognize him, and Eve sought to soothe his hurt pride by a can go and live?—one which is not expensive," she added. "A place simple and clean and respectable, like the little hotel you speak of in Paris."

She took it for granted that the little hotel in Paris had these qualities, and apparently she was right, for Marcel nodded and gave himself to ostentatious thought.

He had been in the city less than half a year, and he had little knowledge of either hotels or lodgings; but now he remembered something. A friend of his, he told her, was the janitor of a downtown house which had little apartments of two or three rooms—a sitting-room, bedroom, even a bathroom, and of a price very reasonable.

She came to a prompt decision. She went back into the bedroom and returned with a sheet of paper and a pencil.

"Write the address for me," she directed, "and your full name, too. I will go and look at the house you speak of. If I do not settle there, I will let you know. Unless you hear from me, come there at eight tomorrow evening. I desire to have a long talk with you."

She took the slip he gave her and handed him five dollars.

"Remember," she warned, "I am trusting you. Not a word to anyone." Marcel took the bank-note and slowly pocketed it. His face was very serious. It was odd—all this. There was much in it he did not understand. She had not been thus in Paris. But he would serve the lady to the best of his ability.

She packed in seven minutes. She was out of the hotel twenty-three minutes after she had left Hamilton. She walked across to the next avenue and picked up a taxicab.

Post C. C. Men Meet Snyder Business Men

An enthusiastic spirit was shown Monday when local committeemen of the Chamber of Commerce, composed of Dr. Sarman, Ira Lee Duckworth, Guy Speck and George Samson, met with the Snyder organization to discuss the Texas-made product campaign, which our body has put over in a big way.

"Not enough emphasis can be put on the importance of the Texas product," was the statement made by one of our representatives and Snyder Chamber of Commerce men heartily agreed.

The Snyder organization is one of the most enthusiastic groups that have written to the secretary endorsing the campaign and are falling right in line with the idea.—Post Dispatch.

Nelson Declares He Can Render Service in Official Capacity

Expressions have come to my hearing that Scurry County citizens can not be given competent service if I am elected to the office of tax collector, on account of my sight. As evidence as to what is being done elsewhere in Texas, I reproduce a letter here from Jim L. McCall, prominent lawyer of Weatherford, which is self-explanatory. "Uncle Billy" Nelson.

"To Whom It May Concern:

"This is to certify that I am well acquainted with Dan W. Carroll, a resident of Parker County, Texas, who is now serving his second term as tax collector of Parker County, Texas, and running for a third term. He is totally blind.

"Mr. Carroll is a man of fine character, kind and courteous, and seems to have given the people satisfaction during the term of his office. He has always made it a point to have qualified deputies to assist him in his work, and so far as I know or have ever heard, there has been no complaint in any way as to his services as tax collector. Yours truly,
JIM L. McCALL.

Court House Square At Snyder Beautified

Recent rains, plus continuous watering, have transformed the court house square at Snyder into one of the most attractive spots in this section of the state. The first remark made by strangers about Snyder is that cleanliness of the entire town and the attractiveness of the square are outstanding virtues.

Practically all the trees on the lawn were closely trimmed several months ago, and they have all come out already to make thick foliage.

KEEP PULLET ON FULL FEED

By County Agent W. O. Logan

Pullets should have plenty of room, plenty of shade and cool water.

Pullets do rather well on heavy grain feeding through the summer, and the old hens should have only light grain feeding. The most desirable way to develop pullets is to feed grain and growing mash in hoppers. The grain and mash hoppers should be the same size, giving each pullet one inch feeding space on mash hopper and the same on grain hopper. The hoppers should be in the shade, and out in growing sudan grass is a good place, with water convenient, and the pullets should not be allowed to run with old hens.

There is little danger of getting pullets to fatten if fed on starting mash and then growing mash. Late hatched and some of the early hatched pullets will need full grain ration if they are large enough and ready to start laying in October.

A very good grain ration would be: Milo or kaffir, 50 pounds; wheat, 25 pounds; oats, 25 pounds—well mixed and kept in hopper at all times for pullets. Some fellows like to use yellow corn, and in that case use corn and milo or kaffir in equal parts of 30 pounds each, and wheat and oats, 20 pounds each.

Vacant house fires seem to be on the increase in Texas in spite of the fact that the Texas Fire Insurance Department is making a special effort to reduce this class of fires. The April fire report as made by the fire marshals of the various cities and towns of Texas shows that there were 50 vacant house fires during the month of April. Forty-eight of these were in dwellings, thirty of which appear to have been heavily over-insured. Five vacant dwelling fires occurred in small shacks which were not insured. Some of the reports made by fire marshals of Texas to this department covering vacant dwelling fires read like this: Value of building, $1,000; insurance on building, $2,500.

We can not say how long the public will remain asleep to such a condition as this, but since it is the public that is paying for the fire loss of this state, we believe that it is time for public recognition of this condition.

Over-insurance is both a physical and a moral hazard, and I want to call upon the local agents of Texas, the city officials and the public of Texas to give their support and cooperation to the Texas Fire Insurance Department in bringing about a reduction of this particular class of fires, and that class of fires attributed to carelessness.

Carter Elected C. C. Director.

O. D. Carter, former Times-Signal employe, now editor of the O'Donnell Index, was elected as one of the six new directors for the Chamber of Commerce of the Lynn County town last week, according to the last issue of the Index.

Judge—"The two men were fighting with chairs. Didn't you try to establish peace?"
Witness—"No, there was not a third chair."

City Marshal Warns.

It has been brought to my attention that boys have been loafing on the school properties in Snyder and doing damage to buildings and equipment. Anyone found on the grounds not on a business mission at night will be subject to arrest and fine.—Walter Camp, City Marshal. (Itc)

Mebbe you think that little girl's poise is unshakable, but you ain't never seen her do a real dance.—Brown Jug.

The annoying experience of the moment makes the interesting anecdote in retrospect.

With the New Clothes-- the New Complexion!

To the Smart Woman:

These New Clothes—with their graceful skirts and tricky frills—are feminine and fascinating!

New complexions with new cloths go! To take the fullest advantage of these new feminine styles, you must have that new "natural" skin-tone. Your skin must look alive, vividly, lusciously alive, with that softness that makes the hand just long to touch it.

Armand is sponsoring the New Complexion to harmonize with the new clothes, by creating the new "Symphonie" tint in Armand Cold Cream Powder.

Within each box of "Symphonie" tint lies the secret of your new, rich, creamy-toned complexion, so dainty—so fascinatingly feminine.

Armand "Symphonie" Tint Is the New Complexion

The Proof of This Revolutionary Statement Is the Powder on Your Face.

"Symphonie" was specially blended to bring out the natural, underlying skin-tone common to all Caucasian women. Whatever your complexion type, scientific tests have proved that "Symphonie" gives your skin that lovely creamy tone so new, so to be desired. No more covering that lovely flesh-shade with a sallow, meaningless film.

FREIGHT LINE IS DENIED LICENSE

The West Texas Transportation Company was denied a license for carrying freight over the Lubbock-Abilene route Tuesday at Lubbock, when they presented their case before Mary Marshall, state transportation agent. The route is now served by two Snyder transfer companies.

Four Snyder citizens appeared before Mr. Marshall in an effort to show that the proposed routing is now adequately and competently served by the Snyder Transfer Company and the South Plains Motor Lines. Final judgment on the application for a license was suspended, and the case may appear before the next court session held for settlement of such cases.

Pete Bridgeman, Eddie Day, C. R. Buchanan and J. W. Scott represented Snyder at the Lubbock conference. The Snyder delegation secured Mr. Marshall's promise that the next session of the court for handling transportation cases will be held here.

Auto and Barn Are Destroyed by Blaze

The six-cylinder car and a barn in which it was stored were completely destroyed on the J. W. Leftwich place, just outside the city limits southwest of Snyder Friday night of last week.

The fire, of undetermined origin, was not discovered until too late for the fire department to extinguish it. It is said that it was beyond saving before the alarm was turned in.

Mrs. Banks Presents Her Pupils in Recital

Pupils of Mrs. Mary E. Banks were presented in a piano recital at the First Methodist church Tuesday evening, 8:00 o'clock.

About 23 boys and girls had parts on the program, the last number being a selection played by the toy orchestra, directed by Misses Nona Carr and Jessyle Stinson.

Mrs. Banks will not conduct classes this summer but is going to Plainview to study and visit with her mother.

SULLIVAN TO BE H. S. PRINCIPAL

R. S. Sullivan, instructor in Snyder high school for some time, was chosen as principal of the high school by the board, in a called meeting last week. W. N. Corry, principal for the past year, resigned some time before.

Mr. Corry announced that he would enter the Dallas business world beginning July 1. He has given up the school teaching profession, which he has followed for several years. Although he served only one year on the Snyder faculty, he became a central figure in all activities, and he became known to patrons and students as a dependable and energetic school man.

Before coming to Snyder Mr. Sullivan was connected with the Stanton public schools. He is a graduate of Rice Institute. During the past year he served as assistant coach, girls' basket ball coach, a senior sponsor, and also in other responsible places.

WHY THE SOIL SURVEY?

By County Agent W. O. Logan

As a result of the efforts of former County Agent John Carmichael and Claude Willis, postmasters over Scurry County, and others, this section will soon have a complete soil survey started.

The benefits to be derived from this survey can be measured only by the ability of those interested in field crops, pasturage, etc., to make use of it. The bulletin, maps and discussions of the county will be distributed through the Bureau of Soils at Washington once the survey is completed. The bulletin will contain a description of the many types of soil, together with chemical analyses of representative samples and a discussion of their needs for plant food.

When the need of a type of soil is known, then the kind of crop, the method of building it up, and its adaptability to different crops will be better known. Why try to grow crops that are not suited, why not see what plant foods are available for crops and which are deficient. Some garden spots formerly grew nice vegetables, and soon quit; other land grew different things, and changed. This soil survey will enable one to determine the deficiencies of his soil and also the possibilities of it by changing to other crops.

Along with the analyses and discussion of the types of soil there will be recommendations of suitable crops and the kind of treatment that will be best suitable for certain soils. Is there any alkali soil in this county? Does irrigation kill the soil on the gardens over the county, or why do they have to be changed? Will fertilizer, manure, or green crops plowed under or legume crops restore the land to good production? The soil survey may reveal these things; that's why we need it to progress.

Summer School Will Not Be Opened Here

No summer session will be held in the Snyder high school, according to an announcement from R. S. Sullivan, who was scheduled to teach the warm term courses in conjunction with W. F. Cox. Lack of demand for the work made this decision necessary.

It was announced last week that the courses would begin June 9, and that a full course of study would be given.

Among the saddest words in our language, now, are: Punch was served.

Millie—"The professor has made me his private secretary. Do you think I'll get an advance?"
 Millie—"Lots of them, dearie."
 Brown—"You say you're suffering from lung trouble?"
 Smith—"Yes, the family upstairs has a new baby."

Snyder Scout Wins Place in Competiton At Sweetwater Rally

Elmer Watkins, first class Scout of troop No. 48, won a second place in a district rally held at Sweetwater Tuesday of this week. In competition with troops from 13 other counties, the local team of 13 boys failed to get any more points.

Elmer's points were won by being the second best fire maker by the flint and steel method. Other contests entered included fire by friction, tug-of-war, water boiling, knot tying and obstacle race.

Roy Irvin, assistant scoutmaster, accompanied the boys to Sweetwater. A Sweetwater troop won first place in the rally with more than 30 points. Those making the trip included:

New Sidewalks For North Side Finished

New concrete entrances and sidewalk repairs have been built in front of the N. M. Harpole buildings on the north side of the square this week.

Entrances to Caton-Dodson's, the Jim Lockhart barber shop and the Stinson drug store No. 1 are now made of an attractive red concrete, checkered in diamond shape. Sidewalk and curb repairs also add much to the appearance and comfort of these spaces.

DR. CALDWELL'S THREE RULES

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation is a mild vegetable compound. It does not harm the most delicate system and is not habit forming.

The Doctor never did approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for internal beings to put into their system. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headache, and to break up fevers and colds. Get a bottle today, at any drugstore and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open. For a free trial bottle, just write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. FRANCHISE—the taking over of your plant at any time such action should be deemed for the best interest of the city, and the terms and conditions under which it may be taken over as set out under the laws of this state are undoubtedly more favorable to the city than those terms and conditions which your franchise contains.

SECOND: The franchise shall be assignable to others only with the written permission of the city council of the city of Snyder. We consider this plan necessary for the reason that the city of Snyder, through its council, should have the privilege of investigating fully any proposed successor to your rights under the franchise, and such proposed successor should be required to demonstrate fully to the city council his financial responsibility and good faith in continuing to carry out the terms of the franchise so that the rights conferred on you by the city council may not be by you transferred to others without the city being assured that the obligations of the franchise will be fully and properly carried out.

THIRD: That you within thirty days from the date of this letter file with the city council your written acceptance of the terms stated in this letter, together with a franchise in accordance with the suggestions here made; also plans and specifications to be approved by the city council showing the size and character of the generating station to be constructed, and the location of the poles, lines and facilities to be built and erected in the city, which lines shall be adequate in extent to afford electric service to all electric customers as provided for in the franchise, such specifications and plans being of sufficient detail to show that the plant and distribution system will be constructed in accordance with good modern practice and with due regard to the safety and interest of the city, its citizens and tax payers. The cost of said power plant and distributing system constructed according to the plans and specifications herein provided for to be $150,000, or more, which cost shall be subject to a thorough and detailed check by a competent engineer of grantor's selection, and the report of said engineer subject to the approval of the city council.

FOURTH: That the power plant and distributing system, as provided for in the franchise, shall be completed and ready for operation within a period of 18 months from and after the final passage of the ordinance granting this franchise. This 18 months shall be exclusive of any and all periods during which grantee may be prevented from constructing said plant and distributing system or continuing with the construction of the same because of the action of any court beyond the power of grantee to control.

FIFTH: You are to furnish a good and sufficient surety bond to be approved by the city council in the sum of fifty thousand ($50,000) dollars, which bond shall be submitted with your proposed franchise from the date of this letter, the condition of the bond being that you will complete the electric plant and distribution system in accordance with the terms of the franchise and the plans and specifications submitted by you and agreed to by the city council, in default of which the amount of the bond shall be paid to the city of Snyder as liquidated damages.

SIXTH: That grantee will adequately indemnify the city of Snyder against any and all damages that may be sustained against it by reason of any faulty construction or operation of said power plant and distributing system.

SEVENTH: The franchise shall also contain a stipulation that it shall not become effective and binding on the city until such time as you have completed your plant and distribution system according to plans and

Davis Returns From Dallas Stock-Buying

H. L. Davis almost learned to drive on city streets early this week. While in Dallas on a summer and fall buying mission, he forgot all the wisecracks for which the Davis-Harpole store has become justly famous, and his wife asserts that he has been far less adventuresome since his return.

But Snyder's chief social prophet is getting back into form again. He plans to start, among other things, a home for worn-out hitch-hikers, a new stairway for his bargain basement, a new coating of paint for his store front, and a new line of goods for Scurry County shoppers.

specifications and as otherwise provided in franchise.

When you have submitted the bond herein indicated and the same has been approved by the city council, together with your plans and specifications, as well as your proposed franchise embodying the provisions herein stipulated, the city council will grant you the franchise. In the event you do not file such bond and plans and specifications, together with your written acceptance of the conditions herein indicated within thirty days from the date of this letter, we will consider your failure so to do as a refusal on your part to accept these terms and conditions as a part of your franchise.

In the event the plans and specifications submitted to the city council with your bond as herein required are not satisfactory to the council, then you shall have the privilege of withdrawing said plans and specifications and tendering such plans and specifications as may be agreed upon between you and the city council, whereupon a new bond shall be executed by you to insure the performance of your contract according to plans and specifications actually approved by the city council.

In the event you do not care to prepare a franchise embodying the question, that a copy of the same be submitted to the council along with your plans and specifications, we will be glad to have the same prepared by our attorney.

The council is now ready upon your request to proceed with the issuance of the franchise on the basis herein indicated.

Yours truly,
H. G. TOWLE, Mayor.
Attest: A. C. PREUITT, Secretary.

At a meeting of the city council on this the 22nd day of May, 1930, the above letter was read to the council, whereupon Alderman H. L. Wren moved the council that the above letter be adopted as a resolution setting forth the requirements of the council with reference to the franchise in question, that a copy of the same be mailed to, or delivered in person by the secretary to Glen Samples at Snyder, Texas, which motion was seconded by Alderman Lee Stinson. The motion carried by the following vote:

Ayes: J. S. Bradbury, H. L. Wren, Lee T. Stinson, S. J. Casstevens, Earl Brown and J. R. Hicks; noes, none.

Whereupon the motion was declared carried by the mayor.

Model Kitchen On Wheels Will Be on Demonstration Here

The Lone Star Gas Company has recently introduced a novel method of demonstrating compressed natural gas in portable steel cylinders to homes not having pipe line gas service.

A model kitchen has been especially designed and constructed on a truck chassis. This traveling kitchen tours the suburban communities of Texas giving special demonstrations with compressed gas.

The interior of the truck is equipped with standard gas appliances, including a cook stove, water heater, refrigerator, lights, and small wall heater. These appliances receive a supply of gas from a standard installation mounted on the rear in a steel cabinet exactly the same as the installation for service in the home.

Two cylinders are included in the installation. As one cylinder becomes empty it can be cut off and the other turned on; the empty cylinder can be replaced without interrupting service.

The Community Natural Gas Company of Sweetwater district, the distributor of Stargas in this territory, will bring this kitchen to Snyder on June 5 for public inspection.

Snyder Girl Married To Merkel Man.

Miss Henrietta Callis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Callis of Snyder, and Mr. Harry S. Lee of Merkel, were united in marriage Sunday morning, 9:00 o'clock, at the Methodist parsonage, the Rev. Cal C. Wright performing the ceremony.

The lovely bride was dressed in a gown of beige Elizabeth crepe and had accessories to match. She is well known at Hermleigh, having taught in the Hermleigh school for three years.

Attendants at the wedding were the bride's two sisters, Misses Ida Mae and Mattie Callis, and her father.

Following the ceremony, a dinner was given at the home of Mrs. Lee's parents. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ferguson and little son, J. L. Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ferguson and little daughter, Frances, all of Hermleigh, the two sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Callis, and the honorees.

The young couple will make their home in Snyder.
