

APTISTS HOLD MEETING HERE

The Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Association held its monthly workers' conference Tuesday at the First Baptist church in Snyder.

Subject for the associational meeting was prayer. Rev. A. W. Shewke of Bison led in the devotional. The Bible Doctrine of Prayer was presented by Rev. T. L. Nipp of Fluvanna. Rev. W. H. Howell of Roscoe spoke on "Place of Prayer in a Christian's Life." "The Value and Need of Family Altar" was discussed by A. A. Hardin.

Mrs. P. C. McGahey and Willard rendered a vocal duet, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Melvin Winton.

An inspiring sermon was then delivered by Rev. A. W. Shewke of Bison, brother of Rev. P. C. McGahey, pastor of the local church. A lovely dinner was served at the hour to about 250 guests from here and Scurry Counties.

At 1:30 o'clock the men met in a meeting, while the ladies of the Woman's Missionary Society assembled for a short session. Mrs. E. F. McCarty led the devotional for the W. M. U., after which a further discussion of prayer was held.

The W. M. U. is divided into three ones, all of which were well represented Tuesday. There were 25 present from Zone 1, 63 from Zone 2 and 12 from Zone 3. Mrs. Jack Smith of Colorado, president of the Scurry-Mitchell W. M. U., gave a short report of the district meet recently held at Big Spring.

The chairmen gave reports of their committee work and it was voted to send the W. M. U. president to the convention to be held in Amarillo, November 10 to 16. Special music was furnished by Mrs. Melvin Newton, Clyde Boren, Earl Henry and Bill Miller.

At 2:30 o'clock a general assembly was again held. Mrs. Holden of Westbrook gave an interesting message on the subject of "Prayer and Its Place in the Life of the W. M. U." Rev. W. C. Ashford of Colorado spoke on "How to Make a Mid-Week Prayer Meeting a Success." Rev. Scott of the Jones County Association then closed the program with a special song.

The next meeting of the Mitchell-Scurry Association will be held at Lorraine on December 9.

B. Y. P. U. Revival Postponed This Fall

The Mitchell-Scurry B. Y. P. U. revival, which was to have been inaugurated this fall, has been postponed until early spring, according to a decision of the officers, in session in Roscoe Sunday afternoon. Inability to secure enough workers for the fall meeting caused the postponement.

Plans were made Sunday afternoon for the quarterly B. Y. P. U. associational meeting at Roscoe, which is to be held Sunday, November 23.

Mrs. Dick Hardee, Correspondent

J. B. Autry of Snyder made a business trip out here to his farm Monday.

Wesley Thompson and family of Vincent, spent Monday at Sam Brown's.

Wiley Crowder of Snyder is spending this week with his daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Holley.

Mrs. Homer Robison is spending this week with her brother, Willie McCarty, at Coahoma.

Alvie Lewis, Jim Allen, Lloyd Holley and Bill Mize made a business trip to Snyder last Monday.

Some of our young folks attended the party at Ward Jenkins, in the Fairview community, Friday night.

Mrs. Delfo Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sykes of Iraan visited with their brother, Dick Hardee, and family last week.

Bro. Meadow filled his appointment Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Fields failed to come Sunday night, as announced; we know not why.

While in Snyder doing your trading, don't forget to go to Lloyd's and cast plenty of votes for the Ira High School. Let's help her to win in the big contest.

The pretty warm sunshine has been a most welcome visitor in our community the past week. Lots of cotton is being picked, and quite a few of the farmers are working with their feed.

Singing Sunday night was better than usual. Quite a few visitors were present from Vincent and Ira. We are always glad to have our neighboring communities to visit us and we invite others to come.

Our school is progressing nicely. The bus has not been so crowded this week, as quite a few are staying out to pick cotton. Everyone seems to be well pleased. The principal, Mr. Welch, is our bus driver.

Leland T. Autry and family of Snyder are reported to have passed through the community last Sunday. Relatives here were deeply concerned about their destination, but they were reported safe at home Monday.

Our community was well represented at the Halloween program at the Cuthbert school house last Thursday night. The Cuthbert school only has 15 enrolled, but the pupils, together with their teacher, Miss Carter, show much interest and pep by their wonderful little program they have been giving each month.

We regret to hear of the illness of little June Lewis, who was to undergo an operation at the Emergency Hospital at Snyder Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis live at Post now, but have lived in this community several years, and they have lots of friends in this community who wish for the little girl a speedy recovery.

Everyone remember the Parent-Teacher Association meeting which will be held at the Ira school auditorium Monday night, November 10. There will be a program, followed by the perfection of the P-T A organization. We hope all the parents in our community, as well as others, will help make the organization a great success.

All teachers of the Hermleigh public schools attended the Scurry County Teachers Institute at Snyder Friday and Saturday of last week.

Miss Virgie Spikes was carried to the hospital at Colorado City Monday morning, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. She is doing nicely.

E. A. Werner has been appointed by the City Council to take charge of the waterworks. Laverne Drennan, who has been seeing after it, resigned, and Mr. Werner took charge on November 1.

HALLOWEEN PARTY GIVEN BY SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

The young married folks' class of the Central Baptist Church enjoyed a Halloween party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Adams Friday night. The house looked "spooky," and the reception received by each made cold chills run over them. After the lights were turned on and they found out "who was who," numerous games and contests were held.

Refreshments appropriate for the occasion were served to Messrs. and Mrs. Marvin Snowden, Clyde Rice, and C. M. Adams; Mrs. E. C. Patterson, Minnie Duncan and E. J. Ely; Misses Bulkerson, Verna Louder, Frances Patterson and Faye Adams; Masters Max Duncan and Jack Adams.

POPULAR YOUNG PEOPLE OF THIS COMMUNITY MARRIED

Louie Brock and Miss Opal Gleastine were married in Snyder October 28. Rev. Cal C. Wright, pastor of the First Methodist Church, performing the ceremony.

Miss Gleastine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Gleastine of this place. Mr. Brock is the son of Herbert Brock of Pryor.

The young couple will make their home with his father. They have been receiving the congratulations and best wishes of their many friends.

HOBBS SCHOOL FISHER COUNTY

Miss Juanita L. Kerby, Corr.

Sunday school was well attended Sunday morning.

The local basketball boys won over Dowell Friday night, the score being 13 to 20.

The Adult B. Y. P. U. read-red a fine program before about 65 people Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Campbell were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Williams Sunday.

A number of the students of Hobbs school are absent this week, helping their families pick cotton.

Several visitors were present for the singing Sunday afternoon. Much interest was shown, and a good singing was held.

The Halloween program rendered by the school on Wednesday of last week was a great success. A large crowd of visitors were present, and they complimented the program.

(Delayed one week.)

Miss Irene Heffner spent Sunday night with Miss Luella Maule.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Campbell were shopping in Snyder Saturday afternoon.

Miss Edna Ruth Ederedge ate a birthday dinner with Miss Bessie Mae Terrell Sunday.

Several young people were visiting in the J. T. Williams home until bedtime Saturday night.

Four very interesting basketball games were played in the high school gymnasium Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Huddleston entertained the young people with a play party Saturday night.

Miss Cora Kerby started her school at Gannaway Monday. Guy E. Casey is also teaching there this year.

Misses Nobia Myers and Gladys Henderson were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Williams Sunday.

A good crowd listened to a very interesting program rendered by the Senior union at B. Y. P. U. Sunday evening.

There was no school on Thursday and Friday of last week as the teachers were attending the Fisher County Teachers Institute at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Campbell, H. E. Kerby, Miss Juanita Kerby and Loy Kerby motored to Terry County last Sunday. The latter will be visiting friends there for a few weeks.

Prayer meeting and orchestra practice met on Tuesday night last week instead of the regular meeting night. The change was made because of the Halloween program on Wednesday night.

Halloween was observed at Hobbs in a fitting way. A community carnival and frolic was held Wednesday night. A free Halloween program was staged by the school children after the frolic hour.

HOBBS PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION IS LIVE-WIRE

CO-OP BENEFIT ALREADY SEEN

More than 6,000 bales of cotton have been handled by the local branch of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association. An average of 50 bales a day has come in this week.

Grade and staple of the crop of this section have greatly improved since the cotton has dried out thoroughly.

"Bread and butter" cotton with a dollars and cents value is now on the minds and in the future cotton production programs of Texas farmers and business men, according to Raymond Ford, local representative of the association. The turning point from inferior cotton to quality cotton has been reached, he said, and "from here on out we may look for better grade and staple cotton from Texas farms."

"Bread and Butter" Value Shown.

Although this most important factor in profitable cotton production has been long agitated, he said, "it took the actual demonstration of dollars and cents value to quality production to the individual grower through the activities of the cotton cooperative marketing movement, to make it effective."

"This season, through the association's activities of locating government licensed classifiers in all sections of the state and the approving of cotton drafts for varying amounts based on the actual quality of cotton shipped, has brought the actual facts so closely home to the individual grower that he cannot further ignore them longer," Mr. Ford said. "In grade and staple lengths quality cotton brings many dollars more per bale than inferior cotton, he stated, and it is this 'bread and butter' or dollars and cents cotton that growers must produce if they can hope for any profit from their cotton farming operations."

Mr. Ford stated that this single outstanding demonstration of the many benefits of cooperative marketing would mean millions of dollars annually to Texas growers and Texas business if generally accepted, which he said "now seems as a very likely possibility and probability."

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our deepest appreciation and thanks to our many friends for their help and kindness during the illness and death of our dear Ruth. Burton-Lingo Yard Visited by Official

A. Deffebach, Ft. Worth, secretary-treasurer of the Burton-Lingo Company, was a visitor at his concern's Snyder lumber yard Saturday, according to Manager C. W. Harless.

The visitor stated that the local yard compared favorably with some of the company's other West Texas yards, in view of the building depression.

Mr. Deffebach assisted Mr. Harless in drawing up plans for the Snyder yard, which was built several months ago as one of West Texas' outstanding lumber yards.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Meecer of Fort Worth visited the H. V. Williams and the Little Westbrook families last week.

Scene of the Wedding of Boris and Giovanna

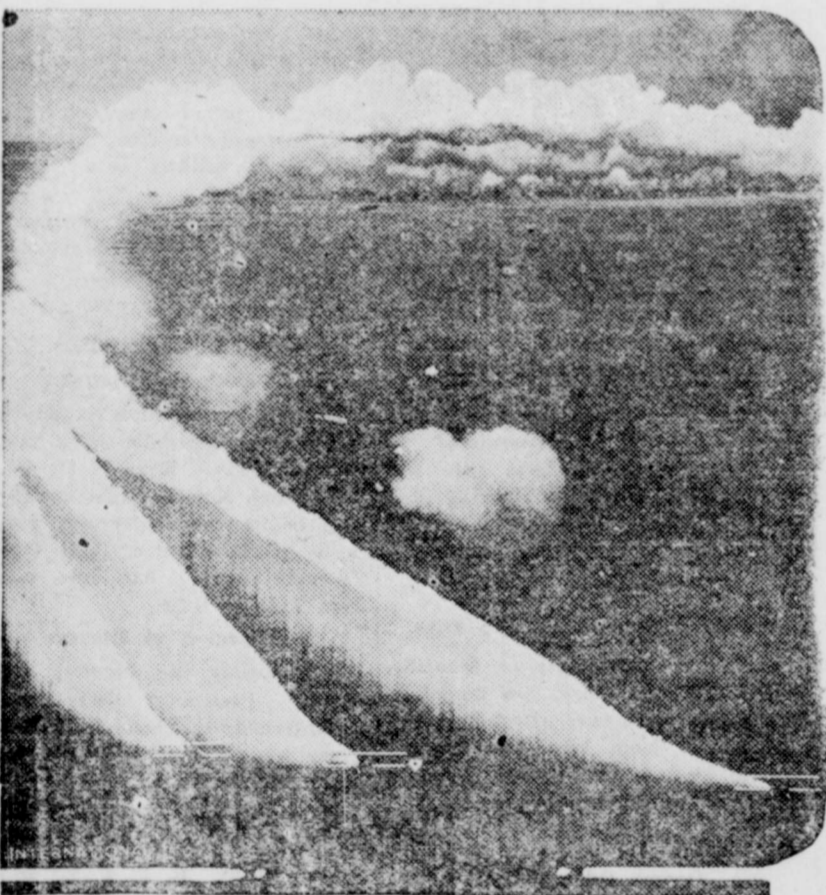

The age-mellowed beauty of medieval times is exemplified in this scene of the interior of the church of St. Francis at Assisi, Italy, where King Boris of Bulgaria married Princess Giovanna of Italy. The church was built in 1228 shortly after the death of the beloved saint. The immortal artist, Giotto, and his pupils painted the frescoes here shown which are still in an excellent state of preservation.

You'll Be Wanting a Fur-Jacket Costume to Wear to the Games

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

RAH, rah, rah! here it is, college girls and women everywhere, who are interested in "the latest," just the costume you've been wanting to wear to the football game this fall or about town—the fur-jacket cloth suit. It is simply too smart for words.

The fur-jacket costume is the pet of Paris. It is the most captivating, "sniff" fashion that ever inflated a fall season. You can get it in any sports fur of your choice, and if your checkbook will not admit of real fur shed no tears, for the fur-fabric types are amazingly good looking.

Muskat dyed lapin, caracul, kid-skin or spotted leopard, choose which you will, you are sure to go right in your selection and, having decided, the next step is to consider the cloth for the skirt and the lining of the jacket. Yes, indeed, the jacket must be lined with the cloth of the skirt, else you fall to accent the ensemble idea which would be a sad sin of omission.

The blouse to wear with it? Why not one of the new wool face over which every one in styledom is raving? Or perhaps you prefer one made of the very smart eyelet-embroidered wool jersey or just plain jersey in a bright hue if you insist.

Maybe your fancy turns to lacy tweed for the skirt and the lining and the beret—for, of course, you are planning a matching beret. There is only one excuse for the beret not matching the tweed of the skirt or the one-piece dress (yes, some folks like a one-piece frock best with their fur jacket, and fashion is willin') and that excuse is because the beret is made of the fur of the jacket.

Truth is these fur-jacket and beret sets are smart enough to wear with any one of those pretty deep green, wine red, or radiant brown lightweight wool frocks which are finding their way into your autumn and winter wardrobe. Look stunning, too, with a velvet or velveteen skirt.

Made With a Bolero Is This Little Girl's Paris Frock

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

IF YOU are wanting to give a Paris touch to little daughter's party frock, work it with eyelet embroidery. French couturiers are making eyelet embroidery a featured theme in design this season. For grownups everything is being eyeleted in the costume that can be eyeleted. The ambitious eyelet embroiderer is no respecter of fabrics, performing every known weave from velvet to chiffon, and likewise the new light woolsens respond to the call for this decorative treatment.

Not only for adult modes but for little girl's frocks the sentiment is to "go far as you like" in matter of eyelet embroidery. That is, the entire dress may be made of all-over-eyeleted material, or there may be simply discreet touches here and there, perhaps on the yoke and distinguishing the sleeves.

In embroidering the cunning pink crepe de chine party dress in the picture, the designer tunes the motif to childhood's fancy in that the perforations outline amusing little figures running about, some playing with hoops, while others are dancing and making merry in general.

In making up their children's clothes for the forthcoming months, mothers will do well to bear in mind fashion's call for a lavish use of eyelet work. One of the newest items to be considered for school wear is the eyelet embroidered jersey blouse, which together with a skirt of plain jersey makes a practical and attractive outfit.

In regard to the little bolero which gives an up-to-date styling to the dainty frock pictured, we are quite accustomed to seeing these jaunty jacket effects in the daytime mode, both for adults and juveniles, however, the fact of their adoption in the party-frock realm calls attention to them from a new angle. As to that, children's styles abound in intriguing details.

Incident That Tested

Byng's Sense of Humor

An amusing incident occurred during Lord Byng's recent visit to South Africa. He was sitting in the lounge of his hotel opposite a lady who had with her a little dog called "Bingo."

Lord Byng, a lover of dogs, patted the little animal, and when he got up to leave it started to follow him. Whereupon, the lady, unaware of his identity, called out, "Bing, you're silly, where do you think you're going? Come back here at once, sir."

His lordship turned round sharply, and regarded the lady with a look of amazement. Then, as the dog, obeying its mistress's summons, ran back to her, its tail between its legs, he realized the situation, and burst out laughing.

The lady's confusion, when one of the other guests explained the situation to her, can be imagined.—Montreal Star.

Always use best oil—say expert mechanics

When you consider how much you paid for your sewing machine, vacuum cleaner, lawn mower, washer, and other expensive devices, don't you think it's foolish to try to economize on oil? The very best costs only a few cents a year—and is really cheapest in the long run.

3-in-One, a scientific blend of mineral, vegetable and animal oils, is made especially for lubrication of household devices. It cleans and protects as well as lubricates. 3-in-One costs more to make than ordinary oil but it costs less to use. If you know what expert mechanics know about oil, you'd never use anything else around the house. At good drug, grocery, hardware, department and general stores, in 15c and 30c bottles and cans. For your protection, look for the trade mark "3-in-One" printed in red on every package.

Playing in the Woods

One of the best vacation stories is about Fritz Kreisler. The famous violinist spent his vacation in Maine one summer, and hired a guide, Mr. Kreisler had his own ideas of a vacation. The French-Canadian guide explains very well what kind of a holiday that was.

"I no und'stan' heem. He pay me five dollar a day to be guide. He no hunt, he no fish, no climb mountain, all he do he sit all day an' play dam' fiddle."

THE LAXATIVE WITH HIGHEST ENDORSEMENT

When you get up headachy, sluggish, weak, half-sick, here's how to feel yourself again in a jiffy.

Take a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water—or lemonade. Taken in lemonade, Phillips' Milk of Magnesia acts like citrate of magnesia. As a mild, safe, pleasant laxative, Phillips' Milk of Magnesia has the highest medical endorsement.

As an anti-acid to correct sour stomach, gas, indigestion, biliousness, it has been standard with doctors for 50 years. Quick relief in digestive and eliminative troubles of men, women, children—and babies.

Explained

"Pop, why do they have different priced gas?" asked the kid as they were leaving the filling station.

"They have a cheap gas for those who are still paying for their cars, son, and a better grade for those who have theirs paid for and can afford to buy it."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Her Reward

When children are weak and run-down, they are easy prey to colds or children's diseases. So it is never wise to neglect those weakening and depressing symptoms of bad breath, coated tongue, fretfulness, feverishness, biliousness, lack of energy and appetite, etc.

Nine times out of ten these things point to one trouble—constipation—and mothers by thousands know this is easily, safely relieved by California Fig Syrup.

Mrs. Chas. J. Connell, 1434 Cleary Ave., St. Louis, Mo., says: "I gave Virginia California Fig Syrup for constipation and she was more than rewarded for taking it. It regulated her bowels, helped her digestion, increased her appetite, made her strong and energetic."

The genuine, endorsed by doctors for 50 years, always bears the word California. All drugstores have it.

CAUGHT COLD?

IT'S easy to throw off a cold when you know what to do—and do it. Two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin will break up a cold in a jiffy! Take them promptly. Bayer Aspirin will check your cold at any stage, but why wait until you are miserable? These tablets are perfectly harmless because they don't depress the heart. If your throat feels sore, crush three more tablets in a little water and gargle. This will ease your throat instantly and reduce any infection. A cold needn't worry you when you take these simple precautions. But the simplest cold is serious when you don't. Remember that, and remember to get the genuine tablets stamped Bayer. Read the proven directions for headaches, neuralgia, neuritis, sciatica; and for the prompt, positive relief of periodic pain.

Lesson for November 30

ZACCHAEUS THE PUBLICAN, A BUSINESS MAN CONVERTED

LESSON TEXT—Luke 19:1-10. GOLDEN TEXT—For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost. PRIMARY TOPIC—A Man Who Thought Jesus Would Not Care. JUNIOR TOPIC—A Man Who Righted His Wrongs. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Religion Changes One's Life. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Making Business Christian.

I. Jesus Passing Through Jericho (v. 1).

Jericho is noted as the stronghold of the Canaanites, which was miraculously delivered into the hands of Israel in response to their faith (Josh. 6), and also for the faith of Rahab which saved her from destruction with the city (Heb. 11:30, 31). It was thus noted as a city where faith and unbelief played against each other. It was fitting that Jesus should pass through Jericho. Faith and unbelief again were manifested. Two notorious sinners, Rahab and Zacchaeus, were saved at Jericho.

II. Zacchaeus Seeking Jesus (vv. 2-4).

1. His object (v. 3). He sought to see who Jesus was, though perhaps prompted by curiosity, he earnestly sought Jesus. 2. His difficulties (v. 2, 3). (1) His infamous business (v. 2). He was a tax collector for the Roman government. The very fact that a Jew held such an office under the hated Romans would make him extremely unpopular. Then since he was rich, it was evident that he had practiced extortion in collecting the taxes. Many men and women have a hard time in coming to Christ because of their questionable business relations. (2) His shortness of stature (v. 3). He was too small to crowd his way through to Jesus, and being hated by the people they thrust him aside.

3. His persistence (v. 4).

He ran before the multitude and climbed up into a tree. What he lacked in stature he was determined should be made up by the height of the tree. Though Zacchaeus' legs were too short to enable him to see Jesus they were long enough to run past the crowd and enable him to climb the tree. III. Jesus Finding Zacchaeus (vv. 5, 6).

While Zacchaeus was trying to see Jesus, Jesus was looking for him. This is always the case. When desire is stirred up in a heart to see Jesus, Jesus is seeking that one. When Jesus saw him he commanded him to come down from the tree and declared his intention to go home with him. Zacchaeus got more than he expected. Jesus called him by name. He did not utter a word which would humiliate Zacchaeus. Jesus knew his heart's desire and dealt accordingly with him. All souls who earnestly seek Jesus shall be found of him. How wonderful his grace, that regardless of one's past life, Jesus will receive him as a friend and enter into fellowship with him! Zacchaeus quickly responded. He came down and with joy received Jesus. IV. Zacchaeus' Conversion (vv. 7-10).

His conversion was sudden and thorough. He was converted before he had reached the ground.

1. What the crowd said (v. 7). They said just what they say today when sinners come to Christ. They call to mind the man's former sins. They also reproached Christ, saying that he had gone to be a guest of this notorious extortioner, the tax collector. That for which they reproached Jesus was his glory. His supreme mission was to save sinners (v. 10).

2. What Zacchaeus said (v. 8). His conversion was thorough. It took hold upon his heart. His new life began with resolution and restitution. He dedicated half of his goods to the poor. The man who a little while ago was a grafter was now a generous giver. His conversion got hold of his pocketbook. His determination to make restitution wherein he had wrongly exacted taxes shows the genuineness of his conversion. While God forgets the past of a sinner when he comes to Christ, the sinner who is converted will seek to right all wrongs, be they unkind words or unrighteous deeds. Sorrow for sin is not enough when restitution is possible.

3. What Jesus said (v. 9, 10). "Today is salvation come to thy house." The publican was now a child of God, a son of Abraham. Salvation is a present reality when one receives Christ.

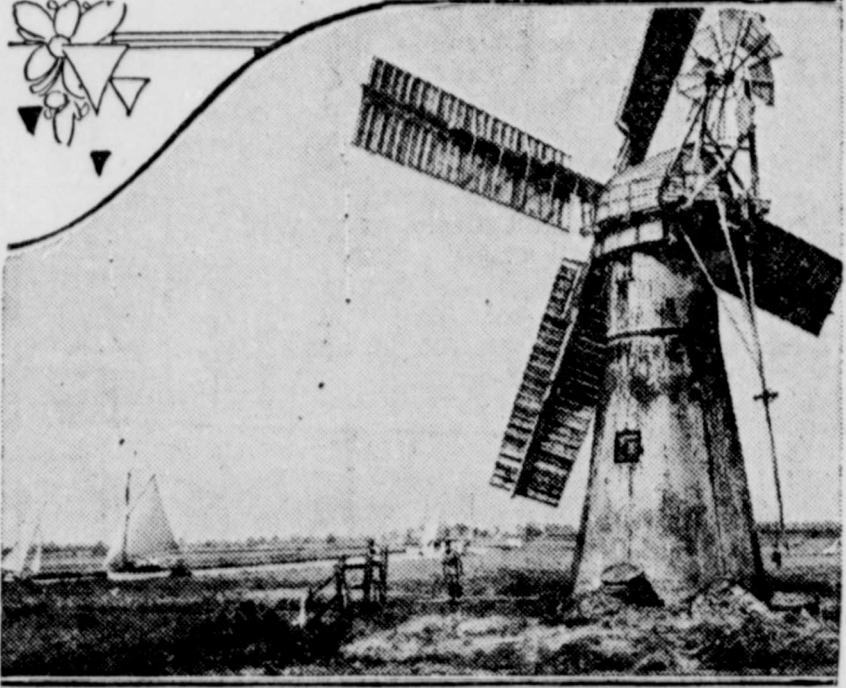

A Blessed Truth

I want you, each one, to drink in this blessed truth, if you can; not only that you are not the object of hatred to God, but that you are the object of his intense delight; not only that you never cause anger to spring up in his bosom, for his anger is turned away from you, but that you even raise in his heart emotion of divine affection.—Spurgeon.

Value of Religious Belief

I should prefer a firm religious belief to every other blessing; for it makes life a discipline of goodness, creates new hopes when all earthly hopes vanish, and throws over the decay, the destruction of existence, the most gorgeous of all lights; a waking life even in death.—Str. Humphry Davy.

England's Fen Country

Windmills Help Drain England's Fenlands.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

TO THE seasoned traveler a large part of England is as an open door. Agencies and steamship companies have so familiarized him with the places of interest in the north and west that it seems somewhat of an anomaly to discover a region which has been almost entirely neglected; yet the country of East Anglia is by no means devoid of importance and contains many features which will appeal particularly to students of history.

Indeed, the fen country has been described as the cradle of the English race. Hither marched Roman legions to the conquest of British tribes; hither retreated Boadicea before the advance of Suetonius; hither came the Danes to plunder and destroy. At the summit of the hill leading out of Cambridge arose the Norman castle which was seized later by rebellious barons. Along the still-existing Roman highway marched in 1381 the mob of peasants under Wat Tyler, and in 1643 the disciplined troops of Cromwell—a truly memorable pageant of events.

Originally the whole land was a forest of oak, ash, fir and nut trees. Then, in the second century, there was an earthquake, and the sea submerged this forest.

When the Romans discovered how fertile the land was, they started to reclaim the district drowned by river floods. They built dikes and embankments and even checked the inroads of the sea. After the disastrous Saxon, Danish and Norman raids, much of the reclamation work perished, until the monks took up the task. Then, wherever a monastery rose, the slow steady labor proceeded. As their outfalls became choked up, however, the natural drains decayed, and the fenlands died everything possible to prevent their repair; for they believed that drainage would seriously interfere with their fishing and fowling.

Vermuyden Built Canals. Finally Cromwell put down all opposition by force, and enlisted the services of Cornelius Vermuyden, a Dutch engineer. Vermuyden cut a few main watercourses through the district, with Lynn as their chief outfall, and at right angles to these a number of short canals. Water from the marshes was pumped into these canals by windmills, to be carried in turn to the rivers and finally to the sea. So wherever one goes in fenland, one will see vast acres of reclaimed marsh intersected by drains and with a windmill or steam pump every few miles.

But it is not only the land drained by rivers that has been reclaimed. Ever since Roman days, attempts have been made to win back the salt marshes. At the present time there is a scheme on foot for draining the whole of the Wash and adding thereby to England thousands of acres of some of the finest agricultural soil in the world. To explore the highways and byways of the fenland, one will find it convenient to traverse the Via Devana, that Roman road which runs through Cambridge and on to Godmanchester. Just below Huntingdon, where the Via Devana connects with Ermine street, the great Roman highway from London to the north, one should turn into a narrow track that leads through many small villages to Eairth bridge.

Here two of Vermuyden's channels, the Old Bedford and New Bedford rivers, flow side by side for 50 miles across the plain. And the original River Ouse, from which the water for the new channels was drawn and which became in consequence so choked with weeds as to be useless for navigation, meanders round by way of Strettham, Ely, and Littleport, picking up numerous tributaries en route. Finally, at Salter's Lode, it unites with Vermuyden's streams to flow in one tidal watercourse to the sea.

A short distance beyond the bridge is a rough-hewn cart track covered with bunches of weeds, nettles and rank grass. High gates lead to private farmyards, whence dogs seek to chase the intruder without further inquiry. At length appears a cluster of cottages, and save for these, one seems to be in a wilderness of cultivation. Far as the eye can reach stretches a multicolored panorama of wheat and barley fields interspersed with dikes, while on the horizon appears a silver line, betokening the Great Ouse.

Yet this deserted hamlet rejoices in the name of California! Standing by the post box, one can gaze over this fertile country and picture the difference which drainage has made. Formerly the whole area was a vast swamp, whose inhabitants were continually tortured by ague and rheumatoid arthritis. To alleviate the pain, they resorted to opium and other venal narcotics. Even today one occasionally finds an old fenlander who is addicted to the opium habit; but such cases are exceedingly rare.

Village Feast Days. From California the explorer passes over a wide area of reclaimed marsh to Wisbech. In this district every village has its feast day, which is held on the date of the dedication of the church. A procession marches around the boundaries, a religious service is held, and there is a collection for charity. Some years ago singlestick, a kind of dueling with wooden staves, was a great attraction, but nowadays the villagers are content with wrestling exhibitions and "all the fun of the fair."

Notwithstanding, one can still see at the fair such a contest as that provided by the men of Tanvats and those of Sixwoud. Competitors stand opposite each other in lines, with eyes fixed on their opponents' feet. At a given signal each man seizes his rival near the chest with both hands, trying at the same time to kick him on the shins. The art consists in bringing one's opponent to his knees in the shortest possible time. The prize is a copper kettle.

A little farther on lies Parson Drove, where there is an interesting survival of the past in the shape of a wood mill. Wood grows to a height of six feet and has a blue-green leaf with a yellow flower. It is gathered in the fields and crushed by machinery to produce a splendid dye which was used by ancient Britons for staining their bodies blue.

Soon the towers of Crowland appear in the distance. Here, at the end of the Seventh century, came St. Guthlac. At that period the island was the most remote of the whole archipelago and possessed by devils. A legend narrates how Guthlac, after being mercilessly tortured, conquered the devils and compelled Satan to bring the stone for the foundation of his oratory.

In olden days the Welland used to flow through the main street of Crowland, and in the market place is a curious triangular bridge over dry ground. It consists of three segments of a circle which meet at a point in the center. The east road goes to the abbey, the northwest to Stamford, and the southwest to Peterborough.

Strange Duck Decoy.

A mile or two farther is one of the few duck decoys left in the fen country. It stands some five miles from any habitation and is approached by a long avenue of lime trees. A path leads to the entrance gate, which admits to what at first looks like a wood. In the center is a pond full of weeds and waterlilies, with numerous promontories and rocks. Out of it lead eight large pipes, one for each direction of the wind. They are inclosed by nets fastened to continuous fences or stakes on the banks. When a drive takes place the ducks, which have flown from the Netherlands and settled on the pond, are enticed up one of these pipes. A trained dog runs about and drives tame ducks to the trap entrance, while the keepers hide in the bushes at the far end.

Bird Choked by Ring While hiking over the Burgoyne trail, Peter Sage of Lee, Mass., says the Boston Globe, came across a young crow in the path which made several efforts to fly without success and appeared exhausted. Sage took it home, but it died in two days. Examination revealed a gold ring around its neck, which had choked it to death. The ring was completely covered by the feathers. After it had been removed and cleaned the lettering "M. G. H. to L. S. W." was found inside. It is supposed the mother bird picked up the ring after it had been lost and when the older bird attempted to feed its young the ring slipped over the head, eventually causing death by starvation.

The Clown Makes Himself Useful

Cold in Head, Chest or Throat?

RUB Musterole well into your chest and throat—almost instantly you feel easier. Repeat the Musterole-rub once an hour for five hours... what a glorious relief!

Those good old-fashioned cold remedies—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor—are mixed with other valuable ingredients in Musterole to make it what doctors call a "counter-irritant" because it gets action and is not just a salve. It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. Keep Musterole handy—jars, tubes. All druggists.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Suit Over Razor-Blade Cut

If one cuts himself on a safety razor blade at the home of a friend he may recover damages, according to the decision in a Paris court recently. M. Tizkowitz sued a former client and personal friend, M. Dubois, for $2,400 damages. He testified that he called on the defendant to examine some goods, and asked to be allowed to wash his hands afterwards. In reaching for the soap he cut his hand severely against a safety razor blade. The court awarded him the full amount claimed.

FAMOUS Doctor's Way to move the Bowels

Do your bowels fail you occasionally? Are you a chronic sufferer from constipation and its ills? Then you will be interested to know of this method which makes the bowels help themselves.

Dr. Caldwell specialized on bowel ills. He treated thousands for constipation. The prescription he wrote so many times—which has been tested by 47 years' practice—can be had of any drugstore today. Its pleasant taste and the way it acts have made it the world's largest selling laxative.

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," as it is called, is a skillful compound of laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other mild ingredients. Nothing in it to harm even a baby. Children like its taste. It acts gently, without griping or discomfort. So it is ideal for women or older people. But even the most robust man will find its action thorough, satisfying. The quick, certain benefits millions are securing from Syrup Pepsin proves a doctor knows what is best for the bowels.

Next time you feel bilious, head-achy, bloated, gassy, or constipated take some Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and see how fine you feel the next day—and for days to come!
