

County Agents Add Thousands of Dollars to Farm Income

LADIES' WORK NETS $35,000 IN 12 MONTHS

More Than 500 Members of Farm Families Have Definite Four-H Club Projects at Home.

Thousands of dollars have been added to the farm incomes of Scurry County since the two county agents began their work, a brief survey reveals.

Figures compiled by Miss Jessie Lee Davis, home demonstration agent, reveal that in her Four-H Club work for 1930 alone, at least $35,000 worth of projects were completed.

A total of more than 500 members of farm families are carrying out definite Four-H Club projects. These include 221 women, 111 girls and 175 boys. Four-H Club work is only one phase of the program carried out by W. O. Logan, county farm agent.

The value of the women's work for the first five months of this year, as revealed in reports submitted by only six of the 22 club secretaries, is $4,280.71, divided as follows:

- Poultry 11,450.21
- American Cheese, 783 pounds 274.05
- Meat: Canned, 1,280 containers; cured, 1,139 pounds 931.35
- Clothing and quilts, 447 1,574.50

Scurry County has 22 organized Home Demonstration Clubs in 18 different communities. There are 10 women's clubs with a membership of 221 women, and 12 Girls' Four-H Clubs with 111 members. The adult organizations are in the following communities: Ira, Dunn, Round Top, Camp Springs, Plainview, Fluvanna, Turner, Ganaway, Union and Hermleigh. Girls clubs are in the communities of: Arath, Turner, Bethel, Desmond, Strayhorn, Plainview, Hud, Pleasant Hill, Ganaway, German, Dunn and Bell.

The club girls have completed their work for this year in food preparation and nutrition, and most of it in sewing and home improvement. They are now working on their 50 poultry, 48 garden and four dairy demonstrations. A little later they will be doing their canning work.

In the 12 women's clubs there are 44 special demonstrators, 27 Four-H pantry demonstrators and 194 co-operators, who have planned and are filling balanced budgets. Each club woman planted a garden sufficient in size to furnish fresh vegetables and to have a surplus adequate to fill her budget. There are five special poultry calendar demonstrators who have cared for 693 birds since January 1, and have cleared $392. Twelve clothing demonstrators have improved their clothing storage and are keeping clothing records.

The death rate from accidents is greater in the United States than in any other country. It is increasing each year.

Here Is a Short Cut to Good Health

The privy of the type above, which is approved by the state and national boards of health, will prevent the spread of many diseases and infections, according to E. D. Hopkins, sanitary engineer, who is assisting County Agent W. O. Logan and the boys 4-H Clubs in placing them in every rural community of the county. This service is absolutely free, and the approved privies can be built in many cases without a penny of extra cost.

Four-H Club Boys At Fluvanna Start At Novel Mother Idea

The 4-H Club boys of Fluvanna have added something new to their club—they now have a club mother, County Agent W. O. Logan reports. And he says Mrs. E. V. Boynton is making them a good one. The boys also have a club dad in the person of J. B. Bishop, and they are proud of their dad.

Ed Jones is adult leader up there, and there are 48 members working to make their club the best one in Scurry or any other county.

A unique program was given by the club boys last week, and several of the Union 4-H Club boys went over with their adult leader, Charles E. Eastman, County Agent Logan and County Commissioner H. C. Flournoy visited the meeting, and the agent discussed "The How and Why of Club Work." Their club mother, Mrs. Boynton, made a fine talk on "My Duty to Your Boy and Mine." Rev. T. L. Nipp discussed in a pleasing way "The Span of Time," taking agriculture at an early age and bringing it down, and the influence 4-H Club work is doing now to keep our boys abreast of the times.

Hingus—"You said you were going to get married last year, but you didn't."

Dingus—"No, I was forced into the ranks of the unemployed and couldn't make it."

Hingus—"Well, you can't expect to get all the well."

Mrs. Flip—"Are you troubled very much in your neighborhood with burrowing?"

Mrs. Flap—"Yes, a great deal. My neighbors don't seem to have anything I want."

"Daughter," said the father very sternly, "I don't like that young man you go out with."

"Yeah?" retorted daughter. "Well, don't worry; you're simply poison to him, too."

Nearly 200 Boys Have Projects In 4-H Club Work

Boys' 4-H Club work in Scurry County has made great strides during the past few years. Increasing interest is being manifested by the boys under the leadership of County Agent W. O. Logan. Mr. Logan has issued a summary of the work done to date by his boys, as follows:

There are 175 boys between the ages of 10 and 18 carrying on Four-H Club work. Thirty-five of these are feeding 75 hogs, 33 boys are growing 115 acres of milk, eight boys are growing 38 acres of feterita, five boys are growing 15 acres of kaffir, six boys are growing 30 lambs, 13 boys are growing 28 beef calves, 15 boys are growing dairy cows, 25 boys are growing 1,060 chicks, 11 boys are growing gardens, nine boys are growing rabbits, corn, ribbon cane, etc., and 35 boys are growing 175 acres of the best cotton.

Some of these boys are growing more than one thing, and some are in as many as three or four clubs. They are after getting the best out of each enterprise and winning not only county and state prizes but making the work pay them returns at home.

By feeding it to five pigs, Fred Weiler, DeWitt County demonstrator, made a market of 96 cents a bushel for 20 bushels of corn that was worth only 50 cents on the local market. County agent says it took $2 worth of home mixed protein supplement to balance the corn, the whole fed in self feeders. Pigs sold for 75 cents per pound at the farm.

There has never been a time when more care was needed in making up livestock rations. When prices are high, errors in judgment may only shrink profits, but right now anything short of skillful feeding turns almost profits into losses. Good farmers are worth watching these days.

The Times Creed.

For the cause that need assistance; For the wrongs that need redress; For the future in the distance, And the good that we can do.

THE WEEKLY DOZEN.

Somebody's Juggling the Calendar. The seasons are getting awfully bad mixed up. The Easter cold spell came on Mother's Day this year. We are likely to have our Christmas snow on Armistice Day, and people will be asking what day of the month the Fourth of July comes on.—Rotan Advance.

There's Enough to Go Around, Too. Pessimism Peto, while surveying the countryside from his Model "T" Sunday, observed that if a hundred hard-boiled husbands and a hundred shrewish wives could absorb some of the flowery perfume that is being wasted on the spring air, this would soon be the sweetest county in West Texas.

While the Band Strikes Up a Tune— Now that nice rains have come, weather has become pleasant, and folks are looking toward the Fall with more grace, why not have a few more ball games, picnics, and old-fashioned on-the-square entertainments? Newspaper publishers will be glad to pigtail, eat or be entertained.

What We Want When We Want It . . . This week's favorite quotation: Chorus of hopeful Democrats: Roosevelt, Ritchie, Baker, Smith? We don't care a pin. What we want's inside lookin' out. 'Stend of outside lookin' in.

What Church Is Yours? . . . Seasonal? Why Churches are doing everything in their power to drown the hot-weather blues. Summer-time religion seems to be equally as contagious as measles, mumps and whooping cough—and it is many times as harmful. We all admit our moral, social and economic dependence on the church, but few of us have the courage and the unselfishness to fight for them when it means the loss of a temporary pleasure.

They Have Their Trials and Troubles. A successful farmer deserves a lot of praise, for there is probably not another field of human endeavor that requires more courage, stamina and perseverance than that of tilling the soil. To the casual observer from the city the life of the farmer may look peacefully quiet and lacking in the strain and grind of business and industrial life. In spite of its peaceful aspect, however, farming is an occupation filled with hazards.—Graham Leader.

He's the Fellow Who Puts It Over. Whenever this scribe sees the picture and write-up in a newspaper of some gentleman who has made a success in his particular line of endeavor, we put it down the dope wasn't put there through any voluntary effort on the victim's part. These men who make success at their jobs are very reluctant to let the world know how they did it. The fellow that holds himself in a position to be awarded the Pulitzer prize or Carnegie medal for exploiting the successes of individuals is the newspaper reporter.—Stanton Reporter.

We Ourselves Make Our Happiness. The great crowd that heard Rev. Cal C. Wright Sunday afternoon during the Memorial Day service was striking testimony of this community's attitude toward our war heroes. It is a community's response to occasions such as this that make it citizens happy and hopeful. Do you remember, back in '21 and '26, when prosperity was remembering hand in hand with Scurry County, that folks were so very much happier than they are now? Of course, you don't. Human nature says that adversity must come before we really appreciate the true values of life.

The White Man Leads the Way. "White man's magic" has for centuries given the Caucasians ascendancy over the people of other races. When Columbus first sailed across the Atlantic and appeared among the Indians, they thought him a god. When the white man first made his appearance among the aboriginal Indians on the American continent, riding Centaur-like astride a horse, the Indians marveled at the strange apparition—to them a marvelous creature. Another revelation to the Indian was the stick (gun) that emitted fire and smoke and hurled hailstones of death and destruction.—Brady Standard.

At Least They Don't Hurt Our Tongue. M. E. Foster, editor of the Houston Post, started a one-syllable fad that his trickled 'way out here in West Texas. Just to keep step with the times, we will dedicate this section of The Weekly Dozen to the proposition that one-syllable words are o. k.: This end of the world is well blessed with men who make their plans for years to come. They lay by in store as God gives them strength and goods, and then have a small gold mine off which to live when hard times hit. These men are our friends—friends of The Times, of you, if you please. How's that? Excruciatingly philosophical, no?

Most People Would Prefer Socialism. There is a continually growing resentment against the arrogance and power of great wealth in this country. Big business is too many favors at the hands

Two Sides to This Question.

A number of weekly papers make a habit of telling folks, week after week, that advertising pays, that trading at home pays, and that civic pride in all its forms pays. Readers, as a rule, skip that portion of the paper, and read something about their neighbors or their neighbor's neighbors.

The Times has preferred, on the whole, to show its readers that advertising pays. We have, preferred, also, to try to show merchants that they must trade at home if they expect to give the mail order houses a black eye.

It is time to stop and wonder about a few things when we receive, within one month, three statements and two or three letterheads, used by leading local firms but printed heaven-knows-where. Maybe we didn't rustle for the business hard enough. But gosh only knows what those merchants would say about us if we bought our insurance, tires and other needs from Monkey-Rowback.

Raymond Ford Fills His Shoes.

Some men take the bull by the horns and then turn loose when the animal sees red. There let the other fellow do the work. A few stay in others and pitch with the old fellow, no matter whether he gets in a high lobe or tries to paw their shins off.

Raymond Ford, Snyder's representatives for the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, is one of those who has stayed in there and pitched. Even those who have fought the co-op, by silence or by actually working against it, have respect for this little man with the big cotton experience. He can tell you more about his business in a minute than most of us know about ours all week. He tells folks a lot of what he knows, too, but he does it so courteously and purposefully that only a few have taken occasion to doubt his ability or co-jop.

The Times has supported the co-op program against all odds. It continues to do so. Even if we were "agin" it, however, we would rise to give this word of credit and encouragement to a man who has been a distinct asset to Scurry County during his few months with us.

EDITORIAL OF THE WEEK

THE OTHER CHEEK.

To paraphrase the words of the popular song, the Legislature "has given West Texas plenty to remember it by." The remembrances were gratuitously given, too. West Texas didn't ask for them.

The first slap came when the Metcalfe congressional redistricting bill failed to win Senate approval. The Metcalfe bill, carefully built upon the census bureau's figures of population increases, gave South Texas one, Central West Texas the second and the Panhandle the third of the state's three new congressmen. The Metcalfe bill was basically fair, but unless a special session recognizes the justice of her claims, West Texas will not get her two new representatives.

Now for the other cheek: For a long time West Texas has been asking the Legislature to reimburse her for losses sustained in the quarantine against the pink boll weevil of some years ago. This year a measure was introduced and passed in the House, appropriating $300,000 for the purpose of satisfying these claims of West Texas farmers. It went to the Senate, where an amendment was added appropriating $500,000 for reimbursement of East Texas farmers who suffered loss in the tick eradication campaign in East Texas. The funds not being available, the governor has no alternative but to veto the bill.

To a disinterested observer, it must appear that the Legislature has rather gone out of its way to discriminate against West Texas and West Texas interests. Such tactics may be good politics, but they don't square with the Texas estimate of fairness and justice. Meanwhile, it might help some of our legislators who have large political ambitions to take another look at West Texas. In the last gubernatorial campaign she demonstrated the fact that she can vote "en bloc." Moreover, she casts a whale of a big vote, and she's growing by leaps and bounds. Most sane men would hesitate to spank her, for the simple reason that she's grown too big to spank.—Editorials of the Week, Houston.

Hoax—"Don't Jim the barber have a serious face?"

Joan—"Well, looking in the mirror at it so often you could hardly expect him to enjoy it."

Trampus—"Ma'am, I overtook my constitution lookin' fer a job."

Mrs. Crabbe—"It must be true. She's stuck to the stuck to the same story all the years I've known her."

of the government. Big business has too much power in Congress. Big business is playing with fire. If the power and influence of the wealthy continues to grow and the lot of the common people continues to grow harder, a day of reckoning will come some time. We do not believe that it will come in the form of a bloody revolution but it will come in the form of sweeping reforms that will wrest the government from the hands of the rich and restore it into the hands of the people. The final result may be a condition closely akin to socialism—but as between a modified form of socialism and plutocracy, most people would prefer the former.—Lynn County News.

And It's an Everlasting Debt, Sir. Many persons we know who are most loyal in the matter of discharging their financial obligation lose sight of the fact that there are other debts they owe to Hico business houses and professional men. They may pride themselves on being prompt payers of their debts, yet overlook something important. When making purchases of any kind we should remember that it is Hico property owners, store-keepers and taxpayers that support the fire department that protects their property, the city government which furnishes regulation of civic affairs and provides police protection that we may go home at night and sleep without fear of being burglarized or harmed through malicious depredations, and aware of the fact that if our property catches fire there will be ways and means of fighting the flames.—Hico News-Review.

CURRENT COMMENT

By LEON GUINN

President Hoover and his committee and other serious minded politicians are concerned with reducing surplus cotton and wheat. These gurus must "move on" to make storage space for the new crops. To reduce surplus cotton one writer asserts that we should make men's shirt-tails longer, and another writer advocates more dresses per woman. I'm in favor of more cotton print dresses, but don't know about the night shift idea for men.

Price stabilization must prevail. The ultimate value of farm products will be recognized. Stabilization is the one thing that will reimburse the cotton and wheat growers and cause them to patronize the home merchant, the home paper and state-manufactured products. It is the lever by which good business can be pushed upward. Rather it is the fulcrum by which to lift the depression.

Apparently, if the farmer were guaranteed 20 cents per pound and the wheat grower $1 per bushel, stabilization and new business would result. Senators are knitting their brows on how to remove the surplus without dumping and clear the road for stabilized prices. To put the farmer on a living basis, to boost the small city and to wipe out the government deficit is the objective.

New uses must be made for cotton. Cotton has been the basic foundation of Southern livelihood for a number of years. The uses of cotton have been lightly touched upon. Eventually, to conserve a depleted forest reserve, much of the commercial paper will be made of cotton, interwoven with cotton stalks or wood and united with chemicals. Then cotton is a nice packing material for goods in boxes or crates, especially for bottled liquids and fragile articles.

Wheat is next, and out of today's conferences is tomorrow's utilization of wheat resources. Other uses for wheat exist, and are to be recognized. Universal utilization and flexibility of uses will provide an outlet for these two products. Else "dumping," low prices and under-selling will result, coupled with restricted production of said products. There is a way out for farmers, local merchants and county progressiveness.

In conclusion, conditions must improve. Stabilization is uppermost in the minds of national executives. It must, and will prevail. Will we

More Representation.

Senator Pink L. Parrish "hit the nail on the head" here the other day when he declared that, in the event of a special session of the Legislature, "West Texans should go to Austin with 'blood in their eyes'" on the matter of state and national redistricting.

At this writing there is no legislation more important to the South Plains. Additional representation at both Austin and Washington is much to be desired.

The congressional redistricting bill, which proposed a new South Plains district, was beaten in the state Senate just a few days ago. But, according to Mr. Parrish, there is a possibility that the bill will be re-introduced in the special session now looming, and that "although there will be a fight," there is a chance of passing it. South Plains people, of course, are vitally interested in securing their own congressman—the chances of making the grade before another two years are decidedly "slim."

In the matter of redistricting, the state House of Representatives, however, there is a fertile field for work. According to the federal census of 1930, Lubbock County and the surrounding counties of the present have to restrict production of cotton and wheat or not?

Restless, could not sleep

"THERE were days when I felt like I could not get my work done. I would get so nervous and 'trembly' I would have to lie down. I was very restless, and could not sleep at night. My mother advised me to take Cardui, and I certainly am glad she did. It is the first thing that seemed to give me any strength. I felt better after the first bottle. I kept it up and am now feeling fine."—Mrs. T. R. Gibson, Fort Payne, Ala.

Hundred and Nineteenth District have an opportunity to add at least two more representatives than are now allotted the area. Add to that a third representative, likely to be picked up somewhere between the Panhandle and the T & P tracks, and we have a political plum of the most inviting sort.

Since the problem is one of redistricting the House, the bill should originate in the House. If some far-seeing representative will lay his lines and fight the thing through, there is a probability that this territory will profit materially as far as legislative representation is concerned, by the time another election rolls around.

Somebody like 160 years ago there was a cry which has never been forgotten.

"Taxation without representation" is challenged, "is unjust!" Today the theory "Taxation without sufficient representation is unjust" is similarly appealing to us who seek more strength where we need it most.—Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

INSECT POISON RECIPES GIVEN OUT BY LOGAN

Cut Worms, Bugs and Lice Being Reported to County Agent by Farmers and Gardeners.

Scurry County farmers, gardeners and flower growers are reporting that insects of various kinds are working on growing plants during the past several days. W. O. Logan, county agent, reports that approximately a score of calls by growers were made at his office last week-end for information concerning the poisoning of these insects, and he gives a few simple remedies that have been found practical in former years.

Cut worms, potato bugs, plant lice (aphids) and many other insects have been reported present.

Mr. Logan states that ingredients for all these remedies may be purchased in the towns of Scurry County, and mixed at home at small cost.

1. Cut worms and grasshoppers are best poisoned by using the bran mash made by mixing 20 pounds wheat bran, one pound white arsenic, half gallon cane or sorghum syrup, six lemons ground up, pulp and juice, and enough water to wet so when mashed in the hand water will ooze between fingers. For smaller amounts use: One ounce white arsenic, one pound wheat bran, one-fourth pint cane or sorghum syrup, one-half lemon, enough water for wet, crumbly mash. Sow along row by plants in late afternoon for cut worms, and about same for grasshoppers, or along fence rows where grasshoppers are keeping under the shade.

2. Potato bugs are best poisoned by using one pound arsenate of lead in 40 gallons of water, or one pound Paris green to 48 gallons water. For smaller amount use: One ounce arsenate of lead to two and one-half gallons water; or with Paris green use one ounce with three gallons water.

3. Plant lice (aphids), rose thrips, grape hoppers, etc., are killed best by using "black leaf 40" as directed on bottle.

4. Here is a good inexpensive spray material that will kill all soft bodied sucking insects, and will kill chicken mites; it is not easily mixed but the following mixture makes up the stock solution: One pound laundry soap, two gallons kerosene, one gallon boiling water. Dissolve soap in small amount water, mix with one gallon boiling water (be sure it is boiling), then add kerosene slowly and pump back and forth, stirring very vigorously until well mixed. It should have a consistency something like buttermilk. Then to each gallon of the stock solution add one gallon clear water for chicken mites; spray house and coops. For grape hoppers, add three to four gallons clear water to one gallon stock solution. For lice on cucumbers, watermelons, turnips, etc., add four to seven parts clear water, owing to tenderness of leaves where lice are.

 O. Lambeth and wife, Mary Lambeth, to W. J. Ely; lots No. 1, 2, 3 and 4 in block 23 in the original town of Snyder; also the north 100 feet of lot 1 in block 23 in the original town of Snyder, May 11.

This way of giving control measures is hard to do, the county agent explains, for insects are classified into so many classes, and what will control some does not affect others. However, if directions are followed, and not guessed at, and the material used in remedies No. 3 and No. 4 is put on the insect you may get results. Sucking insects cannot be poisoned, and the material used cannot be sprayed on top of leaf and results obtained when the insect is under the leaf, as the material must come in contact with the body of the insect. Insects that eat the foliage or leaves cannot be killed by using remedies No. 3 or No. 4. If it is grasshoppers or bugs or cut worms that eat or cut stalks, use remedy No. 1. It is an insect that eats the leaves or holes in them, use No. 2.

Children's Day Will Be Observed Sunday At Church of Christ

SCURRY CROPS IN GOOD SHAPE

Almost without exception, crop observers during the past few days declare that Scurry County has not been in better all-round shape at this season in several years. Cotton and feed have taken decided growing spurts, and re-plantings that seemed certain two weeks ago have faded away.

Most of the change came following last week's rain, extending over two or three days, and ending Thursday evening. Snyder received 78 of an inch, while most communities south, east and southeast are said to have received more than that amount. Falls were lighter north and west, but most of the county was covered with enough moisture to be of material benefit.

The showers came so slowly that practically every drop went into the ground and really did as much good as a hard two or three inch rain would have done.

Range cattle and sheep are in excellent condition, and crops of all kinds, including gardens, are very encouraging. Insects and worms have taken a lighter toll here than in most West Texas counties, and heavy inroads have been reported so far.

500 in First Baptist Sunday School.

As superintendent of the First Baptist Sunday school, I am looking forward to a great attendance on next Sunday, June 7. This is our pastor's anniversary. Surely if there is a Sunday in the year that we would come to Sunday school it is next Sunday. If you love him and appreciate his work with us, please do not let anything but sickness prevent your being present next Sunday, June 7. He has asked for 500. Let's make his heart glad by having 500 and more next Sunday morning.

Uncle Charlie Dodson is doing his part. He is going to have 100 juniors present. The 100 juniors are going to have a large group picture made.

Not only do we want 500 in Sunday school but we want a great crowd for the preaching attendance. Also Bro. Jake Smyth and Bro. McGahey are asking for 200 in B. Y. P. U. Sunday evening at 7:15 o'clock. Please, let's do not disappoint our pastor Sunday.

If you are just an occasional visitor in Sunday school, please make next Sunday your day. We urge every member of our church to be present, and we give a hearty welcome to every person who is not an attendant upon some other Sunday school to be with us for this special anniversary day.

I am expecting every department superintendent and officer and teacher to do his or her best. The Lord expects us to do our best—we couldn't want to do less. If we all do our best, we will have more than 500 in the classes Sunday.

Yours for a great Sunday school and service next Sunday—Harvey Stuler, Superintendent.

BELL NEWS

Minnie T. Abernathy, Correspondent
Welcome to our "family circle," Miss Minnie Lee Williams, Hermleigh's new correspondent! Twenty-three years ago we first saw the bustling town of Hermleigh, the busiest place it has been our privilege to see excepting the town of Ranger during the oil boom. We were coming in from the east on the new railroad, the R. S. & P. The engineer blew and blew the whistle. As we neared the town a glimpse from the train window showed us several hacks and buggies waiting for the people who were coming to this new town and country. But I am supposed to write the Bell news so will leave this historical sketch of Hermleigh for Miss Williams. We would be very glad if she would write of Hermleigh's busiest days for the benefit of those who have come to our town and country later.

Several from this community attended the meeting held at Plainview.

Eddie Lapour, Clarence Moore, J. B. and Glenn Tate enjoyed several games of forty-two in the home of the writer Thursday afternoon.

Let's not forget the Parent Teacher Association meeting at the school house Friday night, June 5.
