LOOKED across Scurry's fields with increasing awe. About 25 per cent of the poor soil had been converted into ranch lands 40 years before, and home feeding had brought new prosperity to a new generation of West Texas cattlemen.

PRIVATE cotton buying was only a memory of yesterday. After a few years of mighty struggling for the cotton grower's support, the government marketing agency had become world-powerful, and had taken the cotton grower's plum out of his greedy fingers.

The farmer had modeled his tremendous latent power into a giant political and economic axe with which he kept officeholders and manufacturers in their proper place of respect. He had learned the lesson of observing the law of supply and demand, and no one cared to plant more than one-third of his land to cotton.

I MUST tell you of a typical farm home. Shrubs, trees, flowers and sidewalks were pleasant greeters to the traveler. The fences, the house, the barns—everything—was painted in gay colors, or whitewashed. A radio accompanied the farmhouse, and her was the steady thumming of the electric generator could be heard just outside the house.

YONDER was the farmer and his two boys were there! What attractions were there to draw them to the filthy, mob-like city, where humans were stuffed into wall holes like so many rats? The maize they were heading was pretty as they had ever seen. "Grown from state certified seed, of course," the farm wife was saying, as she saw me peering toward her three men folk.

It's An Ill Wind That Blows No Good We Should Get Rain. One of the steadiest winds in many months whipped across Scurry County last week-end, and as this squibulation is being written, the zephyrs haven't stopped.

WHAT'S THIS? A contented squealing of pigs—registered. They were squealing with the delight of living a whole field full of them, rooting around out there where the early watermelon crop had been pulled.

SLATON CLASS A SQUAD BOWS TO TIGERS, 6-0

Howell's 58-Yard Dash in Second Quarter Spells Defeat for Fighting Visitors.

Buck Howell was the hero of the hour in the first at-home game of the Tigers this season. Grabbing one football and a handful of yards in the second quarter, he circled the visiting Slaton squad's left end Friday afternoon, and crossed the last marker, 58 yards, after wobbling from four vicious tackle attempts.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE READERS' OUR VIEWS

Present Conditions.

Two years have passed and the greatest depression in history has financial circles have not checked the causes that put thousands working, begging for employment, food and clothing. Hunger and medical neglect have sent disease and death abroad in the land. A part of the troubles in this country could have been avoided. What caused these hard times?

Can some of the causes be shaken loose and set the wheels of industry turning? Can prosperity return before this year's crops are on the market?

Present conditions show proper actions have not been tried on the troubles. Many people in the management of markets, have clung to their heartless money-making schemes at the expense of progress and liberty. Some methods are carried on blindly and no lasting good has been accomplished. Statesmen have not come out to relieve the situation. No Moses has come to lead us out of the wilderness of misfortunes. The ginners still insist, to a large degree, that jute bagging be used to wrap our cotton, while our home grown cotton of low grade should be used. Jute bagging costs the farmers of this country millions of dollars each year, and it would be a great saving if they would use cotton for bagging produced here.

It is ridiculous for cotton to sell at five cents per pound and cottonseed to sell at $9 per ton. Someone makes the profits while people all around suffer. It is a shame that a great country would submit to it.

The depression must not last. People have suffered long and patiently. A change for the better must come, and it should come swiftly.

Is anyone so foolish to believe that this country cannot overcome the present difficulties? Have they lost faith in our nation? The people will awaken! The hour is at hand. Many evil hands have grabbed us. They must be tossed. Of course, England wants our cotton at a low price. They set prices at Liverpool and Manchester, England, and get the profits. They sell us jute produced by India's slaves. Refuse to pay tribute to England! Refuse to use bagging made from low grade cotton raised in this country. That will help reduce the over-production.

Many people are at fault in this country. The source of trouble is high up in financial cooperation. The people are being reduced to slavery. We do not want further trouble, and matters can be adjusted without the government paying out large sums of money. Prices for cotton can be made higher by our using more of it. Be faithful in finding more uses for cotton. More of it is needed in every home. The good women can lend a helping hand. They can call for reunions of clubs and social circles and pledge and plea that they will give their efforts in finding more use for it. Let premiums be given to the ones who use most cotton goods in underwear and top-wear. More cotton should be used; more uses will make better prices. Let the farmers and merchants use more of it. Merchants should demand more cotton sacks for handling grains, fruits and other products. The merchants should demand cotton-made paper bags, wrapping paper, and the newspapers ask for newspaper cotton sheets on which to publish the news.

Greenness and injustice debase those whose toil produces wealth and resources for defense. Wealth of the nation is created principally on the farms. We should have more developments and honorable achievements. The several states should cooperate with the federal government with their constitutions as a guide.

People are asking for justice all over the country. May the hearts of rulers be turned to mercy! God has not given them the right to work injustice. The people mourn when the evil rule the nation.

Merchants have come down very little on price of goods. Doctors charge enormous prices—entirely too much considering the times. The sick will rejoice if they would exact less.

What are the people to do? We know that "where there's a will there's a way." Injustice has always been forced to turn loose in a majority of cases.

For many months big business has promised us that prosperity is

New Colors Will Be Featured In 1932's Auto Plate Scheme

Automobile number plates for 1932 will have a green body with letters, figures and borders of white, according to the specifications made by the Board of Control in asking for bids that have already been opened.

Commercial plates will be yellow and green; trailer, maroon and white; motorcycle plates, gray and white; motorcycle side plates, green and white; motorcycle side plates, white and green.

Bids called for are 1,450,000 pairs of automobile plates, 250,000 pairs of commercial vehicle plates, 45,000 trailer and tractor plates, 15,000 dealer plates, 6,000 pairs of motor bus plates, 10,000 exempt plates, 2,000 motorcycle plates, 3,000 motorcycle sidecar plates and 30,000 badges.

W. W. Nelson, tax collector, and his assistant, S. T. Elza, are expected to receive their shipment of license plates soon, but state confidentially that not many will be sold until the deadline approaches in a few months.

A superfluous American gesture is the habit of presenting distinguished visitors "keys" to our cities. Most of them are wide open, anyhow.

Just around the corner. It has remained around the corner. They are busy trying to make the people believe there is over-production in all lines, while farmers and producers of everything go into the "red" in daily accounts. Conditions might be improved. There is lots of talk but little action. Will leaders repent and give the oppressed relief?

This is a time for generous and unselfish action. Let us be generous for the good of humanity that will stand up. Have people sunk into such carelessness and oblivion that they dare not present the right things for relief? Who runs the interest of our countrymen? You are not deceived—your eyes behold the source of the trouble. Don't blame the oppressed for trying to reach the goal that is better for all. I suggest, but God commands. God says, "Thou shalt not steal." God deals with people at the end of life. Wrong doing is punished here, and also at the end of life all are to be judged. When I repeat, "Thou shalt not steal," it is a suggestion, and points out to the wayward they will be punished while living and further on for injustice.

Wall Street and other places help dominate prices. They follow foreign dictations and make farmers prey. The worst kind of a traitor is he who pretends to help while robbing. We have lots of money in this country, but it is in the hands of a favored few. Some of the rich destroy markets and credits. We have an economic despotism. The trouble started in New York City in 1929. Disturbances spread to all the world. That shows how closely exchanges and every kind of gambling are related. There are honest millionaires and there are many dishonest ones, combined to raid business for profits. Let the dishonest millionaires buy an empire in Africa and run a government there to suit themselves! They can elect a president or appoint a czar, take profits and enslave the people at will. They might get shaken loose in this country when a just income tax takes a part of their wealth, made dangerous by combinations for profits against the people.

This nation can check part of the troubles. If the people will not uphold the wrongs and concentrate actions against evils, many will turn loose. Quit chewing the rag, and make a winning pull. I am not capable of running the government, but I do not act from wrong in common things. I suggest, and the people can act in a just way. Act now, and honorably. Let's go!

T. L. McCORMACK, Camp Springs.

C. R. Buchanan

The family of Mrs. C. R. Buchanan has received copies of resolutions of respect passed by prominent state organizations during the past several days. The high esteem in which the former county judge was held over Texas is attested in the resolutions.

The State Senate, of which Judge Buchanan was a member several years ago, passed the resolution printed below, and the flag on the capitol building was floated at half-mast Wednesday and Thursday of last week out of respect of the former occupant of the capitol.

The Senate's resolution: Senate Resolution No. 9. Whereas, the Senate of Texas has with deep regret learned that on yesterday former Senator C. R. Buchanan of Snyder, Texas, was called from life's labor to eternal rest; and

Whereas, he possessed the true qualities of a great and noble soul—of a great and noble soul—and long the charity and love; and—whereas, by his death, Texas has lost the service of a loyal, patriotic public servant, and the people of Texas have lost a sympathetic friend and neighbor;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Senate of Texas, that as a body we express our sorrow at the passing of Senator Buchanan, that when the Senate adjourns today we do so in honor of his memory, and that a copy of this resolution be spread throughout the State, and be mailed to the family of the deceased.

(Signed)—Senators Beck, Berkeley, Cousins, DeBerry, Gainer, Greer, Hardin, Hopkins, Hornsby, Holbrook, Cunningham, Low, Martin, Moore, Neal, O'Neal, Parr, Parrish, Patton, East, Elward, Paul, Rawlings, Russell, Small, Stevenson, Thompson, Williamson, Woodruff, Woodward, Woodard and Witt, Lieutenant Governor.

Edgar E. Witt, President of the Senate.

I hereby certify that the above resolution was unanimously adopted by a rising vote, September 16, 1931.

Bob Barker, secretary of the Senate.

The Texas County Judge's and Commissioner's Association in session at Abilene at the time of Judge Buchanan's death, passed the following resolution last Friday:

Resolution of Sympathy. Whereas, we have been informed of the death of Judge C. R. Buchanan, County Judge of Scurry County, a beloved member of our Association, which occurred on the 15th day of September, 1931; and

Whereas, Judge Buchanan has served his county and the state of Texas in many official capacities in a very efficient and honest manner;

Therefore be it resolved that this County Judge's and Commissioner's Association express in this resolution its appreciation for Judge Buchanan's services as county judge and his services to the people of the state, and the interest manifested by him in the County Judge and Commissioners Association of Texas; and we extend to his family our sincere sympathy and sorrow; and that a copy of this resolution be spread on the minutes of this association and copy mailed by the Secretary to the Commissioner's Court of Scurry County, and to the family of the deceased.

Resolutions Committee. By: G. C. Grider, Chairman. Adopted September 18, 1931. E. B. McClintock, President. Attest: Tom K. Eplen, Secretary.

Classes Organize at Dunn's High School September 10 and 11

Dunn High School, which was one of the first to open in Scurry County, has settled down to real work, and a great year of accomplishment is anticipated. Classes have been temporarily suspended in order that the students may assist in gathering reports, and organizations will resume within a few days.

Reports of organization of the four high school classes were sent to The Times for publication this week.

By Jessie Hansen, Secretary, Senior Class.

Members of the senior class met Thursday, September 10, for the purpose of organizing the senior class of '32. Alvis Gary, president of our junior class last year, called the house together, and Guy Stark Jr. was chosen as our sponsor. The following officers were selected: Alvis Gary, president; Ernest Lester, vice president; Jessie Hansen, secretary-treasurer. The social committee was composed of Alta Mae Woods, Stanley Merket and Edith Murphy. The class colors, flower and motto will be decided upon in our next class meeting.—Reporter.

Sophomores Elect Officers. Miss Bishop called the house to order and the following officers were elected for the sophomore class of '32: Evelyn Grimes, president; Reuben Goodlet, vice president;

Pansy Moon, secretary; Charlie Johnston, treasurer; and Miss Bishop, class sponsor. The social committee was not appointed, and class colors, flowers and motto will be selected at our next meeting.—Reporter.

Members Perfect Organization. The members of the freshman class of D. H. S. met Friday afternoon, September 11, in order to select their class officers. Miss Beola Kirby was selected as the class sponsor. The following officers were elected: Elsie Holmes, president; Johnnie McFarland, vice president; Olton Smith, secretary-treasurer. The social committee is composed of Leona Ellerd, John Sherrod and Irene Farmer. The class colors are white and gold. The flower selected was the white rose. The motto, which is very appropriate, adopted was "Green but growing."—Reporter.

Dr. Hicks in Hospital. Dr. J. G. Hicks was carried Tuesday to a Lubbock hospital, where he is being given a thorough clinical examination. He is expected to return, with his family, tomorrow.

Laundry Prices Are Lowest Ever Quoted

Contrary to reports that laundry prices have not been reduced along with dry cleaning prices in line with reductions in other sections, S. A. LaRue of the Snyder Laundry and Dry Cleaners states that prices on laundering are as low now as in the history of Snyder. Six cents per pound on family wash is the cheapest price on this class of work in this section, he declares. Prices of other classes are in line with the general trend.

The public is invited to make investigations and comparisons of laundering before making false statements about the local establishment, the local laundry man asserts.

Restless, could not sleep

"THERE were days when I felt like I could not get my work done. I would get so nervous and 'trembly' I would have to lie down. I was very restless, and could not sleep at night.

My mother advised me to take Cardul, and I certainly am glad she did. It is the first thing that seemed to give me any strength. I felt better after the first bottle. I kept it up and am now feeling fine."

SCOUTS ENJOY WIENER ROAST

A number of Boy Scouts of troupe 45 of Snyder hiked out to Oran Thompson's place Friday evening for a swim and a wiener roast. The scouts were accompanied by Elvin Thompson, former scoutmaster, and Roy Irvin, present scoutmaster.

After the swim, all of the boys gathered around the fire and roasted and ate fine, juicy wieners to their hearts' content. While sitting around the camp fire Mr. Thompson talked to the boys about the best ways for preparing food in the open. All of the boys were deeply interested in the food proposition, and especially that of cooking a nice fat hen by the Seneca Indian method.

Mr. Thompson extended his invitation to the boys to visit the place again, and they were not reluctant about accepting his offer. The scouts then formed in a circle about the dying embers of the camp fire and sang softly the words to taps. The return trip was made with everyone feeling fine and ready for a good night of sleep.

Graham Leader Hits Hard Times Between Eyes With 24 Pages

The largest recent edition of any West Texas newspaper came to the Times exchange desk last week. It came from Graham, Young County, and was labeled The Graham Leader.

Twenty-four pages of news and ads told Young County folks that the ninth annual fair was just about ready to start, and that one of the biggest affairs on record was in prospect. Further, it reflected the kind of optimism that is so scarce in West Texas these days.

Mustangs Do Not Live Up To Dope As Ranger Wins

That explosion which shook the goal posts all along the line in West Texas Friday afternoon was the bursting of the Sweetwater bubble. For column inches of publicity received in state newspapers through the first three weeks of September, Ed Henning's Mustangs had set a record for interscholastic league teams. Here was a group of home grown veterans, reinforced by three or four first class transfers, chief of whom was Michael Hicks, known affectionately and otherwise as the Roscoe Rambler.

Friday the Ranger Bulldogs, long known as one of the old Oil Belt's Big Four, moved into the Nolan capital, and their coming was hailed with joy by the natives. The stage was set for a mole-skin revolution, with the Mustangs groomed for the part of the victorious rebels. Numerous critics of the land, including the sports editor of this newspaper predicted a field day for the Poles.

Not Supposed to Win. But trends and traditions in the sport as it is played in West Texas, are long lived. When an eleven in any other district of this territory becomes so strong that it is really tough when it is just good enough to give an oil belt leader a tough game. That was the case in the meeting of Ranger and Sweetwater. Mike Hicks, the big gun, was silenced; the whole Mustang backfield was held to five first downs, and when Don Flahe, able successor to Dangerous Dan McCarty, broke down to a 55-yard run for touchdown, it won for the Bulldogs, 7 to 0.

That triumph for the Bulldogs stood out distinctly above all other activities of the schoolboy athletes for the day, although there were other happenings to interest parties not in easy distance of the Sweetwater gridiron. High on the scoring chart was the 71-0 touchdown avalanche which Big Spring poured on the Roscoe Plowboys. It may have been an all-time record for the steers. Certainly it was for out of line for the Longhorn's customary performances.

Fox Answers Public Demand For "Flag And Quirt" In Film

In Raoul Walsh's private files are hundreds of letters, each one written by a marine in active service and a goodly part from officers of that branch of the service, telling of the great enjoyment they had in seeing and hearing the famous picture, "The Cock-Eyed World," and practically every letter embodying a request to have more of "Flag and Quirt" adventures on the screen.

Coupled with the fact that Fox film executives have continually received letters of the same sort from the general public and notably exhibitors throughout the land, it was quite apparent that the public wanted the two most popular male creations of the screen again, and now "Women of All Nations," which begins its two-day run Friday at the Palace Theatre, is the answer to this popular request.

On the other hand there are some people who are of the opinion that "Flag" and "Quirt" are a bit too rough in some of their adventures. To these critics Walsh replied, "Would I be expected to play these two hard-boiled leather-necks as a couple of babes in the woods? They are fighting men, red-blooded men, who have faced death, and are not afraid to face it again, but who prefer to live, and while they live to get every drop of fun and adventure that life has to offer."

J'EVER STOP TO THINK?

By EDSON R. WAITE

That sometimes people talk too much. Sometimes people that should talk don't talk.

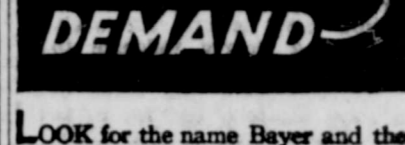

There is a great tendency on the part of many members of business organizations to keep quiet at the wrong time. When propositions come up concerning the welfare of the home city, a majority of the right men sit like clams and leave the proposition hanging in the air like a balloon ready to blow up at any minute.

Some of them seem afraid that if they start talking they will get the reputation of talking too much or trying to run things to suit themselves. It's better to get that reputation than to sit like a dummy. It is not necessary for a man to be a fluent after-dinner speaker to talk. They should get up and speak their piece and tell what they think about the proposition and not wait to do their talking on the outside.

If people will not take advantage of these opportunities to express their opinions, meetings of this kind will get a city nowhere.
