SNYDER, TEXAS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1932

MANY ATTEND FIELD DAY AT VON ROEDERS'

Fine Qualities of Texas Mammoth Seed and Murphy Hospitality Demonstrated Tuesday.

At least 1,200 persons from all walks of life swarmed over the fields and pastures of the von Roeder Farms, 24 miles southwest of Snyder, to view the Texas Mammot cotton breeding and multiplying blocks and to join in a Tuesday round of entertainment and eating.

From the time the rodeo began its action before early comers in the morning, until rain stopped the baseball game in the afternoon, the giant crowd voiced its approval in no uncertain terms of the hospitality extended by the von Roeders and their neighbors.

Seed Chief Is Guest.

R. V. Miller of Austin, head of the Field Seed Certification Division of the State Department of Agriculture, was the principal speaker and guest of the day. J. E. Mc Donald, commissioner of agriculture who had accepted an invitation from the von Roeders, was unable to attend because of an unexpected rate hearing call to Galveston.

Joe Merritt, newly-elected state representative, and Fred C. Haile, Spur, defeated candidate for the same office, also spoke. The "Night hawks" string band from Lubbock

From The Earth, Santa Fe magazine: The roasting ear eating contest for 1932 apparently has not been decided, unless we have overlooked the item in the newspapers. 'The world's title was won last year by a farmer from Grant County, South Dakota, who consumed 37 ears of corn in the record time of one hour and 45 minutes. The champion remarked that he probably could have done better except for the fact that he had dined on roasting ears about two hours before the contest started.

Those who have witnessed the efficiency and dispatch with which F. I. Townsend conducts the business of the Democratic party in Scurry County do not wonder that the chairman is re-elected year after year, virtually without opposition.

The outstanding example of the chairman's loyalty to the principles on which the suffrage of Amerca was founded came Friday afternoon. In no unertain terms, Mr. Townsend "laid down the law" o the various precinct election judges, and informed hem that their votes would be checked carefully when the executive committee meets next Saturday. Dear Annie, my love of long ago-Sweet, pensive-browed and sad-Thy years were near to womanhood While I was just a lad.

Yes, the years were long ago, Annie, When you and I were young; When youth and joy went hand in hand, And life one glad sweet song.

At evening, when the sun was low, From school our footsteps strove. Tue winding road was deep with shade, Our hearts were full of love.

The cross-roads found us face to face-The sunlight almost gone-A smile, a tear, a clasp of hands: Two dreamers wandered on.

Each their way to dream and hope, When parting ne'er would be; But down life's road go hand in hand On to eternity.

James Cagney Is Star In Prizefight Picture at Palace

Just as he sprang upon the world the most authentic of gangster pictures, "The Public Enemy," gave the screen its most realistic auto racing picture, "The Crowd Roars," so does James Cagney provide the colorful thrills of the prize ring in his latest Warner Brothers picture, "Winner Take All," which comes next Wednesday and Thursday to the Palace Theatre.

This virile young personality who as taken a step higher with each succeeding picture, has eclipsed all plying near New York, is tossed into his understanding. He felt the sether purse, so Sol stated, was to be his former successes in "Winner the river in a terrific collision which cretive whispering of the dark." With a reputation of punch and power in his pictures Cagney is happily cast as a two-fisted pugilist who pulls no punches

Cafeteria Opening Will Be This Week

Opening of a cafeteria in the base-nent of the Davis-Harpole building, on the southeast corner of the square, has just been announced for Saturday at noon, by Mrs. Ben F. Smith and Miss Elizabeth Smith, who will be in charge of the man gement and cooking.

Home-cooked foods, served cafeteria style at dinner and super, and in short-order style at breakfast, are promised. Short orders, hamburgers and root beer will available at all hours of the day. Miss Smith has been co-operator of the local school cafeteria for two years. Mrs. Smith likewise has had onsiderable cooking experience. Both are well known to Snyder and Scurry County people.

-The outcome is not yet conclusive, and probably will not be certain for days to come. —But this one thing is conclusive:

—Before, during and after the first and second primaries, The Times has been impartial and unprejudiced in its handling of election news. In its editorial columns the inalienable right of any newspaper or any individual to express its honest opinions has been

So It Will Be . . .

-As long as The Times continues under its present publishers.

—Every public question that arises in this county has two sides. If you want BOTH sides, read the news columns of The Times. If the welfare of its readers is felt to be threatened, directly or indirectly, The Times will express its opinions in unmistakable terms. You, as a reader, would not give a tinker's dam for a newspaper with no convictions and no courage to put its convictions into writing.

-The publishers have been complimented several times recently, by those who differ with them on campaign questions, for presenting their arguments in a manner above reproach, and for never refusing any candidate or any cause the legitimate use of their news columns.

—The publishers want to continue worthy of such compliments. They solicit the continued co-operation of Scurry County people in their efforts to build solidly for better financial, governmental and social understanding . . . of "the all of us."

Change For Inauguration,

It is much more likely that the twentieth amendment will be the one which changes the date of the inauguration of the president-elect and the date when the terms of the newly elected members of Congress and the Senate begin. This so called "lame duck" amendment was submitted last winter by the presents Congress and has already been ratified by 14 states. As the constitution now stands, the president elected in November does not take office until the fourth of the following March. After this election and before the inauguration there is a final session of the held-over Congress which was elected two years previously. Under this new amendment there would be no meeting of the old Congress in December, but the new Congress, elected in Novmber, would take office on the third of January and begin its sessions then, or the new president will be inaugurated on the twentieth of January instead of March 4.

The common sense of this amendment appeals to practically every-When the people vote a ne deal in November it is absurd that they should have to wait until March for the new president to take office.
