

VOTERS READY TO END DOUBLE FEUD BY VOTES

Two Whirlwind Campaigns Being Brought to an End as National Election Time Nears

More than 2,000 voters of Scurry County are expected to go to the polls next Tuesday to express their choices for president and governor of Texas. But those two choices loom uppermost in most minds.

Even the candidacy of John N. Garner of Texas for the vice presidential post does not rank in the minds of most voters above the contest for the two more sensation-stirring offices.

In Scurry County, each of the first two Democratic primaries attracted more than 2,400 eligible voters. Few observers believe that the 2,000 mark will be reached Tuesday, partly because the showmanship of the Democratic flurries have been subtracted, partly because folks are busy as bees, and partly because a nonchalant attitude has settled on the hearts of many citizens.

Roosevelt-Ferguson?

Although Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor of New York, the Democrats' choice for the highest office in the land, and Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, the same party's nominee for Texas governor, are long-odds favorites to win, it is not difficult to find those who believe that the Grand Old Party may triumph in one or both cases.

Roosevelt, with the sturdy Texas as his running mate, will undoubtedly carry the state and this county by overwhelming majorities, but even the Democratic camps are not believing that "Ma" will drift into the governor's chair a second time on flowery beds of votes. The Republican candidate, Orville Bullington, is not only making one of the most intensive campaigns ever known in the state, but he is bringing out Ferguson speakers to defend their candidate and their party.

Scurry for Ferguson?

Although Ferguson's victory in Scurry County is believed by practically everyone to be assured, the possibility of the "silent bolters" turning several hundred votes into the Republican fold is seldom questioned.

All straw votes and other indicators of the national election point to a strong Democratic victory, with Hoover winning no more than 12 to 15 states. The narrowness of the expected Roosevelt lead in several states, however, could mean a shifting of considerable proportions, and a rebuff of the Hoover administration is by no means assured. Many campaigns are being made not

TURKEY PRICE NOT RECEIVED

No quotations for the new turkey market had come to any of the major producers here this morning, although the season was scheduled to get under way Tuesday of this week.

The Snyder Produce Company is ready with its big picnic plant and the Farmers Produce Company and Mistletoe Creameries station are prepared to handle large quantities of the birds.

Continued reports of exceedingly large turkeys, fed from the big crops of the county, lead producers here to believe that the season now and at Christmas will be one of the best in recent years.

All-Stars, With Aid Of Local Man, Fail To Lick San Angelo

The San Angelo Country Club golf team successfully defended its Metz cup laurels for the third consecutive year on the country club course there Sunday against the onslaught of Captain Bob Scott's West Texas All-Stars. The defenders squeezed in by a one-point margin.

For the first time in the history of this or similar golfing groups, a Snyder man was a member of the West Texas team. Earl Fish, who has been kingpin of local golfers most of the time in recent years, lost to J. P. Hill of San Angelo.

Earl reports that the day of play was a red-letter period in his young life, and he returned with high praise for San Angelo beauties—and golfers.

The feature clash of the day was a singles scramble by John Marston, captain of the San Angelo team, and Frank Rose of Lamson. Both shot right at par and the decision was not reached until the 18th hole, Marston winning 1 up.

Trustee Banquet Not To Be Staged Friday

The county-wide banquet for school trustees has been postponed indefinitely, County Superintendent A. A. Bullock announced a few days ago.

Originally scheduled for Friday of this week, the social and business gathering was put off due to late opening schools, the speed of the cotton movement, and other hindering factors.

Hallow'en Ain't as Wild and Woolly as She Used to Be Here

In spite of the giant crowd that whirled through the dust of the city tabernacle Monday night, it was amply proven here that Hallow'en isn't what she used to be.

After the series of side shows, Hallow'en material was strewn in the minds of most voters above the contest for the two more sensation-stirring offices.

Even the candidacy of John N. Garner of Texas for the vice presidential post does not rank in the minds of most voters above the contest for the two more sensation-stirring offices.

Honor Society Gives Program in Chapel Thursday Morning

In a chapel program last Thursday morning, the local chapter of the National Honor Society presented a series of brief talks.

Miss Mattie Ross Cunningham, one of the sponsors, spoke first on the National Honor Society.

Clarence Walton then introduced last year's charter members of the local society, as follows: Ester Jones, Frances Chenuik, Janice Erwin, Dixie Lee Davis, Charles E. Hamlett, Pauline Kay, Nana Bess Egerton, Clarella Freeman.

Talks were made on the four requirements for membership in the society. "Service" was Clarence Walton's topic. Dixie Lee Davis spoke on "Leadership and Scholarship." Charles Ella Hamlett discussed "Character."

R. L. Williams, principal, discussed "Evaluation of Membership in the Society." The address was then taken by the following new members: Alberta Sturgeon, Lola Mae Littlepage, Elmer Watkins and Rex Gladson.

Local Tax Group Opposed to Texas Centennial Move

The Scurry County tax expenditure committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce goes on record this week as being opposed to the proposed constitutional amendment that would give the Legislature power to appropriate money for conduct of a Texas Centennial exposition. The committee's statement, signed by D. P. Yoder as chairman and Harrie Winston as secretary, follows:

"The proposed Texas Centennial for the promotion of which an amendment to the state constitution will be voted upon at the November 8 election, would be a fine memorial to the pioneers of Texas and there will be found very few who will question the project.

The Scurry County tax expenditure committee goes on record as being in hearty favor of holding this memorial. However, we want to strongly urge the voters of the county to vote against the proposed amendment which will permit the Legislature to appropriate up to $5,000,000 of tax money to be spent on the centennial.

We together with many other citizens of Texas, have done a great deal of work trying to get our taxes lowered, and we find that it will take years of very careful economy to make any real progress in holding our taxes down where they ought to be. To permit the Legislature to spend $5,000,000 of tax money on a project of this kind would bring to naught the efforts of thousands of our tax payers.

"We believe everyone will vote against this amendment in the light of past experience of legislative spending and present conditions as to the ability of our tax payers to pay. We strongly urge the defeat of this measure."

Lorraine Resident Is Buried Wednesday

Mrs. W. F. Westbrook, 61, of Lorraine, died Wednesday last week, after a prolonged illness. The former resident of Scurry County was buried in the local cemetery, after services had been held at the Church of Christ, with Brother O. D. Dial officiating.

Surviving are the husband who resides at Lorraine; Jimmy Lee Parker of Lorraine; daughter; Little Westbrook, Snyder; stepson; Mrs. Luther Meador, stepdaughter, Snyder.

Local Baptists Go to Meeting in Colorado

Fifteen members of the local Baptist Church were in Colorado Sunday afternoon for the quarterly session of the Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Training Service group. The Snyder church lost both the efficiency and attendance banners, although they tied with Westbrook, the winner, and Champion, for the former.

Looney won the attendance banner. A. A. Bullock was a speaker on the program, which featured the place held by young people in the life of today.

Rev. Marvin Leach of Roscoe was chosen as association president because of inability of the old president to give the time to the work.

The January meeting goes to the Champion church.

Special Baptist Service

A special baptismal service will be held at the First Baptist Church Sunday evening, with new members from the Union Church and the local church participating. Rev. Cal McCahey will preach, since his brother, Rev. Philip C. McCahey, has not recovered from a tonsil operation. The morning service will be in charge of laymen and the pastor

MORE COUNTY SCHOOLS OPEN FIRST OF WEEK

Fluvanna, Dermott and New Polar Consolidated School Begin Work Monday Morning.

Three of Scurry County's schools chose last Monday as official opening time.

Up at Fluvanna, where regular opening had been delayed several weeks, a simple program, featuring a talk by Rev. Frank Story, visited teachers and students into the 1932-33 session.

Enrollment was light, due to cotton picking, but Superintendent E. O. Wedgworth expects the number to gradually increase until Christmas and after. Grammar school and high school classes are housed in the new building this year due to shortage of teachers.

A full list of Fluvanna teachers and trustees was given in last week's Times.

DERMOTT OPENS.

With Mrs. Warren Dodson and Mrs. Roy McCuquay again at the helm, Dermott school opened Monday with a greatly reduced enrollment. The two teachers expect the normal group of about 40 to be attending in a few weeks.

Several patrons were present for the brief opening ceremony. H. E. Greenfield, Everett Scribner and Roy Elkins compose the board of trustees.

The Dermott school will be remembered as a winner of highest places for several years in the annual scoring of rural Scurry County schools.

PYRON UNDER WAY.

The Pyron consolidated school, headed by Grady Hamrick, was opened Monday morning with a lengthy but interesting program. The school was attended by a number of patrons and more than 100 students.

The normal enrollment of the school, since its recent consolidation with Lone Wolf in Scurry County and Lone Star in Fisher County, will be about 220, an addition of 60 from the two schools.

Two shiny busses are transporting the children of the two consolidated communities. The Lone Wolf bus will accommodate more than 50 small children, while the Lone Star bus will easily seat 40.

The county superintendent, A. A. Bullock, made a talk that stressed primarily the need of economy in school management. D. Z. Hess, president of the board, made a brief talk, in which the need of cooperation was especially emphasized in view of the consolidation movement.

Other members of the board are: Schley Adams, secretary; J. Coldever, Jim Light, Jesse Young, Lynn McGlothlin, E. M. Mahoney.

This year's faculty includes: Superintendent and Mrs. Grady Hamrick, Misses Cecelia Garner, Virginia Thompson, Memory Smith and Long; Messrs. Victor Drinkard and Taylor. This group represents an addition of two to last year's faculty.

OTHER OPENINGS SOON.

Dunn schools, which were closed recently in order to allow children to pick cotton, plans to open Monday, November 7. It is reported that Hermleigh will not re-open until November 21.

Definite plans for opening of the Iron schools on Monday, November 14, have been made, according to Superintendent Elmer Taylor, who was in Snyder yesterday. Most of the smaller schools will open during the latter part of November or the early part of December.

Arah, Whatley and Triange have been under way for some time.

High School Roll Of Honor Pupils Given This Week

The local high school honor roll for the first six weeks reveals that Estine Doward is the only student to have been crowned "with honor," although a number of names are on the list as announced by R. S. Williams, principal.

These students are in the second group, "with great honor": Virginia Williams, Evelyn Erwin, Geraldine Longbottom, Alberta Sturgeon, Lola Mae Littlepage, Marie Olfert, Bonita McGahey, La Frances Hamilton, Joretta Beauchamp.

No boy had a place in the first two divisions, but several are on the following roll, "with honor": Eva Nell Arnold, Jack Bean, Dossie Mae Caton, William Boren, Dixie Lee Davis, Geneva Glascock, Genevieve Jarrard, Gladys Huffman, Nerene Henderson, Mary McCarty, Margaret Miller, Frances Northcutt, Doris Narrell, Hazel Pollard, Netha Lynn Rogers, Clyde Sturdivant, Florentia Winston, Saxton West, Ophelia Wilkerson, Virginia Yoder, Norman York, Rosanna Reynolds.

The first division is for students making 95 or above; the next, for those making 90 to 95; and the last, for those making 85 to 90.

GRAND JURY RECOMMENDS PRIVATE AUDIT OF BANK

The following report was handed to District Judge A. S. Mauzey late last week by the grand jury for the full term of court:

"Dear Sir: We, the grand jury for the October term, 1932, of the district court of Scurry County, Texas, report that we have for six days diligently inquired into law violations in Scurry County, presenting a total of 18 indictments.

"We have spent much time inquiring into the closing of the First State Bank & Trust Company of Snyder, resuming an inquiry that previous grand juries of the county had been making. We have questioned a large number of witnesses and we have conferred with the State Banking Department, having had a representative of that department before the grand jury. We have requested that the State Banking Department go to the bottom of this matter and ascertain the true facts and, as required by law, make a full report of any violations of the law in connection with said bank failure.

"We are of the opinion that nothing further of a worthwhile nature can be done without a thorough audit of said bank books, and we, therefore, suggest that the depositors be permitted to secure a private audit of said books by an auditor selected by the depositors and approved by the court and that the expenses of same, if lawful, be paid out of the assets of said bank. We further recommend that said audit, as soon as the audit is completed, shall appear before the next grand jury to convene in Scurry County and make a report to the grand jury of his findings."

EXCITEMENT IN ANOTHER BUSY WEEK FOR GINS

Two disturbances in the colored district of Snyder last week-end resulted in the serious injury of one negro and the arrest of eight negro and three white men on gambling charges.

When three masked white men attempted to hold up a colored "crap game" Saturday night, their intended victims stampeded instead of handing over their money.

In the rush, a South Texas colored man who had been picking cotton in this county was shot by one of the masked men. The bullet entered his chest and shattered the entire leg down to the ankle. After receiving first aid treatment here, the wounded man was sent by train to his home at Kern. Local physicians believed that amputation of his leg would be necessary. No arrests in connection with the case have been made.

On Sunday night, City Marshal Walter Camp, Deputy Sheriff Horace Leath, and two other officers interrupted a big game in the same house. Eight colored men and women, and three white men were arrested. They entered pleas of guilty, and were fined on charges of gambling.

Ginnings Gradually Pulling Up On 1931 Government Figures

A reflection of the gradual gain of this year's delayed ginnings was seen in the government report issued October 25.

The 1932 ginnings on the date indicated were 6,953, about 60 per cent of the figures at the same time in 1931—11,255 bales. Last month the 1931 record was leading by a much higher percentage.

The immense gain made since October 25 is shown in the latest figures compiled here, which give the county more than 17,000 bales, as opposed to approximately the same number one year ago.

The state as a whole had ginned more than one million bales less on October 25 than she had on the same date last year. The comparative figures are 2,344,896 against 3,384,202.

Pick and Pay Store Offering New Stock

Marcel Josephson, manager of the new Pick and Pay grocery store, announces that he has now stocked his shelves with new merchandise, and invites buyers in this trade territory to visit him.

Mr. and Mrs. Josephson and their associates are well pleased with the reception given them during their first week in Snyder, after the purchase of the Sam Hamlett stock.

Pick and Pay is offering a number of introductory specials for Friday, Saturday and Monday.

November 4 Is Last Absentee Vote Day

Persons who will be out of town on November 8 have until midnight of November 4—Friday—to have their ballots in the mail or at the clerk's office.

The 20-day period allowed for absentee balloting started on October 19. Voting has been light, compared with that of the two primaries, according to Mrs. Mal Y. German, county clerk. Totals for the first and second primaries were about 75 each.

COURT SESSION NEARING CLOSE

District court will adjourn this week after a fairly busy session under direction of Judge A. S. Mauzey of Sweetwater.

Trial of the Lloyd Walters injury case for the third time began Wednesday and was expected to continue the remainder of the week.

Denny Adams, who pled his own case, was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary for burglary of merchandise at Hermleigh several months ago. He filed notice of appeal.

Several smaller cases came before the court for several days. The grand jury's report will be found in another part of the paper

NEED IN MANY AREAS BRINGS RED CROSS AID

With a realization of the increased responsibilities of the American Red Cross in the last year and the approaching membership campaign, according to Red Cross chapter officials here, the annual Roll Call will be conducted between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving, November 11 to 24.

J. C. Smyth, who will direct the Roll Call this year, issued a statement today, emphasizing the importance of the community's support of the Red Cross during the enrollment period. The statement follows:

"This year the economic emergency lends special importance to the annual Roll Call, or membership campaign of the American Red Cross.

"Our own desperate plight during the past two years has constituted one of the emergency relief works of the Red Cross.

How can any of us who have gratitude in our inner hearts forget that the Red Cross has donated upwards of $20,000 to hundreds of Scurry County families in less than 24 months?

Recognized Agency. "The Red Cross is the recognized relief agency throughout the nation. It is chartered by Congress, headed by the president of the United States, and accorded the respect of the federal government. In the unemployment crisis it has borne a great relief responsibility. It has been the authorized medium for distribution of wheat and cotton to those in need of flour and clothing. Hundreds of dollars worth of this merchandise has come to Scurry County.

"Its volunteers have been untiring in devotion to the task of collecting and distributing supplies, and in production of finished goods from materials. Hundreds of thousands of gardens have been planted from Red Cross seed. In 2,200 communities 400 memberships in unemployment relief work.

95 Disasters in Year. "To unemployment have been added 95 disasters calling for Red Cross assistance in the period of one year. Drought in the Northwest, tornadoes in the Southeast, floods in the central South and a variety of other catastrophes have entailed mighty burdens on the organization.

"Our debt of gratitude is great. Our present and prospective dependence is impressive. Everyone who is able to take out membership, as a good citizen and a patriot, should do so.

"Especially does Scurry County, owe a debt of gratitude that her good citizens should be proud to have many of repaying."

Newspaper Poll Shows Roosevelt Popular Favorite

Directly in line with all other straw-ballot polls conducted during the closing weeks of the presidential campaign, the weekly newspaper poll of the central South, in which The Times participated, in its final returns give Franklin D. Roosevelt a substantial lead in popular vote sentiment to win the election next Tuesday, November 8.

Approximately 2,000 weekly newspapers, located in all parts of the country, cooperated in taking this poll of small town and rural America, political preference. The Publishers Autoless Service, a newspaper editorial service, acted as national headquarters in tabulating the national vote.

In the Times poll, Roosevelt lead by a margin of 10 to 1, with about 175 votes recorded.

Returns From 42 States. Returns were received from 42 of the 48 states. These 42 states represent 496 electoral votes of the 531 in the electoral college; 266 votes are necessary for election.

Summed up, here are the pertinent facts as disclosed by this nation-wide weekly newspaper poll. A total of 209,108 votes were cast in the 42 states.

Divided as follows: Roosevelt 125,155; Hoover 83,953. Of the total vote cast, Roosevelt received 59.84 per cent; Hoover 40.16 per cent.

The seven states in which Hoover leads are: Connecticut, Massachusetts, Illinois, Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont.

Marshal and School Authorities Say No More Fender Rides

Fender riding has been outlawed in Snyder.

Waller Camp, city marshal, and local school authorities, state that every effort will be made henceforth to prevent riding of fenders in the city limits by anyone.

The officials call attention to the fact that a serious injury is liable to result any time from fender riding, and that the practice is being stopped before an emergency arises.

It is reported that a school boy was almost fatally injured while riding the fender of a car in Brownfield last week, and Mr. Camp says he wants to prevent any such occurrence here.

Reg Robbins Takes Local Folks for Spin

Reg Robbins, holder of the Fort Worth endurance flight record, and the first nationally-advertised endurance pilot, thrilled several Scurry County folks with trips into the air Monday.

The famous flyer was barnstorming in his own $50,000 tri-motored Ford monoplane, which accommodates 14 passengers. He used a field south of town as his landing field during the afternoon and evening flights.

Brother of Business Man Here Killed in Accident Last Week

Dr. R. R. Towle, 46, of Boise, Idaho, brother of Dr. H. G. Towle of Snyder, was instantly killed in Boise early Thursday morning of last week, when the light coupe in which he was riding with a companion crashed into the rear end of a load of logs. Robert Post, the driver, was injured.

The accident victim, according to The Idaho Daily Statesman, has been described as having more friends than any other man in Boise. He was an optician. He is survived by his wife and two children, two brothers, H. G. Towle of Snyder and Gordon Towle of Trenton, Nebraska; one sister, Miss Sadie Towle, York, Nebraska.

Dr. Towle was secretary of the Idaho State Game Association and is described in The Daily Statesman as one of the best-known and best-loved sportsmen in the west.

"He lived and breathed sportsmanship," the paper said. "Fishing, hunting, the great outdoors and the problems of wild game resources, he placed above all other interests."

"From the office on Main Street, the amazing, friendly personality of Dr. Towle spread over Boise and the entire northwest, and his influence was felt even in recodifying the federal regulations dealing with migratory fowls."

Car Badly Damaged In Highway Smash

A medium-weight coupe that was battered almost beyond repair was dragged into a local repair shop early yesterday, the aftermath of a double turnover on Highway No. 83, three miles west of town.

The accident is said to have taken place when the driver was blinded by oncoming lights, and ran into a concrete abutment. The seven passengers of the car and its trailer escaped without serious injury, although the car somersaulted, and the trailer's contents were scattered over a wide territory.

Names and homes of the group of cotton pickers are unknown.

Anti-Saloon League Head Says Money Is Behind Liquor Ring

The loud fight against the prohibition laws is backed almost solely by the 10 per cent of the financiers who own 90 per cent of the wealth of the country, and by others who would profit from government control of liquor. Dr. Atteus Webb, head of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas, told a First Baptist Church audience Sunday of last week.

The federal income derived from liquor taxes would take the income tax burden from the shoulders of the wealthy and place that burden on the booze that would debase the poor and middle classes, he said in substance.

A report of the Dallas man's address was omitted from The Times last week by oversight.

Calling attention to the fact that a Senate investigating committee found that DuPont and other millionaires donated the funds on which the bottle to his neighbor's lips, Webb called on the citizens of Scurry County to rally to the support of the forces that are working to prevent return of the open saloon and of government-controlled liquor.

The speaker declared that a subsidized daily press fails to give unprejudiced reports of prohibition law enforcement, and that criminals rather than officers are presented in such a way as to arouse public sympathy. He decried the constant statement that more liquor is being drunk now than before the eighteenth amendment's adoption, and called on the older members of his congregation to witness to the fact that public drunkenness is now all too common.

Dr. Webb read a Bible passage of condemnation against the man who puts the bottle to his neighbor's lips, and said that the passage applied as much to the men and women who voted for legalized liquor as it did to the maker and seller of bottled drunkenness.

The speaker did not mention political parties or personalities, but urged support of dry candidates, regardless of party lines.

McGinty Wins By Knockout Friday In Feature Bout

The Snyder Express, otherwise known as "Red" McGinty, thundered through Friday night at the city tabernacle ring for a knockout victory over Tommie Dennis of Fort Worth. A good crowd of fans saw the local hero come out of his corner fighting from the opening whistle, and the visitor was downed for the count before the bell rang in the second round, despite his gameness. The exhibition was scheduled for six rounds.

Four short rounds of action saw Frank Hall of Snyder shake Smiley Coates of Redland, Oklahoma, by a narrow margin.

Local Citizens Discuss Democratic Pledge And Other Political Ideas

Editors of The Times:

As I have just finished reading Ben F. Smith's piece in your last issue, I want to say that I endorse every word he wrote. I am a Democrat from the top to the bottom. I was reared as a Democrat, my father was a Democrat, and my husband was a Democrat. I have come to the conclusion that we are Jeffersonian Democrats.

It is very humiliating to me to realize that some Democrats are trying to bolt the ticket.

I am now 85 years old, and I have witnessed the party becoming paralyzed by such a man as Bullington. I judge him by his speech he made in Snyder last week. I believe Jim Ferguson is a magnanimous man; he has forgotten more than Bullington ever knew. Bullington surely did lash the Ferguson's. He said Ferguson was a cheat, a swindler and a liar. Does anyone think that sounds like a gentleman? You never heard Mrs. Ferguson or Jim repeat any words about Bullington. Bullington said he had been asked if he didn't think Jim is spending lots of money in this campaign, and in reply he stated that Jim will collect all of what he is spending off of some of his clients, who have been paying him to keep them from paying taxes.

Mr. Bullington says he will do a lot if he is elected governor. We all know that word "if" means a matter of doubt. He is going to be our governor. There are enough of us true Democrats to elect Mrs. Ferguson.

It disgusts me to think that a man or woman will sign his or her name to a document to vote for Ross Sterling. They are mendacious persons, not one a reliable Democrat.

Bullington said Mrs. Ferguson's platform is rotten. I say her platform is built on a rotten foundation. She stands for lowering taxes and cutting salaries so our homes can be saved from delinquency. I think her policy is from her heart; she is one who is true in her transactions—not as Bullington. He is going to do wonders if he is elected. He may have to sit back like Sterling did at Lubbock and have nothing to say after the election. Sterling has had little to say, and I will give him credit for one thing—he said he would vote the Democratic ticket although he would not vote for Ma. He has put Bullington, a Republican, up to run for governor just to try to bolt the Democratic ticket. I am sure they will not come out victorious—their sins will find them out.

All of us Democrats will vote for Roosevelt, Garner and Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, and old Hoover will occur by another seat. Hoover is now so scared that he has to walk with a hickory cane. He is going back over the Republican states to tell some more of his untruths about Roosevelt and Garner. His mendacious remarks don't mean anything—right will win out.

Ma Ferguson states that when she was defeated in the governor's race in 1928 she never claimed fraud; she took her medicine and marched to the polls and voted for the Democratic ticket; voted for both of her opponents and remained silent. If I were Bullington I would go in a hole and not show up as a man any more to talk about a woman as he has. He should be proud that we have a woman who is intelligent enough to be governor.

Mrs. Ferguson has been treated wrongly, but she is silent and does not ridicule her opponent. I have heard so many that she surely must be a good Christian, obstinate woman. She is for the poor man and woman, one who is willing to do unto others as they would do unto her. My dear friends, just stand by her and vote for her, and God will be with us.

MRS. D. W. MEADOR,
Snyder, 2001 Twelfth Street.

To the Editors:

When writing of political partisans I feel reasonably safe in stating that our party affiliations are only another of our many inherited weaknesses. It usually develops into a disease, an itching ailment that evidences itself with greater intensity at two and four-year periods. Job's boils were limited to Job, but this political itch becomes epidemic. Political rows based on the disease very much like feeding pinon nuts to a smallpox Indian. It becomes highly infectious. I have noticed when given a good sprinkling of old Doc Ferguson's powdered political irritant, the patient becomes raw and sore all over. About the only relief is for the patient to pass through an election day clinic.

In addition to the now commonly accepted pre-election itch, a more malignant malady, "pledge plague," I am told, has infected thousands of good Democrats, and the old line practitioners are disturbed mightily at its potential severity. I note where a couple of local political practitioners are prescribing for Mr. Johnston that famous Indian kiekapoo sagwa remedy developed in the Forum Laboratories of the Jim-Ma Medicine Company. It is a very simple formula consisting of throat, hoarse and soft soap—a little more soap solution this year than formerly.

However, I know Mr. Johnston too well to believe that he has any faith in the remedy; rather, he is using a good liberal shot of dictates of conscience. The prescribing physicians are trying to scare his entire Democratic family into believing that his case is bound to develop Hooveritis and will prove fatal. Pat, these well-meaning pre-electionists have forgotten evidently everything they learned in the Jefferson & Jackson Medical School. Thomas Jefferson was strong on mental remedies, and now because you place your faith in the fountainhead, your party's first and greatest practitioner, it seems that you are being found guilty of a sin against the Holy Ghost and likewise, the ghosts of Jefferson and Jackson. History recounts that both these gentlemen were prone to express their convictions in no uncertain terms, and because they were guilty of the same action as you are charged with, exercising their own mental prerogatives, they became leaders of the Democratic party.

Personal liberty and states rights are fundamentals according to these leaders of democracy, and the patient has a right to enter whatever political clinic he deems best to save himself and his fellows from the present scourge. Because you are bold enough to assert yourself publicly you are censured for following the tenets of Democratic dogma. In addition to a lot of other things in the constitution, Jefferson evidently had something to do with that free speech clause, and recalling that with him it was principles first, party and nominees second, it occurs to me that the shade of Thomas must be standing by and looking upon your action with high approval.

By virtue of her nomination, Ma becomes chieftainess, and head nurse to the Fergusonese tribe, with Dr. Jim as big medicine man and star gazer for the troubled Texas tribe. They have high hopes of leaving their Bell Bosque wigwam about January 1 along with a lot of their tribal patients for the Capitol Hospital. Dr. Jim is now busy passing out free samples of a recently developed formula labeled "You won't go to heaven if you screech." It seems to be having some effect on light cases of mental conviction, but most cases of tribal illness are too serious for that. They seem to remember that Jim did put out a more effective remedy for the same tribe of his old American tribe. I know a lot of doctors who won't take their own medicine, and that now seems to be the case with Jim—but I've always heard it said that sawga for the goose should be sawga for the gardener.

Here's that old prescription that Jim has been trying to lose: It must have been an overdose of poison for good tribesmen, but still it seems to contain some mighty good herbs and true roots of democracy. Here is what appeared on every bottle, the contents of which were supposed to be taken without any old-line orange juice or conscientious chaser—you were supposed to get 'er down and hold 'er.

"There is a set of bull-dozing politicians (Doc Jim doesn't speak very kindly of his own kind) telling the people that if they go to the polls and vote the American party ticket that after they have voted they will be prosecuted in the courts. By this means they expect to intimidate a lot of good people, (here he evidently meant men like Mr. Johnston) and either keep them away from the polls or throw them into voting the infernal Democratic ticket. Do not pay any attention to such threats. You are an American citizen, free and independent. Go to the polls and vote as you please, regardless of whether or not you went into the Democratic primary."

Fortunately there were a few empty bottles scattered around with directions still legible on the labels. A more recent tribal disease broke out during the past summer known as "plank pledge plague." It happened during the Chicago convention, and in all likelihood would have proven tremendously fatal had it occurred among the local tribesmen, but someone busted the head of the tomtom and the plague cry didn't get very far. These plank pledge pills are supposed to measure up to Mosaic law in politics—sacred, inviolate and the will of the people. Grand Sachem Maury Hughes and his Texas delegation on Garner bent carried with them a kin-dried, hand-hewn liquor punchon, a piece of real workmanship, no crude affair, but sprinkled with tears of belief and varnished with much oratory by the home braves. But before the good old alcoholic blues had been fairly lit, this beautiful piece of craftsmanship was rushed in for the back-log and all the little grains of sawdust back home looked sad and expressed sympathy for all of their sick friends away up in Chicago, who had succumbed to plank pledge plague.

And even Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Garner and Mr. Al Smith, Mr. Hoole Long are scattering pledge plague out of state among the Republicans. It is just going to be too bad if these Rooseveltans get the wrong bottle. Another thing, Pat, that I almost forgot! The supreme court of the United States has ruled twice that the formula on Terrill election law bottles can't be copyrighted, and that it conflicts with Dr. Jefferson's original prescription, so every time they try to cram that dope down your esophagus they are guilty of mal-practice. It looks like your old homeopathic treatment, dictates of conscience, was prescribed from the beginning and is nature's remedy.

This Big Boy Texas is just about as sick as the sickest among the 48 patients in the National Hospital, and I know you feel a few broken doses of new treatment might clear his business breathing and relieve his tax tension. After about 60 years of continuous treatment the patient seems to be worse off than ever; I don't know if it is the doctor or the prescription at fault. They've had Doc Ferguson on the job three times, and each time he cut off a big slice of the Big Boy's income, leaving the patient with a severe pain in the neck. One time they fired him off the case for unethical practices. His license was taken away, but Doc Jim put his head nurse, Ma, in charge until they finally canned her for failing to observe hospital rules.

Doctor Jim is about the cleverest surgeon in the state on cut-ins, but he has the bad habit of over-diagnosing the case and always takes out too much. He believes in regular blood lettings and of extracting all of the cash corpuses from his patient's already depleted treasury system.

Doc Jim is a pretty good lawyer, too, and there is always the possibility that if the patient makes a few expiring passes that Dr. Ferguson might tack on a codicil to the will of Texas when the patient was not at himself bequeathing Texas, the seawall and Juarez, Mexico, for good measure to Jim and Ma to have and to hold forever.

I understand that federal tax diagnosticians have recently discovered severe symptoms of concealed income in Jim, and it is too severe a case to be handled in his own clinic.

You know, Pat, it is Mr. Townsend's duty as county chairman to keep everything inside of the corral until after election for fear of infection, and with Ben Smith riding herd they may keep things fairly healthy. Our crowd are not much concerned; we just kind of loose herd, believing fresh air and sunshine, a little Jeffersonian liberty in the lush grass and beside the still waters will work wonders for improvement. And, by the way, don't forget to vote, for if you do and all the rest that do likewise will be casting a half-vote for Doc Jim and his good old Jim & Ma Medicine Company remedies. Yours truly,

E. J. ANDERSON
County Chairman, Republican Party.

Editors, The Scurry County Times:
At the last presidential election 300,000 Texans bolted the Democratic ticket and pitched their tents in the Republican camp. Result: I don't think Wall Street has a more ardent advocate in public life today than President Hoover. With the Wall Street aids show at Washington he has laid the country prostrate at the feet of financial freebooters.

The municipal, state and federal governments are largely "in the red" and the federal government is forced further in debt at the rate of about $40,000,000 a day. The president and Congress have been dumping the people's money into the laps of Europe, Wall Street, Federal Reserve Banks, railroads and big business. Railroads are crying for help and getting it, while a destitute people plead in vain for relief. This is the price of Republican victory.

The present Republican administration has been a dismal failure, and the Democrats of Texas cannot expect anything better from a Republican god. Before any Democrat votes for a Republican governor, please read "The Reconstruction Period" in Texas history. The Republicans made the Democrats bow beneath the rod of military despotism. This is not a dream, vision, delusion or hallucination, but it forms a dark and gloomy part of Texas history. In the dark days of reconstruction justice fell asleep while the arrogance of the rapacious Republicans deprived the Democrats of personal liberty.

Democracy is a deep-rooted popular sovereignty. It receives its authority from the governed. The people have spoken and their legal representatives have declared their result. Keep the pledge; never let Texas fall into the hands of the Republicans. Their tyranny after the close of the Civil War has caused the conscience of the Democrats to become sordid and sinister.

I do not cherish any bitterness of hate nor do I foster any malice toward the Republicans, but I do not like their ideas of government.

A Statement From THE SNYDER LOCAL MUTUAL LIFE ASSOCIATION

As a report is out that the Snyder Mutual is not paying its full $1,000, I, Mrs. J. R. G. Burt, secretary, wish to state to the public as well as the members that we have not paid less than $1,000 to any beneficiary since 1926, and for the last two or three years we have paid the $1,000 before the deceased was buried. We have had nine deaths this year and paid each one promptly. We do not owe any beneficiary, and have money in the bank to take care of our next death. Judge W. W. Beall, our last death, was paid as soon as the papers were presented, although we have not assessed for him yet; but we are prepared to pay again without his assessment.

We have lost some members and we have written new members. We are re-instating many of our members who could not pay in the summer. As long as we have enough members to pay the $1,000, and with the cooperation that we have from our members, I feel that we will ride over the depression wave.

—MRS. J. R. G. BURT, Secretary.

The Times Creed.
 For the cause that needs assistance:
 For the wrongs that need resistance;
 For the future in the distance,
 And the good that we can do.

THE WEEKLY DOZEN.

Roosevelt Sweeps Our Farms.
 Pessimism Pete suggests that Roosevelt's success in the weekly newspaper straw vote might indicate that our farmers want to exchange a Quaker elephant for a Dutch donkey while they are in the middle of the Whither To stream.

A Nine-Point Ballot Balancer.
 Have you read the nine amendments on which you will be called to vote next week? They deserve careful study and attention. Our Constitution should not be cluttered with amendments that are the will of a people that votes on the spur of the moment.

The Wonders of November 8.
 Now comes the question: Was the general election placed on cotton report day, or was cotton report day set on general election day? On the calendar, November 8 is just another day, but its dual role in the scrolls of 1932 will stand out for weeks and years to come.

The Turkey Market Drops.
 Manipulation of the turkey market has seen the price drop far below the average level of last year, and it is possible that it will go even lower. One consolation grows out of the fact that most growers have practically no investment, outside of time, in their 1932 turkey crop, since feed has been so plentiful. Bring 'em on in, folks... let the middle men continue to reap their profits, while the grower and the consumer pay the freight.

The Ghosts Do Walk.
 "Ghost House," the firemen's home talent play that is to be presented in the high school auditorium Thursday and Friday nights of next week, comes at an appropriate time—before all the Halloween hobgoblins have retired to their winter haunts. The play will present a notable cast under direction of an experienced producer. The fact that its author wrote "The Cat and the Canary" and other well-known screen mysteries, and the further fact that Abilene, Colorado and other towns have made a hit with the thriller, should help make the presentation an outstanding success in home talent play history.

Will It Be the Hunter After the Bull-inger?
 Some political observers are making the prediction that the governor's race two years from now will be a tug-of-war between Tom Hunter and Orville Bullington. A Bullington victory is almost out of the question this year, and, of course, if the gentleman is not elected this time his chances probably will dwindle like cotton profits. But Hunter's candidacy two years from now virtually is assured. No matter how the tide goes, it is interesting to surmise on the developments if both candidate were to be products of Wichita Falls, "The City That Faith Built"—and the depression ruined.

The Horses Have It.
 The spirit of progress gave us more automobiles and tractors than we needed, but old Dobbin is coming back into his own. Papers and magazines these days tell us that horses and mules rapidly are coming back to fill the biggest hole in farming activities, and that they evidently have come to stay. As much as we believe in the intelligent use of machinery, it is with a certain thrill of pleasure that we watch the majority of cotton bales come to town behind high-stepping teams... and we have another thrill when we see so many folks in town walking often instead of using gasoline every time they go around the corner.

The Mexicans Have an Idea.
 The call to greener pastures has been replaced in the minds of thousands of Texas Mexicans by the call to the mirage of whiter fields. Hundreds of the "furriners" pass through Snyder every week. "Going to Plains" is their guiding star. Some grapevine telephone system that has been used with success for the past few years has left word in South and Central Texas that the Plains country is cotton-picking heaven, and the transient Mexicans are willing to spend several extra dollars for gasoline and second-hand tires in order to prove that the old grapevine knows its stuff. Luckily for Scurry County farmers, more and more whites, Mexicans and negroes are learning that the Plains mirage contains more bitter-sweet weather than it does snow-white cotton.

The Centennial Amendment.
 Regardless of the fact that the Texas Centennial Amendment is not as far-reaching as some of the other eight to face the citizens of our state Tuesday, The Times has given a large amount of space to discussion of this particular amendment. We take our best position: That an event of such importance as the proposed Texas Centennial celebration deserves something more than the selfish consideration of next week's voters. When the time comes that we must

A New Government Racket?

The statement by Dr. Atticus Webb at a local church recently to the effect that the anti-prohibition fight is being made almost altogether by the tremendously wealthy men of the United States, and their subsidized agencies, bears intelligent investigation. It is nothing new, but it smacks of deep import when it comes from a man who has spent the major years of his life in fighting for the forces of sobriety and right.

Not only did Dr. Webb make the statement. He referred to records of a congressional investigating committee which proved beyond the shadow of doubt that the multi-millionaires of the United States are deeply interested in seeing the government step into the liquor-dispensing business.

The explanation is the same that can be made for wars and the other major crimes of humanity—money, money, money.

The simplicity of the whole wet fight is the simplicity of man's greed. Give the government millions of dollars from liquor taxes, and the immensely rich will be exempt from millions of dollars of income taxes.

Dr. Webb pointed out that the wet propagandists' statement that the citizenship as a whole will be saved from heavy federal taxes is utterly false. Only a few cents a year will be taken from the average citizen's tax burden, and those few cents will be multiplied manifold if government-controlled liquor brings a tax to every bottle of beer and booze. Indirect taxes, which are practically the only ones paid by Mr. Average American, would not be affected by shifting of the tax burden from incomes to beer mugs.

The pity of the whole maudlin affair is that many otherwise intelligent citizens are leaning toward the belief that our government should go into the liquor racket—into the home-breaking, soul-tearing, money-mad business of selling our history-earned birthrights—on a nation-wide basis.

EDITORIAL OF THE WEEK.

FEAR STIFLES INITIATIVE.

The only thing that keeps most of us from realizing our own possibilities and of getting the highest satisfaction out of life is fear. There are very few human beings in the world who are not afraid of something, and as long as one is afraid of anything he cannot achieve perfect happiness.

Primitive man must have lived in a state of almost constant terror. He was afraid of wild beasts, afraid of enemies of other tribes, afraid of the thunder and lightning, afraid of evil spirits that lurked in the darkness of the forest—of real dangers and of unreal dangers which he imagined. Very few people in these days have the perfectly natural physical fears that surrounded the lives of our ancestors. But who of us has not some mental fear, fear of something that has not happened but which we think may happen to ourselves or our loved ones?

In the past two or three years the people of the United States have been the prey of a new kind of fear. They have been afraid that, in the popular phrase, the bottom has dropped out of everything. They have feared that never again would they have a job, that the factories that have shut down would never start up, that they would never be able to sell the products of their farms—those and a thousand other fears which have no relation to common sense or reality seemed to take possession of perhaps the majority of Americans.

And that is one of the reasons we have been so slow in coming back from the economic crisis. We have been afraid to use our intelligence and common sense and go ahead when everybody else was afraid to do anything but accept conditions as they are and paint them, mentally, much worse than they are.

We see signs that this widespread fear is beginning to disappear. We do not believe it ever had any real foundation, and we believe people are waking up to that fact. If we are right, and hope and courage are beginning to replace fear, then we have made a good start toward the return of good times.—Northern Lyon County Journal, Allen, Kansas.

Wurstmacher—"After all, the radio broadcasters are in the same boat with the unemployed."
Liverschmidt—"How do you figure that?"
Wurstmacher—"They're both living off the air."
Kidder—"There's a fellow who's forever running business into the ground."
Ahlt—"What—does he give lectures?"
Kidder—"No, he drills wells."

The Schemer Struts His Stuff.
 The comparative ease with which schemers of various hues are leaving their impressions on merchants, farmers, housewives and professional men has made us long for the comforting soles of Barnum's famous explosion. It makes us wonder, too, if a man is justified in attempting to conduct a square-shooting newspaper, when the public is apparently looking for some hookum scheme.

Unleash Your Sentiments.
 If we were living in the greatest country in this history of unperfected rest; if we were wending our way peacefully along under protection of its laws and customs; if we were as proud of our government as our forefathers were proud of theirs... then we would pay our poll tax if we had to wear our 1927 hat again in order to get the dollar and six-bits; we would vote for everybody from constable to president; and we wouldn't stand around on the street corners and complain about rottenness of our government unless we were at least voting our sentiments when poll time came. But the importance of all other elections would fade when it came time to vote for a president of these United States. Tuesday is such a time. Let us unleash our sentiments at the ballot box, if we have to lose a dollar's worth of trade or cotton to do it.

She Ain't What She Once Was.
 As a front-page article points out, Halloween ain't what she used to be. Those who profess to believe that the world, headed by its boys and young men, is going to the everlasting dog-purgatory should have rode forth Monday night to see how hooded ghosts and masked pirates celebrated the ancient merry-making season. Downright property destruction was almost unknown. Who doesn't remember the time when nothing on a man's place was safe from Halloween pranks? Drunkenness, if any, was confined principally to very private parties. We dare any advocate of eighteenth amendment repeal to prove that there was one-fourth as much drinking here as there was before booze was outlawed here. Take a squint at the facts, you gloom spreaders, and know that hell hasn't yet come up to earth.

Second Conference Game Put In Bag By Tigers, 39 To 6, On Roby Gridiron

The hills and valleys and sand bars of the Roby football field furnished an ideal setting for the kind of game that the Tigers won—39 to 6—from the Lions Friday afternoon.

It was one of those slip-shod games that keep your teeth on edge, if you know what we mean. In other words, you couldn't tell what was going to happen most of the time, for after Snyder's squad piled up a 32 to 0 lead in the first half, the ball carriers were willed, willed, and quite often it willed surprisingly.

It was the second conference game for the Mooremen, Rotan having conquered two weeks before on Tiger Field.

Buck Grabs Pass.
 Little Buck Howell showed the handful of customers the most amazing play of the day when he came out of the fog to snatch a Rotan pass and gallop 53 yards, untouched, for a touchdown. That was near the close of the first half. Just after Buck made the final home touchdown in the third period, Rotan unleashed a passing attack that caused the first string snapping. Five of their seven first downs were made in rapid succession, with the speedy little quarterback, Beane, featuring with a lengthy dash down the sidelines after he took a pass from Nelson while both were on the dead run. Captain Davis went over from the one-yard line after he had thrown a final nine-yard pass to Nelson.

The Tigerlets took on the Fisher County crew for a season in the final half, and played them on fairly even terms with only two of the first stringers to bolster their activities.

Passes, End Runs Feature.
 Except for the first quarter, when Dunn ploughed the Roby line rather consistently, McClinton directed his backfield attack by way of passes and end runs, for the most part. Rigby, who was half sick, took the ball over while the game was four minutes young, on his first sally of the day. Immediately after the kick-off that followed McClinton's booting of the goal, Roby lost the ball on downs, and Rigby scampered away with a double lateral on the first local down. Rigby was pulled in favor of Eiland soon after the next kick-off, his two lone offensive plays having netted touchdowns.

Just before the quarter ended, McClinton and Howell passed and hammered the ends for a third touchdown that hoisted the score to 19 to 0. Penalties and a fumble apiece finally ended at the middle of the second period in another Tiger tally. McClinton passed to Dunn, whose attempted pass to Howell went haywire and fell again into McClinton's arms, who completed the 25-yard play for a touchdown.

Roby Gets Going.
 The initial Roby first down came the first play after the second-half kick-off, on a 15-yard pass. Then it was that Howell did his 55-yard intercepting act.

The final half, with the exception of the touchdown apiece, was a jumbled affair, with the home defensive being so careless and the Roby squad so anxious that the Lions roared warningly on several occasions. Mose Sims, referee, began catching a few of the many fouls that were committed during the game, and penalties, passes and fumbles kept the small knot of spectators wondering why they called it football.

Roby substitutes—Moore, Neves, Horton, J. Beane; Snyder—Eiland, Worley, Blakey, W. Birdwell, Huestis, Martin, Watkins, Wiese, Boren, Neal.

 Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnston and children of Colorado were Sunday guests of W. A. Johnston and family.

Mrs. J. M. Cuthbertson and son, Jesse, and S. H. Johnston were visitors in the R. A. Blackard home Saturday.

The senior Sunday School class of the Baptist church enjoyed a Halloween party Friday night. They first gathered at Mr. and Mrs. C. G. McDowell's, where they played games and were then served refreshments of hot chocolate and cake, after which they elected a captain, Francis Johnston, and were given directions to follow which would take them to a treasure chest. The first direction led them to Hunter's Lodge, then to the house of learning, then to the cross-roads, on to the sign of the cross, then to the bridge and on to J. M. Cuthbertson's, where they were carried through Spookland; then they were given final directions for finding the treasure chest with a skull and cross-bones on it. Matilda Black, who was the lucky one to find the treasure, which was a chest full of all-day suckers, around the stems of which papers were tied which contained the fortunes of those present.

Miss Emily Black, teacher, had in charge of the entertainment. Those present were Misses Nellie Dobson, Susie Johnston, Evelyn Horton, Alpha Mercer and Opal, Emily and Matilda Black; Messrs. J. P. Hand, Jesse Cuthbertson, Paul Johnson, Ray and John Sherrod, J. T. and Raymond Horton, Connie Black, Red Gentry, Marcus and Francis Johnston and J. W. Black of Fort Worth. Members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church, with their wives, enjoyed a Halloween party Saturday night in the basement of the church, which was decorated with autumn berries and leaves and colors of orange and black. They were greeted at the door by a witch, who had their entrance. A number of delightful games were played, such as bobbing for apples, having their fortunes told and a contest track meet, the winning side getting candy and nuts as a reward. Apples and candy then were passed to Misses Elsie Holmes, Edna Murphy, Maurine Grimes, Sylvia Magee, Eulene Durham, Mae Nail, Lena Magee and Anice Nail; Messrs. Wilson Ross, Merle Gary, Carl Hooker, Hubert Cogswell, Mann Murphy, Ross Johnson, A. J. Grubbs, Alvis Gary, W. S. and Reuben Goodie, John and Ray Sherrod, Shorty Bowers, Fred Gary and Giles Bowers.

Kitchen Drudgery Gone Forever

Cooking has for years been called by many people Kitchen Drudgery. Electric cooking is automatic, cheap, clean and very fast—therefore, Kitchen Drudgery Is Gone Forever.

SNYOPSIS: Johnny Breen, 16 years old, who has spent his life aboard a Hudson River tugboat...

young engineer. "This work is making you, but women don't see such things, not all of them, at least. Pug made your body what it is, the schools have helped your mind, but this work, with its damnable demands, is forging character. God, how I envy you the fight."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

Rantoul, on learning of Josephine's sudden engagement, found urgent business calling him abroad. He had vast foreign interests, so she gathered from his letters, but he bore no ill-will; he was still her friend and never failed to ask after John.

But you have still another thing to do, and that is to get and keep your woman.

winter of uninterrupted work. He would "get" the shaft and tunnel by that time; he would master the shaft, and take his place with the men who counted, the hard, true men who worked with him on the job.

John killed? Why had she come? Questions crowded upon her. She was dizzy, nauseated. The vile garlic odor was overpowering. She shuddered, sinking breathless into John's chair.

Presently Rantoul returned. "John is all right," he announced curiously. His eyes reflected a hint of things below. "I saw him at the shaft head; he went down again. Some poor fellows were killed—an explosion—God, what a hole!"

—God, what a hole!" Rantoul lit a cork-tipped cigarette, snapped the gold case with a click. Suddenly he realized that Josephine was ill. He helped her to her feet; supported her to the open air. "We had better go," he said, quietly, and then walked down the little plankway outside of the enclosure to the waiting car.

John Breen, coming up from the tunnel with the last of the rescue party, ran to the office. A vague scent lingered over his desk, mingled with the aroma of an Egyptian cigarette. He stepped to the outside door and peered into the dark. Down by the curb was the limousine, and he saw Josephine entering the car with Rantoul. She was distant, exquisite, her hair glowing beneath the light in the car. She held Rantoul's hand, a warm smile was on her lips. They rolled silently away.

John was utterly tired as he washed the dirt and grease from his hands, using a gray paste smelling of naphtha and soap. He rubbed the dirt off with a scrubbing brush, and came next Sunday, which is our regular first Sunday singing. The next fifth Sunday singing will be at Hermitage. Let's all go and make it as good as this one. Everyone be sure and come next Sunday. We have the new Arkansas books and we want you to come and help us try them out.

School opened Monday morning with a boom. Our county superintendent, A. A. Bullock of Snyder, 15 or 20 patrons and about 100 pupils were present for the opening exercises. Enrollment, due to clear skies and there being so much cotton to gather, was not quite 50 per cent of what it would have been.

Mr. Bullock made a splendid talk on school financing, together with other school problems that should have been heard by every person in our three communities involved here.

D. Z. Hess, president of the school board, pointed out that we were on a try-out this year with new consolidation and urged everyone to join hands and cooperate to the fullest extent in making the school a big success.

We are very glad to have as new teachers in our school, Miss Thompson, Miss Long, Mr. Drinkard and Mr. Taylor. We are very glad to have our old teachers back with us again. They are Mr. and Mrs. Grady Hamrick, Miss Memory Smith and Miss Creola Garner.

Singing was well attended Sunday night and the singing was very good, everyone enjoying it so much because we have not had singing in quite awhile on account of the lights. It was decided Sunday night to discontinue having singing every Sunday night and instead have it every second and fourth Sunday night of each month.

Orville Bullington

Champions Clean Government

Much Favorable Comment From the Press of Texas

Born and reared a Jacksonian Democrat; son of a Presbyterian minister and a country school teacher; grandson of two Confederate soldiers; educated in the country schools and colleges of Texas; successful lawyer and business man; leader in civic affairs; plain of dress, speech and habits; with Texas ideals and an ideal Texan—that, briefly, is Orville Bullington, Republican nominee for Governor of Texas.

and big steals, promptly acquainting their readers with actual conditions as they exist.

Orville Bullington is anxious for any member of the press, for any special or staff writer to look into the open books upon whose pages are written his actions since attaining manhood. He invites with pleasure any question as to his sincerity, his qualifications, his intentions, knowing this will redound to the interest of the work and duties he is seeking to assume.

Henry Edwards in the Troup Banner, commenting on an article from the Marshall Evening News in which Editor Homer Price tells of two men in his city, who, though acknowledging the election of the Fergusons would bring disgrace on the state, felt they should vote the Democratic ticket straight, says:

"Have we who inherit the glory of Texas, who have thrilled at the patriotism of Austin, and Travis, and Fannin, and Bowie, and Houston and Rusk—and Hogg, Roberts, Coke, Culberson, Chilton, Campbell—and a thousand others in the galaxy of the peerless, fearless fighters for human freedom and political decency—have we fallen so far that the pride of a glorious commonwealth moved us not? Has party loyalty superseded patriotic consideration to that extent that we fear to use our vote as our own? Are we of a weakened, flabby breed who in our hearts must follow the leadership of him who is the arch bolter of all history—and who with his cohorts, has, and will again, shame Texas?"

These are some of the highlights of Orville Bullington's candidacy for governor which are passed to the intelligent people of Texas, feeling they will take the usual interest in patriotic state affairs where the selection of a clean and capable man to fill the governor's chair will mean so much.

After being taught by his father in Parker County schools, Bullington determined to secure a higher education and study law, he enrolled at Sam Houston State Teachers College at Huntsville. During sessions he operated a laundry wagon to pay his expenses, and in the summer he sold books and did any other kind of work he could find. Through dint of hard work and study, he was graduated from Sam Houston in 1901, at the age of 19.

Orville Bullington knows what it means to work at hard labor for small wages. In the summer of 1903 he worked for Swift & Company for 15 cents an hour in order that he might have the necessary entrance fees to enroll at the University of Texas that fall. He worked his way through the law school of the University of Texas and graduated in 1905.

Many leaders of the Texas press have been carefully studying and analyzing the platform of Orville Bullington; they have been investigating as to who Orville Bullington is and what is behind his candidacy; party lines have been released by the past action and declaration of the Democratic nominee and these facts are being freely noted by the press of Texas.

Peter Molyneux, editor and publisher of The Texas Weekly, one of the most astute and far-seeing thinkers of Texas today, has the following to say in a recent issue of his Weekly:

"A Republican governor, many people are beginning to say, would be a healthy change for Texas from all the bitterness and turmoil which have resulted from the Democratic primary. And it is likely that as the washing of dirty linen continues, this feeling will grow."

Hundreds of leading churchmen, civic leaders, staunch believers in the party pledge and sound supporters, for scores of years of 100 per cent Democracy, are giving their full support to Orville Bullington's candidacy for governor of Texas.

The press has stood through many years for clean government, exposing those who sought to sacrifice "square dealings in state affairs" to selfish ends of corrupt officials. The press of Texas is the real "watch-dog" of the state's politics, never trying to dominate, ever on the lookout for petty grafts

The Importance of Better Speech.
To those unambitious youths who habitually make low grades, especially in English, let me address myself. It seems that you feel that there is no incentive for your laboring one bit more than is absolutely necessary and, therefore, you are playing "smart" by holding back and not studying sufficiently to make a respectable grade. But by so doing, you are not gaining anything; rather, you are weakening your character and allowing your mind to go undeveloped.

Good English is necessary in the business, social and political world. If a man really wants to succeed in this world, he must be able to speak good English. Therefore, the person who makes excellent grades in English—not the one who just barely gets by—is the one who is going to achieve the most. And achievement is success, and success is the goal of every ambitious person. Therefore, if you would be a success, it is imperative that you apply

State Amendments.
Nine amendments to the state constitution, some of them vital, will be found on the bottom of the bulky ballot with which Texans will be faced. Briefly summarized, they are as follows:

1. Combination of the offices of tax assessor and tax collector in large counties, and combination of the two offices with the sheriff's office in counties under 10,000 in population.
2. Authorization of the Legislature to appropriate funds for conducting a Texas Centennial celebration.
3. Depriving state and local governmental bodies of the power of extinguishing liabilities to themselves, except in prescribed cases.
4. Giving only property tax paying voters the privilege of taking part in bond elections.
5. Prescribing new voting regulations for certain classes of citizens.
6. Giving coast towns certain taxing authority.
7. Prescribing regulations of the Permanent University Fund.
8. Exemption of homesteads valued at $3,000 or more from state ad valorem taxation.
9. Permitting immediate sale of property for taxes due thereon, with two reclamation clauses.

Calling Flocks Shows Profits.
"Eliminate the poor producer from the flock and reduce the feed bill" is the slogan adopted by the 4-H Club girls of Wharton County. Records kept on 258 hens by 14 girls show a profit of $253.29 so far this year, with 395 pullets on hand.

Club Boy Makes Fine Cotton.
Clarence Anderson, 4-H Club boy, living near Sanger in Dent County, has produced 1.58 pounds of lint cotton from five acres, giving him $97.19 for his labor and investment and use of land.

List Robert Rando of Dewitt County among the converts to Hubam clover. Five acres of it grazed 20 head of cattle for 30 days in the spring and then cut 4½ tons of hay. "It produces more grazing and lasts longer in the spring than any clover I've tried," he says.

CANDIDATE OF G. O. P. PLEADS FOR DEM VOTE

"I'm Not So Smart," Bullington Says, "But I Know My Money From Public's Money."

Orville Bullington, of Wichita Falls, Republican nominee for governor, made a direct appeal for Democratic votes here Friday morning, when he spoke in the district court room to a group of men and women who were apparently favorable to his candidacy.

"I'm not so smart," declared the visitor, referring to Ferguson's recent charge of ignorance, "but I do have good eyesight, and I know my own money from the public's money."

From the time that he referred to his Democratic background until he concluded with the statement that the voters of Texas will, on November 8, blot out Fergusonism from the state, Bullington was frank in his address on the assumption that an aroused Democrat would elevate him to the governor's chair.

Little Party Difference.
"There is not a great deal of difference," he stated, "between the platforms of the two major political parties, and there is practically none in the various states."

"The only way to end 20 years of political turmoil and strife in our state is to elect a Republican as governor. I know I can't stay in office over two years, but that will be long enough to ride Ferguson and his playmates out of the capitol for good and all, and long enough to get in motion some of the reforms for which I stand."

The speaker stated that the economic wisdom of having a governor from one party and a Legislature from another party was proven by the example of New York, whose two Democratic governors, Smith and Roosevelt, had accomplished outstanding reforms in conjunction with Republican legislators.

Other high points in the Bullington address were as follows:

"The reform of our outrageous tax system is 30 years overdue."

"Did it ever occur to Jim Ferguson, during his tenures of office, to reduce taxes in this state?"

Two Remedies Given.
"One way to ease the tax burden is to equally distribute it; another is to reduce expenditures. Taxes cannot be equalized by 254 county boards of equalization."

"When I am elected governor, I will use every ounce of my energy toward placing a graduated tax on chain stores, and a heavy tax on the sulphur industry in Texas."

will keep the Legislature in Austin until they grow whiskers to their knees if it takes that to inaugurate these tax reforms.

"Stop our pardon and parole graft, and take the profit out of lobbying, and you will see honest government at Austin."

"Ferguson's three-point highway plan is a slam at our schools and a slam at our present highway work and a slam at our lateral roads."
