One of the best attended and most inspirational meetings of the Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Association that has been held within a year convened at Dunn all day Tuesday.

The board meeting and women's group met immediately after noon. The latter group had as guests Mrs. B. Reagan of Big Spring, district president, and three other leaders from Big Spring.

The mother's attitude on the subject "Do Parents Feel the Same Spiritual Concern for Their Children Today as in the Past?" was discussed by Mrs. Jack Smith of Colorado.

The inspirational address was delivered by Rev. Claude Allen, Westbrook pastor. He was preceded by Rev. A. D. Leach of Colorado, who spoke on "Baptists and Their Relation to This Modern Age."

Eighteen Tigers Get Sweaters At Thursday Affair

Eighteen members of the 1932 Tiger squad, district football champions, were given "S" sweaters during the annual banquet given last Thursday night by business men and other backers.

The Manhattan Hotel affair was attended by 60 persons, including the players, their lady friends and several faculty members and business men.

Tribute was paid to Coach Otis M. "Red" Moore, who led the squad to two regional championships, and saw them go down in a bitter battle at Wink this season, for bi-district honors, by a 7 to 6 score.

With A. A. Bullock as toastmaster, the banquet program included talks by the head coach, W. W. Hill, assistant coach, R. L. Williams, high school principal, Rev. Philip C. McGahey, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and C. Wedgeworth of the local schools.

Miss Eula Pearl Ferguson gave piano numbers before and after the talks. Misses Katherine Northcutt, Wanda Newsum and Bonita McGahey, girls' pep squad leaders, also gave brief talks.

MANY PRESENT FOR VET MEET

The first session of the Will Layne American Legion post to be held outside of Snyder convened at Fluvanna Monday evening. Veterans from all parts of the county, including 25 from Snyder, and a number of Fluvanna citizens, formed a large and enthusiastic crowd in the high school auditorium.

W. P. Mays of Fluvanna gave the welcome address. Other speakers included Commander A. C. Preuit, Adjutant Walla D. Fish, C. Wedgeworth and Harrie Winston, post commander. A gift of $10 from the post funds for use as "Christmas cheer" was unanimously certified.

Due to important business arising next month, the meeting on February 7 will be held at Snyder, but the March session will go to Dunn by invitation of that town's buddies.

Good Exhibition By Fast Youngsters on Last Friday's Card

Kit Whittington of Big Spring, 138 pounds, pranced for six rounds Friday night at the old Ford boxing arena, and furnished fans with one of the best bouts seen here this season.

Another Big Spring product, Joe Core, took on the bristling Irishman, Kenneth Pitner, in the semifinal. They almost eclipsed the main bout by the fury of their attack.

The opening of the Legion-sponsored bouts found two 42-pounders, Westley Brackeen and Laverne Gardner, matching blows. Jack McCoy vs. Douglas Ryan, Daniel Jarrait vs. Dale Johnston, furnished two other preliminaries.

Dunn Takes Lead In Initial Stages Of Basket Race

Although Dunn led practically all of her track 1932 team, her county championship flag of that year may wave again.

The Owls came out of their winter practice Tuesday last week to trim Fluvanna, 22 to 11, on the latter's court, and then proceeded Friday to win from Hermleigh by practically the same score, 12 to 24.

Pyron also has a perfect record, but she has played only Hermleigh, winning by a squeeze score of 22 to 18. Fluvanna rests on the 500 percentage perch by reason of her 14 to 11 defeat of Ira Friday and her early-week loss to Dunn.

REMARKABLE STORY OF RURAL SCHOOL PROGRESS WRITTEN BY BULLOCK DURING EIGHT YEARS

A. C. Preuit, Our "Free" Job Holder, Out-Talks Beggar

A. C. Preuit, who is famous for his ability to hold down "free" jobs, beat a professional moocher at his own game the other day.

As local agent for the Roscoe, Snyder & Pacific Railway, Mr. Preuit was loading cotton at the yards in North Snyder. A gentleman of the rails alighted from a Santa Fe freight, approached the overalled agent, and suggested that the price of a bed would be appreciated.

The traveler volunteered the information that he was recorder of a Masonic lodge in Louisiana. "Is that so?" asked Mr. Preuit. "I hold the same job in my lodge here."

The further information that he had been called to the Baptist ministry was furnished by the polished moocher. "Sure enough?" was his answer. "I once belonged to that church, too."

Proceeding a bit more cautiously, the visitor wondered if the Red Cross might help him, and inquired after the chairman. "I'm the chairman," he was told. Continuing his life story, the talkative one told of his experience in the Spanish-American War, and said he thought the American Legion might help him. He asked the name of the commander. "I'm the commander," said Mr. Preuit.

The railway agent suggested that the two go to his office and talk the matter over. "Office, huh?" and the visitor stalked away, certain that he had been beaten at his own game of "affiliationitis."

COUNTY TEAMS VIE IN TOURNAMENT

Although a dozen games are to be played in the first and second rounds of the Colorado invitational tournament this week-end, it fell the lot of the only two Scurry County teams to meet each other in the opening tilt. Dunn and Ira are the entries.

Last year, with most of the strong teams of this area in the Big Spring tournament, Dunn went to the finals at Big Spring. No Big Spring tournament will be held this year. A number of strong entries are listed at Colorado. The Owls lost heavily by graduation last year, but present a strong five again.

Dunn and Ira will meet at 9:00 o'clock Friday morning. The winner will meet the Coahoma-Blackwell winner at 8:00 o'clock in the evening.

Scurry County Advances to One of Leading Places in State Under "Pat's" Leadership

A story of rural school advancement that probably can be equaled in no other county in Texas was written in Scurry County during the eight-year leadership of A. A. "Pat" Bullock, who resigned effective January 1 to become an assistant to L. A. Woods, new state superintendent.

This county's rural schools were among the 10 leading groups in the state during the past year, reports of inspectors to the state superintendent revealed. An interesting story links the advancement represented in that report with the status of the county, educationally, in January, 1923, when "Pat" took office.

Eight years ago Scurry County had 43 rural schools, 15 of which had only one teacher each. Snyder had the only high school with affiliation, and only Hermleigh and Dunn had as many as 11 grades aside from Snyder.

In 1923 the county was divided into three high school groups, and at the present time a high school with 11 grades is serving six of these groups. Only one other high school is possible until population shows a decided increase in two groups, and the one exception has widely scattered schools to the east of town that are difficult to unite.

Four of the six high schools have state affiliation, and the other two soon will be in a position to obtain affiliation.

Scurry County is outstanding in West Texas in the consolidation standpoint. Her 38 schools in 1923 have been reduced to 28, including one new one in recently-opened ranch territory—Triangle. Hermleigh, Ira, Fluvanna, Dunn and Pyron, the consolidated schools, now have a combined total of 41 teachers, and call for and deliver students from 16 districts in 12 regulation school buses. Three of the consolidated districts are in counties adjoining Scurry County.

The Hermleigh schools, which combined with a part of old Pyron and with Bell, operate one bus, and used 10 teachers until recent economy forced reduction to eight. Ira is consolidated with County Line, Sharon and Egypt. The Egypt community will be given a bus before Mr. Bullock's term began. With nine teachers, the Ira school operates three buses, one of which is large enough to equal two ordinary buses.

Fluvanna has consolidated with Moor, Faver, Snellings and Hackberry. It has eight teachers—11 until recently—and operates five buses.

Dunn, with eight teachers, is consolidated with Deep Creek, and operates one bus. Pyron united with Lone Wolf and with Lone Star, and has eight teachers instead of the three used there eight years ago.

Hermleigh, Dunn and Fluvanna have affiliation in a number of high school courses, Hermleigh being one of the first small town schools in West Texas to have affiliated courses.

Mr. Bullock was the first superintendent in West Texas and one of the first in the state to begin the county-wide seventh grade examinations. This system is now used throughout the state with remarkable success.

In 1926 publication was begun of The Scurry County Rural School News, under Bullock's editorship. The second paper of its kind ever to be published in the state, it was widely supported by business men, and continued until economic conditions made it impractical.

A Red Cross health nurse examined more than 1,000 school children without cost to the county in 1923.

R. C. F. FUNDS RECEIVED--TO BE DISCUSSED

Every Community Invited To Send Representatives To Meeting At Snyder Saturday P. M.

Every community in Scurry County is invited to send representatives to a meeting in the county court room Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, at which time distribution of the new Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds, just received, will be discussed.

Less than half the sum requested for the month of January was received, but the chairman of the central committee states that a fair amount of money will be available to spend on roads, bridges and school grounds where the labor can be used to advantage.

"This is not a charity proposition," D. P. Yoder, chairman, points out, "for the rules are that the money must be spent for work only in extreme emergency. The central committee is working out plans for material so that the work can go forward."

Full particulars as to how the money may be used in the different communities will be given at the Saturday meeting. It is very important that communities wishing to receive a share should be represented.

All communities to share. The local committee has taken this manner of handling the funds in order that any community having need of work relief may get its share, instead of taking direct control of spending all the money, which would have a tendency to concentrate the work more closely around Snyder.

In a final urge for attendance Saturday, the chairman says: "If any community is not represented, it will be its own responsibility, as advertising or running around looking after those communities that are indifferent to their own needs."

At a meeting of the central committee Tuesday night, $350 was allocated to the Snyder public schools for work on buildings and grounds.

SWEETWATER MEETING.

Mr. Yoder received notice yesterday that the county committee is to meet at Sweetwater Saturday morning, along with other similar committees in this territory, to receive explicit directions from D. A. Banden, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, as to use of the new funds. All members of the committee, Mr. Yoder, A. C. Preuit, H. G. Towle, Robert H. Curran and Harrie Winston, plan to attend the meeting.

Admission prices have been set at 20 cents for adults and 10 cents for students.

Snyder Inventor Making New Type Of Heating Unit

An oil-burning heating unit that delivers a maximum of heat at a minimum of cost has been perfected by R. S. Moore, Snyder inventor, according to statements from several users of the new stove.

The new unit, placed in a stove that is being manufactured under Mr. Moore's direction at the Buchanan tin shop here, burns a combination of air and cheap distillate or kerosene. Those who are using the stoves in residences of medium size state that an average of three gallons of distillate, at four cents per gallon, will furnish an abundance of heat each day. Larger buildings are being heated at only slightly higher cost.

Sixteen of the stoves have been sold in Scurry County, most of them in Snyder. They are being made to order with 11, 12 and 14-inch drums.

No official name has been given to the new stove, although Mr. Moore has patents pending. One user suggests that it be called the "Depression" stove because of its operating economy.

The gravity feeder and unique lower system of air control are distinguishing features of the invention. It is said to be practically fool-proof, and requires a minimum of attention.

Banquet Will Be Initial Occasion Of Term Closing

Under direction of Toastmaster Norman York, the 12 members of the mid-term graduating class of Snyder High School will be entertained at the legendary banquet to be given Monday evening by the upper junior class. York is president of the juniors.

Henry Newman Has Plenty to Do First Days in New Office

S. H. (Henry) Newman, who became high sheriff of Scurry County 12 days ago, has found that lawbreakers observe neither weather nor hours in their depredations. He has been on the go practically all the time since he took the oath of office.

One of his most interesting experiences came several days ago, when he and Sid Bruton, deputy, were searching near Dermott for a young man wanted here, at Fortales, New Mexico, and elsewhere, for petty thievery. Discovered in a cotton field, the fugitive set out afoot with a spurt, and headed neither threatening bullets nor barbed-wire fences.

NEW COURT IN TIGHT SPOT A FIRST SESSION

Taxpayers Obtain Cancellation of Platting Job Contract—Other Important Business.

The new Scurry County Commissioners' Court walked into a bumble bee nest in its first session Monday.

The two old members and the three incoming members were faced not only by petitions with a number of names affixed, but by a group of 40 or 50 taxpayers who demanded that a contract recently made for platting and mapping of the county be completely rescinded.

County Judge Robert H. Curran cast an aye vote for rescinding of the contract after the commissioners had tied. Lee Grant and Walter Dowell, old commissioners, voted to keep the contract intact, while Holly Shuler and Forest Jones voted with the judge.

Terms of Contract. The contract in question, made with Sylvan Sanders Company of Lubbock on December 21, called for platting and mapping of the county before the end of 1933, the contractors to be paid out of delinquent tax collections. Under the contract, 15 per cent of delinquent taxes would have been paid to the Lubbock firm until one and three-fourths cents had been paid for each acre of the tract, and 20 cents for each lot in the county. The court estimated that the total sum collected by the firm would have been more than $10,000.

It was the contention of the taxpayers opposing the contract that the sum charged was exorbitant and that the county could not afford at this time to spend tax money for such a purpose.

Deputies Appointed. Two new deputies for county officials were certified by the court. Eunice Smith was made deputy county clerk under Mrs. Mattie B. Trimble, while Sid Bruton was appointed as deputy sheriff under S. H. Newman. S. T. Elza's re-appointment under W. W. Nelson, tax collector, also was certified.

The court asked that applications for janitors, county physician and other appointive places be filed in written form not later than the second Monday in February, when the court will convene in regular session.

Three Bonds Approved. The bonds of three officials were approved as follows: Mary Maude Akers, district clerk; Frank Farmer, county superintendent; W. A. Louder, justice of the peace in precinct No. 4.

An order was passed that 15 cents per day be charged for use of scrapers and 20 cents per day for use of plows belonging to the county, used in construction of Highway No. 7, to be paid by men using the implements.

Wages not to exceed 50 cents an hour for one man and four horses used on county road work were decided on by the court. Maintenance, tractor and grader men are to be paid not to exceed $60 a month or 30 cents an hour. By a vote of three to one it was agreed that men working on county roads should be furnished their gas for use in going to and from their work.

County machinery will not be used for terracing this year, it was decided. Another order affecting road work calls for bids from the oil companies seeking contracts to furnish oil for county equipment.

A number of accounts were allowed. These will be published next week in connection with the Thursday session of the court. Judge Curran stated yesterday that a number of important matters will again face the court when it convened at 10 a. m.

The group of taxpayers who gathered Monday to protest the Lubbock contract were assured that their pleas or any other taxpayers' pleas would be welcomed at any time. The judge presented a deputy summary figures showing the general condition of county finances. These figures will be published in full in The Times when they are compiled more accurately and fully by the auditors now working on the county records.

VERY LATEST
By Patricia Dow

We hardly have become acquainted with the new fall hats that designers commence to feel around for the next season's trends. Here we see Paris adaptations of brims which mean that the "up with the brim" era has passed.

Above is the visor brim an already elected favorite for the opening season. It was presented in some quaint versions for fall but now gains importance because the French designers are using it.

The lower model, shown above, is in fact an outgrowth of the shallow forward tilted beret. It is well adapted to the tailored mode, which, by the way, will be quite the theme for spring.

Another model is the mushroom hat with brim turned down all around. It is seen in both narrow and wide dimensions, depending entirely upon the type of hat. Some stores are showing the mushroom brimmed hat with bandeau at the back to give depth to the naturally shallow crown. But count yourself in for a brim on that new bonnet, and that the visor brim is the first step toward the new season.

Martin will leave Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Harris, for Austin. They will return to Snyder in June.

Washington Circus

Washington—In eight more weeks it will be Mr. Hoover's turn to sit back and watch the show. His friends here say that if the incoming administration can do any better than the present one has done, it will have Hoover's personal applause although it is to be doubted whether it will receive much public praise from the G. O. P. wheelhorse.

The wheelhorses already are planning for a big come-back in 1933. They have been sending up trial balloons, and one is marked "Ogden Mills for President." Any such re-organization plan will not meet the approval of the progressives, as any independent observer here knows well; and without united action the plan will not get far.

Senator Couzens of Michigan is willing to spend some of his money to re-organize but insists that some of the old fogies who have been running things in the past must step down and out. Naturally, they won't step down if they can help it. Couzens is independent and is not lined up with either progressives or conservatives in an organization of any sense. He always criticizes the one side as readily as he criticizes the other. For this reason, as well as for many others, many think him the ideal leader to get a thoroughly chastened G. O. P. back on its feet with more liberal leadership.

President Hoover got out of Washington just in time to avoid the traditional New Year's Day hand-shaking marathon, a social hoop-choop-choop that always has been barking to the chief ambassador. Two-thirds of the callers who come to extend their greetings are unknown to the president, no matter who he is, and to look into a sea of strange faces and pump his arm for two or three hours is a custom whose continuance seems to be wholly unwarranted.

Washington is standing still these days. Republicans and Democrats alike know that nothing of any moment will be achieved between now and March 4. Such an interlude is a waste of time, and, happily, this is the windup of lame duck seasons. When the lame ducks hobble out this year it will be the last hobble of its kind. The change will be welcomed by everybody, so far as your correspondent can make out.

Huey Long, Louisiana play-boy, is going to have some fun anyway. His latest announcement is that he proposes to attach a rider to every Senate bill to forbid bequests of more than $5,000,000 to heirs, and also to make the earning of more than a million dollars a year a felony.

He will have to move quickly if he intends to catch any excess income bonds. According to Secretary of the Treasury Mills, Americans receiving incomes of more than $100,000 numbered fewer than 3,000 this year. Four years ago there were 15,000 of them.

The Federal Radio Commission objects to permitting appeals from its orders and decisions to courts. It said so through its general counsel, Duke M. Patrick, at a hearing against House Resolution No. 7718 before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce.

Duke defended the present procedural policies of the commission providing for taking of testimony by examiners and the transmission to the commission of stenographic records, together with recommendations as to decisions.

The resolution proposes elimination of examiners, and Duke said that the removal of such officials from the public payroll would burden the commission with too much work.

Senator Dill remarked that the examiners are doing the commissioners' work and that one or the other group should be eliminated in the interest of economy. "As it is going now," he added with a touch of sarcasm, "we might just as well abolish the commission and keep one man as commissioner to serve the radio industry better. The policy must be changed or the commission must be reduced."

One section of the bill provides for appeal to the court at any stage of the proceeding and provides also that if the court decides that a "just and proper disposition of the case requires the asking of additional evidence," it shall direct that the proceeding be re-opened.

This brought a strenuous objection from young Mr. Patrick, who said such a plan "smacked of administrative procedure in the courts" and was "undesirable." Why a "just and proper disposition" of a case should be "undesirable," the general counsel did not say.

The Supreme Court hit a new stride the other day when Chief Justice Hughes wrote the court's decision against entrapment of prohibition violators. Not so very long ago a majority of the same court put its stamp of approval on wire-tapping—a decision which received a sound verbal lashing in a dissenting opinion by Justices Holmes and Brandeis.

Evidently the venerable justices sat up late election night and heard the returns. Wasn't Mr. Dooley who made a remark more than 30 years ago to the effect that election returns are what the Supreme Court follows?

Report current here has it that William Randolph Hearst has ambitions to set up as a rival of the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Company. It is hinted that he is quietly taking options to buy stations in various parts of the country and that when he gets ready to map out his program he will arrange his "chain" and go to work in dead earnest in competition with the big boys.

He is admittedly in a strategic position to do just this, for many of the independent stations in the country are going in the "red" every month and their owners are not keen about shelling out shekels for any prolonged period. They will welcome a deal that will take the white elephants off their hands.

Speaking of the chains, NBC and CBS have come through 1932 with handsome profits. The figures have not yet been made public but it is said that the amount of business predicted for the two organizations a year ago has exceeded expectations.

The big chains probably are the only business concerns in the country that did not have to worry about income last year. Their combined gross income may total $60,000,000—which is a lot of jack considering that the chains pay the government nothing for the privilege of doing business. Some incoming congressmen are all primed to tackle the profits of broadcasting as a source for rich tax pickings in the coming years. And it is reported they are going after it.

and is said to have done untold good in teaching how to preserve health of the youngsters.

An organization of county teachers was perfected. Two extension course classes, with Texas Technological College, Lubbock, teachers in charge, were organized and carried through successfully.

It is estimated that school buildings alone increased in value $175,000 during the eight years of the Bullock regime. Buses made $16,000 more, while playground equipment, libraries, etc., hoisted the total to far above $200,000.

Best in Equipment.
Three years ago—pre-depression times—every school in the county had the full quota of equipment required under rural aid demands.

The past five years have seen bonuses totaling more than $25,000 coming to the county from the state as a result of conscientious and addition of buses. During no one of the years has the county failed to receive the maximum allowed for rural teachers' aid.

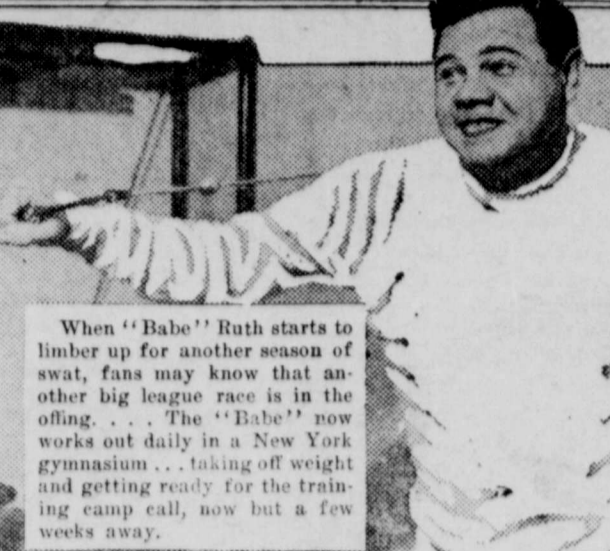

Mr. Bullock has made a special effort to keep rural students in high school. Since 1929, when the high school tuition law went into effect, an average of 150 rural students have transferred to one of the six high schools in order to obtain an education equal to that enjoyed by town students.

New Industrial Work.
Not only has the consolidation idea been introduced and pushed under Mr. Bullock, but the idea of industrial work, unknown in the county eight years ago, has been pushed to the limit. Five schools have added complete industrial courses for boys and girls.

Almost single-handed, the retiring superintendent presented the cause of 4-H Club girls throughout the state, before the state accrediting board, and after two years of effort brought about affiliation of this work. The final accrediting was made in June of 1931. Probably no other single recent benefit to rural school students has been more pronounced than this.

Mr. Bullock's state-wide influence was reflected in 1931 by the vote he received for membership on the state accrediting board. He and L. A. Woods, state superintendent under whom he is now working, were in the run-off for the county superintendent's representative on the board. Out of almost 200 votes the Scurry County man lacked only seven votes of a majority.

Baseball Now Under Way for 1933

When "Babe" Ruth starts to lumber up for another season of swat, fans may know that another big league race is in the offing. The "Babe" now works out daily in a New York gymnasium, taking off weight and getting ready for the training camp call, now but a few weeks away.

Panhandle Editor Is Seeking Marshalship

Fred R. Kreiger, editor of the Hansford County News at Gruver, was a visitor in Snyder several days ago. He is an applicant for one of the four United States marshalships of Texas, seeking appointment under the Roosevelt administration. He was completing signatures on a petition to be presented to the new president and other governmental officials. A Times representative signed the petition.

Mr. Kreiger, with previous experience as deputy sheriff for 15 years in Dallas County, feels confident of his appointment with the many endorsements he has received at the hands of people of West and Northwest Texas.

Mr. Kreiger was displaying a letter of commendation for his active part in the recent presidential election from Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Calabash must think a lot of his wife—he uses such endearing terms," "What now?" "He just said that whatever his wife desires she does of her own sweet will."

superintendents' representative on the board. Out of almost 200 votes the Scurry County man lacked only seven votes of a majority.

Bullock Honored By His Friends at Feed

Thirty-six friends of A. A. "Pat" Bullock honored the former county superintendent with a farewell banquet at the Manhattan Hotel Thursday evening. Mr. Bullock leaves Sunday for Austin.

C. Wedgeworth was toastmaster. Several informal talks were made in tribute to the departing county official as a civic, school, church and social leader in the community.

Pioneer Remembers Early Snyder Days

Tom Nunn, who is now past the 80-year landmark, recalled early days in the Snyder territory when he renewed for The Times Friday.

"There was no Snyder here when I came here in the '70s, and the Indians raided our corrals for horses quite often," he recalled.

Mr. Nunn was one of the first men in the county, and was among the founders of the town of Snyder.

Mary Ellen Moves.

Miss Mary Ellen Martin, who has been assisting in the district clerk's office for some time, moved a few days ago to the office of the county surveyor, H. J. Brice. She is helping in the surveyor's work and doing "free lance" stenographic work for all comers.

Paint Up! Repair!
A carpenter spoke to us not so very long ago, saying: "We carpenters believe it is about time some of you folks are repairing some of your residences, maybe building new ones—who knows? It's the painter's job to get to paint them, but you know they have to be repaired generally, to some extent, anyway, so we carpenters are ready to lead.—Stamford Leader.

Mr. Roosevelt, Dictator?
It now seems to be the plan of the Democrats in the next Congress to give Roosevelt plenary powers in abolishing bureaus and re-organizing the government. It is said that Roosevelt wants a free hand in this work. He believes that he can eliminate a lot of waste and save the taxpayers a big pot of money. This would seem to be the sensible way to go about the matter. Here's hoping that he succeeds.—Lynn County News.

Hello There, New Year!
Hello there, New Year! Good-bye, old year! You sure did hand us some hard ones as you passed by; but in the coming of the New Year we are hopeful for better things. I asked a prominent business man the other day, connected with one of the most prominent firms in the United States: "How about the depression?" "Oh," he said, "Dick, it's behind us." Financial conditions as a rule are a state of the human mind. As a man thinketh, so is he.—Albany News.

More Men Working.
One million men, who have been jobless, went back to work in the United States during the last few weeks. Unemployed men are returning to jobs at the rate of 500,000 monthly. Times are getting better. There is no doubt about this. Daily reports indicate that in many parts of the country business and industry are reviving, many unemployed are going back to work and the restoration of normal economic activity seems assured in the near future.—Chillicothe Valley News.

The Communist Angle.
A communist in town, says The Porcupine Advance, owns a house, a pretty fair house, as houses go, but the roof of that house leaked a little last week. An acquaintance approached the communist a day or so ago. "It is a crime the way that roof is leaking," he told the communist, "and you certainly ought to burn down that house." "Have you gone crazy?" asked the communist. "No, but you have!" was the reply, "for that is exactly the sort of thing you are advocating in the economic line."—Conservator (Brampton, Canada).

A New Advantage.
We all have a big advantage in 1933. For the past three years we have been wrestling with the problems brought on by unusual conditions. We have learned, or should have learned at least, the art of living within our means, cutting corners and also how to hustle business a bit more energetically. These lessons learned at the instance of necessity should be worth something to us. We have all had the experiences. And with the experiences tucked under our hat-bands, we are in position to carry on with an advantage during 1933.—Olney Enterprise.

Give 'em an Income Tax.
An Iowa legislator would take idle farm land off the tax rolls, and that might prove a good idea. Non-revenue-producing homesteads and land not tilled should not bear a tax burden, in our opinion, but concerns that are operated for profit should be taxed. The only fair, just and equitable tax scheme ever devised is an income tax, which permits of no dodging. Every man, from the fellow who makes a dollar a day to the corporation head earning a million annually, would thus pay his exact pro rata part. What could be fairer than that?—Waxahatchee Enterprise.

Discard the Poll Tax.
Thousands of "forgotten" Texans would like to see the poll tax discarded. Every year it is preventing thousands of the state's most conscientious citizens from going to the polls and exercising their "right" of franchise. Registration, which could take the place of the poll tax with better results, could be effected without cost to the individual and little cost to the government. Every man ought to be willing, through means, to establish his right of franchise, but not to cost any man any money to have the right to vote a ballot.—Floyd County Hesperian.

Rural Reading Tastes.
Tastes of rural people are as broad as city dwellers, librarians believe, but a cent of those living in the country the books which really interest them, of the extension board of the American Library Association. The need for more cooperation and home-making extension

Leavestaking of Pat Bullock.

The first rays of Sunday's sun found Pat Bullock leaving the land of his nativity. They found him going to his work at Austin, under the state superintendent of public instruction, after many years of service in Scurry County.

Pat was reared in Mitchell and Scurry Counties. He farmed, he ranched, he played baseball, he taught school, he became county superintendent, he became a civic and school leader in West Texas. But the details of Pat's life—and who calls him anything but Pat?—and the articles concerning him that have found their way into local and state newspapers, were but stepping stones to his glorification of the rural child.

The various compliments that have been thrown toward the departing school man, as Scurry County people discussed his leavestaking, have dwelt much on his friendliness, his understanding of folks in all walks of life, and his knowledge of rural school needs. His gift of hope and educational promise to hundreds of rural boys and girls usually is over-shadowed by his headline characteristics and accomplishments, as a newspaperman would say.

Scurry County offered much natural and personal opposition to consolidation of rural schools, and toward organization of central high school units. Some of the other recent accomplishments in schools of the county can be laid at the feet of the faithful and forward-looking teachers and trustees, but to Pat Bullock goes full credit for putting across the consolidation idea. For several years this county has been a leader in this respect. She is now ranked among the highest 10 counties in the state from a rural education standpoint.

Consolidation is a means to an end. It means that the rural child is given virtually equal educational opportunities with his city cousin. It means, to a great extent, the fulfillment of one of the dreams that Pat conceived when he first began teaching school.

You will find much about the leavestaking of Pat Bullock in this issue of The Times. Why not? No single person has helped rural Scurry County to a greater extent than he during the past few years. And rural progress is the backbone of this great farming and ranching territory.

Our consolation for losing this outstanding rural educator and friend is that he has gone into a field where he can be of larger usefulness to the rural children of the entire state.

EDITORIAL OF THE WEEK.

HOME RULE FOR COUNTIES.
The movement for reconstruction of county government proceeds along a front which extends from New York, where a special commission working since 1930 has prepared recommendations for county re-organization on an extensive scale, to California, where San Mateo County has just adopted in a referendum a county-manager form of government. Meantime, in the San Luis Valley of Colorado six counties have agreed to consolidate into one, with the consent of the Legislature.

The New York commission comments on the fact that the general framework of county government in that state has not altered in 155 years, while there have been many extensions and alterations in function. County government in New York is described as being "like an old barn to which one lean-to after another has been added, until the whole thing is likely to collapse of its own weight." Three main weaknesses, which its recommendations seek to remedy, are attacked by the commission. These are: First, the county has no executive head; second, the county legislative body is made up of town executives; and, third, the uniform system of county government does not fit the non-uniform conditions of the state.

The people of San Mateo County, in California, in 1931 selected a charter committee to suggest a better county charter. The committee employed as consultant Professor E. A. Cottrell of Stanford University, and after two years of study brought in a charter providing for the county manager plan. When finally submitted to a vote at the recent general election in November, the charter was adopted by a vote of more than two to one.

Meantime, in Texas, plans are made by several members of the forthcoming Legislature to push for enactment of legislation enabling counties to reorganize the local government. The Beck resolution, which was before the last Legislature, seeks this end through submission of a constitutional amendment granting to counties the same privileges which are enjoyed by cities in this state under the municipal home rule amendment. The plan embodied in the Beck resolution would, if the enabling amendment succeeded, permit citizens of counties a freer hand in re-organization than apparently is provided by the California plan which neglects the constitutional amendment phase.

The problem of high government costs consists mainly of expensive local government. An object lesson in methods of reducing this largest item contributing to the taxpayer's burden would be of inestimable value to this state and all others. Such an object lesson would be quickly furnished by several of the large-city counties of the state if their hands were freed by enactment of enabling legislation at Austin.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

workers and librarians is stressed in this publication, and existing forms of cooperation reviewed. The county library is stressed as the best means of making books available to country people.—Texas Extension Service Farm News.

More 1933 Philosophy.
Cheer up, readers and friends, life is just what we make it; let's make it a success! The success attained during 1933 doesn't have to measure up to what we thought we were attaining during 1927 and 1928 to be great; it will be measured differently, but the relative value will be the same.—Community News (Plainview).

No Time To Weep.
While we are waiting for the technocrats, the democrats or aristocrats to get the world back on its feet we are going to be compelled to do some tall humping to keep the wolf from walking away with the premises. Now is no time to sit down and weep over our plight since we are all in the same shape and sympathy won't ease our pain.—Big Spring News.

Lost: Lewd Ladies and Liquor.
Mrs. Robert L. Hurt, wife of the new district attorney, gave Dallas reporters something to write about the other day. She went into the courthouse press room while the reporters were absent and removed from the walls a number of pictures of lovely ladies "in the raw" and left word that drinking in the press room would have to stop. Now the reporters are thinking of parking their typewriters in the office of some other official who will tolerate their taste for "art." And Mr. Hurt probably is "laughing up his sleeve" because the clean-up job was accomplished without taking a hand in it himself and thereby gaining the ill-will of the gentlemen of the press.—Garland News.

CURRENT... COMMENT

BY LEON GUINN

As it must to all men, death last week claimed Calvin Coolidge and closed the last chapter on a colorful career. . . . Since boyhood Coolidge has been known for his quiet observations on this speed-mad existence. . . . When Mr. Coolidge turned the governmental reins over to Hoover in 1929, he began to write newspaper articles of interest to all Americans. . . . A typical Coolidgeism was his droll humor, very essential to the happiness of the day.

Now Mr. Coolidge rests among the majestic Vermont hills at Plymouth, and a nation feels the loss of a conservative and a practical leader. . . . Truly Calvin Coolidge was a man of destiny rising from the position of lawyer to that of president of the world's richest empire.

Trouble still is brewing between Polyplot China and Godless Japan. . . . The Japanese, of course, realize the Chinese are divided into small factions and outlaw bands of pirates, hence an unstabilized government. . . . It has been a Jap custom for centuries for each family to "raise" as many heathen children as possible. Now Japan must needs find room (if possible) for millions of malnourished Jap saps.

When Sculptor Lee Lawrie fashioned the base of the lower for the $10,000,000 Nebraska capitol at Lincoln he gave the Prophet Ezekiel a beard, and Dore's painting of Ezekiel shows the prophet with a beard. . . . Yet Bible students have not yet decided whether the Prophet Ezekiel was clean shaven. . . . In Ezekiel we find: "The Lord told Ezekiel to . . . take three a barber's razor and cause it to pass upon thine head and upon thine beard." . . . Beard critics assert Ezekiel obeyed the Lord's command and was clean shaven when he did his best prophesying. . . . Yet most prophets have been painted as having a beard.

This year things are humming in the aviation world, and today's products soon are replaced by better, more efficient products. . . . Air express poundage for October, 1932, totaled 99,291 pounds, and the passenger miles flown by United States airlines totaled 11,191,550 miles. . . . As an example of rapid improvement in design and construction of airplanes, we have today a plane, the Northrop, that can cruise 2,500 miles at 220 miles per hour. . . . Even a Lincoln or a Gladstone could not have visioned this. . . . Progress is rapid.

For the fiscal year ending August 1, 1932, Texas spent $89,000 for postage stamps. . . . State representatives assert that Texas colleges will have to work out a plan whereby they can run on less money henceforth. . . . Prominent writers who write for a public of millions like Dorothy Dix and Kathleen Norris generalize in their themes, hence a flexible interpretation must be given. . . . Certain publications have writers to answer "heart troubles." The real trouble just now with millions is not how much the pulse is, but how much is in the pulse.

It was blasphemy to him. His God was no bureau, no rule maker, no accountant. "God is a spirit," he cried. "Between the great Spirit and the spirits of men—which are a tiny part of His—no one has the right to intervene with formulae and rules." He told a story which must have outraged the self-righteous members of his audience. He said that a certain man had two sons. The elder, a perfectly proper and perfectly uninteresting young man, worked hard, saved his money and conducted himself generally as a respectable member of society.

To Be Cheerful and Happy.
Jesus was the center and soul of a glorious existence; a bringer of news so wonderful that those who received it should be marked by their radiance as by a badge. Of course, he disregarded the narrow code of the Pharisees.

"You shall walk only so far on the Sabbath," said the code. He walked as far as he liked. "These things you may eat and these you shall not," the code reminded.

"You're not defiled by what goes into your mouth," he answered, "but what comes out of your mouth." "All prayers must be submitted according to the formers provided," said the code. "None others are acceptable."

He told a story which must have outraged the self-righteous members of his audience. He said that a certain man had two sons. The elder, a perfectly proper and perfectly uninteresting young man, worked hard, saved his money and conducted himself generally as a respectable member of society.

The younger son was a reckless ne'er-do-well, who took his portion of the estate and went into a far country, where he led a wild life and presently was penniless and repentant. In that mood he proceed-

JEVER STOP TO THINK?

By EDSON R. WAITE

Homer W. Wood, publisher of the Porterville, California, Evening Recorder, says:

"More than one captain of industry has said that modern business has grown to a large extent into competitive advertising.

"In this day of enlightenment people want to know and you must tell them.

"Advertising is not what it used to be—simply 'Joe Doe, Jeweler' or 'Jim Crow, Grocer.' It is a question of educating the people and telling them what you have to offer and the quality thereof.

"Time was when a bank was too dignified to advertise, but not so now. Bank ads are educational ads. Even the railroads are putting on their 'Dollar Day' sales on transportation.

"The future in advertising is as great as in the past. It develops as do all arts and sciences. The people want to be served, but they should first be told."

SURPLUSES.—I think most of our present troubles can be traced to the fact that the rest of the world is unable or unwilling to buy the surplus products of our farms. I do not believe this export market for our wheat, cotton, tobacco, livestock and other farm products is ever going to come back. I have myself seen how Italy is making itself independent of our tobacco, cotton and wheat, and the other nations are doing the same thing.

There has been no increase in the average yield of wheat per acre; it still stands for the whole nation at 14.4 bushels. But in the five years from 1925 to 1930 the average yield to wheat in America increased by 21,000,000 acres.

It is very clear to me that the only solution of the farm problem lies in reducing the quantity and improving the quality of farm production.

MURPHY.—My friend, Frederick E. Murphy, publisher of the Minneapolis Tribune, is a real farmer as well as a real newspaper man. He has done more than any other man to bring the state of Minnesota up to the front rank in agricultural prosperity. Mr. Murphy has put forth a tangible, workable plan of farm relief.

First, he would have the government induce the farmer to cut down crop acreage, by providing money rewards for those who will do that. Second, steps should be taken to protect dairy and livestock farmers against imported oils and fats. Third, he wants quick tariff action against products of nations whose currency is depreciated. Fourth on Mr. Murphy's program is re-adjustment of farm mortgages at reduced interest. Fifth, the reduction of farm taxes. Sixth, an early revision and settlement of war debts. And, seventh, intensive research looking to wider industrial uses of farm products.

I think Mr. Murphy's program will work. My only doubt about it is whether the politicians who run our public affairs will see enough in it for themselves to adopt it.

ILLITERACY.—There are still in excess of 4,000,000 Americans over 10 years old who cannot read and write, the National Advisory Committee in Illiteracy reports. That is 600,000 fewer than 10 years ago. Georgia has more illiterates than any other state, some 300,000, while Wyoming has the fewest, only about 3,000.

Considering that at the beginning of our national life hardly more than one person in 10 knew how to read and write, that only within my own memory practically no Negro or Indian could read or write, and that school attendance was not compulsory anywhere in America when I was a boy, it seems to me we have gone a long way in raising the standard to the point where 97 people out of every 100 are able to read.

The important question, however, is, "What do they read?" Having taught them to read, it seems to me we might devote the next 100 years to improving their tastes in reading.

SCRIP.—The latest thing in the form of money is called "stamped scrip." The idea originated in Germany and has been adopted in a number of American cities, to make money circulate faster.

In Evanston, Illinois, they work the scheme this way: The local retail merchants' association put $5,000 in a bank. Then it issued 5,000 scrip dollars, each one of them good for a dollar at the bank if presented within a week. But after one week it was only good if it had a special two-cent trading stamp pasted to it. Nobody but the merchants had these stamps. You have to spend the dollar at a store to make it good. The next week another stamp has to be put on it, and so on for a year.

This makes each of these scrip dollars turn over 52 times a year, because anyone who holds one of them has to pay two cents a week for the privilege of holding it, or lose his original dollar.

Our principal money trouble is not a shortage of money but the fact that it is not moving fast enough. This scrip plan is said to be working well in the towns that have tried it.

PROSPERITY.—I pass my compliments to the town of Rowley, Iowa. Rowley has a population of 205, living in 50 houses; there are 15 business institutions including a bank, and three churches. And it is the most prosperous town in America, if not in the world.

There is not a single delinquent taxpayer in the town. Not one resident of the town is on the county poor list. There has never been a bank failure.

If 205 people in one community can manage their affairs as well as that, there seems to be no reason why 205,000 people, or 2,000,000 people, or any number of people, cannot do equally well.

The answer, of course, is politics. Rowley has no large list of salaried taxpayers. Its people run their own affairs.

JESUS AT WORK

Lesson Text—Mark 1:21-34. Golden Text—John 5:17.

The verses chosen for our lesson give a swift moving picture, from the graphic pen of Mark, of a busy Sabbath in the life of Jesus. The impression given is one of concentrated power without haste, without rest. Mark is at his best in the nervous rapidity of the narrative.

At the very beginning we are told the Master went to the synagogue. Such an attendance was a habit. (See Luke 4:16). There are many people in our day who pride themselves on the fact that they no longer attend church. They feel emancipated. Such folks get no comfort from the example of Jesus, for He went regularly to the house of prayer, even though He must have been greatly bored at times by the sermons He heard.

Modern life needs badly the relaxation of spirit true worship af-

MODERATE DRINKING

By Dr. W. D. Bradford, S. M. U., Dallas.

A drunken man is so disgusting that there is none to defend him. In fact, he deserves our pity. He is a victim of a habit. The criminal is the traffic which produces him.

The defenders of the traffic exhort us "to use but not abuse" liquor, to enjoy the drinking of it but to exercise self-control and not make a beast of ourselves. In all this they ignore the fundamental nature of all alcoholic liquor.

Alcohol tends always to destroy the power of self-control. So they bid us drink that which will destroy our power of self-control and at the same time they exhort us to exercise the very power they would destroy. This is mere mockery.

Alcohol is an habit forming drug. By the time its victim comes to realize its dangers, he is fettered with a habit that makes him help-

TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE COMPANY

By Ed Kressy

To the People of Scurry County

As I leave Snyder and Scurry County to go to a new field of work I indeed would be ungrateful to go without expressing my deep appreciation to the good people of this area for the many favors and kindnesses shown me.

During the eight years that I have tried to serve you as county superintendent I have served with only one purpose in view, and that was to try to give to the rural boy and girl a little better chance to get an education, a little better chance to equip themselves for life's battles. If I have made any mistakes—and I have made many—I assure you that they were mistakes of the mind and not of the heart.

I do not believe any public officer has ever had any nearer 100 per cent support from his constituency than I have had in these years of service. I want all of you to know that I shall remember each of you as long as I shall live and that I will be of any service whatsoever to any of you I shall be only too happy to render that service. Of course, there have been those who have differed with me concerning school policies, but those differences have been strictly because of policies and not, at least on my part, any difference from a personal standpoint. I always have welcomed constructive criticism and have tried to pay no attention to that criticism, which has been very scarce, that was not constructive.

We are having some very pretty weather at present, and many are busy with their cotton harvest. We wish to extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hamill, who were recently married. Mrs. Hamill was formerly Miss Christine Neal of the German community. She was a teacher in the school here for two terms. Mr. Hamill was a resident of Hermleigh. The couple has many friends here, who wish for them a long and prosperous married life. We regret very much to lose our former correspondent at County Line, Mrs. Dick Harde, although we know that Miss Caruthers will make a splendid writer. A shadow of sorrow passed over our community when the death of Mrs. Charley Hieber Jr. became known. Sophia was known throughout our community and was loved by all who knew her. We extend our heart-felt sympathy to the bereaved during these dark hours. Dan Cupie again united two of our young people last week. Julius, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Stahl, was married to Miss Gay McDermann of the Little Sulphur community. They were married in Clovis, New Mexico. Gay is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. McDermann of Little Sulphur. She formerly lived in our vicinity, having moved away some time ago. She attended school here. Julius is a life-time resident of our community, and is a farmer, being associated with his father. They will make their home on the A. Stahl farm here. The couple have many friends in our community, who wish for them a long and happy married life. G. W.
