SNYDER, TEXAS, THURSDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 22, 1933.

PUBLIC WORKS PLAN INCLUDES NEW HOSPITAL

Local Committee Members in Stamford Tuesday for Conference With WTCC Officials.

A 20 to 25-bed hospital looms as the most likely project to inaugurate the Scurry County public works program.

Work on the project plans have been carried forward rapidly this week, under direction of Austin Erwin, chairman of the local committee, and W. J. Ely, local West Texas Chamber of Commerce director. H. N. Roberts, Lubbock engineer, will confer with the committee Monday of next week in regard to specifications for the proposed structure.

The two public works leaders, with Ralph Odum, committee chairman, and Joe Cason, were in Stamford Tuesday to confer with D. A. Bandeen, WTCC manager, concerning plans and procedure of the local public works program. They report the usual willingness of the regional body to cooperate with all West Texas to the limit of its ability.

Water Project Talked. Next to the hospital in public interest, judging from the attitude of business men and committee men, is an irrigation and water conservation project about 10 miles north-west of Snyder, just above the J. Wright Meador place.

The large lake that would result should this project be completed would butt against a dam thrown between twin hills that guard the upper stretches of Deep Creek. Proponents of the project point out that the lake would not only provide for soil conservation, irrigation, and commercial water, but would protect Snyder and other property along Deep Creek from flood devastation.

Advocated by Pioneer.

Many citizens recall that the irrigation plan was advocated long ago by the late A. C. Wilmett, one of the first settlers in this section. Mr. Wilmett wrote several articles to the Times a few months before his death, in which the water holding plan was strongly advocated with numerous lakelike near California cities as examples of the practicability of the plan. In his mind's eye, Mr. Wilmett could see this country blooming and being given plenty of water.

Another project that is being discussed freely is a gymnasium, which would offer physical training opportunities to many more students in all parts of the county than are now privileged to participate.

The local public works committee includes, in addition to Austin Erwin, chairman, and W. J. Ely, county judge, Mayor H. G. Towle, County Judge Robert H. Curlette and City Councilman G. H. Heath.

Fire Boys Relating Adventures Abroad

The 13 fire boys, accompanied by several members of their families, returned from Corpus Christi during the week-end with many tales of adventure to, from and during the state firemen's convention. It is generally conceded that A. D. Bailey enjoyed the trip most of all, while Herman McClinton ran a close second.

The local delegation, of which Chief N. W. Aubrey and Emmett Butts were official delegates, returned on a truck commanded by Sam Stokes, the following: Bob White, Howell and Herman McClinton, C. M. Boren, A. A. Bailey, Tom DeShazo, M. M. Clark and A. P. Hays. Bailey and Butts went by train, while Willard Jones and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McGlawn and Mrs. A. A. Bailey went by car.

New Sign for Borden.

One of the largest wooden signs in town proclaims that the Borden produce house, of which Bob Terry is manager, is ready and anxious to purchase cream, eggs, chickens and other such products of this area. The sign was erected last week a half block south of the square.

Get The Times To 1934 For 75 Cents Under New Offer

More than 1,000 extra copies of The Times are being delivered this week to the people in the Snyder trade territory who are not regular subscribers.

The extra copies are being distributed in order to keep prospective subscribers in touch with the progress of their Home County Paper, to acquaint them with the many bargains offered by Times advertisers, and to announce a special subscription rate.

For only 75 cents The Times will be sent any day to Scurry and adjoining counties from now until January 1, 1934. More than six months of news about the folks you know—for less than three cents a week (the regular rate is $2 per year).

If you are receiving a sample copy this week, or if your subscription is just about to expire, we invite you to send the $1.00 in advance, and we will send you a week's paper in the balance, and you'll surely come in and subscribe immediately. This offer is good only until July 15.

Hello, $120,000

Miss Louise M. Popp, 29, N. Y. telephone operator, threw the switch and said "hello" to $120,000. She was informed that she had won that amount with a ticket on the English Derby winner.

IRATE NEGRESS GOES SHOOTING

When Odessa Lindley, colored, tucked a little 28 into her dress just after 2:00 o'clock Saturday evening and headed for the kitchen of the Manhattan Hotel, she had blood in her eyes. But after she had aimed two bullets at Lawyer Walton, hotel porter, Lawyer had all the blood, and Odessa ran to the First Methodist Church.

Odessa has been languishing in jail since the near-tragedy. The grand jury questioned her this week, but no indictment has been returned this morning.

One bullet struck Lawyer in the environs of the stomach, glanced off a rib, and stopped somewhere in his back, where it was removed in the Emergency Hospital. The other messenger of lead failed to reach its mark.

Lawyer soon gained consciousness and was taken to the hospital. He is on the job this week.

Odessa told officers, who took her direct from the Methodist Church to jail, that another woman was the cause of it all.

New Contest To Feature Cowboy Reunion In July

A contest which tests the skill of the horse rather than of the rider will be feature of the cowboy rodeo to be held in connection with the fourth annual Texas Cowboy Reunion at Stamford July 3, 4 and 5. The test is known as the cutting-horse contest, and as far as can be learned is not held in any other rodeo.

The contest to decide the best cutting-horse was inaugurated at the reunion last year and proved so popular that it is being repeated this year with changes in rules which will make the competition more difficult. The test has proved popular with the cowboys due to the great pride which they take in their horses. While the ability of the riders is considered by the judges, the winning of the contest depends for the most part on the horse.

In the contest, a herd of cattle is placed in the arena and each contestant is required to cut out five animals marked by colored ribbons. Each cow must be put across the deadline designated by the judges, but on the first two attempts to put the animal across the deadline, the riders holding the herd will turn the animal back on him. Each time the animal is turned back it is more difficult to cut out the next time. Speed, as well as the skill of the horse and rider, will be considered in judging.

An elimination contest will be held in this event on the morning of July 4 and the finals will be held before the rodeo spectators on the afternoon of July 5. The entrance fee is $5. First prize is $50, second $40, third $30 and fourth $20.

Lambert Will Preach.

Rev. E. C. Lambert, former pastor, will supply the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock. All members are urged to be in the service. A cordial invitation is also extended to the public.

STORE OPENED ON SOUTH SIDE

The Surprise Bargain Store, located at the old John Keller Store site on the south side of the square, will be officially opened Saturday morning at 9:00 o'clock, although business has been carried on for a week while the last merchandise was being arranged.

Charles Rosenberg, owner and active manager of the new business, announces that The Surprise Store will specialize in bankrupt and broken stock, supplemented by a wide variety of new and seasonal goods. Clothing is the main stock-in-trade, but notions and other merchandise is also being handled. "This stock has been purchased at a bargain, and will be sold accordingly," Mr. Rosenberg said yesterday. Regular clerks at the store will include Gladys Lewis and Buster Stacy.

GAS AND TIRES SHIFT UPWARD DURING MONTH

Gradual Climb in Many Lines of Merchandise Felt Sharply by Scurry County Buyers.

The gradual climb in commodity prices that has come with the Roosevelt program for curbing the depression is being more sharply felt here now than ever before. Tires took on a slight advance two weeks ago, and gasoline has joined the parade with two rises within the past week. The first upturn in gas prices came late last week when the federal tax of one-half cent became effective. A one-cent advance was posted Tuesday in sympathy with climbing crude prices.

Local gas prices, which are understood to be fairly general over the state, are now 16 1/2 cents for standard, 19 1/2 cents for the best grade, and 12 1/2 for the low quality. Feedstuffs are shifting upward every day. Especially is this true of sugar, flour and kindred staple foods. Dry goods are showing a marked inclination to jump, with the emphasis on cotton stuifs.

In the meantime, cotton, wheat, cream, eggs and other leading products sold by Scurry County farmers are keeping on a slight incline that averages more than the increase in commodity prices. The June is moving to be a month of moderate merchandising and buying, despite the fact that it is an in-between month, and bats far below par even in normal years.

Cleburne Officials Recover Local Loot In Only Two Hours

Dry goods and other loot taken from the Sims store at Ft. Hancock Sunday night of last week was recovered at Cleburne exactly two hours following receipt of a letter from Sheriff S. H. Newman's department in which suspects and stolen articles were described.

Sheriff Grant Smith of Johnson County received the letter at 9:00 o'clock. By 10:00 o'clock the two suspects had been arrested and by 11:00 o'clock the stolen goods were found at a Cleburne home. Charges were filed yesterday against the two men by the grand jury, and they are being returned to Scurry County today by Sheriff Newman for trial in district court next week.

Entrance was gained in the Ft. Hancock store by breaking out a back door panel. Mr. Sims, owner, estimated the loss at more than $25.

Collie Honored at Banquet Given for Solons in Abilene

Wibourne B. Collie of Eastland, senator from the 24th District, was the guest of three state solons honored in a banquet given Tuesday evening at Abilene. R. M. Wastfall of Abilene and Will Scott of Sweetwater were the others feted. They are representatives.

The affair was held at the Wooten Hotel, with 40 present. Hosts were members of the Abilene public expenditures committee and other taxpayers who fought hard in the last session to stave off new taxation for anything.

Ribbons bearing that slogan, "No new taxes for anything," were handed each diner, and at each plate a telegram stating object of the dinner. "To pay our very highest commendation to these legislators for the stand they assumed and steadily maintained during the session of the Legislature just past, with reference to new or additional taxes. All of us feel that, considering the extreme pressure brought to bear by the so-called educational lobby, the major oil companies, public utilities companies and large mortgage companies doing business in the state, aided by the influence of the governor's office, to levy new and additional taxes on the people at large, the accomplishment of the Legislature in refusing to do so makes it the most outstanding and remarkable session in the history of the state."

Injured Mexican Is Taken to Colorado

Trinidad, the injured Mexican who was seriously injured Tuesday of last week when dragged to the ground and run over by a runaway team, was carried to Colorado Monday by Mayor H. G. Towle and Dr. I. A. Griffin.

It was necessary to amputate one leg above the knee because of a serious gangrene infection, and it is said that the other limb is in bad condition. A hip was also dislocated in the accident. Slight improvement was noted in his condition yesterday.

"Trinidad has been an employee of the Johnson farm west of Snyder for about 16 years. He was born in Tennessee, Dodson has drifted farther and farther west for the last 56 years. In 1877 he and his brother, Charlie Dodson, saddled their horses and traveled as far as Arkansas. There they became water-bound and made their livelihood for several months by teaching school and raising crops. After the crops were harvested they sold them and bought a wagon. Loading their possessions into the wagon, they crossed the Indian Territory, now Oklahoma, and camped at Prio in Southwest Texas. The Prio brothers bought 500 sheep. After herding them for three months, a man appeared who said the sheep had been stolen from him. The law returned the sheep to the claimant and the Dodson boys again turned to teaching for a livelihood. After teaching in Prio, Medina and Llano Counties, A. D. Dodson saddled his horse and started back to Tennessee to get the "only girl." He left his horse at Devine and boarded the first train he had ridden. In 1881 he married Sallie Clay Wilson and came back to Texas, settling in Johnson County. Land was selling at $1 an acre west of the Cross Timbers, and Dodson purchased enough to engage in stock raising and farming. Ten years later the West still was calling. Dodson sold his Johnson County land and loaded his possessions into the wagon again. This time he settled in Jones County, where he taught school for six months on the present Stamford townsite. In 1892 he drifted still farther west and opened a general store at Snyder. Ten years later he bought a 4,000-acre tract north of Ft. Hancock. After 26 years in the mercantile business he sold out and has engaged in farming and ranching exclusively since that time. Dodson still is breeding horses from the original strain with which he stocked his ranch 40 years ago.

SCHOOL GRANTS FOR YEAR ARE COMPLETED

County Superintendent Frank Farmer announces completion and acceptance this week of rural aid grants for Scurry County schools. In some cases there has been some reduction in grants, according to the superintendent, but taken as a whole the reduction places the total figure, $17,276, only slightly below that of last year.

Following are the grants by districts: Guinn No. 1—$800. Camp Springs No. 4—$815. Cottonwood Flat No. 5—$538. Canyon No. 6—$553. Biron No. 7—$975. Triangle No. 9—$757. Bethel No. 10—$836. Independence No. 11—$813. Plainview No. 12—$919. Demott No. 14—$1075. Crowder No. 15—$763. Gannaway No. 17—$841. Strayhorn No. 18—$869. Martin No. 19—$620. Turner No. 21—$923. China Grove No. 22—$747. Sallis No. 23—$807. Woodard No. 28—$925. Arvin No. 30—$676. Gorman No. 31—$842. Lloyd Mountain No. 33—$336.

Record Crowds Out For Baptist Training School

One of the most successful training schools in the history of the Baptist Church is being conducted this week under direction of Miss Grace Conn, field worker of the Baptist Training Service department of Texas. Monday night classes were held in Tuesday night's was 146, and last night's advanced to 202.

Miss Conn is teaching "Modern B. Y. P. U. Methods" to a combined class of adults and seniors. Three young ministers are in charge of the intermediates and juniors. Fred Jones of Decatur is teaching "Training in Christian Service" to a class of older intermediates. Raymond Dunn of Slaton is instructor in "Intermediate Plans and Methods" for the younger intermediates, and Woodson Arms of Slaton is teaching the "Junior B. Y. P. U. Manual."

Mmes. Horne Eiland and H. I. Willard Jones, are in charge of the primaries.

At a meeting here Sunday afternoon representatives from the Colorado, Lorena, Wastalla and Roswell churches, it was decided to have a commencement service at Dunn Sunday afternoon, 2:30 o'clock, when awards will be made to students and teachers who are taking part in the training schools conducted simultaneously by the five churches.

Miss Conn was in charge of the preaching service here on Sunday morning and at Colorado Sunday evening.

Chevrolet Company Will Present Talks

Yoder Chevrolet Company will be host today to the entire automotive maintenance trade of Scurry County, in a big automotive meeting featuring the Perfect Circle Company's which was shown to over 158,000 automotive men over the country last year. This meeting will be held at the city tabernacle this (Thursday) evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Olds Station Painted. The Olds Station, northeast corner of the square, was given a shining covering of new paint yesterday. Ralph Hicks, operator of the station, says the change makes him feel like a new man. Driveways were widened and pumps changed in the station some time ago.

A. D. Dodson, 82, Still Able To Pen Outlaw Animals, Says Star-Telegram

A. D. Dodson is another Scurry County man added to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram roll of pioneers. Wednesday's paper carried a picture of the pioneer as he sat atop his horse reciting the "only girl." The complete Star-Telegram article follows:

Still able to pen an outlaw horse as fast as any of his cowboys, A. D. Dodson, 82, is living an active life on his Scurry County ranch. Born in Tennessee, Dodson has drifted farther and farther west for the last 56 years. In 1877 he and his brother, Charlie Dodson, saddled their horses and traveled as far as Arkansas. There they became water-bound and made their livelihood for several months by teaching school and raising crops. After the crops were harvested they sold them and bought a wagon. again turned to teaching for a livelihood. After teaching in Prio, Medina and Llano Counties, A. D. Dodson saddled his horse and started back to Tennessee to get the "only girl." He left his horse at Devine and boarded the first train he had ridden. In 1881 he married Sallie Clay Wilson and came back to Texas, settling in Johnson County. Bike Riding—and Falling—Take Snyder by Storm

These long, hot, bare-faced days are witnessing the re-creation of an outdoor sport that has recently taken cities of the Old and New Worlds by storm. It's bicycle time.

Not many days ago you could pick up a fair "wheel" for two or three dollars. Now the price has doubled and trebled. Almost any bicycle in good condition will bring its owner the former purchase price in rent money—within a few faddish days. The damsels in their late teens and early twenties are the most lavish offenders. They change those slinking, form-disclosing dresses for riding togs, and he themselves forth to greet the handlebars with a wisecrack—and sometimes with a fall. But a few business men and several women whose children are no longer tied to their apron strings have been bitten by the bike bug. There's no telling where the fad will end. But if it goes the way of most fads, you'd better do your riding pretty soon if you want to keep in the social squirm.

Now's the time to drag that old pile of wheels and frame and pedals down from the attic, shake in a dose of oil, tighten up the brake, and balance for the newest fad's traffic-blocking sake.

LAST WEEK OF COURT WILL BE FULL OF WORK

Grand Jury Has Busy Time During Three Days This Week—Final Special Term.

If length of this week's grand jury session has anything to do with the last week of the special term of district court, which opens Monday, there will be plenty for Judge James T. Brooks and District Attorney George Mahon to do. After three days of investigation, the grand jury had reported only two indictments, through Wednesday. They are scheduled to convene again this morning.

E. N. and Orville Davis of Cleburne were charged with burglary of the Sims store at Ft. Hancock on Sunday night of last week. The entire criminal docket, which includes a number of petty cases will be called next week, but court attaches are expecting practically none of the old cases to be called for trial.

The special district court created more than two years ago will end with next week's session.

Old Reprobate and Neighbors Provide Golf and Roast Kid

Roast kid and golf were the principal diversions when about 30 folks gathered on the Henry Richter place last Thursday for an all-day golf and roast kid. The occasion was being one of those famous get-togethers of neighbors and a few friends from Snyder—just for fun, fellowship and the typical hospitality of the Richters, the von Richters, the Marshys and others.

Watt Scott gathered the heaviest end of the notoriety when he went around the Richter golf course with a scorching 34—one under par. Frank Farmer was a close second, with a 36. Several of the younger bloods kept the tennis court busy during the afternoon. With roast kid as the principal dish, the entertaining women spread a sumptuous dinner under the trees of Bull Creek.

Guests from Snyder included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farmer and daughter, Frank Brownfield, Watt Scott, Holcomb, Reverend Philip C. McGee, Slaton, Ralph Odum and Jake Smyth.

Funeral Conducted Saturday at Pyron For Claude T. Daniel

Funeral rites for Claude Thomas Daniel, 56, were conducted Saturday afternoon at Pyron, with Rev. S. H. Young officiating, assisted by Rev. E. C. Lambert and Bro. O. D. Dial. Odum Funeral Home was in charge.

Funeral services were held at the home of Mrs. L. E. Mac Rogers, J. S. Lewis, Claude Daniel, Harvey Jones and W. W. Hamilton. Misses Hazel and Gladys Lewis were in charge of the flowers.

Mr. Daniel passed away Thursday afternoon, June 15, at the home of his wife, Mrs. S. H. Young, in Southeast Snyder. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Sank Daniel, of Snyder, and by a brother, Joe Daniel, of Abilene.

Local Mail Only To Get Two-Cent Stamp

Reduction of letter postage rates from three to two cents, effective July 1, will apply only to letters which have their destination in Snyder, Mrs. Gladys M. Anderson, postmistress, pointed out this week. Following the announcement Saturday of the rate reduction, the post office has received several inquiries about the new rate. Mrs. Anderson desires that all patrons know the nature of the reduction so that they will not have out-going letters returned to them because of insufficient postage.

The change recently enacted at Washington also gives the president authority to make a general reduction in postal rates if he finds business conditions warrant that action. The drop in the local rate will be watched by officials to see what effect it has on the postal revenues.

West Texas Laundry Owners to Convene

Members of the West Texas Laundry Owners Club are scheduled to gather in Abilene today (Thursday) for an all-day conference at Hotel Wooten. S. A. LaRue, operator of the Snyder Laundry, is attending the session.

Opening at 11:00 a. m., the meeting is to include round-table conferences on problems confronting laundry owners, and a luncheon. Ralph Lee of Colorado is president and Tom Wallace of Stamford is secretary of the organization.

Round-Trip to Europe

Roger Q. Williams, noted transatlantic flyer, plans a round trip flight to Europe in July, going New York to Rome, southern route, and returning Dublin to Chicago, northern route to ascertain the most practical route for regular commercial flying to Europe.

The men listed below were called for district court jury service two weeks ago, but their duties were not completed. After a lively session of the grand jury this week, this budget of prospective jurors has been summoned by Sheriff S. H. Newman to meet in the district court room Monday morning at 9:00 o'clock:

Joe Cason, June Irion, S. H. Hamlett, F. M. Miller, Floyd Merket, H. Johnson, W. L. Ribbanks, T. A. Echols, Jim Beard, E. B. Alford, Harvey Shuler, H. E. McCormick, J. E. Patrick, A. R. McFarland, T. E. Grimes, Walter Lewis, J. M. Newton, J. E. Palls, A. J. Riley, Joe Graham, F. G. Sears, W. A. Perry, T. A. Paver, Dock Eckley, A. W. Arnold, A. L. Casey, J. G. Landrum, J. A. Joyce, Jesse Koonsman, B. R. Harless, J. P. DeShazo, Oscar Davis, Ivan Gatlin, W. M. Nichols, O. L. Barfoot and J. I. Baze.

New Co-op Asks Recognition For Secession Move

The Texas Cotton Cooperative Association probably will cease to function in 42 counties of Central West Texas, including Scurry, the result of a secession movement which reached the final stage Monday in Abilene.

The movement toward decentralization—from state to region—of authority and operation among 8,000 farmers banded in cooperative selling of cotton crystallized last winter with organization of a new regional association. On February 4 a charter was issued to the West Texas Cotton Growers Association, with headquarters in Abilene, territory to be that of the former District 7.

Monday about 100 farmers, including four from this county, went to Abilene to meet C. O. Moser, and through Moser, seek recognition from the American Cotton Cooperative Association in New Orleans. J. E. Rogers, one of the district directors, said Tuesday that he had little doubt but that the organization would be recognized. J. H. Nunn, president of the county group, J. T. Biggs and T. Gilmore were the other county delegates.

At Monday's five-hour conference, speakers made it plain they had no heated axes to swing at the state co-op. Their complaint against it is that it has become unwieldy and expensive.

Wallace said operation of the whole plan was contingent upon the degree of cooperation shown by the growers during the week's campaign to obtain contracts. Unless Wallace is certain that he can take a large amount of cotton out of production, equivalent to at least 2,000,000 bales, production will be not prepared to proceed further with the plan.

However, he indicated that he was confident of the success of the campaign and his associates said there was virtually no doubt but that the plan would be employed and that about 100,000,000 would be distributed in rentals to growers in the next few months.

The full schedule of payments worked out by Secretary Wallace for cotton acreage reduction under the two alternative plans which will be made available to growers follows:

Feeder Experiments Attended by Locals

Seven Scurry County people were in Lubbock Friday of last week for the feeding experiments of beef cattle, hogs and sheep, conducted by Texas Tech. on the first Live-stock Feeders' Day. The group included W. R. Lacey, Harrie Winston, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Johnson, T. B. Hicks, Hal Yoder, and Dave Jones.

Several hundred persons interested in livestock feeding were at the meeting. Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the host school, were among the several outstanding speakers.

JUDGE MILLER COMES SUNDAY

The Methodist pulpit will be filled Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock by Otis Miller, county judge of Jones County, steward of the local church, and pastor of the local church. Rev. S. H. Young, pastor, is in Dallas attending a 12-day school for Methodist pastors.

Judge Miller is active in the political, religious and economic life of West Texas. He has long been a crusader for causes such as prohibition, and is reputed to be a speaker of note. Members of the best church invite the citizens of Scurry County to hear the visitor. A men's quartet will probably accompany Judge Miller.

Electric Clock Installed. The Economy Store has installed an electric clock, advertising Peters Shoes, in the rear of its building on the south side of the square. The timepiece is enclosed by a neon sign that burns day and night.

COUNTY AGENT TO ADMINISTER ACREAGE CUTS

Federal Move to Curb Staple Crop Calls for Hurdled Organization in Scurry County.

Plans for putting the new cotton crop-acreage reduction campaign into effect in Scurry County are being worked out by County Agent W. R. Lacey, with the cooperation of several business men and leading farmers.

Community meetings, beginning Tuesday, will be held in all parts of the county. The county agent and members of the executive committee urge that every farmer in the county attend one of the gatherings. Full details of contract terms will be explained, and contracts will be on hand for signing. The agent's office, basement of the courthouse, will be open all this week. Someone will be there to explain the contract and to assist farmers in any other way.

Only next week may be used for signing contracts, so utmost speed is necessary. The county and community committees are being appointed today.

Following is the schedule of meetings for next week: Tuesday—Union, 9:00 a. m.; Biron, 2:00 p. m.; Ira, 8:00 p. m. Wednesday—Kinnis, 6:00 a. m.; Demott, 2:00 p. m.; Ft. Hancock, 8:00 p. m. Thursday—Camp Springs, 9:00 a. m.; Dunn, 2:30 p. m.; Hermleigh, 8:00 p. m. Friday—Cottwood, 9:00 a. m.; Snyder, 2:30 p. m.

Notice to organize the campaign along lines already mapped out by the Texas A. & M. College extension department, came to Mr. Lacey late Tuesday.

Following is the Abilene Morning News account of the federal plan: Secretary Wallace Monday called for the destruction of ten million acres of growing cotton in a long-limbed experiment to curb production and reduce the potential surplus of the South's big money crop. Protesting Tax.

The secretary announced that maximum income taxes—about 43 cents a pound on the basis of present price relationships—will be levied beginning August 1 to finance the program under which growers will be asked to sign contracts for portions of their crop to be returned to them in the form of rental benefit payment and the right to obtain options on government-owned cotton.

A campaign will be started in the South next Monday when growers will be asked to sign contracts for portions of their crop to be returned to them in the form of rental benefit payment and the right to obtain options on government-owned cotton.

The farmer can either offer to take an outright cash payment for plowing up portions of his crop or can take a smaller rental and obtain in addition an option on about 2,400,000 bales in an amount equal to the estimated output of the land he retires from production.

These options will be offered him at six cents a pound or nearly three cents below the current market price. He may order these options exercised at any time up to next January, his profit being the difference between the six cents and the price cotton is selling for at the time he sells.

Depends on Farmers. Wallace said operation of the whole plan was contingent upon the degree of cooperation shown by the growers during the week's campaign to obtain contracts. Unless Wallace is certain that he can take a large amount of cotton out of production, equivalent to at least 2,000,000 bales, production will be not prepared to proceed further with the plan.

However, he indicated that he was confident of the success of the campaign and his associates said there was virtually no doubt but that the plan would be employed and that about 100,000,000 would be distributed in rentals to growers in the next few months.

The full schedule of payments worked out by Secretary Wallace for cotton acreage reduction under the two alternative plans which will be made available to growers follows:

Schedule of benefits with options on government cotton at six cents per pound:

Yield per acre in pounds.	Payment per acre with option.
100 to 124	$.06
125 to 149	$.07
150 to 174	$.08
175 to 224	$.10
225 to 274	$.14
275 and over	$.12

In all of these cases the amount of cotton on which the grower will be entitled to obtain an option will be equal to the yield of the land he retires from production.

The yield of his land will be determined on the basis of past production of the land and the appearance of his crop this year and its general condition.

The plan providing for cash benefits without options calls for these payments:

Yield per acre in pounds.	Payment per acre without option.
100 to 124	$.07
125 to 149	$.08
150 to 174	$.10
175 to 224	$.14
225 to 274

Miss Helen Boren and Novis Rodgers United In Beautiful Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Helen Kent Boren to Novis N. Rodgers Jr. of Garza County, two of West Texas' most popular young people, took place at 6:00 o'clock Sunday evening, June 18, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Boren, 2111 Twenty-eighth Street, Rev. Philip C. McCashey, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Snyder, performed the impressive ring ceremony.

The Boren home was beautifully decorated with plants and flowers. The ceremony was read before an improvised altar of greenery and cut flowers in the dining room, the altar being backed with tall baskets filled with blossoms. Preceding the rites, Miss Dorothy Strayhorn sang "Because." The wedding march was played by Miss Adeline Boyd of Fort Worth.

The bride wore a black and white ensemble and a chic close-fitting black turban. Her slippers, purse and gloves were white, and she carried a beautiful Irish lace handkerchief, 25 years old.

A reception was held immediately after the wedding. The dining room table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a large crystal punch bowl, around which were ferns. At one end of the table was the wedding cake. Miss Adeline Boyd and Dorothy Strayhorn presided at the punch bowl and were assisted in serving by Mrs. Sam Williams, Mrs. J. D. Scott and Mrs. Otis Moore.

The bride was reared in Snyder, and was a graduate of the public schools of this city. She received her degree in music and further literary training at Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, where she was awarded a scholarship each year for three years. She has studied with Edwin Hughes and William Beller, noted pianists of New York, and also received scholarships in both of their master classes.

For two summers she attended the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago and studied under the world-famous pianist, Joseph Lefin.

Mr. Lehvinne also awarded Snyder's accomplished pianist a scholarship. After teaching in the Fort Worth Conservatory of Music, she was elected to a position in Snyder public schools for the 1932-1933 term and has taught music and literary work during the past school term.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Rodgers Jr. of Post, Garza County, and is a prominent ranchman of that section. He received his education in the Terrill Military Academy at Dallas, and also attended the A. & M. College of Texas. He is a member of one of West Texas' oldest families.

The young couple will make their home on the old Rodgers ranch in Garza County. Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Rodgers Jr., Rose Jean and Dan Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Cardwell, Mr. and Mrs. Jay S'auhier, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Dalby, Mrs. Louise Morrell and J. B. Thaxton, all of Post; Miss Adeline Boyd of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Fritz R. Smith of Austin.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Smith, Mrs. Louis Dodson, Mrs. Charles Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith and little daughter, Mrs. D. P. Lane, Miss Elizabeth Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. Johnston and sons, Mrs. W. R. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Boren, Mrs. Sam Williams and little daughter, Mrs. Chas. Brown, Mrs. Bertie Bell Putman, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Moore, Mrs. J. D. Scott, Miss Dorothy Strayhorn, Brud Boren, Charles Cooper, Fred Merrill and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Boren.

Party Honors Couple. Honoring Miss Boren and Mr. Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Dalby, Mr. and Mrs. Jay S'auhier, Mrs. J. B. Thaxton and Miss Louise Morrell of Post entertained with a delightful party Wednesday evening at the O-S ranch near Post.

A barbecued dinner was served buffet style to about 30 guests. During the evening swimming, dancing and games were enjoyed.

Shower Given for Bride. Complimenting Miss Boren, Miss Dorothy Strayhorn entertained Friday afternoon with a miscellaneous shower at her home, 2111 Thirtieth Street.

A pink and white color scheme was used in spring flowers and table

Relieves Women's Pains Here is an example of how Cardul has helped thousands of women: "I was very thin and pale," writes Mrs. F. H. Scott, of Roanoke, Va. "I suffered from weakness and a severe pain in my back. This pain unnered me, and I did not feel like doing my work. I did not care to go places, and felt worn, tired, day after day. My mother had taken Cardul, and on seeing my condition she advised me to try it. I have never regretted doing so. I took three bottles and it built me up. I gained in weight, my color was better and the pain left my back. I am stronger than I had been in some time. Cardul is sold by local druggists.

Coleman and Grant Wedding Last Week.

Miss Lena Mae Coleman of Austwell and George Russell Grant of Odessa were married in last city in the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Erwin Tuesday afternoon, June 6. The hostess, Mrs. Erwin, is a sister of the bride.

The ceremony was performed before a beautiful altar of ferns and evergreens, with the Rev. S. F. Marsh of Odessa officiating. About 25 guests from out-of-town were in attendance.

The bride wore a gown of smoke blue triple sheer crepe with blue accessories, and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and feverfew. Miss Janice Erwin, maid of honor, was dressed in creation of pink net over taffeta with blue accessories and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was given, with a pink and green color scheme carried out. Mrs. Erwin, assisted by her daughters and Miss Isadore Grimes of Baird, and Mrs. Charles Tohar of Waco, presided at the punch bowl, which centered a large table covered with a beautiful, lacy cloth. The bride's book was presided over by Miss Evelyn Erwin, in blue net over taffeta.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant will return from a honeymoon trip to New Mexico to Odessa, where they will make their home.

COUNTY MAKES EQUALIZATIONS

Meeting part of last week and early this week as a board of equalization, the Commissioners Court completed the tedious job in exactly five days. The work was hastened by Tax Assessor Bernard Longbottom's classification of assessments by school districts.

Notices have been mailed to the property owners who must appear before the equalizers. One group has been asked to appear Monday and Tuesday of next week and the other group Thursday and Friday, July 6 and 7.

It is said that fewer changes than usual are being asked in the assessments as rendered.

Huge Blanket Event Staged By Penney's

Penney's is this week announcing what it terms the biggest blanket selling event in its history.

H. L. Vann, manager, states that the storage space of the local store is being taxed to capacity with dozens and dozens of pairs of blankets of all colors, sizes and prices demanded by Scurry County buyers.

"We are announcing our special blanket event earlier than usual this year because we feel that our customers are ready to buy heavily when they discover the remarkable savings to be had by early purchasing," Mr. Vann said yesterday.

First Summer Day Comes With Hot And Drier Breath

Wednesday, officially the last day of spring, turned out to be the hottest single day that has come to Scurry County in two or three weeks.

Your almanac will tell you that Wednesday was also the longest day of the year, with 14 hours and 45 minutes of sunshine.

Wednesday afternoon papers predicted that the westerly part of Texas might expect some thundershowers today, but Scurry County so far has not received her share.

The Times Creed.

For the cause that needs assistance;
For the wrongs that need resistance;
For the future in the distance,
And the good that we can do.

THE WEEKLY DOZEN.

The New Letter Rate.

Now that something has been done about the three-cent local mail, Talkative Tillie wonders if the two-bit males shouldn't be legislated.

June Weddings.

June weddings are all right for those who like them, but for the bride's mother and dad they may mean just one big meal after another.

Rice Loses Its Purpose.

The majority of young married couples evidently do not know that rice was originally thrown at newly-weds because it was considered a symbol of productivity. Radio static would be a more appropriate symbol of today.

Choose, and Be Unafraid.

The man who worries during the winter and spring about how the Sam Hill he is going to get his debts paid usually ends up in the summer by deciding that a fishable hole of water is the best place for solving such deep problems.

The Battle of Abbreviations.

Pessimist Pete observes that the government is even putting economy abbreviations in its depression-kicking organizations, such as the C. C. C., R. F. C., W. E. C., R. & C., etc. That's O. K. by us, but how the H. E. C. K. does F. D. R. expect us to keep all those abbreviations in mind?

Not So Bad, Not So Bad.

Yep, we need rain, all right, but we are almost wallowing in mud compared to many sections of this and other states. Consider the Plains, how they burn. And consider the lovely black land, how it sprouts forth spindly shoots that wither in the afternoon sun. Then consider Scurry County, where greenery is yet seen on every hand.

Pretty Boy Takes a Stroll.

So Pretty Boy, with sport shoes and Panama hat, loafed around the Kansas City station until his prey came along, killed five of them, and then sauntered back to the underworld or to the Oklahoma sticks. The Abilene Morning News suggests that Roosevelt will have to face the rigors of a campaign against crime when he conquers the economic depression.

A Slogan for Snyder.

Local members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce composed an advertisement for Snyder this week. It will be a part of a West Texas folder that is to be distributed by the thousands at the World's Fair, Chicago. What would be your slogan for Snyder? We have so many good things in this neck of the woods that it is difficult to pick out the most brag-gable.

Pride of the West.

West Texans brag much about their broad-shouldered lands and their top-heavy cotton crop, about their registered white-faces and their natural resources. But the pride of the West, after all ballyhoo and statistics have died down, is really in the hearts of her people: A looking forward spirit that has counterpart only in the words and actions of President Roosevelt.

Reading With Care.

How careful are you when you read? Do you just skim over a newspaper or a magazine or a book, and get half truths fixed in your mind? The remarkable accuracy of newspapers carrying the news of the day is often put to naught by those who attempt to repeat the facts as recorded on the printed page. Even The Times, with its comparatively small trade territory, finds its statements sometimes hashed beyond recognition.

A Word for the Co-op.

Farmers' organizations that have been formed through the years have usually failed. As a general rule, they became controlled by selfish interests rather than by the farmers themselves. But The Times has always contended that the American Cotton Cooperative Association is bound for ultimate success. Wipe out some of the middle men and some of the Rockefellerian salaries, and the ACCA will have become a giant power for the farmer's benefit.

A Snyder Privilege.

Snyder was accorded a rare privilege last week. Bishop Boaz of Houston, one of the outstanding figures of Methodism, preached for ten consecutive services, and a number of persons were blessed. By "blessed" we mean that they gained a new conception of christian graces; they learned that the old, old Golden Rule can be as effective today as it was two thousand years ago. They learned that religion, pure and undefiled, is far from the prejudiced expression that many would have you believe.

Far-Reaching Events for Scurry County.

Headlines are blaring about the New Deal, and most of us have come to realize that unparalleled economic recovery is breaking the shackles from a distraught people.

Now come two events of such stupendous proportions that one needs a fertile imagination to grasp their possibilities.

The cotton curbing plan is without doubt the most remarkable experiment, in many respects, that has been undertaken by Roosevelt. What effect will it have on Scurry County if the drought claims a major portion of our crop? And what effect will it have if we have another bumper crop? In either case, the Scurry County farmer, and all who depend on him directly or indirectly, will benefit.

Consider the public works plan. It is possible that Scurry County will receive a sum that reaches into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Even if the figure stops below $100,000, the relief of the unemployment situation, plus the spirit of hope and good cheer that will be spread among us, will be invaluable.

Can you imagine several hundred working on a hospital, an auditorium, a giant irrigation project, a park plan, a gymnasium, a school improvement project? Can you imagine them joining the army of the employed rather than shifting from hand to mouth, often without the laws boundaries? Can you imagine the farmer's child, the laborer's child, the merchant's child, enjoying the privileges of which they have been deprived these three or four years of doubt and perplexity?

If you can imagine these things, you will stand ready to assist in any project for rehabilitation that is advanced by the president. Most important of all, you will stand ready to back local committees that are donating many hours of their time in order that Scurry County might reap a direct benefit.

Heaven deliver us from a siege of inter-community friction that might put a heavy damper on the entire program that looks toward recovery of full pocket-books and open souls.

Another "If."

(No Apologies to Kipling nor Anybody.)

If you can rise at 4:00 o'clock each morning
And milk a bunch of restless, bawling cows;
If you can run a balky separator,
And pour out slop to pigs and shoats and sows;
If you can stay your hunger with a breakfast
Of pork and eggs, and biscuits hard as rocks;
If you can smack your lips and swallow coffee
That tastes like soapsuds used for washing socks;
If you can grab a mactock and a shovel,
And blithely set to cleaning out a ditch,
And never stop, although your palms are blistered,
Sweat blinds your eyes, and both your shoulders
itch;
If you can dig and not be tired by digging,
By plowing, hoeing weeds or pitching hay;
If it's your absolute, profound conviction
That eighteen hours is just a loafer's day;
If you can load the back end of a flivver
With eggs, chickens, fruit and garden sass,
And drive to town and sell them to your grocer
For half enough to pay for oil and gas;
If you can spend the whole night irrigating
And start out in the morning fresh and bright;
If you can smile when cotton bolls are shedding,
And when your melon vines curl up with blight;
If you can dig up money for the mortgage,
And taxes for the county and the state;
If you can keep your head and not go rabid
While listening to some oily candidate;
If you can work and work, and go on working,
Until your weary race of life is run,
I don't know what other folks would call you,
But I'd call you an average farmer, son!

Little Vernon was discovered smashing all the eggs in the house.
"Why, Vernon," his mother cried aghast, "what do you mean by breaking those eggs?"
Vernon answered: "I once heard daddy say there was money in eggs if anybody knew how to get it out—and I'm trying to find the secret."

CURRENT COMMENT

BY LEON GUINN

Recently the Texas Press Association did quite a bit of constructive work in perfecting plans for another year in its annual meeting. . . . More recently the meeting of the National Editorial Association in Indianapolis climaxed the highlight, so far as the weekly newspaper is concerned. . . . The important fact discussed at the state and national conventions was the way weekly newspapers weathered the stormy gusts of the last two years. . . . The 4,000-odd weekly newspapers over the United States, being local appeal mediums, have been assured of a definite amount of local advertising, plus the national advertisements handled by agencies, whereas the average daily supplemented local and national advertising by take-a-bath and catch a husband advertising extolling the virtues of B. O. free socialites. . . . A fraction of one per cent of weekly newspapers have failed the past year, which is the best compliment that could be said weekly newspaper publishers. . . . A newspaper man isn't the richest man in the world, but he is a true sport.

The wisdom of the Washington "brain trust" is doubted in its sponsoring of the $3,300,000 public works program, ballyhooed for some time by Hearsting papers. . . . From an impartial standpoint the three-billion-dollar bond issue is so radical we can only hope it succeeds. . . . A few fossilized professors, who probably never did a day's muscular work in their lives, seem to think the person that yells the loudest is the one to listen to, although the person who is the most unsure of his plans yells the loudest. . . . However, Raymond Moley was urged the president approved of a public works issue. . . . The administration erred, not in principle, but in judgment, when the budget director was instructed to paper balance the books, then launched a gigantic bond issue. . . . The European viewpoint, shared by some here, cynically says if the American government hasn't the money it can get it. . . . Yet this very same clique apparently doesn't care to think it should be paid back with interest.

The public works issue will probably succeed. . . . Certainly too much is at stake to lose. . . . The goal (3,000,000 men back to work) is worthy of praise, and it is to our credit we have a man with plans and ideas, although a dictator virtually in national affairs. . . . Even three billion dollars doesn't mean a job haven, but since this program will be put over, we might as well get used to the theme song that national planning is better far than charity panning. . . . By giving Roosevelt the authority and interest charges the money, maybe things will be bread and cheese.

Final Installment

Dennis left New York by the afternoon train. He had wired to Pauline, paid his bill, and departed. He hardly knew what he felt, or if he felt anything at all, but he was conscious of a burning desire for the sun to cease shining. He felt like a man who had been absorbed in watching an unreal drama on a stage, and who now walks out again in the same light of day.

He tried to analyze himself and failed. He supposed that other men had imagined themselves desperately in love with some woman other than their wives and had paid as he was paying. Imagined! Had he imagined that? Was it real? Was it still real? He had not sought the answer he sought when the train stopped, and Pauline was there at the window.

"Darling! She rushed in the car and hugged him. She poured out to all in a breath how happy she was to see him again, how awful it had been without him. 'Really awful, Dennis!'—and how she was longing to be back in her own home. 'Mother's better, and Daddy's back, so tomorrow I think we might go, don't you?' 'Yes—anything you like,' said Dennis.

"And Barbara? How is darling Barbara?" Dennis was taking his bag down from the rack. "She's all right. I saw her this morning—just to say goodbye." "I write to her the day before yesterday," Pauline said, "she was watching him with bright eyes. 'Did she tell you, Dennis?' 'No. What did you write to her about?' Pauline smiled mysteriously. 'I'll tell you tomorrow—when we're back in our home.' And then, with a tug at his hand, 'Oh, Dennis, it's like heaven to have you back home again.'"

She was such a child, Dennis thought as he listened to her chatter. "Love locked out." "The dream was ended. He was a married man with a wife who adored him—and perhaps soon the nursery of which he knew Pauline had dreamed so many dreams would be a reality. A son of his own. Upstairs he could hear Pauline moving about, singing happily, and with a sudden sense of loneliness he went to the foot of the stairs and called to her: "Pauline."

"Come here. I want you." It was some months later that Stornaway, up in town again for one of his flying visits, chanced across Jerry Barnett in the bar of a West End restaurant. Jerry was very much the worse for drink, but he recognized Stornaway and came up to him and snatched him on the back.

"Member me?" he demanded. "Can't remember your name, but I knew you long time ago with O'Hara." "Oh, yes," Stornaway offered his hand. "And how's the world been using you?"

The world, it appeared, had been using Jerry badly—damned badly! He had lost all his money again and had been forced to borrow. "Never been the same since Barbie Stark chucked me," he bemoaned. "I never been the same since she went back to Douglas—blast him! Awful!"

"Of course," Stornaway remembered Barbara vividly—indeed, few people, especially men, ever forgot her. "Very fine woman," he said. "Fine!" Jerry was almost in tears when he explained how fine she was. "I love that woman," he said, leaning heavily on the counter. "I'd have died for her and she chucked me! I want to see her again," he added wistfully. "Want to?"

"Of course she did. I know her so well—there was someone she simply adored, Dennis." O'Hara said nothing, but he was thinking again of that day on the road when he and Barbara were motoring together—of the moment when he struggled out of unconsciousness to the broken voice—"Oh, my dear, Dennis, Dennis."

"Very well, I won't be a minute." He moved abruptly. "Take your hat and coat off, Pauline, and let's have tea." Dennis sat down by the fire. It was good to be at home again—he found himself wondering why he had ever gone away. And yet—if he had the time over again he knew he would do the same thing.

And now Barbara was going back to Douglas Stark! Why, in God's name? He shut his eyes and tried to picture her face—the face he had loved. Did she still love her, or had he never loved her? Or was it possible for a man to love two women at the same time? Did she love him? If so, why had she told him the truth about Barnett and so sent him away?

"Tea will be ready directly," she said. She sat down on the rug at his feet and snuggled up against him. "Happy to be home?" "Wonderful!" She took his hand and kissed it, and Dennis hated himself because the sudden thought came to him that if he had been kissed her hands—her beautiful hands.

"I want to tell you something, Dennis, darling." "What is it? Are you in debt? Can't you get the butcher or something?" She pretended to be offended. "How dare you? I'm a wonderful housekeeper." "So you are." He kissed her and leaned back again. "Don't strangle me, my child—what is it?" But she hid her face against his coat while she told him by asking a little question that worried her. "I was so happy tears and happier laughter." "Dennis, would you like to have a son?" It was some time later over the tea and the next day Dennis said, "This wonderful secret—does your mother know?" "Not yet—only you, darling—and Barbara."

"Barbara?"

The blood rushed to his face. "What made you tell her?" And Pauline answered happily: "Because she is my best friend, and because I love her." There was a little smile, then Pauline said, "But I'm sorry about one thing."

"What is that, Tuppenny?" "Barbara said in her letter, 'Don't ask me to be godmother—I'm not the right sort to bring up a child in the way it should go—I'm so sorry about that, because I know she'd bring him up most beautifully, bless her.'"

"Oh, I shouldn't do that," Dennis said hurriedly. "But why not? It's a lovely name." "Yes, it was a lovely name. Once, for a little while of madness it had been the most beautiful name in the world to Dennis O'Hara, but now—"

"Pray God I never see her again," was his passionate thought as he sat there so still in the firelight and listened to his wife's chatter. "Love locked out." "The dream was ended. He was a married man with a wife who adored him—and perhaps soon the nursery of which he knew Pauline had dreamed so many dreams would be a reality. A son of his own. Upstairs he could hear Pauline moving about, singing happily, and with a sudden sense of loneliness he went to the foot of the stairs and called to her: "Pauline."

"Not yet—only you, darling—and Barbara."

Polosize, say I'm sorry for what I told that chap O'Hara.

"What did you tell him?" Stornaway was not interested, he wanted to get away, but Jerry had him by the lapel of his coat. "I told him 'disgusting things,'" Jerry said heavily. "Thing no man who's gentleman should say 'bout any woman, specially when it's not true. I was jealous of O'Hara, yesh, I was. Always with Barbie at one time, always." Not fair, he'd got pretty little wife of his own.

"I don't expect O'Hara minded, whatever it was," Stornaway said. "He's not the chap to remember a thing or bear ill-will." "Would this, though," Jerry just sighed and ruffled his hair. "He was keen on Barbie, I know." He leaned forward and whispered something in Stornaway's reluctant ear—"that's what I told him," he said ponderously. "Just that—and it was a lie—damned lie."

Stornaway moved restlessly; he wished Jerry Barnett and his unsavory confidences at the bottom of the sea, but Jerry still persisted. "Often thought I'd like to see him and tell him! Make honorable amends. Can't bear think I told a lie. Awful. Barbie was the best—best in the world, and I'd like to tell O'Hara." He dragged Stornaway closer to him. "Here—if you were me, what'd you do? Would you tell him? You say, and I'll do what you say. Would you tell him if you were me—as ene pal to another, now?"

Stornaway looked away from his companion's flushed face, and for a moment he visualized O'Hara as he had seen him in his own room, waiting restlessly downstairs, while in the room above.

Then when he—Stornaway—had come down to tell him, "It's all right—a boy—fine youngster"—Dennis's face, Dennis was very fond of his little wife, and Stornaway knew it. Jerry bombarded him again: "If you were me would you tell him?" Stornaway shook his head. "No," he said decidedly. "No, I don't think I should tell him."

THE END

DIZZINESS

relieved by Black-Draught
"I decided to take Theford's Black-Draught, as I had been having bilious spells," writes Mr. Chas. E. Stevens, of Columbus, Ind. "When I got bilious, I feel sleepy and tired and do not feel like doing my work. I get awfully dizzy. I know when I had better take something. After I found how good Black-Draught is, I found that I had used it. I guess it rids me of the bile, for I feel better—don't feel like I am dropping off to sleep every time I sit down. That, to me, is a very bad feeling. You can get Black-Draught in the form of a SYRUP, for CHILDREN."

Poem Written By C. C. C. Boys Is Mailed to Snyder

Mrs. Eula Bowen has learned that her son, James O. Bowen, who was one of the first three tree army recruits from Scurry County, is stationed at Farmerville, Texas, after three weeks of training at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. Young Bowen relays a poem called "The C. C. C.," which he clipped from a newspaper. It was written by Ray Roth and Floyd Bunnell, who are with the 702nd Company at Fort Snelling, Minnesota.

THE C. C. C.
A card came one morning—
"Twas addressed to me;
It said come right down, boys,
And join the C. C.
So Ma said good-bye, boy,
And have a good time.
I jumped on the street car
And spent my last dime.

Now I'm at Fort Snelling—
I got here today.
They looked me all over,
And said I was O. K.
The clothes that were given me
Fit just like a tent.
I'd swear bloody murder,
But I'm a gent.

Went down to the mess hall
And sure fed my face;
The way I ate hamburger,
Was an awful disgrace.
Then three days went by
And they gave us a shot—
No, boys, 'twasn't whiskey;
'Twas a needle we got.

My head was aching,
My arm felt like lead;
I missed the C. C. C.,
As I lay on my bed.

My feet are all blistered,
I feel worse than dead.
This "Yes, sir," and "No, sir"
Has gone to my head.
I've raked most of Snelling,
I've raked down some stumps.
I'm safe from all women—
Please, God, send me one.

The choco-choco is coming—
'Twill be on time—
To take us to Ely
To serve out our time.
To take us to Ely!
So, boys, give a cheer;
For boys out in Ely
They have darn good beer.

If I had the sergeant
Where's the sergeant's got me,
Before our time is over
He'd "Yes, sir" me.
Our story's not ended—
We'll tell you some more
Out there in the forests
Beside a lake shore.

A racketeer on trial for murder bribed an Irishman with $100 to hold out for a verdict of manslaughter. After being out for a long time the jury returned with the desired verdict. "I'm awfully grateful to you," the racketeer told the Irishman. "Did you have much trouble?" "Yes," replied the son of Erin. "I had a devil of a time. All the rest wanted to acquit you."

Colorado Plans for Celebration, Rodeo On Fourth of July

Large circulars advertising a big Fourth of July celebration and a rodeo at Colorado were distributed here late last week by representatives of the Colorado Chamber of Commerce.

Rodeo events will include calf roping, wild cow milking, goat roping, and other customary features. Good prizes are being offered.

Entertainment during the day will include a greased pig race for boys, fat man's race, sack race, cigar race, button race, and old fiddlers' contest.

Since Scurry County has not planned a Fourth of July celebration, Coloradans are expecting hundreds of attendants from this area.

Theodore Yoder

This is Theodore Yoder—not Roosevelt. He has won wide publicity because of his conquests in Egypt—not in South Africa. And he fought the ravages of disease and sin—not those of wild animals. An article in last week's Times described young Yoder's work in connection with the American University at Cairo, Egypt. He returned to the United States last year, and completed work recently on his M. A. degree in sociology at Columbia University. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Yoder of Snyder Saturday.

Tractor Fuel 6c
(Tractor Gas)

This fuel has given many of our customers satisfaction in their tractors, though being of lower specifications than regular taxed gas. Some difficulty in starting may be experienced, but it has come to us highly recommended to us by the producers as an economical fuel.

Any supposed misrepresentation of this product entertained by our competitors—who are our friends—has not been intentional on our part. We have only represented it on the basis it was sold to us.

Murphy News

Mrs. W. W. Weathers, Correspondent

Mr. and Mrs. Curt Ohlendorf and baby and Miss Ellie Ohlendorf have returned to their homes at Lock-Two after spending a week with relatives in this and the Bison community.

Carl Steffy from Penwell spent the week-end in the home of C. A. Franks. His son, Lowell, returned to Penwell with him for a two weeks stay.

The Murphy nine was defeated Wednesday by the Snyder baseball team on the local diamond. Saturday's game with the Bison team was won by the Murphy team.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, with their sons and families from Treadway, enjoyed the hospitality in the Ed Murphy home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Berryhill from Bison spent the week-end in the Water Weathers home.

Mrs. F. O. Sorrells and sons of Vincent spent Sunday with their daughter and sister, Mrs. Dewey Enloe.

Several from this community have been enjoying picnics in various places during the past week.

Mrs. Lora Warren from Bison spent Monday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Weathers.

Mrs. Nolan von Roeder and children, with Mrs. Piliam Wars, were Saturday afternoon visitors with relatives at Snyder.

Lloyd Murphy from this community and Ted Sorrells from Vincent took their check box and left Thursday with provisions for various points in New Mexico.

Mrs. J. L. Weathers is staying several days with her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Smith, at Arap.

John Conrad from their ranch was a visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Enloe Thursday.

Roy Barrier and family visited with Roy's sister, Mrs. Ross Bishop, and Mrs. Beie Gregory in the Bison community Saturday.

Dewey Enloe and family and a few friends met at the home of Mrs. Enloe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Sorrells, Friday afternoon for a birthday celebration. Ice cream and cake were served.

It is very difficult for me to write the news. Anyone hearing any news send it to me, and your cooperation will certainly be appreciated.
