Euzelian S. S. Class Meets Thursday Eve.

The Epulian Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met in its regular business meeting last Thursday at 5:00 o'clock with a picnic on the playground of the Snyder High School. There were 16 members present.

The devotionals was given by Bonnie McGabey. Her subject was "A Little Maid." Reports of committees were given, including a splendid personal service report.

Ten members were presented with gifts of hand-embroidered tea towels given for perfect attendance for all Sundays since the last meeting. For the coming month awards will be given to class members making 100 per cent for every Sunday in the month.

Because of the rain Thursday the class beat a hasty retreat to the basement of the church, where a picnic lunch was spread.

Stunts were given by several of the members, and a good time was had by everyone.

Those present were Mrs. E. F. McCarty, teacher; Miss Alice Eiland, Hope Newton, Ina Hollingsworth, Thelma Sims, Garland Test, Bernice Adams, Minnie Sullivan, Winifred Boren, Eunice Weatherbee, Vera Miles, Virgie Dever, Bess McCarty, Mollie LeFond, Lucy Miss Imman and Bonnie McGabey.

Mrs. Dick Webb Is Hostess To Circle.

Mrs. Dick Webb was hostess to the Ladies' Social Circle of the First Presbyterian Church at a meeting held at her pretty country home Thursday afternoon. She was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Miss Margaret Dell Prim.

Following a business session, an enjoyable program was rendered. "What Can a Woman Do?" was a reading given by Mrs. J. W. Roberts. Mrs. R. L. Miller conducted a clever slogan contest, and "Making the Most of the Depression" was a poem read by Mrs. Webb.

At the tea hour a salad course was served, and piano selections were played by Miss Prim.

Those present were Misses Mabel German, John Irwin, Bert Baugh, R. C. Grantham, Mary B. Shell, R. L. Miller, J. A. Farmer, J. W. Roberts, E. F. Sears and Sterlin A. Taylor.

Mrs. Bannister Entertains Club.

The Wednesday Afternoon Bridge Club was entertained last week in the home of Mrs. Herbert Bannister.

In games of bridge high score was won by Mrs. Elmer Spears. Miss Fannie Mae Cole of Dallas, an out-of-town guest, was also present with a prize.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. J. P. Nelson, Mrs. Elmer Spears, Miss Doris Pope Elza, Miss Margaret Dell Prim, Miss Rowena Grantham and Miss Cole, guests; and to Misses Amos Joyce, B. H. Currite, W. W. Hill, Otis Moore, P. W. Cloud, Cathie Bell, G. B. Clark Jr. and Max Brownfield and Misses Dorothy Strayhorn and Doris Beggs.

Alathean S. S. Class Entertains Husbands.

Members of the Alathean Sunday School class of the First Baptist Church entertained their husbands and friends with an enjoyable lawn party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Martin Tuesday evening.

Brightly colored Japanese lanterns added to the attractiveness of the party scene.

Following games of forty-two, an ice course was served to about 35 guests.

Baptist W. M. U. Elects New Officers.

New officers for the Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church were elected at the regular monthly business meeting of the society held Monday afternoon at the church.

They are: Mrs. H. L. Wren, president; Mrs. J. A. Woodfin, vice president; Mrs. E. E. Weathersbee, recording secretary; Mrs. Willard Jones, treasurer; Mrs. Phillip C. McGabey, chorister; and Mrs. J. M. Newton, pianist.

Mrs. W. R. Wilson and daughter, Ruby May, of Kansas City, Missouri, arrived Monday to visit with Mrs. Wilson's mother, Mrs. W. R. Minor, and other relatives. They will remain until Sunday.

Mrs. W. Norred and daughter, Miss Ora Norred, returned Saturday from Abilene, where Miss Norred recently underwent an operation. After leaving the hospital, Miss Norred remained at the home of her sister, Mrs. D. L. Higginbotham, in Abilene for several weeks. Mrs. Higginbotham accompanied them home for a visit.

Charles Harless and family of San Angelo were week-end guests in the L. O. Smith home. Mrs. Smith and son, Jack, returned home with them for a visit.

Some Tasty and Economic Recipes

Crackling Bread.

Ingredients—One quart corn meal, one pint cracklings, three teaspoons salt, boiling water.

Mix the corn meal and salt; pour over this mixture enough boiling water to moisten but not enough to make a mush. When the meal has cooled, work the cracklings into it with the fingers. Form the dough into cakes about four inches long, two inches wide and one inch thick. Bake for 30 minutes. Serve very hot.

Some Whole Wheat Recipes.

In many parts of the country people are using whole wheat, either home-grown or bought at the feed store, to help feed the family at low cost. Whole wheat is a very nutritious food, since it contains proteins, minerals and vitamins in addition to the proteins and carbohydrates that are the chief constituents of white flour. It is recommended especially for vitamin B. To save time and fuel in cooking, the wheat may be cracked. Perhaps the feed store will crack it. At home a coffee grinder or a meat grinder can be used. If the whole grain is used, soak it overnight and then boil gently for three or four hours to make it tender.

Some Whole Wheat Recipes.

For the recipe of beef and whole wheat, cooked whole wheat is used. Cracked or ground wheat is used for the scrapple and muffins.

Beef and Whole Wheat.

Ingredients—Two tablespoons fat, four tablespoons chopped onion, one pound of beef, diced, flour, three cups water, one-fourth teaspoon chilli pepper, salt, two cups cooked whole wheat.

Melt the fat and cook the onion a few minutes, then add the meat which has been lightly rolled in flour. When the meat has browned somewhat add the water. Partly cover and simmer until the wheat is tender. Stir in the chilli pepper and the wheat and add salt to taste.

Whole Wheat Muffins.

Ingredients—Two cups of finely ground whole wheat, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, three tablespoons brown sugar, one egg, three-fourths cup of milk, two tablespoons melted fat.

Mix all the dry ingredients thoroughly. Beat the egg, add the milk and stir with the fat into the dry ingredients. Do not stir the batter any more than is necessary. Bake in greased muffin pans for 25 to 30 minutes in a hot oven (400 to 425 degrees F.). If desired, omit the egg and increase milk to one cup.

Scrapple.

Select three pounds of bony pieces of pork. Simmer in three quarts of water until the meat drops from the bone. Strain off the broth, remove the bones, taking care to get out all the tiny pieces, and chop the meat fine. There should be about two quarts of broth, and if necessary add water to make this quantity. Bring the broth to the boiling point, slowly stir in three cups of cracked wheat, and cook for about 30 minutes, stirring frequently. Add the chopped meat, salt and any other seasonings such as a little sage or thyme. Pour the hot scrapple into bread pans which have been rinsed with cold water. Let stand until cold and firm, slice, and brown slightly in a hot skillet.

Kipped Herring and Macaroni.

Canned fish is a labor saving food, for it can be served from the can if you like. It is convenient as well as good, in school or other lunches, or in salads, because it can be stored for use, and it is quick and easily used. Kipped herring, canned herring roe, sardines and canned salmon are among the most easily obtained and cheapest of the many canned fish products. While there are many ways of serving the fish, perhaps you have not known what to do with kipped herring, except to heat it and serve it just as is. Scalloped kipped herring with macaroni is suggested. Of course, you could also use spaghetti or noodles if you have either on hand. All of these products are enjoyed best when combined with something of rather pronounced flavor, and kipped herring is especially appetizing.

Youthful Ensemble

For A PATTERN, size 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 or 42 and 15 cents in coin, your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE to Kay Boyd, 103 Park Ave., New York, N. Y. Complete and simple sewing chart with each pattern.

A favorite type of ensemble, easy to make for the youthful figure, is one like the model illustrated. Its sleeveless bolero jacket and skirt are fashioned of dotted crepe, in any bright shade, while the shirt waist having a turn-over collar and popular puffed sleeves, is of plain white crepe.

The slender skirt has front and back panels ending in inverted pleats, which give style and also add to its comfort.

Designed in six sizes—14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Size 18 requires 2 1/2 yards of 39-inch material for bolero and skirt, and two yards for the blouse.

THE RED & WHITE STORES

Nine Red & White Stores

What Is Red & White?

This is an oft repeated question. There is nothing mysterious or undercover about it. It is simply an association of manufacturers, jobbers, and retailers operating throughout the whole of the United States, having as its object the distribution of food products to the consumer at the lowest possible cost. This applies to products carrying the Red & White label as well as the so-called nationally advertised brands.

While each Red & White store is individually and independently owned and operated, earning and spending its earnings in the community in which it operates, through a system of national cooperative buying in which thousands of stores participate, many brokerage and jobbing profits are eliminated and the desired results obtained. Red & White contracts with manufacturers and packers throughout the nation run into many millions of dollars annually. This is the secret of Red & White buying power. Products thus contracted for are distributed to the public direct without so much excess baggage in between. Such a system of co-operation is the only safeguard the independent merchant and the public has against the great corporate chains.

THE WEEKLY DOZEN

The Next Question.
 Talkative Tillie, whose next question is as pointless as the first, wants to know when the whooping cough epidemic will feel the National Roosevelt Axe.

Says Pessimism Pete.
 Observing that a few Snyder merchants who fly the Blue Eagle are evading the spirit of the blanket code, Pessimism Pete points out that the bird has been claws and a heavy beat.

The Gail Reunion.
 Make your plans to attend the cowboy reunion near Gall, on August 19, if you have not already done so. No matter how many artificial entertainments invade the Golden West, the thrill of roping, riding, bulldozing and other cowhand tricks will be the best red blood boosters of all.

Not Bad, Not Bad.
 Static to the contrary notwithstanding, radio advertising is showing a rapid decline and newspaper advertising is showing an equally rapid rise. Uncle Sam says so. It begins to appear that delicious corn plaster ads in the midst of symphony concerts will come off the air without the government's gentlemanly intervention against ungentlemanly ways.

Religion at Chicago.
 It is said that the Hall of Religion at the Chicago Century of Progress is attracting almost as much attention as the so-called major attractions, such as the Hall of Science. Is not this a solemn commentary on the trend of the times? How can men doubt the constancy of religious fervor when visitors to a fair of material progress pause to pay respects on an altar of religious accomplishment?

Our Foreign Markets.
 While throwing our unqualified support to the NRA program, we can not but wonder how foreign nations, with cheap money, are going to buy our new high-moneyed products. Our foreign markets are our salvation, no matter how many nationalist ideals you may coddle. We believe Roosevelt has his hand on this acute problem, and will adjust this delicate foreign tangle before it becomes unmanageable.

"Irrespective of Party."
 We quote a forceful comment from the Industrial News Review, published in Portland, Oregon: "Every business is made to feel that it has the president, personally, as a director and advisor. The press, irrespective of party, is behind the move, as are chambers of commerce and other organizations. If the plan doesn't work as expected, it won't be because there was lack of aggressiveness and speed at the top."

Congratulations, Shull.
 This is a good time to congratulate W. C. Shull for his vision. He sees in the future a new era of business, an era when West Texas folks will spend their incomes cautiously and sanely, an era when live merchandising methods and honest dealings will triumph. He is putting in a new variety store. We prophesy here and now that while a few of our merchants are moaning about their cruel fates, Mr. Shull will be going forward and reaching the buying public as his vision richly deserves.

Remember an Old Truth.
 An exchange—which has every earmark of being a wet exchange—says that "apparently no one in public office has taken the trouble to point out that there is only so much money in the country. It can buy only so much—it can pay only so much in taxes. A new tax, whether on liquor or on anything else, doesn't create more national income. It simply takes its money from a different place—which leaves less money in another place . . . tax juggling has been the curse of modern governmental economy."

Vote Your Sentiments.
 Statistics have it that far less than one-third of the adults in states that have voted on the liquor question have even come to the polls . . . most of them paid no poll tax, because they thought nothing important would happen this year; others just didn't seem to care pro or con about their vote, suds or no suds, hard liquor or decency. Many an upright mother and father will be wishing in a few years that they had sacrificed their last crust for a chance to keep legalized booze, and something worse than the saloon, out of their communities.

Praise From the Pleased.
 Those who are pleased are seldom those who praise. Those who are not pleased are usually those who praise. Truism, or not, those two statements are often noted by politicians, preachers and others in the public eye. Take Joe Merritt, state representative, for example: He voted against the horse racing bill. He voted against the boxing bill. He voted against every

Snyder Should Get All Her Heads Together.

In the good old days of 1926 and surrounding years, it was easy enough to order a batch of cooperation in Snyder—and get it.

You could get support for everything from a football game to a highway program to an annual fair. Time was plentiful. Even if the big boss worked on a committee or ran around over West Texas to advertise Snyder in colorful ways, business rolled on and the profits rolled in.

Money was plentiful, too. Two or three of the town's leading businesses used to give what the entire town now gives for any one project.

We had the boozitis and the prosperity. We had it bad. We over-boosted and we over-prosperity-tized.

It is nobody's fault in particular that we have now gone to the opposite extreme. We are in the same boat with myriads of other towns. We are disgruntled as a town. There is no civic organization to hold us together for the starting or the stopping of any worth while undertaking.

The remarkable success with which we have met the various problems of the depression has been due largely to a few individuals who have borne more than their share of the burden. They have given of their time, money and energies when all of us should have been giving.

Despite the high esteem in which the Chamber of Commerce is held by The Times, we can not deny that the Chamber of Commerce has failed to live up to its highest usefulness during the past few years. Those who have retained membership in the organization have contributed immeasurably to the community. But the membership roll has been comparatively small for many months. Even if every member had been putting his full civic strength into the C. of C., this large group outside the organization would still be proof that the greatest possible usefulness has been missed by a long shot.

Is the Chamber of Commerce the proper organization to represent Snyder in times of crisis or in times of normal growth? The Times believes that it is. As a business institution and as individuals we have supported the chamber in its every effort.

But if the majority of our citizens believe another organization could better serve our needs, let us perfect a better organization.

Whatever we do, let us not approach the greatest era of recovery in American and West Texas annals with only a semblance of civic organization. Roosevelt's far-flung program of national recovery is touching us at every turn. Detailed reorganization is facing us in all phases of human endeavor. Our personal fortunes depend on the turn of the tide.

We would be traitors to our nation and to ourselves if we were to continue our half-hearted gestures of cooperation—our extreme willingness to let a few super-patriots do the work and the paying for all of us when civic affairs are concerned.

Elain—"Poor MacLure, who sacrificed everything to weather the depression, is in a hole."
 Shrdlu—"Is there no chance of his getting out?"
 Elain—"Not much—he was covered this morning with six feet of dirt."

CURRENT COMMENT
 BY LEON GUINN

Our National Recovery Administrator, Hugh S. Johnson, is ready to "sock on the nose" industries a bit slow in adopting codes to allow good wages and fair treatment of employees. . . . First, Reper and Johnson were verbally at parier points three weeks ago, but since Johnson has bucked up against the automobile and steel industries, he now explodes with a "Hell, the president is running this," and just as promptly shuts his mouth and steals his mind to the gigantic NRA organization plans. . . . All is not sweet harmony in Democratic Washington, as everyone knows. . . . P. G. Jim Parley has been too eager to award Demos office puddings, slightly irritating. . . . Yet mountains are being climbed, and calm confidence is as broad as the Mississippi wherever men gather to talk money.

The NRA Blue Eagle can scream and flip-flop its wings till it croaks, but the fact can not be ignored that business men bought merchandise stocks, groceries, steel, cotton and wheat before higher purchase brackets left them "short." . . . The laurel bearers should not forget our Hugh Johnson for now full-steaming ahead into the lanes of commerce and helping create purchasing power to move already existent merchandise stocks. . . . Thousand of employees are worrying how they will pay 40 per hour for a 35-hour week, $12 per week for office help, and stay in business. . . . America's great and good friend, FDR is photographed always smiling. . . . Question for the AP: What is he laughing or smiling at? . . . With or for the New Deal? . . . Behind the wax veneer of polished desks every federal employee faces this theme: Americans must live! . . . When office men in the capitol go from solemn thinking to serious acting, thank your stars, for conditions will improve!

When we have loved deeply and the flower of that love is transplanted beyond this veil of worry, it is then we, as a race, realize the importance of a belief, a faith and a spiritual goal while sojourning here. . . . Every day the leaves of life keep falling as we slip the honey of reality. . . . In our span of years it is uplifting to know we will never grow old, for after time ceases eternity begins. . . . Joy can not be all gladness, or sorrow all sadness. . . . The noblest fact in history is that love of God and man blends opinion, as nothing else will. . . . You will probably say this paragraph isn't news. . . . This writer didn't intend it as such. . . . The purpose was to tell you that a survey indicates that 97 per cent of the readers of The Scurry County Times have an unshakable faith in God. . . . The other three per cent is divided between non-believers and fools, of no concern. . . . That rating is equalled very rarely. . . . The entire 97 per cent does not belong to the church, but this infidelity foolishness doesn't thrive here.

wet suggestion that came before the House. Yet we'll venture to guess that he has received scant thanks from believers in these votes. The evil men do lives after them; the good is oft interred with their bones."

Misguided Judgment.
 A stranger who attempted to pick the loafers from the industrious gentlemen on Snyder streets would be hog-tied before he started. The fellow who appears nothing more than a desultory parasite may own a dozen sections of good grass land, send his daughter to college, and work only when he rides out once a week to look his stock over. The mild-mannered mister who talks lavishly of NRA may be a snail in wolf's clothing. . . . his wife and children, or charity organizations, may be making his living. You can't tell a man by the clothes he wears or by the words he speaks, axioms or no axioms.

WASHINGTON CIRCUS
 BY DAVID WRIGHT

Washington—The North American Radio Conference, in session for more than two weeks in Mexico City, has evidently set out to make a record as the world's most secretive organization. Called for the purpose of agreeing upon a plan for re-allocating broadcasting channels, it is holding its sessions behind closed doors, and the American people know no more of what is transpiring there than they know of what goes on when the partners of J. P. Morgan & Company hold a business meeting.

To understand something of the power of this conference it is necessary to recall that when broadcasting was in its infancy the need of international agreements governing allocation of radio channels was foreseen. These agreements are ratified by treaty and become the law of the world insofar as radio is concerned.

At the first international conference 79 channels were given to the United States, Canada was allotted only a baker's dozen, and Mexico and the South American republic were ignored. They were not even invited to send delegates.

Mexico consequently began demanding its proportionate share of the channels, and when its demands were ignored it commenced issuing licenses anyway. Powerful stations in Mexico have been operating on the channels allotted to the United States, with the result that in the South and Middle West the ether has been a shamble of interference.

In the first international conference delegates representing corporation broadcasting stations in the United States were admitted and given a vote in the proceedings. These monopolies have had representation in all subsequent international conferences. The American communications companies, which operate international radio, telephone and telegraph services, are directly represented and have a voice in formulating and changing regulations. This means that Radio Corporation of America and the National Broadcasting Company have a powerful influence. At all times they are thinking of broadcasting as a private business organized for the sole purpose of yielding fat profits to themselves at the expense of the listening public.

Having corralled these 79 air channels for the United States, the private broadcasting organizations took control of most of the channels. They hold this broad power through licenses issued to them by the Federal Radio Commission. The radio facilities of the country are measured by the commission on the basis of 400 units. Of this number of units National Broadcasting Company has 183.9; the Columbia Broadcasting Company, 108.02; the Independent stations, 112.35; and educational stations operated by colleges and universities, only 26.10.

As the terms of some of the members and employees of the Federal Radio Commission have expired, their services have been sought by the radio monopolies. Several of the former commissioners and a former secretary are now in positions where the information they gained as public servants is now used for the benefit of these monopolies.

These influences are at work now at the conference in Mexico City, where the American broadcasting combines are fighting tooth and nail against the proposal that they give up some of the 79 channels. And the proceedings are being conducted in secret. NBC, CBS and all the rest of the privately-owned stations operate by virtue of the licenses granted them by the United States government. Yet not an inkling of what their representatives are doing in Mexico City is permitted to reach the American public!

 BY EDSON R. WAITE

General Frank T. Hines, United States Administrator of Veterans Affairs, says:

"Although the old adage, 'Misery loves company' is often suggested as a form of consolation, the contemplation of the misery of others can never serve as a panacea for our own.

"In the unhappy times through which we are passing the urge for self-preservation alone should serve to provide for each of us whatever stimulus is necessary to enable us to persevere more persistently than ever to win our way through, individually, to that prosperity and contentment which is every man's desire and the birthright of every human being.

"This effort need not be—indeed, must not be—a selfish one. Few can achieve success without intentionally or incidentally helping others, and I believe that achievement must ever taste sweeter to the man who possesses along with worldly success the consciousness that he represents a certain measure of security and substance to some of his fellow beings.

"Humaneness—was there ever a time in the history of our country when a general exercise of this most desirable quality was more necessary? The need for it touches and permeates almost every human contact in these troublous times when the whole order of things seems so out-of-joint and readjustment, more or less excruciating, is the order of the day.

"The high degree of courage shown by our president has pointed the way to recovery and a better understanding, and it is heartening to note now in many directions indications that we are on the upward path at last; that business and industry are at least struggling with incipient action instead of lying supine and inert grumbling at inaction but seeing no way out, and it behooves each and every one of us to make a conscientious and sustained effort to accentuate this movement in every way possible, whether it be by participation financially or industrially or just by 'keeping our chins up' and fighting through."

Judge—"Have you ever been up before me?"
 Culprit—"I don't know, Judge: what time do you get up?"

BRUCE BARTON
 "Writer of 'THE MASTER EXECUTIVE'"

Supplying a week-to-week inspiration for the heavy-burdened who will find every sunny trail parallel in the experience of "The Man Nobody Knows."

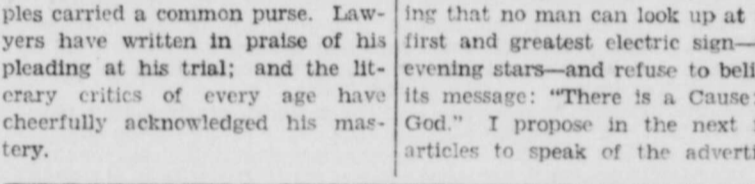

A "Many-Sided" Man.
 Jesus was, as we say, "many sided," and every man sees the side of his nature which appeals most to himself.

The doctor thinks of the great physician whose touch never failed, who by some mystery preceded modern science in its still imperfect knowledge of the relation of spirit to health. The preacher studies the Sermon on the Mount and marvels that truths so profound should be expressed in words so clear and simple. The agitator remembers only that he denounced the rich; and the communist that his disciples carried a common purse. Lawyers have written in praise of his pleading at his trial; and the literary critics of every age have cheerfully acknowledged his mastery.

I am not a doctor, or lawyer or critic but an advertising man. As a profession advertising is young; as a force it is as old as the world. The first four words ever uttered, "Let there be light," constitute its charter. All nature is vibrant with its impulse. The brilliant plumage of the bird is color advertising addressed to the emotions of its mate. Plants deck themselves with blossoms, not for beauty only, but to attract the patronage of the bee and so by spreading pollen on its wings, to insure the perpetuation of their kind.

"The spacious firmament on high, And all the blue ethereal sky, And spangled heavens a shining frame, Their great Original proclaim."

It has been remarked that "no astronomer can be an atheist," which is only another way of saying that no man can look up at the first and greatest electric sign—the evening stars—and refuse to believe its message: "There is a Cause: A God." I propose in the next few articles to speak of the advertisements of Jesus which have survived for 20 centuries and are still the most potent influence in the world.

Let us begin by asking why he was so successful in mastering public attention and why, in contrast, his churches are less so? The answer is twofold. In the first place, he recognized the basic principle that all good advertising is news. He was never trite or commonplace; he had no routine. If there had been newspapers in those days, no city editor could have said, "No need to visit him today; he will be doing just what he did last Sunday." Reporters would have followed him every single hour, for it was impossible to predict what he would say or do; every action and word were news. I repeat, Jesus had no routine. He was never trite or commonplace.

Next Week: A News Maker.

St Snodgrass was hammering away at the old car, which had hulked on a muddy road 40 miles from home. It hit his thumb a hard crack—and his wife was shocked at the language he used on the subject.

She protested to him, saying, "Silas Snodgrass, you ought to be ashamed of yourself to swear that way!"

"Betsy Ann," vociferated St, "if you can think of any better way to do it, now is the time to tell me."

 UNTIL WE LEARNED BETTER

Until we learned better, we used to mix wood and steel in our car bodies and wheels. It was the best way to make bodies—then. But the state of the art has advanced. Of course, it is more expensive to make an all-steel body than to make a wooden frame and nail steel panels on to it. The better way involves an initial expenditure of several millions of dollars for new dies, which renders a change very costly. Cars, especially large expensive cars which are produced in small volume, cannot afford this, because the dies cost as much for one car as for a million. That alone explains why all-steel bodies are not used in all cars. But our basic policy from the beginning is to make a good car better, regardless of cost. For example, when we discarded wood-steel body construction, it was not because we lacked wood. We still have some thousands of acres of the best hard wood in America. Economy would urge us to use up the wood first, and then adopt the better all-steel body. But we decided that quality was more important than expense. We weighed the reasons, for and against, before we made the change. We could see only one reason for retaining a mixed wood-and-steel body—nailing the metal on, instead of welding an all-steel body into a strong one-piece whole. That reason was, it would be cheaper—for us. Our reasons for adopting an all-steel body were these: A wood-steel body is not much stronger structurally than its wooden frame. In all American climates, wood construction weakens with age. Every used car lot gives evidence of this. Rain seeps in between joints and the wood decays. A car may have a metal surface, and yet not be of steel construction. Under extreme shock or stress the steel body remains intact—dented perhaps, but not crushed. Steel does not need wood for strength or protection. Wood is fine for furniture, but not for the high speed vehicles of 1933. In the Ford body there are no joints to squeak, no seams to crack or leak. The all-steel body is more expensive—to us, but not to you. By all odds, then, steel bodies seem preferable. Wheels also have become all-steel. No one argues that an electrically welded one-piece steel wheel, such as the Ford wheel, needs to be "strengthened" by adding wood to it. The one-piece all-steel body is the strongest, safest, quietest, most durable body made. That is our only reason for making them.

SMALL BOOST IN MILK PRICE

Effective Monday of next week, sweet milk will be retailed in Snyder for 10 cents a quart by practically all dairymen, large and small. Most dairymen have been selling at eight cents per quart, two quarts for 15 cents.

Proportionate advances will be made in wholesale and retail prices of all quantities of sweet milk, buttermilk, cream and butter. The agreement was made early this week in an effort to make dairy operations fit into the new NRA blanket code. The signers agreed to work NRA hours and pay NRA wages. They point out that recent heavy advances in feed more than offset the new price quotations. "We urge full cooperation of the Snyder milk purchasers in helping us live up to the new code 100 percent," the signing dairymen declared yesterday. "Public approval and support is necessary if President Roosevelt's program is to become fully effective."

Dallas Will Have First School Of Theatre In Area

The Southwestern School of the Theatre, the first comprehensive school in this region devoted to the study of the theatre and its related arts, has been organized in Dallas and will open its first term of instruction September 1. The institution answers a long-time demand in the Southwest for a laboratory of the drama in which persons may study without the expense of going East.

The founding of the school is largely the result of the desire of persons who have been active in little theatres and in college drama to continue further in this field. The faculty is headed by Louis Veda Quince, formerly of the New York Theatre Guild and American Laboratory Theatre and more recently director of the Oak Cliff Little Theatre of Dallas. Other members of the faculty are persons who have had wide experience with teaching amateur and professional theatre, and who have received training under authoritative coaches in the subjects which they will teach.

During the school year students will be cast in productions to be presented before the public on a professional basis. Subjects taught will include acting in its various forms—make-up, diction, fencing, voice placement, curricula and play-writing. Periodic lectures on subjects related to the theatre will be given by carefully chosen speakers of the country.

The school will be operated on a civic basis, with an advisory board made up of persons prominent in educational and cultural activities. The tuition for courses will be nominal and within the reach of everyone sincerely ambitious to receive the training offered. The school year will be comprised of two four-month terms, the first opening September 1 and the second January 8.

Business Buildings At Lamesa Razed By Sunday Night Blaze

Fire of undetermined origin, which for a time threatened the entire business district, destroyed two brick buildings on the south side of the square at Lamesa early Monday morning. Loss was estimated at $40,000.

The fire, which was reported to have followed an explosion, originated in a vacant building and then spread to the second structure occupied by Home Hanson Company. Both buildings were owned by T. F. Vaughn, automobile dealer.

First alarm was turned in at 2:00 a. m. and at 3:30, in spite of hard work by Lamesa's volunteer fire department, a new blaze sprang up which for a time threatened to spread along the entire south side of the square. High fire walls and absence of wind helped the firemen greatly.

The fire was Lamesa's worst since 1924, when the entire south side of the square burned.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

Praises New Mexico.
Scurry County Times: Just a few lines from you of Scurry County's boys who was stung by the wanderlust bee of New Mexico. Among those who left good old Scurry in an early day were J. D. Millman in 1900 and T. G. Love in 1902. These men helped to build Scurry what she is, and then went to a younger state to help build it up.

Although it is dry here now, and has been for some time, we boast of having the best schools in the West. No schools? Booh! A certain lady from Plumas told me this was a land of no schools, but, dear reader, it is a land of more schools. There is a little red school house within six miles of my homestead, and a high school within 20 miles on all sides. Yet it has no schools, as she sees it!

When I was thinking of coming West to live, she said, "You can go there and live—we can not; think of our child, she must go to school." Little good schooling does some people. At a class like that, it only tends to make fools of them. Yet, dear reader, in this land of "uncivilized people," land of few schools, land where people live as heathens, where they know not how to read, there are more churches and school houses as Texas can claim. Schools with men from nearly every state in the union in them—men who have gotten their degrees.

New as the land here, it is deep sand and it does not blow. However, it did blow a little early this spring, as it was dry here the same as it was in West Texas. Some day this "desert," as it is termed by so many, will be the Eden of New Mexico. Where only one water well now stands many more will come soon. The day has come when the big cattle man must go; he must give way to the home-steader, he, as in the bygone days of Scurry County, must drift on to the sunset; he must follow the Indians and the buffalo.

Young man, my plea to you is get for yourself a home. Come West, and get something you can call your own. Why stay in the rut of renting all your life when you can own as cheaply as you can rent?

Come out and we will take a drive through the National Park, the Mescllar and Apache Reservations to Carlsbad Caverns, to the white sand, the White Mountains. We will stand on top of Old Baldy and view the pre-historic rivers of lava 10 miles wide and 3000 ft. high. We will view the notorious Three Rivers Ranch; to the south one sees the white sand-like snow upon the desert's dusty face, then at a greater distance is discernible the Franklin Mountains and smoking chimneys from the city of El Paso, Texas. From here we will go to Lincoln by way of Ruidoso, on north through the beautiful mountains to Captain; along Rio Hondo to the quiet town of Lincoln, made famous by Billy the Kid—here we will see the old jail in which the Kid was awaiting execution and from which he made his escape.

On our return trip we will go over the hills to Fort Stanton, now a U. S. hospital, back to Eagle Creek, and from here to the lead and zinc mines, then back home.

ED E. JONES,
Artesia, New Mexico, Box 502.

Evils of Alcohol.
Gentlemen: I am aware that there is a prejudice against the man engaged in the manufacture of alcohol. I believe that from the time it issues from the coil and poisonous worm in the distillery until it enters into the hell of death, dishonor and crime that it demoralizes everybody who touches it, from its source to where it ends. I do not believe that anybody can contemplate the subject without becoming prejudiced against the liquor crime. All we have to do is to think of the wrecks on either bank of the stream of death, of the suicide, of the poverty, of the ignorance, of the insanity of the destitute, of the little children huddled in faded breasts of weakness and despairing wives, asking for bread, of the talented men struggling with imaginary serpents produced by this one bluish thing. Think of the hills, of the poison, of the scaffolds upon either bank—I do not wonder that every thoughtful man is prejudiced against the stuff called alcohol.

Intemperance cuts down youth in its vigor, manhood in its strength and age in its weakness. It breaks the father's hearts, bereaves the doing mother, extinguishes natural affections, causes love, blots out filial attachments, blights parental love and brings down mourning age in sorrow to the grave; it produces weakness, not strength, sickness, not health; death, not life. It makes wives widows, children orphans, fathers fiends, and all of them paupers and beggars. It feeds rheumatism, gout, welcomes epidemics, invites cholera, imparts pestilence and embraces consumption.

It covers the land with idleness, misery and crime; it fills our jails, supplies our almshouses and demands our asylums. It excoriated convicts, fosters quavrels and cherishes riots. It is the life-blood of the gambler, the element of the burglar and the support of the mid-night inebriary. It crowds the penitentiaries and furnishes names for scaffolds. It countenances lurs, respects the thief and esteems the blasphemer. It defames benevolence, hates love, scorns virtue and slanders innocence. It incites the father to butcher the helpless offspring, helps the husband to massacre his wife, and the child to grind the paternal anvil. It burns men, consumes women, ceters life curses God and despises heaven; it curses our joy, defiles the jury box and stains the judicial shrine. It degrades the citizen, debases the legislator, dishonors the statesman and disgraces the patriot.

It brings shame, not honor; terror, not safety; despair, not hope; misery, not happiness; and with the malvolence of a friend it calmly surveys its frightful desolation, and not satisfied with the havoc, poisons felicity, kills peace, ruins morals, blights confidence and slays reputation, wipes out national heroes then curses the world and laughs at its ruin. (From the prospectus of the words of Burns).

Snyder, Texas.

Says Women Will Serve.
The Scurry County Times: As I read the article, "Beer Is Taken West of Town," on the front page of our Home County Paper last week, I noted with interest the statement of the sheriff that there could not be gotten together a jury that would convict violators of the liquor laws in Scurry County now-days. I thought of the Scripture where Elijah said, "I have been very jealous for the Lord God of hosts; because the Children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant, thrown down thine altars and slain thy prophets with the sword; and I, even I only, am left; and they seek my life, to take it away" (I Kings 19:14). "And God said unto Elijah: Yet, I have left me seven thousand in Israel, all the knees which have not bowed unto Baal, and every mouth which hath not kissed him" (I Kings 19:18).

I believe we have more than enough men in Scurry County to serve on juries who have not bowed their knees to Baal nor kissed his mouth. Why not select a jury to convict the liquor violators from true Christian men? I do not mean those who merely call themselves Christian, but those who are living Christian lives. If you can't get a jury from them after making a thorough trial, just give some of us women a chance to serve.
MRS. GEORGE McDOWELL,
Snyder, Texas, August 1, 1933.

NRA MATERIAL ARRIVING HERE

Material is arriving almost daily at the Chamber of Commerce office in anticipation of the public drive for NRA support that is to be launched by federal authorities through local organizations.

No definite instructions as to release of the information has yet been received, however. It is expected that a public rally will be called on the eve of the program.

Horace Young is in Fort Worth visiting with his sister Mrs. Roscoe Hughes.

Perhaps, then, this association may be classed as one of the unusual for at this time I desire to express to you, in behalf of the association, our sincere approval of the industrial plan in which you, as a member of the Legislature entered into your duties and attempted to perform and do those things which you thought were to the best interests of the state of Texas.

Personally, I enjoyed meeting with you and discussing with you and before the committees of which you were a member some of the issues which you had to consider. Our idea in presenting to you the views of our association upon those matters in which we were particularly interested, because of daily contact therein, which you were called to regulate or provide for, was merely to assist you and aid you in solving your problems. Allow me to say that at all times I found you to be a willing listener and apparently anxious to receive all of the information, statistics and data concerning the problems you had to consider. While we may have differed sometimes on the conclusion to be reached, that is but natural, and it was indeed gratifying to know that your mind was open for information.

This association desires to congratulate you upon your work in the Legislature and also to congratulate the people you represent upon having selected a student of affairs and a man of ability.

With kind regards to you, we are,
Respectfully yours,

WEST TEXAN WAITING FOR A RAINY DAY

Austin, August 9—Josh Hopkins, 80 years old, who because of a rupture, has to be waited on like a baby by his wife, 64, and suffering from stomach trouble, has watched anxiously out his window all spring and summer for the slightest indication of rain. He lives in the driest section of West Texas.

"I'll sure come tomorrow," he smiled wanly at Mary as she propped him on the pillow. "Then we can plant."

But it didn't. The wind blew. Dust storms swept across the horizon. The ground of his little farm was bare and hard, as the top soil was washed away.

Mary had been hopeful, too, but only she knew of the diminishing supply of canned fruit and the increasing difficulty of securing meat for the corn pone Josh loves so well.

Last week Mary reached the limit of her resources. She had been hearing of some aid extended to the poor folks down on the creek, living in a tent.

"Josh and I have been here a long time and always did our part with take and things," she had been herself. "I'm going to write to the governor, because I believe she will help us."

Cautiously she slipped the ruled tablet and pencil to the kitchen table so Josh could not know, and when he was having his nap she hurried to the mail box to post her letter to the governor, who referred it to the Texas Rehabilitation and Relief Commission.

Ira Baptist Church Association's Host For August Meeting

Ira Baptist Church will be host next Tuesday to the regular monthly workers' conference of the Mitchell-Scurry Association.

Rev. R. E. Braton will lead the devotional at 9:45 a. m. Rev. Phillip C. McCahey, Snyder pastor, will speak on "What Must Be the Attitude of the Believer for God to Answer His Prayer?" Rev. A. C. Hardin of Loring will follow with a talk on "How Can the Christian Help the Unsaved to Get in an Attitude That God Will Answer Their Prayers?"

After lunch and the board and business meetings, Rev. M. C. Bishop of Post will speak on "The Sunday School Teacher's Part in Teaching the Church How to Pray." Jim Fields will give a special song, and H. L. Wren of Snyder will tell "How the Deacons and the Laymen Can Best Assist the Church in Getting in an Attitude of Prayer?" Rev. Walter Dever of Snyder will give the inspirational talk of the day.

Justin McCarty, Inc., Dallas dress manufacturer, announces plans for enlarging its capacity and increasing its workers to 250.

Delayed Report of Devenport Reunion On July 7 Is Printed

Blame Silas Devenport for the fact that no report of the Devenport reunion on July 7 was published in The Times. Silas writes from Lubbock, where he is attending Texas Tech, that he wrote the article in time, but failed to mail it.

Principals in the gathering were the sons and daughters of the late W. C. Devenport. The reunion was held at the home of T. C. Devenport at Ira. Two brothers, C. L. of Snyder and the host, and one sister, Mrs. A. C. Watson of Sweetwater, were also guests of the day.

A majority of the grandchildren of Grandfather Devenport were present, as were 13 great-grandchildren. Several friends, neighbors and "in-laws" completed the gathering of more than 50 persons. The sumptuous dinner was spread under the apple trees. Just after the noon meal Rev. Cal McCahey spoke to the group on "Reunion."

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wren, Miss Geraldine Shuler, H. C. Shuler and W. H. Shuler Jr. left Tuesday morning for Junction, where they will spend several weeks.

Mrs. C. E. Wade and daughter have returned to their home in Laredo after an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Porter.

VOTING RELIEF BONDS ON 26TH URGED BY WITT

Lieutenant Governor Changes His Position After Noting Drouth Conditions in the State.

Lieutenant Governor Edgar Witt of Waco, an original opponent of the proposed constitutional amendment permitting the Legislature to issue relief bonds, today announced that after acquainting himself with the relief situation he believes it would be a tragedy not to adopt the proposal.

"When the Legislature submitted the proposed amendment in the spring," said the lieutenant governor, "I was hopeful that we would not need federal aid in Texas. But there have been developments since then, and I have learned the true and dark picture of suffering in Texas and I now believe it would be sheer tragedy to defeat the relief bonds."

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR EDGAR WITT

"Twenty per cent of our population is now on relief rolls, but that is only a part of the picture. More than that proportion are unemployed, using the last of their reserves or savings, but not yet on relief rolls. This class will be the first absorbed in the re-employment provided by the National Recovery Act, leaving those on the rolls still to be publicly maintained."

"Some people don't like what they term setting precedent in voting bonds. I don't like it either, but we are confronted with a condition and not a theory. Two years ago the people, by a direct vote, authorized the Legislature to spend money on a Centennial celebration, but it has taken cognizance of the depression and has not appropriated any money for that purpose. I am certain that if the people vote to trust the issue of relief bonds to the Legislature, not one dollar more than needed will be issued and the whole issue will be thoroughly safeguarded against waste, extravagance and corruption."

Hernleigh To Open School Doors Next Week, Kerr States

Doors of the Hernleigh schools will be open Monday morning for the 1933-34 term. Superintendent E. E. Kerr said while in Snyder early this week.

The opening date was set early in order that the usual turn-out for cotton picking might not delay the final closing time next fall.

Hernleigh enters the school year with a certainty of nine full months in class rooms. Economic management and a fair income have made this outlook possible.

Hobbs school, in the edge of Fisher County, opened its doors Monday of this week, with good attendance and its usual strong faculty.

A few county schools will begin within the next two weeks, but most of them will wait until early September or later. Plainview, with its spanking new building, has announced September 4 as its opening date, and Camp Springs school will open on the same Monday.

Here's One Good Way To END AGONY OF NEURITIS

Newark Man Knows How And Loses 10 Pounds

"Gentlemen: I used Kruschen Salts to try and get rid of neuritis from which I had suffered for one year in my left shoulder and arm. . . I took a little of the salts in the morning, sometimes in my coffee, other times in water. I would also occasionally take a dose in water at night before retiring. For three months I used the salts and while I lost 10 pounds in weight, the pain in my shoulder has entirely disappeared. During the time I was taking the salts I received no other medical treatment so I am fully convinced Kruschen Salts did the trick."—C. K. Murray, Newark, N. J.

Subject of sermon, "What is the Matter with Snyder?" The Epworth League meets at 7:45 p. m. with a good program. Our evening services will be dismissed for the revival at the city tabernacle being conducted by Rev. E. C. Lambert. He is doing some excellent preaching. Every Methodist is urged to attend these services.

Through the night comes a call for help

THE alarm bell on the switchboard at Miss Freeman's head tinkled as the hands of the clock reached 4 one morning. "Operator? Send Dr. Palmer out right away. We live four miles west, you know." Miss Freeman was ringing the doctor when she noticed a reflection against the sky. The doctor didn't answer. What was wrong? Was that a fire in the north of town? She stepped to the window. That shed by the Black place was on fire. It was out by the road away from the house. It would burn before the firemen could get there. As she tried to ring the doctor again, Miss Freeman realized that his telephone line had burned. Perhaps a life was in peril. She called a neighbor. No answer. At last a sleepy voice, two blocks down the street, said . . . "Hullo?" "Will you call Dr. Palmer, please. His telephone isn't working. An emergency call. The Bamberger home. Four miles west."

Miss Freeman smiled at an item in the Hillsdale notes of the local paper the next week:

"Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bamberger are the proud parents of a 9-pound son, born last Friday morning."

The telephone is ready day or night . . . in case of fire . . . to call the doctor . . . to order a part for a machine . . . to get the price for eggs . . . to visit friends. You can buy few things which cost so little and are worth so much.

Snyder Member of C. C. C. Relates Experiences in Pima, Arizona, Camp

Boss Baze, Snyder. Dear Boss: I got your bundle of Scurry County Times yesterday, and they were most welcome indeed, as we have had very little news from the outside world since arriving here.

Will relate some of our experiences since enrolling in the C. C. C. and try to give you an idea of this company and the men in it.

After spending about two weeks in Fort Bliss, our company, composed of men from Texas and New Mexico, was split into two sections. On the morning of July 11 all of the New Mexico and about 30 Texas men, with the regular army officers and non-coms in chain of command, trained for Douglas, Arizona, and on to a work camp in Rucker Canyon, about 30 or 40 miles out from Douglas.

The next day the balance of us, about 91 men, took the train, joining the company of 110 men from San Antonio with their officers and non-coms, so this company is made up entirely of Texas men; hence the name of this camp, Patman. We came over the main line of the Southern Pacific to Bowie, Arizona, where we were switched off onto the Globe branch, and late that afternoon we unloaded at Patman and took trucks to our camp, which is located in Tripp Canyon in the Graham Mountain division of the Crook National Forest. I am sending you a descriptive folder of the Crook National Forest, and if you look at the map and find the road from Pima to a point at the end marked (W) you will have the exact location of our camp. Our job is to improve this road, which was laid out and graded last winter, and then extend it on up into the mountains.

The camp here is about 5,200 feet above sea level, and over 2,000 feet higher than the towns in the Gila River Valley, about 25 or 30 miles northwest of us. The people along this valley are all Mormons, and have been in this country since the 70's. They irrigate from the Gila River, and raise alfalfa, corn, grain, apples and livestock.

All the older houses are built of brick, made at the place of building, which give the valley the appearance of age one usually sees in the Crook National Forest. The people in this country are very sociable and friendly. Legion boys from the town of Safford are coming out to the camp this afternoon with an entertainment and musical program. As to the men in this company, we are all the same in one respect at least—broke and out of work until this opportunity came along. There are no "reds" or radicals here, and very few "gold bricks." In my tent are seven men: One man who sleeps on my left was a lieutenant in the 141st Infantry during the war; on the other side an electrical engineer, with no work for over two years, who holds a reserve lieutenant's commission in the Signal Corps; and two others who soldiered with Sam Dreben, the Jewish soldier of fortune and a top sergeant in the 132nd Infantry during the war. Some are broke business men and farmers, but the majority are wage earners who have had no work for a long time.

The forest service men here are highly pleased with our work. They were a little doubtful before we arrived as to the quality of men we would turn out to be, but we have convinced them that we wanted to work, as they say we have done more in the time we have been here than any body of men they have ever worked before.

For the past week I have been in a work party building a telephone line from the camp to West Park lookout tower. It is marked on the map and is about 4 1/2 miles from the camp and about 8,000 feet higher than sea level and 3,000 feet higher than the camp. We have blazed a trail through the timber and up the mountain slopes that are so steep we sometimes have to hook our axes on a tree higher up in order to get along. We will string the wire next.

Last Thursday our foreman, a forest ranger, and one of the party jumped a brown bear. I did not see it myself but could hear him getting away. There are lots of white-tail deer here and a few black-tails. It gets hot here in the middle of the day, and cold at nights. In this part of the country the winters are not so very cold, although there is some snow.

Give my regards to all the Legion boys, and let me hear from you some time soon. I certainly enjoy the papers.

ROY S. HENDRICKS, Pima, Arizona, July 23.

During July the Donna Canning Factory was turning out 3,000 cases of tomatoes daily with 250 employees engaged during the busy season. Olimo Company Cannery, nearby, was putting out 1,500 cases daily. The grapefruit season in September will see these and two or three others in the Rio Grande Valley busy.

Bonham Cotton Mill has been forced to import experienced labor and it now working two full shifts with about 250 workers engaged.

After a shutdown of six months, the plant of the West Texas Refining Company at Pecos has been reopened, bringing back more than 50 families.

CITY RECEIVES $702 IN TAXES

Receipt of $702.02 in taxes, representing last-half payments on 1932 assessments, was reported for the month of July by Walter Camp, collector, to the City Council in regular monthly session Monday night.

Pines for the month totaled only $21.40, while water and sewer collections were above the average. Guy Adams, water superintendent, was granted a 10-day vacation, which began Tuesday. Other business was of a routine nature.

Intelligence is what you get from home. Common sense you must develop yourself. Learning is what you obtain in school. Knowledge is what the world hands you. Judgment comes only with the years. Experience is a bitter medicine administered by life itself, and must be taken with a bit of conscience. Wisdom is a phantom often chased but seldom overtaken. Success or failure are a matter of opinion. Reputation is the golden scale. Contentment the final objective.—Buckeye, Archbold, Ohio.

Increased farm prosperity is seen in the 50 per cent increase in the demand for harness, collars and saddles over 1932 reported by the Schoellkopf Company, Dallas, which is working twice as many employees in its manufacturing plant as a year ago and thrice the number of working hours. Saddle sales showed such an increase that the company, after hiring all available workers in their territory, had to send to other states for workers.

Vanns Return From Reunion In Alabama

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Vann and son Bobby returned early this week from Birmingham, Alabama, where they attended the annual reunion of Vanns and their "in-laws." They also visited at other points in the southern states.

The Vann reunion, as usual, attracted more than 250 relatives, who drove to a park several miles from Birmingham for the festivities of the day. The local J. C. Penney Company manager reports that the NRA is already of immense benefit in industrial centers.

What right has anyone to take a billion dollars from the public and leave it to worthless progeny?
