WHO ARE YOUR BEDFELLOWS?

have been the attacks of crime and lawlessness. We can take our choice which we shall give in to." They talk much of liquor law repeal, but they talk not at all of local or state enforcement laws to take the place of those repealed.

"Our county was practically free from crime," another statement in the circular reads. A careful check of the district court criminal docket reveals that during the period from 1908 to adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment (11 years), there were 17 indictments for murder or assault with attempt to murder, 13 indictments for rape or seduction.

"The idea of federal unity which rests behind the Eighteenth Amendment, far from being a violation of the doctrine of states' rights, is one of the highest expressions of this doctrine; for it is the sovereign right as specifically provided in the constitution of three-fourths of the states to adopt a uniform national policy and to have that policy administered uniformly and cooperatively by the federal and state governments. This is the sovereign right of the United States. It is this right which makes the United States united."

"Who are your bedfellows? All the drinkers are for beer and repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. All the racketeers and their political allies are voting wet. Practically every millionaire in the nation is voting (and paying) wet, because he knows he can thus shift much of his income tax to the shoulders of the beer and whiskey drinker.

"Bringing the question back to our very hearthstones, why was the petition asking for a local option election silenced overnight, after it had been circulated by a group of anti's? The only answer we see is that the handwriting was on the wall . . . leaders of the repeal and beer forces decided that the local option vote might not be as healthy for them as their cocksure attitude would lead you to believe."

Perhaps the Eighteenth Amendment will be repealed. Perhaps beer will be legalized in Texas. But let us say by our ballots Saturday that Scurry County will not join the horde that is fostering the most damning backward step in the history of our commonwealth!

THE WEEKLY DOZEN

Things Unseen.

A noted critic says people must have faith in their currency. Faith, as you know, is belief in things unseen.—Corisiana Sun.

Patriotism Versus Noise.

There are a lot of folks besides youngsters who have not learned to dissociate patriotism from noise.—Ponca City (Oklahoma) News.

Subject to Analysis.

In the long run those in authority in a democracy are best off when their acts are subjected to constant and impartial analysis and criticism.—Alfred R. Smith.

Give NIRA a Chance.

NIRA is very new and vitally important. If we must shoot at it, let us at least give this piece of legislation a chance to show us the whites of its eyes.—Heywood Brown.

A Program of Action.

The moment the American people discovered that President Roosevelt had a real program aimed at the restoration of prosperity and that something actually was going to be done, they began to bound high from the depths of pessimism.—NRA News.

Woolen Mills—In Texas.

We are a funny bunch of people—us Texans. Here we produce a large part of the mohair crop—80 per cent, in fact—then send it out of the country, to the East, in other words—have it made into clothing and so on, shipped back to Texas for selling to us folks who have been responsible for its production.—Chillicothe Valley News.

A Code for Gangsters.

The codes submitted by the various industries seem to be productive of much good, but before complete peace of mind can reign, the gangsters will have to submit theirs. It will be worth something to have the assurance that a person will be likely to be black-jacked or held up only during a five-day week eight hours per day.—Stanton Reporter.

Congressional Fires Burning.

Prospects are bright for a grand free-for-all in the race for Congress from the new 19th District. The field is now full of candidates and there are rumors that a number of other hopefuls will toss their hats into the ring within a short time. We expect plenty of hot campaigning for this important office before the election is over.—Jayton Chronicle.

A Surprise for Some.

Some of these fellows who have in mind to enter the refreshment business if the voters decide three-point-two is permissible on August 26, are probably going to get the surprise of their lives. Best we can tell it'll cost about $500 in various kinds of permits and taxes before they can start. No, sir, it won't be like opening up a lemonade stand.—Dublin Progress.

Bear Not False Witness.

Gossip is one of the greatest evils of all time, for in most instances the victims are absolutely innocent of any wrong-doing. In our conception of the hereafter, we see gossipers, who have sent innocent persons into social exile—and in many cases to suicide—burning to the crisp in the hottest fires that the lower regions can produce. Beware that thou bear not false witness.—Huntsville Item.

Suggestions to Uncle Sam.

Wouldn't it be nice if the government would mail out checks to people for the lack of rain on their ranches, or for praying that it wouldn't rain so that the sheep and cattle wouldn't grow, just as they have done for plowing up cotton acreage, and propose to do by killing off millions of little pigs? Menard would then have a good income without as much as having to exercise one prayer bone.—Menard Messenger.

Can't Sit Idly By.

One of the most prominent citizens in Stephenville made the statement the past week that ordinarily he was opposed to bond issues of any nature and especially so would he oppose improvement issues of any character at this time, "but I can't sit idly by and allow these unfortunate people to go without aid if by voting for this relief measure it will mean food and clothing for them," he said.—Stephenville Empire-Tribune.

Doctor—"What is your occupation?"
Patient—"It isn't an occupation—it's a pursuit. I'm a bill collector."

If you can't "take it" don't admit it. When a man loses his fighting spirit he's whipped.—Herald-Patriot, Charlton, Iowa.

It's Time To Vote.

Only 1,101 persons paid their poll taxes in time to qualify for voting in Saturday's election. All these, plus voters and unders, will probably not hoist the total vote to more than 1,300.

These 1,300 votes should be all the more carefully cast because they are destined to express the sentiments of more than 12,000 people. Hundreds of more poll taxes would have been paid if each $1.75 receipt had not been so hard to obtain. $1.75 was much money, and most folks thought there would not be anything important on which to vote this year.

The problem in this democracy of ours has always been to get out the vote. Citizens are usually so democratic that they exercise their prerogative to stay away from the polls.

The foundation stones for our future will be largely molded out of the votes cast Monday. Each of the five questions on which ballots will be cast are so important that no poll tax payer should consider for a moment to stay away from his voting place.

Following is The Times' stand on each of the issues to be voted on Saturday:

AGAINST repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. See front page editorial. If you vote dry, scratch out delegates in first column of the long ballot.

AGAINST sale of 3.2 beer and wine in Texas. See front page editorial again.

FOR adoption of a Home Rule Charter in counties of 62,000 or more. This amendment to the state Constitution would affect only six counties in the state. It gives voters authority to combine, for economy and efficiency's sake, many overlapping governmental functions.

FOR giving the Legislature authority to issue bonds not to exceed $20,000,000 "for relieving the hardships of unemployment." See front page editorial.

FOR amendment exempting homesteads from state taxes. This merely means that a few counties not privileged by statute to participate in the homestead law voted overwhelmingly last year may participate in that measure. Even if you did not favor the homestead law, you will only be equalizing the law already in effect if you vote "for" on this occasion.

SAYING IT IN RHYME

THE REAL LIFE.

If you would live a real life,
A life that is happy and true;
You should do unto others
As you'd have them do unto you.

You should always be cheerful and jolly,
And never be mean or small;
But instead to a blow with a carress
And bring good-will to us all.

If you should want to be happy
You should always be kind to the old;
And so as your conscience bids you,
And practice self-control.

You should always be kind to dumb brutes,
For they belong to nature old;
And when one does a wrong to nature,
It comes back a thousand-fold.

But the same is true about kindness,
For when a person helps the Lord
That person sooner or later
Is sure to get his reward.

If you want to live a real life,
And happiness won't come to you;
Then you must go to happiness—
That's really the best thing to do!

—William Vernon, Byron.

Used Car Salesman—"What's the matter with the car you bought last week?"
Holder—"Well, everything makes a noise but the horn."

CURRENT COMMENT

BY LEON GUINN

Of interest to the general public is the publisher's code that General Hugh Johnson has refused to accept as bona fide. . . . Just why any and every newspaper should need a specific code has never been clearly ascertained. . . . Newspapers and magazines should and do fly the NRA eagle (small reproductions, eaglets) where the casual reader's eye will verify the cooperative act. . . . Large newspaper chains (Hearst, Scripps-Howard, McCormick-Patterson and other chains) can absorb increased costs by complying strictly with NRA blueprints, but weekly papers and small dailies will find it a bit difficult to up wages (50 per cent of costs go for labor) and shorten hours. . . . The license clause is an irritant, since authority to license implies authority to prohibit. . . . Prime question: Will freedom of the galleys be abridged—that is, what little is left?

The NRA recovery drive is being weighed in the balances, and the next 10 days will judge the result, the odds favoring success. . . . Here's the situation: The farmers must be paid their money on the barrel-head for plowing up cotton to create purchasing power. . . . The press failed to say just what F. D. R. thought of Owen Sherrill and Henry Morgenthau Jr. popping off without White House authority. . . . Wise Boy Morgenthau wanted to invoke the law of 1875, retain government checks, repay back crop loans to those indebted. . . . It wasn't for publication, but certain words were artfully uttered about every federal employee running to F. D. R. for authority—authority to do this and that, when they already had "the stroke." . . . Brilliant F. D. R. reasoned thus: The government has promised increased purchasing power. . . . So far the farmer has hoped, must have the coin. . . . If they do not hustle checks, won't have the coin. . . . If they do not hustle checks, won't have the coin. . . . The G. O. P. wants a few scalps, knows failure just now would herald Demo defeat.

Here's another official tough spot: Secretary of Agriculture Wallace had farmers sign authorization blanks to sell cotton held as collateral for 1931-1932 crop production loans. . . . He and others failed to follow this lead and sell before the crop report was released. . . . Had Wallace played the stock market wisely, a few Wall Street brokers could have worked on a commission basis, pegged the price of cotton at 8.75 to 8.90 when cotton was in the 11-cent bracket. . . . Selling now will not balance the collateral and pay the account. . . . Postmaster General Jim Farley condemns tipster sheets, yet tipster charts would have warned of impending price downing. . . . So it is a case of an agriculture secretary in the cotton mart, but failing to follow up leads. . . . If "stop-loss orders" are issued to sell the cotton, pay past-due notes now, watch for criticism. . . . The American Press has refused to sing itself silly in praise, has the acumen to point out weak places, and emphasize, however, the strong administration ideals.

EDITORIAL OF THE WEEK

FROM AN EXCHANGE

Radio's Unethical Tactics.

The abuses are threatening the use of radio.

The case in point is the recent announcement from Paris that an intensive pro-French propaganda is to be instituted in the United States at the expense of the French government, and that trans-Atlantic radio broadcasts will comprise a part of the campaign.

Such a maneuver will require a "hook-up" with American stations for dissemination of the French propaganda throughout this country. Thus the homes of America are to be invaded by un-American, and even hostile, doctrines with the complicity of American radio institutions—if the French scheme goes through.

What warning will the unwary American listener-in be given? Will the French broadcasts be preceded by American announcement: "The program you are about to hear is paid for by the French government, and is a part of the official French propaganda against the United States"? Or will the assisting American radio stations omit such words and help France's efforts to deceive and mislead the American public?

Do not assume that the idea is at all far fetched. France is not the originator of this system of radio propaganda—nor have American radio stations been guiltless in the past.

On more than one occasion this newspaper has protested editorially against the bad manners and breach of hospitality shown by visitors from Britain and other European countries, who while sojourning as guests on our shores have been permitted to make questionable use of American radio facilities to plead for debt cancellation or otherwise to spread European propaganda in the households of America.

And sometimes in our domestic affairs the radio has been grievously abused.

In California, right now, a bill is pending in the Legislature affecting radio practices.

Its purpose is to stop the broadcasting in that state of false, fraudulent or obscene matter.

The need of such protection was seen during the recent earthquake in Southern California, when, not content with the grossest exaggeration concerning the number of the dead and dying as reported by radio, local broadcasters had the ignorant audacity to predict the coming of still more disastrous earthquakes, and even to state the very hour.

It will take Southern California longer to recover from the alarmist, reckless and irresponsible statements of the panicky radio broadcasters than it will to repair and rebuild its damaged property.

When modern mechanical science gave the speed of lightning to the spoken word, it was never intended that wireless should become a medium for broadcasting alarmist and untruthful reports.

It was not the purpose of its inventors to widen the range and quicken the pace of false rumors, or to spread propagandist misinformation to every corner of the globe.

Instead of accentuating, they hoped to minimize, and ultimately to abolish the evils of inter-regional, inter-racial and international misunderstanding.

Radio should be governed by the standards which control reputable journalism, and if it is not to be self-restrained by an ordinary sense of the proprieties, the government—national as well as state—should prevent its spreading false news.—New York American.

"John," said the new judge, "I have known you for many years. I am sorry that my first duty is to try you for being intoxicated. What was your reason, if any, for getting drunk?"

"To celebrate your election," responded the offender.

A fourth story for page one. You may be sure it was carried into hundreds of homes during the next few weeks, and formed the basis for many a long evening's discussion. As the meal drew to its close there came a dramatic interruption—a ruler of the city made his way slowly to the head of the table and stood silent, bowed by the terrible weight of his grief. That morning he had sat at his daughter's bedside, clasping her frail white hand in his

So he had come, this ruler, to the strange young man, whose deeds of healing were the sensation of the day.

Was it too late? The ruler had thought so when he entered the door, but as he stood in that splendid presence a new thrilling conviction gripped him: "Master, my daughter is even now dead," he exclaimed, "but come and lay your hand on her and she will live." "If I get up in the morning feeling dull and sluggish, a dose of Black-Draught taken three times a day will cause the feeling to pass away, and in a day or two I feel like a new person. After many years of use we would not exchange Black-Draught for any medicine."

J'EVER STOP TO THINK?

BY EDSON R. WAITE

Newspapers do not cater to a chosen few. They work for the whole community.

Our present position is far from hopeless. The fact that the whole world is worried and working to find a way out is laden with hope. If only a sincere effort is made to build up and not tear down, a wave will be started which will traverse the whole country and sweep away the fear that has been caused by the present economy wave and once again money will circulate so people can work.

The man who thinks he knows it all and won't cooperate with the other citizens of the home town is just a mistake and it's a mistake to have him around.

We are living in an era of fast road traffic, and all indications point to the fact that it will become faster as road surfaces are improved. Therefore, it behooves all traffic, wheeled or pedestrian, to acquire a highly developed sense of regard, not only for their own safety but for the safety of others.

In writing ads, business men should make them plain so everyone can understand them. They should not skimp in space for the sake of a few cents or leave out any essential point. After they write them they should read them over from the standpoint of a possible customer.

It seems a pity, but nevertheless true, that in human affairs it is the prophecies of misfortune that come true more often than those which create hopes and appear for the good of humanity.

Most of the diplomacy of high finance seems to be shrouded in mystery.

A newspaper is not a luxury in a home. It is a necessity.

Dibble—"I have lost that gold pencil of mine."

Friends of the Family

LOOK at the packages on your pantry and bathroom shelves, and see what a multitude of brand names you recognize. Some of them have been familiar for years. You may have made the acquaintance of others only a few weeks ago. But even these are not suspected strangers. You have bought them confidently because they were advertised. And it is the same with your sheets and towels, your shoes and clothes, your electric appliances, the car in your garage . . . nearly everything you use.

Advertised products have a standing that commands respect. They are not nameless, but vouched for by responsible firms. The fact that they are advertised is in itself an indication that their standards of quality are strictly maintained, that they represent honest value.

As science and discovery go on, newly developed products are constantly being advertised . . . ready to help you save money and improve your standard of living. Every advertisement of such a product you read in your newspaper is a letter of introduction to a new and possibly useful friend.

It will pay you to read the advertisements in this paper every week. By so doing you will meet many choice products . . . worthy to become friends of the family.

would pass before my eyes looking hungry, homeless, in rags and poverty and they would shake their bony fingers at me and say, "You did it; you, by your vote, took away the bread our great state and our great national government wanted to give us..."

I do not like to frighten little children, nor try it on sensible men and women. I prefer to appeal to minds that think—hearts that beat. I love those words—faith, hope, charity...

Are you willing to give the hungry man bread, or will you cast a stone at him? If you vote AGAINST you are putting a stone on his heart and yours. Borrowing money never yet cured a depression.

Will Do Well to Consider Facts of the Proposed Bond Amendment

1. The Federal government has spent $21,415.20 for relief in Scurry County alone during the past ten months. Almost $6,000 monthly is needed for relief of 2900 persons at this time. Uncle Sam has positively said that this relief will stop unless Texas does something to help herself. Giving the Legislature authority to issue relief bonds is the only way to retain this Federal Aid.
2. Thousands of families on Texas farms and in Texas cities are depending solely on outside aid. Neither counties, cities nor individuals are able to provide necessary funds. We must either vote in favor of this Amendment or leave many worthy men, women and children near the starvation point.
3. The Amendment itself provides that NO AD VALOREM OR PROPERTY TAX of any kind shall ever be levied against any farm, home or other real or personal property for the funding of interest or principal against such bonds.
4. The power that would be granted to the Legislature expressly limits the amount of relief bonds to $20,000,000, and the time of issuance to two years.
5. No matter what article or how many are taxed, the average per capita cost will be only 50 cents . . . THAT'S ALL . . . Fifty Cents a year for the next ten years per person in order to raise $20,000,000 or what part of it that may be needed, to care for the homeless and hungry.
6. We are opposed to the general principal of issuing STATE BONDS . . . BUT THIS IS A CRISIS. The question resolves itself, in our opinion, as to whether you are willing to give the hungry man bread, or cast stones at him.

Exact Copy of Relief Amendment

Following is reproduced an exact copy of the principal section of Senate Resolution submitting the proposed constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to issue relief bonds.

"Section 51a.—The Legislature shall have power to authorize by law the issuance and sale of bonds of the State of Texas, not to exceed the sum of Twenty Million ($20,000,000) Dollars, bearing interest at a rate not to exceed four and one-half (4½) per centum per annum; and payable serially or otherwise not more than ten (10) years from their date, and said bonds shall be sold for not less than par and accrued interest, and no form of commission shall be allowed in any transaction involving said bonds. The proceeds of the sale of such bonds to be used in furnishing relief and work relief to needy and distressed people and in relieving the hardships resulting from unemployment, but to be fairly distributed over the state and upon such terms and conditions as may be provided by law, and the Legislature shall make appropriations as are necessary to pay the interest and principal of such bonds as the same becomes due.

"The power hereby granted to the Legislature to issue bonds hereunder is expressly limited to the amount stated and to two years from and after the adoption of this grant of power by the people. Provided that the Legislature shall provide for the payment of the interest and redemption of any bonds issued under the terms hereof from some source other than a tax on real property, and the indebtedness as evidenced by such bonds shall never become a charge against or lien upon any property, real or personal, within this state."
