

Signing the Consumer's Pledge Card

AN EDITORIAL.

It is not often that this newspaper feels itself duty-bound to publish facts or opinions that are aimed at all its readers. As a general rule, an editorial directly touches only a certain class of readers. One editorial reaches one group, another editorial another group, and, perhaps, some editorials never reach any group at all.

But this is one editorial we would like to burn so deeply into the heart of every reader that its reaction would be felt for years to come. This is one editorial that should stir a patriotic chord in every bosom, not because of its words or the newspaper in which it appears, but because of the tremendous message it carries.

That message, sounded from Maine to California, and from Florida to Washington, is embodied in three simple words: "Do Your Part."

My part and your part just now is to sign a Consumer's Statement of Cooperation with the NRA, then live up to all that the little pledge card implies.

What does the little pledge card imply? It implies, first of all, that we have a President and an administration that are risking their entire future on one giant program that we have come to know as the NRA. Common sense tells us that if President Roosevelt did not have a sincere conviction that the NRA would benefit the vast majority of his country's citizens, he would never have attempted this most radical experiment in modern history.

If the President and his associates are throwing every ounce of their energies into the depression fray, why should not we, as ordinary citizens, not follow suit, although we can not see all the immediate benefits we eagerly expected?

The NRA is nothing more than an effort to link every resource and every brain in the country into a chain that will break the back of the depression.

Most of the kicks against the NRA have come from those who do not understand its purposes and from those who do not want to do anything unless they are guaranteed some selfish profits. Practically every one who reads these lines belongs to the former class. Those who belong to Class No. 2 are so scarce and so unattractive that they are not worthy of addressing in this editorial or elsewhere.

Unlike most similar efforts that have been made in this and other countries since the world began, the NRA is organizing the farmer, the rancher, the merchant, the manufacturer, the laborer, the professional man, the housewife, the school child—everyone—under one banner.

In the very near past this country's government attempted to root the depression by loaning vast sums to the money barons who were in trouble with their finances. That turned out to be very much like pouring money into a rat hole.

The same administration made no effort whatsoever to raise the prices of farm and ranch products by asking one citizen after another to do some pulling on his own bootstraps. Always it was handing money and privileges to the high-ups without observing the down-and-outs except in a casual way.

Roosevelt started with the producer and the laboring man who works in factory and office.

He told manufacturers and middle men that they must forget profits temporarily in an effort to hoist millions of unemployed men and women back into paying jobs. He told merchants from one end of the nation to the other that they must sacrifice now if they expected to gain later; sacrifice profits for the benefit of their employees and their consumers; sacrifice until buying power is on its feet again.

He told producers—men and women who toil on the soil and with the soil—that their interests would be cared for first of all. Not only did he increase buying power by putting hundreds of thousands of new men to work, and by raising the salaries of hundreds of thousands who were already working—he did more.

He said to the cotton farmer: "There is too much cotton. The price can not be raised much so long as a huge crop is in the offing. Plow up part of your crop and I'll pay you a fair price for it." Farmers responded heartily. The plow-up campaign was completed, and checks are coming into West Texas by the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

He said to the wheat farmer: "Reduce your acreage and I'll guarantee you a good price." Who does not know that the various government actions were largely responsible for the wheat advance to 75 cents, 81 and slightly more in some cases?

He said to the producer of all things agricultural: "All things can not be accomplished at one blow. The evils of our economic system can not be ironed out in a few weeks. But if you, as farmers and ranchers, will support this nation-wide program, simply by signing this Consumer's Statement of Cooperation, and by following the plan behind it, the prices of livestock, cotton, wheat, flour, overalls, shoes, piece goods, cutlery and everything else in common usage will be balanced remarkably soon."

True, cotton is not bringing a million dollars a pound, but it is bringing at least two or three cents more than it would have brought had the NRA program never been started. Cream, eggs and poultry are not bringing profligate prices, but they are destined to rise in proportion to the farmer's and the rancher's and the store clerk's support of the NRA program.

This is a battle to the death. There is no other way out. If we had been faced with the same conditions in Cuba, or in Spain, or in Italy, or in France, or in Russia, we would have seen one of the most violent physical revolutions in the history of the world. Instead, the temperament of our people, the solidity of our civilization, the spirit of our leaders have made it possible for us to have only a vast economic and social revolution.

This revolution is not against our government. It is against the orge of men known as the depression. Indeed, the government and all its resources are leaders of the revolutionary forces.

What we do demand is that the government pick up our lips, and say with childish thickheadedness, "I won't sign anything for anybody?" Or will we say, "Yes, Mr. President, I want to get out of this depression as quickly as possible, and I'll do my part?"

This is plain talk. It is plain talk, to say that it is the patriotic duty of every man and woman to study the plan through and through before he places his judgment on it. Then, if he, as the majority of other Americans call the plan good and support it tooth and toenail, we shall pull out of this ordeal before many more months have passed. Hundreds of cards have already been signed in this county. Have you signed yours?

NEW MARRIAGE LAW IS ACTIVE

Effective Tuesday of last week August 29—the new state marriage law became effective.

Briefly, the new law says that it is not necessary to file notice of intention to marry three days previous to securing the license and that medical examination of the prospective bridegroom is no longer necessary.

Repeat of the "gin" marriage law was pushed through the last Legislature, after pressure from many sources, particularly from counties near the borderlines of other states, where it was alleged that the law had little or no effect.

It is yet necessary for men under 21 or women under 18 to receive parental or guardian sanction before they may secure licenses.

Four licenses had already been issued in the office of Mrs. Mattie B. Trimble, county clerk, when the marriage records were examined yesterday.

Jimmie Greene Says Beer's Coming Back

Colorado's sage, radical and pacifist came to town Wednesday.

Along with his tales of Mitchell County progress and palaver, he made the oracle-like prophecy that beer would come legally to his bailiwick as soon as another election came along in about six months.

Jimmie Greene is his name, of course. He is also Chamber of Commerce secretary.

He added, for the benefit of Scurry County farmers, that B. J. Baskins of Coke County has succeeded W. B. Foster as county agent.

Foster, after several years of outstanding work, was promoted to El Paso County.

NRA CHECK-UP GROUP STARTS ITS ACTIVITIES

Community Committees Bring In Good Reports After Saturday Gathering At Snyder.

An NRA check-up committee was named Tuesday night at a meeting of the county executive committee.

The new committee is to begin its work this week by presenting an NRA employer's questionnaire to each merchant, large and small, inside the town of Snyder. It is also delegated to investigate complaints concerning violation of Blue Eagle rules.

The questionnaires, made out according to suggestions direct from Washington, are intended to reveal effects of signing the code, as to salaries, hours, increased employees and other points.

Delay in receiving NRA consumer's checkers continues to be a postponement of the house-to-house drive here. The women's committee in charge expects to receive the material in time to make the campaign Friday of this week.

Members of community committees that gathered in the courthouse Saturday afternoon have since made favorable reports concerning response to their canvass.

About 40 committee members heard Rev. E. C. Lambert, who described himself as "one of the unemployed millions," give a stirring appeal for signing of the consumer's pledge cards. Frank Farmer, in charge of community organization, presided and gave a short talk.

Mrs. Robert H. Curmiste, chairman of the women's division, told the men (only two women committee members present) that they should carry a message of hope to their wives and to the women's committee members in their communities.

F. I. Townsend, A. C. Preuit and J. C. Smyth also made brief talks. Pledge cards and Blue Eagle stickers were distributed at the close of the meeting.

Several women, under direction of Mrs. Curmiste and Mrs. Roland Bell, took their places in local stores Saturday afternoon and secured a number of signers.

Those who have not signed one of the cards may secure them, and, after signing, an emblem, from any merchant, the Chamber of Commerce, or the Times office.

Word is being sent throughout the state that Scurry County will have no need this fall for transient cotton pickers.

Joe Monroe, relief administrator, has advised the state office that in view of the plow-up program and south-shorement crop, it is possible that even the surplus labor in this county will not be absorbed by the oncoming crop.

Farmers who need cotton pickers are urged to notify the relief office, with Lee Davis in charge, indicated several days ago that the organization is definitely in this field again to purchase 1933 cotton.

Actually, Mr. Davis represents the West Texas Cotton Growers Association, which supersedes the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association. He has bought cotton here for several seasons, but is with the cooperative group for the first time. He was located at Post last season.

J. M. New of Colorado continues as district supervisor for Mitchell, Scurry and other nearby counties. He was in Snyder yesterday to supervise opening of the local office and to make arrangements, with Mr. Davis, for the work of the new season. He has lived in Colorado for eight years, and has occupied his present position for three years.

The local agent points out that the state-wide co-op will have no representatives in the area covered by the West Texas Association, and that all members of the older organization are expected to work through the West Texas body.

Several important departures from old methods and policies will be in effect, Mr. Davis said. One will be abandonment of the lengthy marketing contract which members have been previously required to sign. The grower automatically becomes a member of the new association at the time his cotton is delivered, and he is not required to sign anything before that time, whether he has been a member of the old organization or not.

Roy McCurdy, former local classifier, is now supervisor of the Hamilton-Robt-Rotan district.

Dunn Resident For Many Years Buried Sunday Afternoon

Funeral rites for J. V. Taylor, 53, were held Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist church, Dunn, with Rev. Grady Anderson, pastor, officiating. Odom Funeral Home of Snyder was in charge of services. The interment was in the Dunn cemetery.

Masons acted as pallbearers, and nieces of the deceased, Ruby Westcott of Odessa, Annie Lee and Modena Westcott of Seminole, and Gwendolyn Head of Snyder, were flower girls.

Surviving are his wife; a daughter, Pauline Taylor; his mother, Mrs. M. J. Taylor; one brother, Bill Taylor; and four sisters, one of whom is Mrs. Sam Head of Snyder.

Marvin Leach Coming

Rev. Marvin Leach of Roscoe will fill the First Baptist church pulpit Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. Philip C. McGahey, will return for the Sunday evening hour. He is in Dallas as preacher in a revival this week.

Regular Meeting of Veterans Next Week

Formation of an active auxiliary will be the chief business at the regular monthly American Legion meeting Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock. Buddies are urged to bring their wives, mothers and sisters to the meeting.

The district court room is to be the meeting place. Commander Lee T. Stinson and Adjutant A. C. Preuit urge a full attendance.

FLOOD WATERS PILE UP AS HURRICANE WHIPS COAST

This picture was taken in Corpus Christi Tuesday as the angry waters of one of the worst storms in Gulf annals broke over the low wall. The storm veered suddenly and its full force struck the Rio Grande Valley. Thirty-five known deaths, hundreds of injured and property damage running into millions of dollars formed the dark-hued picture reported by the daily newspapers this morning.

NO TRANSIENT COTTON CREW BEING INVITED

Scurry County Can Pick All Her Crop, Declares Joe Monroe, Relief Administrator.

Gasoline Prices Up One And Two Cents

Something else has come along to disturb the motorist's dream of happy days.

Gasoline prices, following advance in crude, took an upward jump a few days ago of two cents for the third grade and one cent for the first and second grades.

Requirements For Transporting All Pupils Are Given

There has been a general misunderstanding of the rules governing those who are eligible to be transferred into a school district at the state's expense, said County Superintendent Frank Farmer yesterday.

1—All high school students living in a district where their grade is not taught are allowed $2 monthly for transportation to another district. One dollar monthly is allowed for grade school pupils.

2—All students over two miles from school are allowed $2 each month if they are transferred to their respective schools by a bonded bus driver.

Permit Required Before Pigs May Bring Premium

Pig shippers must have written or telegraphic permits before shipment is made, to be entitled to the premium price paid by the government, and in order to allow a clean-up of the congested conditions at the Fort Worth stockyards, an embargo was effective beginning Saturday night.

Tendency of hog owners throughout the United States to send in hogs beyond the capacity of processing plants has resulted in an oversupply at all market centers. Shippers have been asked to withhold shipment until pigs on hand could be cleaned up. There has been a general disregard of this request with the result the government was obliged to take action and the Fort Worth stockyards obliged to declare an embargo on receiving hogs.

Permission is not needed to ship pregnant sows, it is pointed out. The minimum weight of sows qualified to receive government bounties has been lowered from 275 to 240 pounds.

Several Scurry County shippers were among those who found the yards so congested at Fort Worth last week that marketing costs outran the expected profit from their pigs.

The county agent is assisting in marketing some of the pigs from this territory, but he continues to advise farmers that they should not make shipment except in cases of excess or feed shortage.

Rev. Philip C. McGahey, host pastor, made a similar statement, and added that the two-day annual business and inspirational session was also outstanding because every speaker was on the program exactly as scheduled.

After Rev. P. D. O'Brien of Colorado, moderator, had preached to the joint gathering of men and women Tuesday at noon, lunch was served by women of the church to more than 500 visitors. A number remained for the night, and another large crowd was on hand for the Wednesday morning and afternoon sessions, and for another lunch in the church basement.

Plan Two Busses For Transporting Pupils To School

Plans are practically complete for running two busses out of Snyder each morning to gather transfer students and those who live on the edges of the local district.

One bus is scheduled to start this morning. It will bring in high school students from the Turner, Bethel and Crowder districts, and a few grade school students from the western edge of this district.

Jim Norred is the driver of the western-going bus. At least 45 children are expected to ride in it.

More than 20 scholastics from the Woodard district, and several more on the northern and northeastern edges of the Snyder district will probably be brought to the school by bus beginning next week. Final arrangements for this service had not been complete yesterday.

The Woodard district voted to effect a temporary consolidation with Snyder for its entire list of scholastics, 25 in number.

These will be the first school busses ever to serve the local district.

SCHOOL OPENS WITH LARGEST STUDENT BODY

About 1,000 Already Enrolled in Upper and Lower Grades; New Transfer Record.

A myriad of boys and girls, young men and young women, had flowed into Snyder schools this week.

The stream was so large and so continuous that when records were compiled this morning, it was discovered that approximately 1,000 students had enrolled. About 700 of these were in the grades, 300 in high school.

And more are coming. Before the enrollment peak is reached, more than 1,100 students may have been signed for courses.

It is the largest opening-week student body in local history by almost 100 students.

Enrollment figures were upped not only by those who caused this year's scholastic census roll to rise by 75 names, but by the largest group of transfers known to either grade or high school.

Two Busses Operated. Two busses are expected to bring at least 50 new high school students from Woodard, Turner, Bethel and Crowder districts before enrollment is over. Many other transfers, from districts not reached by busses, are here, too.

With the major part of enrollment completed last week, organization Monday was quiet and efficient despite the large attendance. High school classes met that day, assignments were completed, and work started in earnest Tuesday.

C. Wedgworth, superintendent, is highly pleased not only with the large enrollment and the auspicious beginning, but with the prospects for a year of equal work equal to the high spirit of opening days.

Only One New Teacher. When the opening assembly was held Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock, only one new teacher was introduced. She is Miss Elizabeth Ward of San Angelo, home economist instructor.

A number of parents were there, and the entire school board membership was on hand.

Short talks were made by Frank Farmer, county superintendent, and Rev. S. H. Young, pastor of the First Methodist Church, in addition to announcements by the superintendent and principals.

The superintendent placed special stress on a warning to transfer students. He called on students, faculty members, parents and city officials to cooperate in putting a stop to the dangerous practice.

Assemblies as Usual

High school assembly will be held Mondays and Fridays at 10:00 o'clock, regular assembly on Tuesdays. The same plan was followed last year. Physical education will come regularly on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Club meetings and home room programs will come alternately on Wednesdays.

Entrance examinations for all new students above the sophomore class will be held today (Thursday) and tomorrow, in accordance with requirements of the State Board of Education.

Mrs. Earl Fish Goes To Homecoming Of Normal At Gorman

Mrs. C. E. Fish, accompanied by her son, Creston Fish, and Miss Eva Nellie Arnold, were visitors in Gorman last week, where Mrs. Fish, an ex-student, attended the homecoming of the Hankins Normal College.

The college was established in 1905 and was run until the buildings burned in 1911. Over 400 ex-students from Texas, Mexico, Oklahoma, and even one from Salm, Oregon, attended this first reunion, which is to be made an annual affair. It was decided that the second Monday in August of every year would be a special date for the occasion. J. P. and J. H. Hankins of Lubbock, veterans in the educational world, are founders of the school and were principal speakers at the homecoming.

Of the 400 students, Mrs. Fish was the only woman who took part in the memorial program. She sang a vocal selection.

While in Gorman, Mrs. Fish, Miss Arnold and Creston were guests of Mrs. Fish's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wood, and her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wood. As Gorman was Mrs. Fish's former home, she also had many friends to greet her.

C. E. Sims of Gall, also an ex-student, attended. Several other students residing in Snyder were unable to be there.

Interest In Racing Strengthens Roundup

The public's new interest in horse racing since legalization of the sport by the Legislature is expected to help bring hundreds of people to Snyder for the fall roundup to be staged here September 22-23.

Bill Taylor, promoter of the affair, has been distributing circulars to cowboy centers, rodeos, fairs and elsewhere. He states that a number of the West's outstanding race ponies have already been lined up for the money races here, and that some of them will probably be brought to town soon.

Bill has also been busy getting the track and other equipment in condition. "There'll be at least 10,000 here for the two days," he predicts.

Summer finds much interest in the new patterns for linens. The model of the gown and jacket combination shown is cut full enough for comfort and yet has smart lines. It may be made of silk crepe, using the delightful touches of embroidery, lace and ribbon on the jacket, with the gown held at the waistline by a ribbon.

For a pattern, size 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 or 48, send 15c in coin, your Name, Address, Style Number and Size to Key Boyd, 103 Park Avenue, New York. Complete and simple sewing chart with each pattern.

This easily-made model is designed in four sizes: Small, 34 to 36; medium, 38 to 40; large, 42 to 44; and extra large, 46 to 48. Size medium, 38 to 40, requires 4 2-3 yards of material, 35 inches wide. The gown alone requires 8 1/2 yards, the jacket alone 1 2-3 yards.

Novel Desserts Not Successful

By Durres Crane, Famed Hotel Food Manager.

A dessert to be successful need not be novel. In fact, most people have a favorite that they will order almost invariably when dining out, and will prepare or ask to be served in the home. The season, of course, has a great deal to do with the selection but here are some desserts that may be served any month of the year. We have found them popular at all of our hotels.

FROZEN LEMON PIE.

First take four egg yolks, one whole egg, six ounces of sugar and mix and whip all while warming in a double boiler. Take off the fire after 10 minutes. Then take one pint of heavy cream, juice of five lemons, the finely grated rind of one lemon. Whip the heavy cream, add the lemon juice, the rind and the first preparation. Finally take ice tray from electric refrigerator, cover with a thin layer of sponge cake, pour the paste in it, decorate with whipped cream and keep in refrigerator until the paste gets hard. The pie is ready to serve.

JAM CAKE.

One cup of sugar, half cup of Crisco, three eggs (slightly beaten); half cup of cocoa and half cup of water; one cup strawberry jam, half cup of sour milk, two and half cups of flour, half teaspoon of soda, half teaspoon of baking powder and half teaspoon of salt. Cream the Crisco, sugar and eggs together. Stir in hot water mixed with cocoa and the jam. Add the sour milk alternately with the sifted dry ingredients. Pour into two large or three small layer cake tins. Bake at 375 degrees F. or 390 degrees F. for about 30 minutes.

BOMBE FAVORITE.

Chill a mold and line it with vanilla ice cream in a layer about half an inch thick. Fill the mold with strawberry ice cream and freeze in electric refrigerator until ice cream is firm. When ready to serve dip the mold in lukewarm water and shake out the bombe to a chilled serving plate. Decorate the bombe with whipped cream to suit. A delicious sauce for this dessert may be made with raspberries, strawberries, peaches or cherries. Make a thick syrup by boiling one-half pound of sugar with half pint of water. Crush or chop the berries and stir into the hot syrup. Cool and serve. The juice of half a lemon stirred into the sauce improves its flavor.

How To Earn the Blue Eagle Badge Given In 5 Steps

- For the benefit of those who do not have a clear understanding of what it means to earn the employer's Blue Eagle, the following outline, prepared by the government, is presented: 1.—Sign the president's re-employment agreement. 2.—Shorten hours. 3.—Raise wages. 4.—Don't employ child labor. 5.—Cooperate with the president. To do this: (a) Live up to the agreement; (b) Don't profiteer; (c) Deal only with others "under the Blue Eagle;" (d) Get a code in. In individual owner-proprietors with no employees, are advised of the following paragraph: "You may obtain the Blue Eagle by signing the president's agreement, and complying with all the provisions thereof with which it is possible to comply without employees. COTTON TAXES ARE EFFECTIVE

Effective September 1, a processing tax of 4-1/2 cents per pound was applied to cotton goods in the stocks of stores in Snyder and throughout the nation. Local stores have been busy checking up and weighing their cotton goods. This tax is to be paid directly to the government by the merchant, but it may be done on the "installation" plan.

Think Twice Before Selling Those Hogs

Texas farmers should think twice before selling off light pigs or piggy sows on which premiums have been offered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in an attempt to remove 5,000,000 hogs from the market before October 1, says E. M. Regenbrecht, swine specialist in the Extension Service at Texas A. & M. College. "With a few exceptions, chief of which is the Panhandle, Texas is a deficiency hog area," he explains. "For commercial hog raisers the government plan will undoubtedly be good in many cases, but for the great mass of Texas farmers pigs and sows can not be spared. The home market this winter for country cured ham and bacon and sausage will likely pay larger premiums than any now offered by the government. The present emergency premiums are designed primarily for the Corn Belt and apply very little to Texas," he concludes.

Remember when your child was this age?

Remember how carefully you watched him—how you took care of every little thing that you didn't think quite right? As he grew older you might have become a little less attentive, because as the years went on he became more able to care for himself. But there's one thing that you should never stop watching—your child's eyes. Eye health is essential to mental growth, and his future happiness is entirely dependent upon his ability to see perfectly. A guess as to whether his eyes are right is not sufficient—only a thorough examination will tell their true condition. Have your child's eyes examined now.

The Times Creed:

For the wrongs that need resistance;
 For the wrongs that need resistance;
 For the future in the distance,
 And the good that we can do.

THE WEEKLY DOZEN

Faces Without Fortunes.
 Talkative Tillie makes the mild observation that any Snyder old maid is only as old as her face is cracked up to be.

All Right for the Roper.
 Goat roping may be fun and frolic for roper and spectator; but to the dumb animal it must be just one dumbbell after another.

New Styles in Dresses.
 Please don't misunderstand those new styles in ladies' dresses and coats. The floppy shoulders do not mean that the female of the species is about to take on the wings of an angel.

That Famous Spurt.
 Pessimism Pete observes that the famous spurt of business prophesied for early September had about as much effect on Scurry County as a preacher spitting into the Gulf of Mexico.

A Drinking Story.
 A Scotch saloon-keeper called to a shoe-maker across the way: "Tamas, come and help me put this drunken man out of the house." "Na, na," said Tamas, "when I do a fine bit o' work, I put it in the window for everybody to see. You maun do the same."

Travelers Have a Say.
 Those who travel in all directions from Scurry County persist in telling us that we are in an oasis of plenty as far as crops and prospects are concerned. Now if the good Lord will bless us with a flow of cotton checks and an upish price on the lowly staple, we'll confine our cussing to NRA hours.

That Consumer's Drive.
 The tremendous success of the drive for consumer's signatures is a tribute to a people who are not yet reaping any results from NRA. So far, the recovery snowball is gathering little more than mud in Scurry County, but the great majority of our citizens are patriotic enough to hold on until President Roosevelt's giant plan touches each person in the land.

Those Who Investigate.
 It is almost universally true that those who investigate the full plan and purpose of the NRA employers' and consumers' pledges will sign without hesitation. While some of the purposes have not been realized yet, the program is so filled with hope and recovery for future days that no one should utter a word of criticism without full investigation.

It's Football Time In Snyder.
 Football will enjoy one of its most successful seasons in Snyder this season of 1933. The Times rises to predict. For three years we have been running away with all trophies in the district. We could spot any of 'em two or three touchdowns, and then breeze out in front. But there's uncertainty in the air now. All of the stalwarts that started Snyder on her winning streak have gone. We think the new boys are just as good, or almost as good, but we are not quite certain. That uncertainty should mean new interest from new angles.

The Wrong Impression.
 One of last week's Weekly Down left the wrong impression. It seemed to say that those who supported repeal and legalization of beer do not make up the same high type of citizenship as those who voted in the other bracket. The impression we meant to leave was that many high type citizens (as high as the dry voters) voted with the lower type of politicians and racketeer and brewer because of the wave of false propaganda that was unleashed for many months.

Radio Leaves No Record.
 What if the newspapers were closed up like the banks? You say there is the radio. Yes, but you hear the radio and it leaves no record. A hundred different voices are calling on the radio saying different things. Rumors may ride on the radio unchecked and what you hear on the radio is not important until it has been verified by the newspapers. Radio news is undependable because first, the hearer may not remember it exactly; or second, if he remembers it exactly it has no authority behind it as a newspaper has through its press association. If the newspapers were closed a week the radio would have sowed such a crop of rumors and the memory of man would have distorted the reports so fearfully that the whole country would be a seething mass of writhing serpentine rumors of malice, error and delusion. The radio as a supplement of the newspaper is good. Of course, the radio precedes the newspaper often by hours, but the radio is never a substitute for a newspaper any more than a first-aid dressing is a substitute for a square meal.—William Allen White.

Sizing Up the Liquor Situation.

With 11 days between us and the time when Texas declared by her ballots that she wanted to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and legalize 3-2 beer, it might be interesting to size up the pre-election campaign and the probable election results.

Especially do we wish to size up the situation as it affects Scurry County.

It is well known by now that Texas voted for repeal and beer by an approximate three to five majority. It is also well known that this county's majority was practically the same in the other direction.

Scurry is in the driest tier of counties in Texas. Howard County, to the southwest, turned wet, but far to the north and about 100 miles to the east is legally dry, by local option and by state vote.

This state vote and local option vote is more important than you might think. It is difficult to believe that many citizens of this county will drive 50 or 100 miles just to get a taste of legal brew.

In fact, the wets are quite contradictory on this point. They will tell you, on the one hand, that beer of good quality (and much more than 3.2 per cent alcohol) may be had at dozens of places right here at our own doorsteps—at a reasonable price. On the other hand, they will tell you that this county will lose thousands of dollars of business because folks will go to beer counties to trade. If this be reasoning, they'll give Snyder lawyers a few pointers.

It is improbable that Scurry County will ever go legally wet on any count. A survey of the various ballot boxes reveals that several hundred citizens, even in a normal election year, would have to change their minds before you could buy a bottle of cold 3.2 inside the law.

On the other hand, it is probable that some of our neighboring counties might vote local option within a few months, for the majorities were mighty slim on August 26. In Colorado proper, for instance, local option and repeal were defeated by margins of 13 and 16 votes, respectively.

In the meantime, The Times believes that it is the duty of county and city officials to enforce prohibition laws. It is the duty of jurors, if called to decide on liquor cases, to vote according to law and evidence. If liquor law violation in this county is as flagrant as the wets claim, officers and citizens as a whole should "frame up" on the violators and drive them out by law and public sentiment.

In other words, if you were one of the 694 who voted against repeal, or one of the 651 who voted against 3.2 beer, you should be one of the ones who demand that our officers enforce the laws that be.

Senator Morris Sheppard, author of the Eighteenth Amendment, couches in these words the ardent yet unprejudiced dry's attitude toward results of the vote on August 26:

"Believers in humanity and progress should take a distinct pride in the energy and determination with which the dries fought so desperate a battle as that which confronted them.

"The fact that they polled so large a vote in face of such formidable opposition ought to give them new encouragement and inspiration. We shall never surrender or retreat, and we shall never give up the struggle until the liquor traffic is permanently driven from legalized existence and reduced to nominal proportions.

"No government is strong enough to perpetuate compromise with wrong. Prohibition will return again on a stronger basis than ever when the people of the United States are again confronted with the terror and the tears that will be brought to so many millions of human beings."

CURRENT COMMENT
 BY LEON GUINN

The three-year program of the War Department to send gold star mothers and veterans' widows on pilgrimages to nearby kept A. E. F. cemeteries came to an end last week, when the S. S. Washington anchored in New York City, number among others 160 mothers and widows of American war casualties. . . . We recall when Congress authorized the ocean crossing program. . . . Whereas 9,812 widows and mothers declined to accept the free trip, 6,674 did accept the invitation to visit foreign cemeteries and revive memories of stout men that did not return from "No Man's Land." . . . Total cost has upped, until final adding machine renditions reveal the cost of the program amounts to $5,500,000. . . . While the Blue Eagle is as a sunrise on the American horizon, Japan and Russia, plus England and France, are requesting additional amounts for the military budgets. . . . What price peace?

Major industries already coded are: Textiles, oil, lumber and steel. . . . And now the automobile industry has gathered the NRAs under the new code, with the exception of foxy Mr. Ford. . . . Which touches upon the rights of American mass employers to "go the business path alone." . . . After a perusal of facts, it is evident from a private point of view that foxy Ford pays a basic wage scale above code requirements, that the five-day week isn't new to Ford industries. . . . Since Henry Ford has generously paid employees since conception of the Ford Motor Company, it would look better for rugged Hugh Johnson to concentrate upon the thousands of employers that do not pay the basic wage scale upon such a high bracket. . . . Johnson did much to enunciate the administration's policies when he said: "The words 'open shop' and 'closed shop' are not used in the law and can not be written into the law. . . . These words have no agreed meaning and will be erased from the dictionary of the NRA."

Best letter received by Roosevelt from people last week was this one from nine-year-old Frederick Popple of Moberge, South Dakota. Here it is: "I hear that you are going to buy 5,000 pigs from the farmers because they have not enough feed. . . . I have a pig that is about one year old. . . . How much will you give me for her?" . . . Obviously, Wee' Farmer Popple can be accommodated. . . . The bay window man from Louisiana styled as a kingfish, otherwise known as Huey Long, seems to feel moody because he was socked at a Long Island party. . . . Socko for Huey, who would like to be a Ling Louie! . . . It has been hinted he should have called himself a crawfish. . . . Chicago is noted for gangsters and well-mayonnaised scandals. . . . Chicagolites have a dandy revolting Mayor Ed Kelly, whom the government alleges forgot to file correct income tax returns. . . . Decided long ago by Chicagolites: That Chicago politicians do not hold office for their health. . . . City Dads snorted because the scandal was fished up during the Century of Progress Exposition.

WASHINGTON CIRCUS
 BY DAVID WRIGHT

Washington.—Judging by sticky pronouncements issued from time to time by Radio Commissioner Harold A. Lafount during and since his month's official junket through a dozen Western states, the gentleman is making a valiant bid for retention of that august board.

Here is a sample of the molasses candy he has been peddling: "During the period of unsatisfactory business conditions, broadcasters have suffered financially, but, generally speaking, a very high standard of programs has been maintained." And then he tosses this beautiful bonbon: "From my personal observations and contacts with listeners I believe that the public generally greatly appreciated this fact." Bro. Lafount is believed to have made those "personal observations" either in the radio control rooms or via a periscope from a submarine somewhere in the Pacific. Come on, F. D., don't keep him in suspense much longer. His supply of molasses is almost all oozed out.

A broadcaster's trade publication issued in this city, which acts as the unofficial mouthpiece of the big radio boys, has attacked Allen Raymond, former foreign correspondent of the New York Times from writing in Al Smith's New Outlook a series of articles in which he said that the so-called "American Plan" (i. e., private monopoly and private profit management of radio) is doomed. Mr. Raymond accused the radio commission of whitewashing commercialized radio in its report on the Couzens-Dill resolution calling for impartial facts. No more one-sided report was ever returned to the Senate by a government commission in response to the Senate's request for information. It was a hardy piece of impertinence in the closing days of the Hoover administration. Anyone in a position to know the facts agrees with Raymond, except the trade publications which rely for financial support on the advertising of the radio boys.

Mr. Raymond, a competent writer and a painstaking investigator, says that Congress, in response to nationwide protests against cheap advertising programs, is going to clean up radio by taking it out of the hands of the purely commercial broadcasters. That battle is all but won. It will be a "push-over" in the next session. Make no mistake.

American broadcasters have been lifting their voices to high heaven against Armstrong Perry of the National Committee on Education by Radio, internationally known publicist, who upset the apple-cart of the radio monopolists at the North and Central American Radio Conference held in July in Mexico City.

The conference was called for the purpose of reallocating the 96 available broadcasting channels. When these channels were first distributed the radio boys gobbled up the lion's share of the 79 channels allocated to the United States. Canada received only 12, and Mexico and Cuba none. Why the private commercial interests in control of radio in the United States should expect to continue their stranglehold of the ether has not been explained. Canada, Mexico and Cuba have demanded a fair division of the channels. The American delegation at Mexico City was packed by representatives of the American monopoly, who were prepared to resist to the utmost any honest proposal for such a division. Observers were barred from the sessions, which were as secret as a board meeting of J. P. Morgan & Company.

Now the big radio boys are proposing that the agreements they want—one in particular being to get Mexico to agree not to license stations whose broadcasts interfere with the American broadcasts—shall be obtained through "an exchange of diplomatic notes." They would like to have our State Department champion their commercial greediness to maintain control of 79 out of all the 96 available channels. Which is, on the face of it, a perfectly absurd proposal. In past years the State Department has been used as a cat's paw for other private American commercial interests in Latin America, and the Roosevelt administration does not intend to make that mistake.

Wherefore, that hope goes a-glimmering. Spokesmen for the American broadcasters speak of the big radio boys having their "day in court" and are acting on the assumption that licensees have a vested interest in their licenses.

Picking His Market.

Jesus' preaching was almost incidental. On only one occasion did he ever deliver a long discourse, and that was probably interrupted often by questions and debates. He did not come to establish a theology but to lead a life. Living more healthfully than any of his contemporaries he spread health wherever he chanced to go. Thinking more divinely, he expressed himself in thoughts of surpassing beauty as naturally as a plant bursts into bloom. His sermons—if they be called sermons—were chiefly explanatory of his service. He healed a lame man, gave sight to a blind man, fed the hungry, cheered the poor; and by these works he was advertised much more than by his words.

The church, which covets advertising and receives little, is much more faithful in such good work than the man on the street suspects. Most of our colleges were founded under its inspiration; most of our hospitals grew out of and are supported by its membership; the ideals that animate all civic enterprises are its ideals; and its members furnish to such movements the most dependable support. More than this, the day by day life of any genuine pastor is a constant succession of healings and helpings, as anyone who has been privileged to grow up in a minister's family very well knows. The door-bell rings at breakfast time; it rings at dinner time; it rings late at night—and every ring means that someone has come to cast his burden upon the parsonage. A man comes blinded by his greed or hatred or fear—he opens his heart to the pastor, and goes away having received his sight. A parent whose child is dead in selfishness comes leading the child by the hand. And sometimes the preacher is able to touch the withered veins of conscience, and life becomes normal and wholesome again. A man out of work, whose family is hungry, knocks timidly at the parsonage door. And somehow, from the parson's few loaves and fishes, the other family is fed.

"Thank ye, Donald," said his wife. "An' hark ye, Maggie, when he comes to that trick where he takes a teaspoon o' flour and one egg and makes 20 oam'ettes, watch vera close."

J'EVER STOP TO THINK?

BY EDSON R. WAITE

J. W. Hanson, editor of the New Smyrna, Florida, Daily News, says:

"The trouble with the spasmodic advertiser is that he believes that it reaches farther than it actually does. He often has the notion that three or four good ads a year are going to stamp upon the mind of every buyer the fact that he has goods of good quality and at right prices in a way that that impression will never wear off.

"But human minds are not that way; they are easy to divert from one thing to another by an honest and attractive appeal through the medium of newspaper advertising, unless the impression has been made over a period of many years.

"Advertising affects the mind of a buyer in much the same manner as a stream of water on a rock. If the rock had the sense to know, it would realize it the first time a drop of water fell upon it, but it takes millions of years to wear an impression in the rock that will last.

"Spasmodic advertising only moistens the mind; constant advertising from day to day and from year to year wears an impression that lives as long as the impression in the rock."

UP the Beanstalk

WHEN JACK climbed the beanstalk, he got a new conception of his needs. No longer would just a hen do, but a golden-egg hen. No longer just a harp, but one that stood by itself and played. He didn't know what he wanted till he saw something better than what he had . . . though he labored hand over hand to get hold of that point of view.

Advertisements give you a high point of view without any climbing at all. They spread world products before you—servants to serve you, conveniences to please—prices low because so many thousands are using the same. They give you a new conception of what you'd like to own. No longer will a watch or food chopper do—but the most highly improved watch or food chopper. No longer just a radio—but one of purest transmission. They make you change your mind about what you started to choose, and choose something more pleasing at no higher price. They help you see the whole field of satisfying wares. They lift you to fresh joys.

Colorado Wolves Remain In Class A Pigskin Group

Last week's Colorado Record revealed that the Wolves, under Big Jim Cantrell, will remain in Class A for the 1933 football season.

The Class B group, which Snyder is one, did not like the idea of re-arranging their schedules to suit the Cantrellmen, and Roy Bedichek, czar of Interscholastic League football, upheld the former bedfellows of Colorado's Class B. Snyder's Colorado was in this district until last year.

In writing of the proceedings by which Colorado attempted to get into Class B circles, the Record intimated that Snyder, Stamford and the others in this district might have changed their plans. But the eastern clubs claimed that to change their eight-game conference schedule and their two-game non-conference schedule would precipitate misunderstanding and possibly an uncontrollable disorganization.

Besides say the members of the district, why didn't Colorado tout her horn before the schedule was laboriously worked out last spring? Anyway, this is the Record's story.

A few weeks ago the Wolf member and other school officials announced that the pack would return to its former ranking as a member of Class B. In a time of peace, the czar in football, consented that such would be in order. Certain clubs in the upper class were too overwhelmed with their own problems to give any thought to the matter.

With sports running high, Big Jim set out to lead conferences with the big boys concerning the district. With a smile he informed them that he and his Wolves were coming back home to play more in among their fellows.

But the Colorado coach did not receive much encouragement. In fact, he did not receive any encouragement at all. To the contrary, he was informed that the district officials had already worked out schedules for playing the 1933-34 season and in fact as they were concerned he was out.

The local member sought assistance down at Austin, only to be advised that since the schedule was already made out and his former bedfellows did not care to take him in again, the state director would not interfere. It was either return to Class A or be left out of official playing during the season.

Cantrell may be able to develop a club that will interest such outfits as the Sweetwater Mustangs, Big Spring Steers and one or two others. He has five letter men, some of whom were stars in the district last year, who will return this season. From the potential recruit camp several lads are to be mustered for action on the squad. Several of these men give promise of developing into formidable pigskin totes.

Among the letter men who will return to wear the Wolf uniform during the next season are Captain "Red" Church, tackle; Stagner, end; Hauser, guard; Cox, end; "Red" Moon, Morrison, quarterback.

Industries Show Desire to Secure Benefits of NRA

Washington.—Applications of industries to avail themselves of the benefits of the president's reemployment agreement through operation under modified codes are being received at the offices of NRA at a rapid rate. These cover trades that have already submitted or, in the majority of cases, whose membership are working out myriad details to reach a common basis of operation. Meanwhile, to comply with the president's call to shorten hours of work to absorb more of the unemployed and thus raise buying power throughout the country, employers are anxious to qualify by complying with the provisions of the NRA. This step not only allows ample time for adjustments between elements within industries and coordination to prevent inequalities and to provide against unfair practices against the public interest, but it enables all members promptly to display the Blue Eagle.

Most of the modified agreements provide a general 40-hour week, with allowances for rush periods. Some are as low as 36 hours. Non-permits reduction of rates of pay. Average 14 per day, the following list illustrates the wide diversity of industries whose modified codes were approved in a single day: Manufacturers of merrers, fabric auto equipment, comfort, glass containers, smoking pipes, pharmaceutical instruments, safety razors and razor blades, biological equipment, lace curtains, dress snaps, lighting equipment, scientific apparatus, spices, and livestock market agencies.

More than 200 modified codes of this type were approved within two weeks. Approvals are increasing at the rate of six per day.

Another striking evidence of determination to comply with the recovery act promptly is supplied by the radio industry. The trade group representative of every branch of the industry had filed a code on July 29. Its members voted to withdraw it and to comply with provisions of the electrical manufacturing code, already approved by the president. In this manner many branches of the wool, rayon, silk, thread and other allied industries subscribed to the conditions of the cotton textile code.

Bean Harvesters. Several Scurry County boys are in the Mountain New Mexico country, to help the natives move their big bean crop. The workers include Otha Lee Clark, Willard Carnes, Hubert Carnes and Pete Brooks.

Gardens Furnish Vegetables. Fourteen home demonstration gardens in Caldwell County have supplied their farm wife owners an average of 250 bushels of vegetables. Cash sales of $4.02 per garden and about $50 worth of fresh vegetables for the home table. The average cash cost was $0.24 per garden.

SENATOR BAILEY PREDICTED PRESENT CRITICAL SITUATION

By Ben F. Smith. In 1907 Senator Joseph Widon Bailey, who has since passed from life's stage of action, predicted the present depression in a speech before a banquet in Dallas. Here is his prophetic utterance:

"Our political opponents said we did not need more money. They affirmed that what we needed was better credit and not more money. But we believe that this course will eventually be adopted; that is, inflation of our present money circulation. There is talk of deflation. There is a difference between deflation and inflation. Deflation means the cheapening of the present gold standard money, whereas inflation has for its purpose the increase of our present money volume apart and separate of national bank notes.

How Money Will Be Placed. Some have asked how we will get hold of this new money should an inflation course be adopted. It will be distributed through employment, rise in commodity markets, etc. A reasonably large volume of new money actually owned and controlled by the government, will make the old money or gold standard product seek the channels of trade rather than remain hoarded up by bankers and the manipulators of Wall Street. The change of their and its actual return to our present monetary system will naturally deflate the present gold standard dollar and cause it to circulate.

The issue is clear cut. The wealth of this nation, which is in the hands of five per cent of our national population, has been accumulated upon one standard of value—that of gold—and naturally the wealth of this country is opposed to deflation of this wealth. They say a return of silver as basic money means a 50-cent dollar as applied to our present standard of value. What care we whether the dollar is worth 50 cents or 25 cents so long as it pays $1 of our debts and is good for $1 worth of bacon and beans?

Congress, in restoring silver by statutes, has declared it legal for all public and private debts. This act virtually restored silver as a basic money and made it worth 100 cents on the dollar in this country. But say some: "It will not be worth 100 cents on the dollar in Europe." They are only four nations in Europe that have single standards of value, and most of the trading in this country by nations who use silver as legal money.

In this regard we wish to say that the world conference in Europe recently had this question up before it to agree on a standard of value, which included both gold and silver as basic values. What will eventually result from this conference remains to be seen, but it is the viewpoint of many that world agreement will be reached eventually; that is, the adoption of an international standard of value. But you can bet your last dollar the wealth of this country and Europe does not want an agreement that means the retention of silver and a double standard of value.

However, there is a man at Washington at the head of this government who has declared it legal for all public and private debts. This act virtually restored silver as a basic money and made it worth 100 cents on the dollar in this country. But say some: "It will not be worth 100 cents on the dollar in Europe." They are only four nations in Europe that have single standards of value, and most of the trading in this country by nations who use silver as legal money.

NRA Move Adopted. In order to end the depression President Roosevelt has adopted other means, known as the National Recovery Act. In this connection history fails to record the fact.

Bryan, the great commoner, in 1896 first raised the issue in this country and demanded that we return silver to its original position in our monetary system. Senator Bailey and others advocated this step, but it was not until the present Democratic administration came into power that silver was restored to its original position. We say restored: The president of the United States was authorized to fix the ratio and to begin buying of silver bullion and the coinage of silver and issuance of silver certificates upon purchased bullion at his option. So far nothing has been done toward declaring the ratio or the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

Johnson Says No Boycott Planned In NRA Program

Washington.—There is no plan of boycott here," Administrator Hugh S. Johnson said in an address at the opening session of the hearings on the retail merchants code, and with special emphasis.

"We have provided machinery here in Washington to take care of people who find the grade too steep for them. But when we find a man chiseling behind the Blue Eagle we are going to step in and take that Eagle in such a way that the whole world will know it. That is only our simple and just duty to those high-minded citizens who are earnestly trying to pull this great country out of the depression. We are building up our case against cheaters, and when we move against them it will mean their economic death."

General Johnson stressed the duty of us here to protect those who cooperate and make sacrifices by investing in reemployment to list buying power. The lesson learned during the war was that of wholehearted cooperation toward great national ends. In approaching the fourth anniversary of depression, with both state and individual relief funds nearing the vanishing point, "this country with all of its vast resources, can not sit still and allow drift and despair to rule. No nation, not even our own, can continue to support nearly 40,000,000 people in destitution."

He explained the attitude of NRA as to prices. "Such seasoned campaigners as you retailers know what price structure should be in such a critical time while we are restoring normal employment. You should resist advancing prices of manufacturers, and we will back you up within our limits. That is our plain duty to the public. Furthermore, it is the law, and we are here to enforce it."

Dress Well on $17.83 Each. Eleven Nolan County farm women completing wardrobe demonstrations this summer report to the home extension agent that they dressed well for a year for an average of $17.83. Methods demonstrated for their benefit and their neighbors included the making of clothing budgets, careful planning, providing good storage space, making and using foundation patterns and wise buying of materials.

Quick relief from Hay Fever

Air conditioning stops the irritation of hay fever and other pollen affections

If you suffer from hay-fever . . . make this test. Go to a dealer who sells air-conditioners and sit for a while in a cool room where temperature and humidity are automatically controlled. Notice that the irritation which causes sneezing and weeping is overcome, and that even after you leave, there is a temporary freedom from the malady.

Recent investigations at a famous medical school confirm what was discovered by actual experience . . . that a short stay in a room cooled by an air-conditioner gives relief from the symptoms of hay-fever, rose-fever and kindred maladies. There is no reason why you should suffer with pollen irritation this fall, for you can escape much discomfort and physical disability by living and sleeping in conditioned atmosphere until cool weather arrives.

The marriage of Miss May Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L.
Rogers of this place, and Clarence Brush was solemnized Tuesday morning by Rev. Forest Huffman.

The bride is a pretty and useful young woman and possess a charm of manner and an amiable disposition that have won for her a large host of friends. Mr. Brush is an energetic young man of true worth and correct habits. He has long been a member of the National Guard, and is held in high esteem by all his acquaintances. These young people have the best wishes of a large group of friends.

The W. W. Merritt home was the scene of a family reunion Tuesday, August 29. Festivities began early and lasted until late into the afternoon. The main event of the day took place when the guests were invited into the dining room, where was spread a bountiful feast consisting of fried chicken, salads, chicken 'n' dressing, cakes, pies, ice cream and watermelon. After this beautiful decoration was thoroughly disfigured, a baseball game was enjoyed by both old and young. At the conclusion of this game, kodak-ing and singing were enjoyed into the early evening. Those present were Jack Merritt, eldest son, his wife and children, Donald, Doris, Frank Wallace and Daisy Ann, of husband, children, Peggy Payne and band and children, Anna Beth, Jean were Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Bullard

ine. Members of the immediate family were W. W. Merritt, Mrs.
Merritt and children, Gilbert, Ina, Barney, Era Pat and Majorie. This occasion also honored Gilbert's birthday.

Many hearts were made sad when the tragic news of the death of little 11-year-old Wendell Wren reached this place Saturday. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Wren of Colorado and grandson of community. Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church in Snyder Sunday afternoon. Interment was in the Snyder cemetery.

His parents and three sisters are left to mourn his passing.

Fourteen reclamations were made up until the last service of the Methodist revival, conducted by Rev.
Cecil Fox of Blackwell, when pandemonium reigned in the hearts of everyone present. Thirty-three persons rededicated their lives, showing to the world that they were for the right. Seventeen who had never before sought Jesus were converted.

Crop feeders were supplied 114 calves, one feeder in each of four pastures. Cows were fed twice a week for two weeks to get the calves started on the feeders.

JONES COUNTY TAKES LEAD IN ACREAGE CUTS

Long-Time Cotton Reduction Plan Launched In Banner Producing County of Texas and South.

From Abilene Reporter-News. Jones County, banner cotton county of Texas and the South in 1932, Saturday took the lead in a movement to launch a long-time acreage reduction campaign in order to effect an increase in the price of cotton.

More than 1,000 farmers, gathered in a mass meeting at the county courthouse in Anson, by a majority vote, adopted resolutions requesting sharp and stringent cotton acreage reductions for the years 1934 and 1935 as an aid to improving the price of that staple immediately, and calling for an all-time acreage reduction program for future years.

The resolutions are addressed to H. A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, and C. A. Cobb, chief of the cotton section of the production division of the agricultural adjustment act.

Will Aid Reduction Policy. Initiation of such a movement by farmers, it is believed, will strengthen the federal government policy which the federal government favors and the reduction program which the government is expected to announce soon, said Otis Miller, county judge.

Judge Miller was named secretary of the permanent organization to further the movement. The chairman is C. C. Johnson, county agent.

Signing the resolutions were all members of the central county cotton plan-up committee and 39 members of local committees.

Other committees have signified they favor the petition. The central committee is composed of R. R. Robertson of Stamford, Martin McCann of Hamlin and C. W. Barrett of Anson.

The Resolutions. In part, the program called for in the resolutions is:

"For the year 1934-35, no cotton farmer, planter or grower be permitted to plant cotton more than 50 per cent of the total cultivated and tillable land owned, controlled or rented by him. For every acre of cultivated and tillable land, any cotton farmer, planter or grower will reduce or take out of cotton acreage below the 50 per cent allowable during the years 1934-35, the government pays such person a fair and equitable price based on past yields of lint cotton per acre over a given period of years. A tax of $10 per bale to be paid on every bale over 400 bales produced by any one individual, provided, however, that this tax shall not apply to landowners whose combined production of cotton from leased or rented farms amounts to 400 bales or over."

"That hereafter the government require growers to make separate annual reports of all unspinnable cotton and that such unspinnable cotton be not counted in government estimates of yearly surplus or carry-over."

HEALTH NEWS

From Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer

Malaria Fever.

Undulant fever or malaria fever, a disease contracted from cattle, hogs or sheep which are infected with contagious malaria, is being reported regularly throughout Texas and is being similarly reported throughout the United States. This indicates that it constitutes a public health problem and also the necessity of its more general recognition.

Undulant fever is so called because of the wave-like variations in temperature. The symptoms include rise in temperature, loss of weight and strength, chills, sweats and joint pains. The disease has rather a low mortality rate, but is important because symptoms may persist for a number of weeks and even months before normal health and strength are restored.

In Texas, the goat, horse and cow are the usual spreaders of this disease. The germs of undulant fever enter the body through the mouth or skin. Therefore, care should be used in handling animals known to be infected and dairy products from the same sources should be pasteurized, if used. More men acquire this disease than women, and adults seem more likely to have it than children. More cases are found in the rural areas than in the cities.

The true prevention of undulant fever is based upon the detection of the disease in livestock and the elimination of infected stock from the herds. Dairy herds should be tested for bacillus abortus. This is a task that can not be accomplished in a short time. Pasteurization of milk will prevent the spread of this source. Frequently the recognition of undulant fever in a community causes much alarm. However, there is no cause for apprehension, as many people are not susceptible to the infection. The disease will probably never appear in Texas as an epidemic; however, to those unfortunate enough to contract it, it is a most discouraging experience both from the standpoint of the patient's well-being and the family economy.

Gasoline Kills Worms in Fowls.

Use of pure white gasoline injected by a syringe into the crop of turkeys afflicted with worms is reported successful in a number of South Texas counties this year. The county agent in Colorado County uses one teaspoonful of gasoline. Marcus Schindler of Eagle Lake tried the method on 168 pounds and got results without losing a bird. Another man tried it the wrong way by using a teaspoon without aid of tube, syringe or long-necked funnel and the worm never appeared. His turkey was dead in two minutes.

Those anxious to invest in a going concern should make sure which way it is going.

Judges In Favor Of Adding Money To Highway Fund

Judge E. Pitts of Lubbock County was elected president and Sweetwater was selected for the next semi-annual meeting place at Lubbock Saturday as the West Texas Commissioners and County Judges Association closed its two-day convention.

Judge Robert H. Curritte, Commissioner Lee Grant and J. C. Day were convention attendants from this county.

W. E. (Happy) Smith, county judge of Lynn County, was elected vice president, and County Judge John P. Marrs of Wichita Falls was elected secretary-treasurer.

An attendance of 257 was the largest in the association's history. A resolution was adopted trying that an additional $75,000,000 be appropriated for highway construction in Texas by the federal government, and at the same time a resolution asking that one-half cent from the gasoline fund of Texas be appropriated for refunding county highway bonds was tabled without action.

The association adopted a resolution urging the Legislature to repay farmers of West Texas for expense several years ago incurred in fumigating and other preventive measures in connection with the boll worm regulations of the state and federal governments.

A fourth resolution adopted urged the Legislature to set up regulations concerning the sale of bonds for unemployment relief in Texas to require that no funds be spent for administrative expense, no direct relief be given except for aged, infirm men incapable of labor, and that a large portion of the funds be expended on well planned public projects such as lateral or state roads.

Cotton Progress Over State Said To Be Improving

Following is the Santa Fe Railway's agricultural report for Texas, dated September 1:

With favorable weather prevailing generally over practically the entire state of Texas during August, crop conditions have shown improvement, particularly noticeable in cotton, rice, sweet potatoes and late feed.

Cotton progress is good except in the extreme eastern areas where heavy rains occurred. In the extreme south most of the crop has been picked. General rains in the west and northwest late in August help a great deal. Other sections have sufficient moisture to mature the crop. In the central areas the stalks are growing too rank with few blooms, while much shedding is in evidence. Insects are numerous, but little damage has been done.

Cotton picking is under way in the north half of the state, and is well advanced in the south half. Ginnings are considerably ahead of the normal figure for this period of the year. Movement of the new crop has started, but many farmers are holding for better markets.

The government cotton acreage reduction program was completed in its entirety. The bulk of the released acreage was planted in late feed crops, which are developing rapidly. The state yield is expected to be 3,500,000 bales, a million bales under last year's crop.

Winter wheat planting in the northwest will be in full swing early in September. Ground preparation generally is better than usual. A normal acreage probably will be planted, less the government reduction.

A smaller number of birds together with a shortage of summer feed will result in a decrease of 25 per cent in the turkey crop as compared with last year.

Range conditions improved in August, but additional rains are needed to insure winter grazing.

J. L. Carrell Plans To Visit Co-Op Meet

Scurry County's director in the West Texas Cotton Growers Association, cooperative buying unit that has succeeded the old co-op, will go to Abilene Friday to attend a district meeting of association officials.

He is J. L. Carrell. Mr. Carrell states that the business end of the West Texas cooperative buying unit will be perfected preparatory to handling cotton of the new season.

Where Bailey Sawed His Way Out of Dallas County Jail

Harvey Bailey, notorious kidnaper of C. F. Urschel, threw police circles throughout the nation into a scare Monday, when he sawed his way out of his sixth-floor cell in the Dallas county jail, swept through several locked gates and to the ground level without opposition and made good a single handed escape. In the picture Deputy Jailor Morrow points to the hole where Bailey sawed through. The ex-convict made his way to Ardmore, Oklahoma, taking Deputy Jailor Nick Tresp with him. There he was captured by Hale Dunn, chief of police.

RANCHERS OUT FOR LOW RATES

In order to effect reduced cattle and feed shipment rates, ranchers of this mid-west area who gathered in Midland Thursday of last week decided to appeal direct to railway presidents for quick relief.

Believing that the rail heads could save the red tape of rate hearings and other litigation to a large degree, the stockmen were unanimous in seeking the direct route. Contact is being made through A. B. Soller of the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers Association, who spoke at the Midland meeting.

In discussing the problem, the ranchers made it plain that they consider much of the West stock area in dire straits despite recent rains.

Old Timer Baptized By Hands of Son He Baptized Years Ago

Some years ago, when Walter Dever was in his teens, he was baptized by his father, R. E. Dever, an ordained minister.

Sunday, at Strayhorn, the father was baptized by the son, who has become a preacher of the Baptist faith. The father, an old-timer of this county, has turned 70, while Walter is not yet in his thirties.

Mr. Dever was baptized Sunday along with 17 others converted during the revival at Strayhorn under Rev. Walter's preaching.

The young preacher is assisting Rev. Phillip C. McGahey in a meeting at Galt this week. Next Monday he will open an eight-day meeting at Camp Springs.

The elder Rev. Dever, who declares that he is entering his second ministry, filled the Strayhorn pulpit Sunday evening.

Portion of Country Visited By Showers

Several parts of Scurry County received light showers Monday to complete a rainy spell that dripped through two weeks.

Since late last week the weather has turned sultry and hot most of the time, so that cotton is popping out with unexpected speed.

The showers of late August are bringing late feed and all cotton into high favor from one end of the county to the other.

Bob has accepted a place with the Economy Store, where he has gone from sandwiches to shoes, so to speak.

The Changing Times

Many of us, as merchants, will not be able to stand the demands now placed upon us, however just and justifiable they may be—and many criticisms will be made unjustly.

But we are going to do our best to go on as we have done in West Texas since the foundation of our institution in 1884. And by the help of our many faithful customers who know by experience that our merchandise and prices are equal to the best, we are going on and on.

We are proud of the fact that we have never knowingly bought sweatshop merchandise, and you who have hunted for Red Ink bargains know how disappointing that merchandise turned out to be.
