A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

Thunderstorms little help

Isolated thunderstorms Sunday and Monday were welcome but not nearly enough in most areas to help farmers.

Up to seven tenths of an inch were reported in the Oklahoma Lane area and in northwest Bailey County, but most of the area received less than .3 based on phone calls to local cotton gins.

"It was really spotty," said Willard Tibbets, manager of the Pleasant Valley Gin. He said the amounts ranged from zero to half an inch. "Very few got enough to help."

The Maple Co-op Gin reported .3 inches; Needmore received just a trace, West Camp got .2 and Muleshoe Co-op reported .2. The National Weather Service reported .24 inches.

Senator proposes aid

AUSTIN — A state legislator Monday propsoed spending up to $400 million to help Texas farmers and ranchers cover some of the losses caused by the withering drought.

Sen. Steve Odgen (R-Bryan) said he would introduce a bill in the next legislature to offer grants for as much as 30 percent of 1999 feed, seed, seedling and fertilizer costs.

It would be a one-time proposal expiring at the end of 1999.

Maximum reimbursements would be $10,000 or twice the 1998 property tax bill on affected lands, whichever is less.

Skunk-proof yogurt

GOLDEN VALLEY, Minn. — The kitchens that bring you the Betty Crocker brand have whipped up a treat for yogurtloving skunks. General Mills, the Minneapolis-based maker of Yoplait yogurt, has redesigned the containers to make them more skunk-proof — for the animals' own

The overhaul already was under way when animal-rights activists told the company as many as 14 skunks died last year after getting their heads stuck in the discarded containers. The animals suffocated or wandered into roads.

Love American style

SEATTLE — Terry Jones and Victoria Dunn got married in New York. The best man and maid of honor were in Seattle, their minister was in California and some of their friends were in Portland, Ore.

But thanks to video conferencing, everyone was able to take part in the nuptials, united by four TV sets at four different copy stores.

After they were wed, toasts of sparkling cider were raised at all four locations. "This has been truly amazing. Amazing and beautiful both," one New York guest said.

Reyes arraigned Monday

By RICK WHITE Managing Editor

Dressed in a loose-fitting, navy blue jail uniform and flip flops, a sullen Gilberto "Tito" Reyes was arraigned Monday in a Bailey County courtroom on a charge of capital murder and three lesser charges.

Standing before 287th District Court Judge Jack Young, Reyes answered "yes, sir" in a hushed tone as the charges against him were read.

A plea of not guilty was entered for each of the four charges of capital murder, aggravated assault, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and possession of a firearm by a felon.

The judge ordered Reyes held without bond in connection with the March murder of his former girlfriend, 19-year-old Yvette Barraz of Muleshoe.

A trial date was set for Aug. 24.

"That's the earliest a trial can take place. That doesn't necessarily mean that is when the trial will take place," Young said.

Reyes, 24, of Muleshoe said he was in the process of hiring an attorney.

Judge Young advised Reyes that the sooner he hired a lawyer the better off he would be in presenting a defense.

"On the charge of capital murder, you are facing the possibility of life in prison or even death," Young told Reyes. "And the penalties in the other cases are less but still serious. Your liberty is at stake in each and every one of them."

Reyes was extradited Thursday from the Roosevelt County Detention Center in Portales, N.M. He has been held there since his June 7 arrest at a Portales motel.

Reyes allegedly abducted Barraz March 11 from the parking lot of Leal's Restaurant, where the teenage mother worked as a waitress. Her body was discovered two days later in the back seat of her car in the Texas border town of

The indictment read Monday by District Attorney Johnny Actkinson alleges that on or about March 12 Reyes intentionally and knowingly caused the death of Barraz by striking her in the back of the head with a blunt object in the course of committing and attempting the offense of

Drought has local farmers worried about future

By RICK WHITE Managing Editor

Emergency loans are not the answer to the record-breaking drought in Texas, according to several local farmers.

Last week, President Clinton announced that disaster assistance would be made available to farmers through low-interest loans.

The loans, made through the Farm Service Agency, would be available to eligible farmers who have suffered a loss of 30 percent or more on any single crop. Qualifying producers must be creditworthy, unable to obtain credit elsewhere, and have adequate collateral to secure the loan.

"It would just put me further in debt — if I was even eligible for a loan," said West Camp farmer Kevin Grant, one of a half-dozen farmers who met with the Journal for an informal round-table discussion last week. "You can't borrow yourself out of debt."

Facing its second extended drought in three years, the group is worried not only about their future but about the future of the whole farming community in general.

"For a lot of farmers, this is going to be it," Grant said. "And there is nobody to replace them."

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service estimates that total losses to Texas farmers and ranchers could total more than $4.6 billion as the drought continues.

And despite a few teasing showers the last few days, there appears to be no end in sight to the drought.

The National Weather Service predicts a high probability of continued drought throughout the rest of the growing season.

"This is the hottest, driest summer I can ever remember, and I've been here all my life," said Lewis Wayne Shafer, who farms in the Needmore community.

"You know there are going to be years like this, but the profit is so meager nowadays it's hard to make enough money to make it through the hard years," said Jerry Nichols, who farms about nine miles south of Muleshoe.

"Farming used to be fun," said Nichols, who was able to put three children through college farming. He wonders if he would be able to do it today.

Seniors elect officers; form committees

A Senior Citizens Center meeting was held July 23 at the plication, the floor was opened Muleshoe State Bank.

Those attending were updated on the status of the project for getting a senior citizens building for meals and recreation.

Grant application guidelines were passed around so that everyone could see what was involved in preparing for a grant application. Guidelines require that any potential grant recipiorganization with by-laws.

After discussion of the apfor nominations for a board.

Elected were Glen Williams, president, Butch Vandiver, vice president and Gail Gladden, secretary/treasurer.

A list of committees were then passed to the group and they selected the one on which they would like to serve. The committees that were listed were fund-raising, building/ grounds, education programs, ent must be a non-profit operations, meal program, exercise program, publicity and equipment/furnishings.

The board then voted for president Glen Williams to start on research for the project as soon as possible. Researching background information, population and income statistics need to be done so that the group will know which grant will best benefit the project.

Membership fees were set to establish a governing body that has voting rights. The $1 per person dues can be paid to her at the County Extensions Office at any time.

Combest wants drought aid improved

WASHINGTON — U.S. Rep. Larry Combest (R-Texas) has urged U.S. Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman to use his discretion to see that landowners who utilize emergency haying or grazing for cattle will not sacrifice more than five percent per month of their annual rental payments under the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP)

The five percent urged by Combest would be at a rate identical to the cost charged during the 1996 drought. Noting heat and drought of historic proportions which have forced to work," Rojas said.

He served as a stagehand during the first year of "Keepers of the Legend" and had a bit part the following year. Last year, he did not participate because of rules governing NYU freshman drama students.

"As a freshman, the drama department does not allow students to perform in any kind of production whether in school or out," Rojas said. "They believe that if you try what you've learned and don't get it right the first time, that you will give up and close your mind to what they are trying to teach."

In its fourth year, "Keeper's of the Legend" is a mixture of historical romance, comedy and suspense and features live music and authentic props. Set near the turn of the century, the two-act play depicts the conflict between county farmers and ranchers to incorporate Bailey County.

The play is written by Bailey County native Paula Paul and the music was co-written by Alan Finney and Cassidy Cleavinger.

It will be performed nightly at 8:30, Aug. 7-10 at the Heritage Center. Tickets are $10 at the gate or $8 in advance. Children ages 10 and under are $5.

"But what else can I do at my age. Go to Wal-Mart and get a job as a greeter?" Nichols said.

The group said the biggest problem is the cost of farming - especially equipment keeps going up while commodity prices remain virtually the same as 20 years ago.

"We've got a problem, the whole community has a problem" said Pleasant Valley farmer Allen Smyer. "And we've got to find a way to solve it."

Several farmers said that bringing back the disaster program would be a good start.

Under the old farm bill, farmers would be compensated for crop losses caused by natural disasters.

Under the new farm bill, farmers can barely recover planting costs.

"That was a good band-aid," said Smyer, who favors removing government control on commodity prices.

Most of all, the farmers were asking for support.

AUGUSTIN RODRIGUEZ

EARTH — Agustin Rodriguez Rodriguez, 57, of Earth died July 27, 1998 at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

Rosary was held Tuesday at Ellis Funeral Home Chapel. Services were held July 29 at Immaculate Conception Catholic Church of Muleshoe, with Father Joe Augustine officiating. Burial was held in Bailey County Cemetery.

Rodriguez was born May 28, 1941 in Mexico. He married Rosa Chacon in Morton on April 7, 1965. He moved to Earth in 1993 from Muleshoe. He was a member of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Muleshoe and a farmer.

Survivors include his wife, Rosa of Earth; four sons, Soilo Chacon of Levelland, Lorenzo Rodriquez of Earth, Hugo Rodriguez of Muleshoe and Agustin Rodriguez Jr. of Levelland; two daughters, Maria Rodriguez of Earth and Sylvia Rodriguez of Levelland; one sister, Paula Hernandez of Mexico; two brothers, Jesus Rodriguez of Mexico and Marcello Rodriguez of Fort Hancock; and nine grandchildren.

Letha L. Talley was born March 19, 1923 in Chickasha, Oklahoma. She is the eldest of three sibling Letha attended school in Oklahoma, finishing both her formative and college years in Chickasha. She graduated from Oklahoma College for Women where she chose to major in Elementary Education. Receiving emergency certification, Letha was able to teach around the Chickasha area while she completed her studies.

Miss Talley moved to Muleshoe in August of 1948. On March 18, 1950, Letha became the bride of Alfred Patterson. Mr. Patterson expired in January of 1983.

Before retiring, Mrs. Patterson spent a total of 39 years teaching. Many who have attended school in Muleshoe remember Mrs. Patterson from the 4th grade. Letha spent all but two years of her career teaching the fourth grade. Thirty-three of those 39 years teaching were right here in Muleshoe. Mrs. Patterson believes the key to quality education is discipline. She is proud to be from the "old school" era when teachers had the ability to correct inappropriate behavior.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson parented five children: Lionel Patterson of Muleshoe, Carl Patterson of Muleshoe, Nancy Patterson of Muleshoe, Sarah Mitchell of Michigan, and Kathleen Stroud of Muleshoe. Mrs. Patterson has four grandchildren.

Despite pain from injuries, Letha still enjoys sewing and plans to do more of it as she heals and feels better. Mrs. Patterson is a member of the Retired Teachers Association, a statewide organization, and AARP. She attends the First Baptist Church of Muleshoe. Although she has just recently chosen M.A.H.H.A. as her preferred home health agency, Letha says that they are "very cooperative" and have definitely treated her very well.
