LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE OUR READERS' VIEWS

F. I. Townsend Replies. Editors, The Scurry County Times: My friend C. N. von Roeder says in his letter published in the October 11 issue of your paper, that he has received so many compliments on his article of September 20, on the Bankhead Law, that it almost "went to his head."

I was, and I am now in favor of the Agricultural Adjustment Act. I believe now as I did at the time that he was elected that President Roosevelt is a great and good man and that he is sincerely and earnestly endeavoring to bring relief to the stricken and impoverished farmers of our nation. I believe that Secretary Wallace is earnestly endeavoring to bring relief to the farmers, but while the Bankhead Bill was pending in Congress, he stated that he was personally opposed to it, but would enforce it, if it were enacted, and I therefore do not blame either President Roosevelt or Secretary Wallace for the enactment of the Bankhead Act, as the president was led to believe that an overwhelming majority of the cotton farmers demanded the enactment of the bill, and he approved it for that reason alone.

Why was it necessary to single out the cotton farmers and enact a law applying to them alone? The cotton farmers were in no better or worse condition as the cotton farmers. Wheat was a drug on the market at 25 or 30 cents per bushel, and millions of bushels of wheat were stored in the granaries and elevators that could not be sold at any price, but there was no Bankhead Law applied to wheat, and yet wheat advanced in price to more than a dollar per bushel and in addition to that the wheat farmers are getting well paid for doing the thing that the Bankhead Act compels the cotton farmer to do for nothing with fines and penalties attached should they fail to do them.

Mr. von Roeder makes an unwarranted thrust at me when he says: "Isn't it strange that since we now have so many people who know better how our government should be run than Roosevelt does, that we haven't had a better administration than his in the past?" I had asserted that President Roosevelt appointed Secretary Wallace to oppose the Bankhead Bill, and that it was forced on the administration by Senator Bankhead, and Mr. von Roeder does not deny that I am disloyal to the democratic administration.

My record as a democrat does not rest upon a foundation so precarious that it is necessary for me to invoke the name of Roosevelt, and proclaim my loyalty to his administration in order to sustain it. I am a lifelong democrat. I have never in my life voted any ticket except the democratic ticket, and I have always voted it straight. When I was in the front line, fighting the battle in behalf of the democratic party and its nominees, many of those who are now shouting the loudest for the Bankhead Law were aligned with the republican party and voted for Herbert Hoover for president.

Mr. von Roeder writes as if he thinks the Bankhead Act is contained in and is a part of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, but such is not the case. The Agricultural Adjustment Act was, and is, the administration program for bringing relief to agriculture, but when Senator Bankhead forced the enactment of the Bankhead Bill, the administration was forced to substitute the provisions of the Bankhead Act, for the administration plan as set forth in the Agricultural Act, insofar as cotton is concerned.

here. I did not apply for the job and tried to avoid taking it, but it was forced on me by the district agent, who said that unless I accepted he could not start the work here, as there was no other man available, and in order to get the work started here I accepted the job. I was ignorant of farming as a man raised in town and trained for another business could well be. Of course I did the best that I could and luckily for me the farmers treated me courteously to my face and had their fun laughing at me behind my back, instead of tarring and feathering me. And what was the government and the county paying me to do? Why, to help the farmers grow more and bigger crops of corn, maize, and bigger crops of everything that would grow!

For 25 or 30 years the government has had an army of county agents and field men running over the country trying to teach the farmer how to produce larger crops, and then like a clap of thunder from the sky comes the Bankhead Law, that in its original form would have put us in jail for doing the very thing that the government agents had been teaching us to do! Don't think for a minute that I am mad at the county agents. I have been the friend of every agent that I have had, and have cooperated with them. This is not a personal matter at all.

We have been cursed here in the South by having a bunch of self-appointed spokesmen who have succeeded in making it to appear to the authorities in Washington that they are the representatives and spokesmen for the farmers. It began when the county agents organized the Farm Bureau and finally culminated in the organization of the American Cotton Producers' Association. They immediately tied in with the Hoover administration through the Farm Board and sent their representatives out here and informed the farmers that the "Co-op" was a government organization and proceeded to fix their own salaries even as high as $75,000 per year, and had the farmers to sign a contract agreeing, among other things, that in case of litigation between the farmers and the "Co-op" the farmer was obligated to pay the fee, hotel bills and traveling expenses of the "Co-op" attorney.

They sucked the Farm Board dry and credited poor old Hoover, and then, lo and behold, Roosevelt was elected. They were flabbergasted. But not for long. By the time Roosevelt was inaugurated they had cooled up a plan that would enable them to continue to eat out of the public feed trough. And they put it over. They are administering the Bankhead Act. I have no reference to Mr. Luce or to any of the committee in this country. They are merely carrying out instructions from their superiors.

Now, back to my friend, von Roeder for a moment and I will close. He says that an overwhelming majority of the farmers agree with him, and no doubt that is true. It is no new experience for me to be on the unpopular side. I don't seek popularity—in fact I spurn it, if in order to obtain it I must sacrifice my honest convictions. Mere preponderance of numbers prove nothing. In the past, minorities have usually been right. The rabble in Jerusalem unanimously applauded the conviction and crucifixion of Jesus Christ by the Sanhedrin and Pontius Pilate, and yet it is the most ghastly miscarriage of justice ever chronicled. If Mr. von Roeder would write more about the Bankhead Act and less about himself the readers of Mr. Deakins' Mother Dies. Mrs. A. B. Deakins, mother of E. M. Deakins, died at her home in Pikeville, Tennessee, Monday. She was past 80 years of age. The local hotel man was not able to attend the funeral. He was reared in and near Pikeville.

The Times might derive some benefits from the discussion. I know nothing of the aspersions and criticism that he says have been circulated about him. They did not emanate from me. I would be the last person in the world to question the literary merit of Mr. von Roeder's letters, but candor compels me to say that they have to be classics in order to compensate for their paucity of facts, logic and reasoning.

I am informed by Rufus Mize that the farmers of the Hermitage community passed a resolution at their meeting Friday night, October 5, inviting Mr. von Roeder and me to meet with them Friday night, October 19, to debate the Bankhead Act, and I have accepted the invitation and will be there, and I invite Mr. von Roeder to meet me for a friendly discussion. I will affirm that the Bankhead Act is unnecessary, unjust, unconstitutional and subversive of liberty as set forth in the Declaration of Independence, and guaranteed to us by the Constitution, and that its effects will be injurious instead of beneficial. As Mr. von Roeder has adopted the policy of letting the agents of the government do his thinking for him, it may be that he would prefer to have a government agent meet me in debate, and if so I will be delighted to meet anyone whom he may secure in his stead.

No one is barred. No quarter asked or given and "damned be he who first cries 'hold, enough.'" If Mr. von Roeder will meet me in debate, I will guarantee that he will smell "onions" every time that he thinks of the Bankhead Act after the debate, but we will still be friends when it is over. October 17. F. I. TOWNSEND.

SCHOOL HEADS SCRAP CHANGE

Oil Belt Educational Association executives, meeting in annual banquet session at the Hilton Hotel in Abilene Monday night, voiced, studied, heard discussed and voiced their opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment to limit state tax income in Texas on a population basis. Curriculum revision which would result in giving the child fuller preparation for taking his place in the changing social order was also stressed by the district gathering of school leaders, teachers and patrons Monday afternoon, evening and night.

A number of Scurry County school people, headed by County Superintendent Frank Farmer and Snyder Superintendent C. Wedgworth, Oil Belt program chairman, attended the meeting.

Second Team Wins, Grade Squad Loses

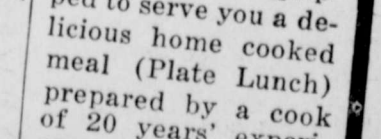

Coach Bob Curry's grade school football squad lost a weary battle at Rotan Thursday afternoon, when the youthful Yellowhammers overcame a 13-0 lead in the first three quarters to win by a single point. The locals made an average of three first downs to Rotan's one. A home team reversed tactics on a Big Spring delegation Saturday afternoon, when second-string elevens from the two towns battled on Tiger Field. The locals won, 7 to 6, by making a touchdown and plunging the extra point in the last few seconds of play.

THE WEEKLY DOZEN

Whole Sock or None.
The latest fashion fad to interest Talkative Tillie is the wearing of half-hose by men who ought to know better—and by women who do.

If All the Clouds . . .
If all the false clouds that have rolled over Scurry County the last month were one big cloud, what a comparison that would make with a lot of New Deal opponents!

The Means to an End.
Pessimism Pete says he looks forward to the time when men will consider football and other athletics a means to an end rather than an end to their means. In short, boy training is worth less to many fans than pocketbook enriching.

Russia Moving Upward?
An American correspondent in Russia declares that the Soviet citizen is moving upward in the scale of human rights, since he is now in the toils of red tape only an average of two hours per day. We know many a Texan who has boiled over because red tape tied him down less than two hours a year.

Something to Hear About.
Business men who wish to keep in step with modern merchandising will jump at the opportunity to attend the two-day classes to be conducted early next month by H. W. Stanley. Invitations are especially extended to merchants of Hermleigh, Pflugmann, Ira, Dunn and other nearby towns.

Uncle Sam Pays Off.
Uncle Sam has been paying off to Texas so freely these last two years that the totals are staggering: Cotton money, $78,469,000; wheat money, $11,022,000; corn and hog money, $4,490,000; total for 1933 and 1934, $93,981,000. Not counting relief money, highway money, cattle money, sheep money! Good old Uncle Sam!

The Way It Always Ends.
That's the way it always ends," The Pathfinder remarks in referring to nation-wide strikes. "Capital and Labor have huge bills of damages, and the customers have to foot the bills." Even in Scurry County, far from the scene of strife, dry goods and other strike-ridden products have been hard to get—and costly when they arrived.

We Gasp at Flowers.
Many a person has gasped with astonishment these recent days at the flower loveliness that has come to Snyder. In many yards where little extra water was given during the dry summer, roses, goldenrods and other hardy plants have dressed in blossoms to make drouth-ridden hearts glad. The beauties and the marvels of Nature outshine even the complaining nature of man.

Another Federal Boost.
Scurry County's latest benefit under the federal government's new fathership is the possible saving of farms from foreclosure. One farm has already been saved, and others will escape foreclosure threats by conferring with the conciliation commissioner for Scurry and Borden Counties. The Frazier-Lemke moratorium law is like many another federal offering—it's good if you use it with judgment and foresight.

The South Sets the Pace.
Long accused of being backward intellectually, the South has set a pace in cooperation that will be difficult to equal in the history of American agriculture. "The South," writes R. G. Tugwell, Under Secretary of Agriculture, "because of the amazing way it met the crisis, set a standard for other groups of farmers. In fact, many of us in Washington are convinced that but for their example of cooperation, it would have been difficult to have carried forward the adjustment plans for other agricultural groups."

What About Scotland Yard?
Scotland Yard has become the synonym for a band of determined Englishmen who are never content until a crime is solved. Its exploits have been interpreted by dozens of writers. But the good old English institution cannot excel the grim men who make up Uncle Sam's corps of federal operatives. The Lindbergh kidnaper is apparently caught. Dillinger, Richetti, "Pretty Boy" Floyd, and dozens of other criminal figures have been snuffed out in recent months. The federal officers get their man.

What About Aviation?
We thought immediately after the World War that aviation within 10 years would seriously cripple the railroads, automobiles and other old-fashioned methods of travel and transportation. We over-estimated the spirit of change. Now, more than 15 years after, an airplane is almost never seen outside the regular air lines. Few of us ever consider sending a letter by air mail. Barnstorming pilots continue to be novelties. Transcontinental travel is yet so expensive that it is far from common even among the near-wealthy. Small-town airports, expected to blossom by the hundreds, have grown little the last few years. We expected too much, that is all. Let us wait 10 or 20 or 30 years more, if we would marvel at the aviation age.

The Road to Good Citizenship — Boy Scouts of America.

Hell, they say, is paved with good intentions. Most of us intend, sooner or later, to help our fellow men to be more upright, more useful, or happier. Especially do we plan, sometime or other, to help them up our boys and girls in the way that they should go.

Carelessness or selfishness or ordinary cussedness usually postpones our helpfulness until our days are well spent. Most of us can look back and find that humanity, especially the younger generation, has benefited little from our presence on Mother Earth.

Snyder folks who have been paying their roads with good intentions about our boys have an opportunity this week to be of real assistance. A financial drive is to be made Friday for the benefit of the Boy Scouts. We have more than 40 boys in Snyder who are being molded into usefulness by the Boy Scout program.

No burden will be placed on anyone, but everyone should help to some extent.

Let us pave our roads with something aside from good intentions.

EDITORIAL OF THE WEEK

THE NEW AGRICULTURAL PROGRAM.

The large carry-over of our major crops is rapidly disappearing. Agriculture is now facing a new program—that of a reasonable adjustment of production to market needs. It will not be good business to expand production of any commodity beyond the amount that can be sold at a profit plus, of course, a reasonable surplus for emergency protection.

There are those whose immediate selfish interests would dictate a policy of unrestrained production. They declare that we are losing our foreign markets and encouraging expanded production in other countries, whereas as a matter of fact and of record, it has been the policy of European and Asiatic countries to become independent of other countries in as many commodities as possible, ever since the close of the war. It is also a matter of record that the expansion of cotton acreage in other countries started immediately after the war and before the last presidential election. It is a further fact that the desire for American cotton is as great as it ever was but that the difficulty lies in the inability of foreigners to secure American exchange and American dollars.

All industries in this country expanded during the war. New mills and new factories were equipped with the latest capacity machinery. Agriculture also expanded by 50,000,000 acres and equipped itself with the latest capacity machinery. When Europe could no longer borrow from us to buy our goods, all industry except agriculture reduced production, and those who reduced their production because of the lack of markets are now the loudest to complain because agriculture is trying, with government encouragement, to get back on a supply and demand basis. Even many farmers have listened to these selfish interests and have been made to believe that their rights have been infringed upon. In the end, however, we will find agriculture conducted more nearly on a supply and demand basis than ever before. Good business sense dictates such a policy.—Farm and Ranch.

CURRENT COMMENT

By LEON GUINN

Other major oil companies besides Sinclair are using novel ideas now to attract tourists through West Texas in order that the state and local merchants may accrue shekels therefrom. . . Gulf Refining Company has "that good Gulf gaswater" and the Texas Company its Firechief line, with Magnolia Petroleum issuing "Texas History Movies" to schools. . . Continental Oil Company emphasizes its hydro-carbon lines with the Conoco triangle adapted from the YMCA emblem. . . Together with other companies and independent concerns, the petroleum industry annually pays in taxes $1,000,000,000 (including salaries), has assets of $12,000,000,000. . . It is pathetic this vast industry annually wastes $600,000,000 in oil and natural gas, and it is over this empire Harold Eickes would like to rule firmly. . . It is well worth noting the Texas 4-cent tax per gallon will be rather stiff for Centennial visitors in 1936.

Of recent books, City Editor by Stanley Walker, city editor of the New York Herald Tribune, will prove of interest to readers of daily newspapers. . . In this Stokes release one will find the mirror of Journalism bright with Walker tidbits of editors, ancient and modern. . . Stanley Walker, the man, is more interesting than his book. . . Rating at the profession's pinnacle, he started life on a Lampasas ranch, later became a Dallas newsmen. . . He became an authority on Southwestern badmen, of whom he says "many were his relatives." . . Stanley Walker gives due credit to the copy desk, is cautious about details. . . Many a large daily now uses his obituary system. . . He dislikes "hot tips," washed up reporters, schools of journalism.

Rather unique is the system by which the cinema industry keeps tab on theater addicts. . . The fact is usually overlooked that from the constant rivers of fan mail gushing into Hollywood an interesting process is evolved of knowing your personal tastes and rather intimate details about your life. . . For instance, if Jean Harlow is your favorite, or if you write to George Arliss or send trinkets to Laurel and Hardy, studio executives have an uncanny way of knowing your sex and age; degree of happiness; whether or not attacked by romantic fever; your clubs or societies, etc. . . In other words they specialize in what makes your mental wheels go 'round; and this is one of the reasons why big shots smoke special "segars." . . From the terse drama of life revealed on the printed page, many a writer catches the contagious inspiration for a saleable cinema story. . . Producers are so worldly, yesterday's Legion of Decency declares the old "bogey man" thus crept in with subtle and devastating effect.

First Baptist Church

The pastor will preach Sunday morning on "Our Greatest Need." The entire 29th chapter of II Chronicles will be used as a background for this message. The choir will sing.

Sunday school begins at 9:45 o'clock. The weekly visitation on Wednesday morning in the interest of Sunday school, BTS and church attendance is attracting wide attention. This plan of work ought to mean a vast deal to all of our activity. When we come to regard our sacred obligations to our church as we regard our loyalty to our clubs, and social and civic organizations; when we are as devoted and as punctual to our Christ-given task as we are to our pleasures, then will Christian growth and soul winning take on a new charm and a new day will dawn for our churches. No Christian can count for much either in this world or the world to come if he puts everything else before the church.

BTS meets at 6:15 o'clock. More than 100 of our people are finding a joy and a means of training in this hour of cooperating together. There are two adult unions, one senior union, two intermediate unions, one junior union and one primary union. Every one of our church family can find a place suitable and congenial if they have a desire to train for service. The evening worship hour is at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Lucille Reagan, after spending 15 years in Africa, now home on furlough, will speak at this hour. She will have a message that will thrill and delight our people. A duet will sing one of our great missionary songs.

Many Improvements Made at Pyron School; Better Library Facilities

(Editor's note: Following are several interesting bits of news from the Pyron school. They were prepared by students for publication last week, but arrived too late to be used.)

Many favorable improvements have been made in the buildings. The rooms have been made to look much better by having been painted and repaired. In the library we have new tables and chairs to replace the desks, formerly used. There are nine tables, at which the students may study comfortably. Some new sets of reference books have been added and the school has subscribed for several magazines and newspapers. The manual training boys are especially proud of the new shop building and new equipment. Each student is going to show his appreciation of these improvements by doing his share toward keeping everything looking nice and clean.—Ruth Lois Miller.

The sophomores had their first meeting during summer school for the purpose of electing class officers. The following were elected: Mary Rita Vernon, president; Bertha Young, vice president; Bob Bownds, secretary; Thelma Kinney and Herman Richburg, representatives to the student council; and Bobbie Mayes, reporter.—Bobbie Mayes.

The sophomore class met October 10 to decide on the flower, class name, and motto. We selected for our flower white carnation; motto, "Be Square." We agreed to support the following for officers for the student council: Herman Richburg, president; Mary Lois Miller, vice president; Maggie Thompson, treasurer; and Gladys Ruth Mahoney, reporter.—Bertha Young.

By borrowing books, tables and other implements from our community, the school boys, at off periods, have greatly improved the looks of the school campus.—John Miller.

The junior class of Pyron High School met during the summer term for the purpose of electing officers. We elected the following: Mary Lois Miller, president; Barnett Pieper, vice president; Orene Pieper, secretary-treasurer; Wilma Light, reporter; and Ola Allen and Madeline Burlock, representatives to the student council.

Pyron can now boast of having as many school buses as any other school in Scurry County, according to its size. It has four buses running. Only two were run last year, a new one and an old one. The old bus was replaced by a new one, and also another new one was added this year, making three buses owned and operated by the school. A private bus, owned and operated by Mr. Whisenant, is being run in the northwest corner of the district. Mr. Drinkard and Mr. Taylor, two teachers in our school, drive the Lone Wolf and Lone Star buses, respectively. Mr. Alton drives the bus from the south part of the district. All the buses are heavily loaded. There are only a few children who have to walk now.—Mildred Vernon.

The girls of home economics 1-A prepared and served breakfast October 10 and 11 in simple family style. Mr. Bownds and Mr. Drinkard were Wednesday guests of the girls; Miss Garner and Mr. Kerr, Thursday.

The seniors of the Pyron High School met during the summer term and organized their class. The following officers were elected: James Bownds, president; O. C. Darden, vice president; Mildred Vernon, secretary-treasurer; Gladys Ruth Mahoney, reporter; Miss Creola Garner, sponsor; Henry Dewey and Clyde Clark, representatives to the student council. Class colors are green and orchid, with white carnation as the class flower. The motto is "Tonight We Launch—When Shall We Anchor?"

We recently received some new equipment for athletic activities. The equipment includes playground balls, basket balls, a volley ball and net, and a tennis net. We are glad to have these new things and hope to keep them in good use.—James Bownds.

The Pyron Home Economics Club met Friday, October 19. The first year girls served the second year group. They then selected two representatives, who were Margarette Thompson and Ethel Young, and selected our colors, which are to be green and white. Our motto is "Make the Best Better." There were 21 present. Everyone enjoyed our lunch and reported a good time.—Eunice Light, reporter.

Service Club Hears Talks on Boy Scout Program in Snyder

Several speakers at the Lions Club luncheon Tuesday told of the Boy Scout program in Snyder and throughout the Buffalo Trail Council, centering at Sweetwater. Plans for the financial drive here Friday were also mapped.

W. J. Ely, financial chairman of the Snyder Boy Scout district, invited the Lions to a Thursday evening scouter meeting at the hotel, and expressed the belief that the financial drive would meet with a hearty response, as it deserves.

J. E. Shipp, a guest, member of the American Legion Boy Scout committee, spoke of the boy training work from the ex-service men's standpoint. A. C. Kincaid, also a guest, expressed his high opinion of scouting from a parent's standpoint. Carl England was also a guest.

Willard Jones, scoutmaster of the Lions Club troop, outlined scout work in Snyder since its re-organization five months ago. W. R. Luce, Snyder district commissioner, cited several reasons why the Boy Scout program should be supported.

INDIANS RALLY TO TIE SNYDER

The House of Kimbrough, eternal breeder of Haskell Indians, sent its latest pair of six-footers to snatch a football game from the grasp of rampant Tigers Friday night.

The score was tied at 14-all. With Poby and Reecoe winning that afternoon, the tie game meant third place in conference standings for Snyder and fourth place for Haskell.

Going to Haskell as underdogs, the Snyder half-pints dazzled even their own followers, more than 100 strong, with a reversal of form over their showing the previous two weeks. They piled up an apparently safe lead of 14 to 0 in the first half by out-smarting and out-fighting a band of Indians that was expecting duck soup instead of garlic and onions.

Mr. and Mrs. Logan Williamson of Clovis, New Mexico, visited here with Mrs. Williamson's sister, Mrs. O. D. McGlaun, and other relatives during the week-end.

Marcel Josephson returned yesterday from Dallas, where he performed his annual job of checking the finances for a group of State Fair concessions.

In that last half, with the hometown fans begging for the famous Kimbrough boys to get into action, Haskell reversed tactics. Off-tackle plays, which had largely fizzled, were supplanted by power-house drives that made three-, four- and five-yard dents in the weary Tiger defense. Short passes largely took the place of long ones that were seldom complete and thrice intercepted. Finally, a surprise pass over the center of the line scored the last touchdown of the affray when Snyder was looking for more power thrusts.

In the opening half, Snyder made four first downs, Haskell six. In the last half, the Indians piled up their total to 18, while the Tigers could get only 7 for the entire tilt. Four Snyder stands inside the 15-yard line cancelled many of the mid-field first downs of the Kimbroughs in the final quarter.

Lack of space prevents the Times from a more detailed write up of this important game. We're sorry!

Miss Dorothy Darby has returned home from a month's visit with relatives in Fort Stockton and Poyote. Dr. Charles B. Reed and Cleve Blackard were in Abilene Friday night for the Baylor University-Simmons University football game. Miss Era Holt spent the week-end in Lubbock. She attended the Abilene High-Lubbock High football game and declared that it was one of the best games that she had ever seen.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Crowder of Dunn have a nine and one-half pound boy. The baby was born last Tuesday, and he is a nephew of Elmo Crowder.
