This new family of district and county officials goes into office along with state and national administrations that promise some of the most interesting and productive accomplishments and experiments in the history of the country.

Marriages Feature For M. E. Minister

Rev. H. C. Gordon, Snyder's new Methodist pastor, may become known as the town's "marrying parson."

He has been the guiding hand in uniting several couples during the past two weeks. The climax came Christmas Eve, when one young couple became man and wife in the presence at 7:00 o'clock, and another pair were united at 7:30 o'clock.

Lawrence Brown and Miss Emily Black were the first to become as one. William Preston Martin and Miss Lorene Beeman followed. Both couples reside in the Dunn community.

Blame Holidays If Times Comes Late

If your Times reaches you a few hours late this week, please blame the holidays, not the publishers. Merchants and news sources were so busy last week-end and Monday that not much could be done toward building a newspaper. Then the Times plant was closed tight as a new shoe all day Christmas.

The result is Wednesday and Thursday night work for the force, and a late paper for some of the subscribers.

Here's a happier New Year to every Times reader than any of them expect—from: Allene Curry, J. W. Roberts, Willard Jones, J. C. Smyth, Carl England and Fred Jones.

BARGAIN TIME ENDS TUESDAY

After Tuesday, January 1, The Times will close the annual edition of its Bargain Days. From that date on it will be impossible to get Your Home County Paper a full year for a dollar in Scurry and adjoining counties.

Thirty subscriptions for the county paper, as well as several for dailies, the Semi-Weekly and the Pathfinder, were received Christmas Eve. Others taken in since last week's paper run the total for six days to almost 100.

Correspondents Make Final Bid For Cash Prize

Times correspondents are making their final bid for the $10 in cash prizes offered several weeks ago in a subscription contest. All subscriptions that reach the newspaper office by Tuesday, January 1, will be counted in the contest.

Through Christmas Day, exactly one week before the contest closes, three writers were closely bunched for the prize money.

Mrs. Dick Hardee of Egypt was leading, with 22 subscriptions. Mrs. L. A. Haynes of Fluvanna, was second, with 21. Miss Minnie Lee Williams of Hemleigh was third, with 20.

Not far behind the leaders were Miss Christine Flippin of Bethel and Miss Ruth Merritt of Pleasant Hill, with 15 each.

Writers who have turned in five or more subscriptions, in addition to those named above, follow: Miss Lena Hamilton of Strayhorn, 10; Mrs. Nellie Bunch of Union, seven; Miss Millie Wade of Ennis Creek, seven; Mrs. W. W. Whittier of Murphy, six; Mrs. C. E. Myers of Guinn, five.

All correspondents who think they have a chance at the prize money are requested to check their receipt books to be sure that no errors have been made in compiling these totals. One point is counted for each subscription to The Times, any daily, the Semi-Weekly Farm News and the Pathfinder magazine.

Five dollars is the prize to the first-place winner, $3 to second place, and $2 to third place. In addition, each correspondent is given a commission on each subscription she obtains to The Times and to the dailies. The contest opened November 9.

Twenty-eight of the Times' 35 correspondents had sent in a total of 193 subscriptions through Christmas day.

COLORED MAN FATALLY SHOT LATE TUESDAY

Snyder Boy Charged With Murder After Death of John Holland Christmas Night.

With a bullet wound through his heart, John Holland, 60-year-old colored man, slumped dead at his front door steps in the Snyder colored section Wednesday morning at 1:30 o'clock.

E. E. Wallace Jr., local youth, was charged with murder this morning. He is free under bond of $2,500, arranged by District Attorney Geo. S. Outlaw, Sweetwater. Mr. Outlaw was called to act in the case when Warren Dodson, county attorney, was called to Abilene early Wednesday because of the serious illness of a sister.

Several Witness Shooting.
Eye witnesses to the fatal shooting included three youthful companions of Wallace, and several colored men and women who were in the Holland house for holiday festivities, Sheriff S. H. Newman said yesterday.

Wallace's three companions in the fatal trip to the colored settlement told officers that they had been gambling with several negroes in the Holland house shortly before the shooting. One of the youths alleged that a billfold had been slipped from his pocket by someone in the house, and that the three boys returned to town for young Wallace to help them recover the stolen property.

Return to Holland House.
Led by E. E., the three returned to Holland's house and became involved in an argument with the negroes, including Holland, who is said by colored witnesses to have promised the four white youths that the billfold would be returned or paid for.

Holland followed the youths into the yard after they had been prevailed upon to leave the house, of-fenses leaped, and the shooting followed. The first two shots from the small automatic went wild, but the third found its mark, and the colored man died almost instantly.

The youths told officers that Holland went to the kitchen, during the argument in the house, allegedly to get a gun. A conflicting story is told by the colored witnesses, who state that Holland made no threatening move.

Holland Funeral Today.
Final rites for John Holland were held this (Thursday) afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, at the colored church. He is survived by his wife and an adopted daughter.

B. R. Miller Forms LaRue Partnership

S. A. LaRue announced early this week that he had formed a partnership with B. R. Miller in the operation of his laundry business a block east of the square on 26th Street.

Mr. Miller was a citizen of Corpus Christi before he moved to Snyder early this year.

The two laundry operators announce that they will add modern steam laundry equipment within a short time.

Tri-Union Meeting Had by Endeavors

Members of the Christian Endeavor of the First Christian Church were in Roscoe Friday evening for a tri-union meeting. The next meeting will be had at Sweetwater January 18.

The main part on the program was a pantomime on "The Birth of Christ," read by Mrs. Bessie Gordon of Roscoe.

Snyder people learned that a large delegation was expected at the district convention in Breckenridge January 6.

New Year's to Be PO, Bank Holiday

The post office and the Snyder National Bank announce that they will be closed, as in years past, on New Year's Day. A Tuesday morning delivery in the business district is the only mail distribution offered by the post office.

Only one local business house, J. C. Penney Company, has announced closing for the holiday.

No special New Year observances are being planned here, with the exception of the customary social functions.

The local all-star football team will journey to Pecos for a return match with the all-stars of that town. Manager W. W. Smith states that two or three cars are needed for the journey, with expenses paid.

FIFTH SUNDAY UNION SINGING

The Baptist Church at Union will be host all day Sunday to the fifth Sunday singing convention. Walter Holmes, president of the Union class, will be in charge.

Several hundred visitors from Scurry and adjoining counties are expected. New books, Harbor Bells No. 4, will be used.

Ford Dealer Off To View Display Of New 1935 V-8

Earl Louder, local Ford dealer, and Roy Strayhorn, salesman, are in Dallas today for a pre-showing and demonstration of the new 1935 V-8.

Among features of the district gathering of Ford men will be a radio broadcast, direct from Henry and Edsel Ford, president of the far-fung motor car empire.

Mr. Louder, along with other dealers throughout the nation, says he will have at least one of the new cars on the local floor Saturday.

He invites the motoring public of this trade territory to view what he terms one of the longest forward steps ever taken in the automobile industry.

"The V-8 engine is practically the same as in 1934," the local dealer said just before he left for Dallas, "but typical Ford strides have been taken even there. Most of the improvements are to be found in the riding qualities of the car. More comfort in riding, especially for the back-seat passenger, is offered. The rear seat is now forward of the rear axle, so that all passengers ride between the axles. New flexible springs are to be found, and body designs add much to the all-round beauty."

"Ford plans to build more cars in 1935, and believes this can be done by reducing the price on some models."

Last Cattle Buying Planned Dec. 28-29

This week-end, December 28 and 29, has been set as the final date for purchase in this county of government cattle.

Farmers and ranchers who have listed stock for sale under the final program are asked to bring them to Snyder, where they will be handled by the relief agency after inspection and appraisal by Dr. C. C. Young and J. Homer Beal.

He was elected this year, without opposition, to a second term of office, which would have begun next month.

Tigers Make Envious Record This Season Despite Lack of Man Power

Lack of experience and weight did not prevent the 1934 Tigers from making an enviable record this season, a check and double check of the figure disclose.

Before the record of six wins, one tie and three losses is surveyed, it might be well to look over the man power, past and future.

Coach "Red" Hill had only four lettermen—all backs—when he took over coaching duties. The entire team was light. Many of the boys had never played even back-lot football, as the coach told banquetees at the Manhattan Hotel Thursday evening.

Four Lettermen Back.
Next year the situation is reversed as far as lettermen is concerned. Four lettermen—all linemen—are scheduled to learn. They are J. P. Tate, Otha Lee Clark, Bo Moffett and J. C. Morgan. The remainder will be taken by graduation or the eight-semester rule.

Half Century of Ministry Closes For Rev. Harris

More than 50 years of ministry in the Methodist faith ended at Hamlin Wednesday night of last week for Rev. Will H. Harris, 70, who was local pastor for a four-year period.

Funeral rites for the veteran minister were held at the First Methodist Church, Snyder, and burial was beside the grave of his wife in the local cemetery Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. Rev. H. C. Gordon, local pastor, was assisted in officiating by Rev. L. H. Lipscomb, pastor of the Lubbock First Methodist Church, Rev. H. A. Longino of Hamlin, and Rev. L. B. Smallwood of Roby. Odum Funeral Home was in charge.

Rev. Harris served most of his career in the old Northwest Conference before its division in 1910. He was licensed to preach at 19 years of age. He was in the Central Texas Conference for a few years. His pastorates included Sweetwater, Clarendon and Grapevine. His grandfather and his father before him were members of the Northwest Texas Conference.

The veteran of the gospel had been supernumerary for 15 years, but he had supplied much of the time. His death occurred at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Mary Polk, in Hamlin. He had been in failing health as the result of a paralytic stroke suffered a year ago.

Rev. Harris is survived by three other daughters, Mrs. George W. McClung of Fort Worth, Mrs. James Polk of Pecos and Mrs. Inez Dunn of El Paso; four sons, Willie Byron Harris of Dallas, O. F. Fluvanna, Ward of Hamlin and Leon, a United States marine at Fort Lewis, Washington; three brothers, Dr. Sed A. Harris of Snyder, J. M. of Corpus Christi, J. T. of Ambers; three sisters, Mrs. S. B. R. Pickett, W. B. Stanfield, Will Rogers and W. B. Lee. Mrs. A. A. Bailey and Miss Allene Curry were in charge of flowers.

Quiet Time In Town For Holiday Period

Snyder behaved unusually well during the Christmas holidays, say city and county peace officers.

With huge crowds in town Saturday and Monday for final shopping, officers marvel that no serious car or firework accidents occurred, and that drunkenness was at a minimum.

Christmas Cheer Baskets Delivered To Many Families

At least 500 boys and girls, men and women of Snyder and vicinity woke up early Christmas morning to find well-filled baskets and boxes of "Santa Claus."

With firemen and Boy Scouts doing the delivering, various local organizations and individuals combined to provide 135 baskets filled with clothing, toys, candy and fruit. It was Snyder's largest contribution to Christmas cheer for her needy folk.

Special thanks for the good-fellow's success this year are due the following, says Fire Chief N. W. Aubry: American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary, Perry Brothers, Bryant-Link Company, Boy Scouts, Snyder Hardware & Implement Company, Business Women's Club, Lions Club and school officials.

NEW COURT TO SELECT JUDGE

A successor to County Judge R. H. Curnutte will be named at the first session of the Commissioners' Court that will go into power January 1, in the opinion of courthouse attaches. It is probable that a special session will be called prior to the first regular meeting January 14.

Street talk early in the week indicated that a special election might be called, but reference to statutes revealed that no legal provision for such an election has been made.

At least a half dozen names have been prominently mentioned as possible successors to the judge who was elected, without opposition, for a second term that would have begun next Tuesday.

Judge Curnutte's last elected predecessor, C. R. Buchanan, died during his term of office. John E. Sentell served as an appointive term for several months during the interim.

Associational BTU Planned for Sunday Afternoon at Union

The regular fifth Sunday meeting of the Mitchell-Scurry B. T. U. Association will be held at the Union Methodist Church Sunday, December 30, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. The session is to be in the Methodist Church because of the singing convention which is to be held the same day at the Baptist Church.

Coins for Legion's Centennial on Sale

The Texas Centennial coins offered for sale by the American Legion may be purchased at the Snyder National Bank, according to Walla Fish, local commander. A number of the coins have already been purchased at $1 each.

J. L. Caskey bought the first coin. No auction sale was held on the square Saturday, as planned, because everyone was too busy to auction or purchase the memorial coins.

Birdwell Promoted To Sergeant's Job

Eldon Birdwell, graduate of Snyder High School and freshman at John Tarleton, Stephenville, was recently elevated from his corporal post to a sergeant's job. He was one of 10 students who were advanced to sergeant posts in the recent order. He is a member of Company A at the school.

At Tarleton the young sergeant is affectionately known as Ernest. He is at home for the holidays.

Drilling Next Week.
After a holiday shutdown, the drill test on the W. C. Allen ranch near Dermott will be resumed Monday, according to John Spears, who was largely responsible for working up the leases in the Allen vicinity. The well was drilling last week below 500 feet.

Each Precinct of County to Have Federal Worker

The four enumerators for Scurry County's farm census were announced yesterday through the office of K. C. Holmes, Lubbock, census supervisor for Texas District 2. They are: M. W. Bavoisset, Precinct 1; John T. Oargle, Precinct 2; W. C. Hooks, Precinct 3; J. S. Neal, Precinct 4.

Definite acceptance of the enumerators is subject to final word from Washington, but their final selection is considered certain.

The census is expected to begin in this county next week. Farmers are invited to secure sample copies of the census blanks at the county agent's office, in order that they may be prepared to answer the questionnaires quickly and accurately when the enumerator calls.

The law provides that the individual returns made by each farmer are absolutely confidential. William L. Austin, director of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, desires particularly to impress every farmer with the fact that his report will not be used as a basis for taxation nor communicated to any tax official.

"With the vast program now being carried on by the government to assist agriculture an inaccurate report might very easily react unfavorably to the farmer in any particular section," says the Bureau of the Census, in urging that all reports be accurate and unprejudiced.

All Children of G. L. Autrys in Holiday Reunion

All the children of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Autry gathered at the M. W. Autry home in East Snyder on Christmas eve and Christmas day for an old-fashioned reunion and celebration, honoring the veteran couple.

A Christmas tree offered gifts for all attendees, and various games were played during the entire reunion period.

Mrs. Ethel Duke from Amarillo on the night train came into town to meet her best brothers will vouch for it.

The reunion was enjoyed by following: "Mother" and "Dad" Autry; N. W. and L. T. Autry families of Snyder; T. A. Duke and family of Ennis Creek; Drew Clark, Sam Smallwood and families of Ira; Mrs. L. Y. Duke of Amarillo; Dick Hardee and family of Egypt community; Miss Alice Clark, a granddaughter, of Pecos; John Brock and Arthur O'Neal of Pecos.

County Given Eight More Men For CCC

An allotment of eight more enrollees was assigned to Scurry County for the Civilian Conservation Corps for early January, says County Administrator Joe Monroe.

About 50 young men are seeking one of the eight places, says Mr. Monroe. He states that selection of the new CCC attendants will be left up to a committee, as it has been in the past.

Allotment of at least $22 out of the $30 monthly wage received by CCC men must be returned to dependents. Six months is the regular enrollment period.

The following members and escorts were present at the party: Miss Margaret Deakins and Jesse Browning, Johnnie Mathison and Fred Wolcott Jr., Enid Sears and Bob Curry, Frances Chenuault and Hadley Reeve, Janice Erwin and Woodie Hairston, Jan Thompson and Buck Stacy, Dorothy Darby and Grady Ferguson, Ruby Lee and Bob Gray, Mildred Stokes and Byri Riggs, Saxton West and Bill Lee, Eva Nelle Arnold and Creston Fish, Bonnie Miller and Grover Scott, Green Gray and Morris Sturdivant, Allene Curry and Harold Brown, Miss Hamlett and N. Tables were laid with white linen and lighted red tapers made pretty table centerpieces. Gifts were exchanged. Mrs. W. Hill won the high score prize, and Mrs. Gaither Bell received the second high prize. At the business meeting during the afternoon, Mrs. G. B. Clark Jr. was elected president of the club for the year 1935, and Mrs. Gaither Bell is the new reporter.

A Christmas motif was emphasized in appointments and decorations for the three-course breakfast. Miss Mattie Ross Cunningham, president of the class, presided during the program. Miss Evelyn Worley told a Christmas story, and Miss Maurine Cunningham favored the group with a Christmas reading. Miss Marie Davenport spoke words of appreciation to Mrs. English, teacher of the class; to Mrs. J. M. Harris, associate teacher; and to Mmes. W. R. Bell and Ethel Eiland, Sunday school officers.

Mrs. Harris presented each member with a lovely linen handkerchief, and the meeting was closed with the singing of "Silent Night, Holy Night."

Delightful Party Given at Boren's.

Brud Boren entertained friends with a bridge-dinner Friday evening. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Boren, and his sister, Mrs. Novis Rodgers, assisted him in entertaining.

A Christmas motif was emphasized in appointments. Table centerpieces were pine burs with tiny red candles burning in the top of each. Party favors were miniature Christmas trees with mint bases. A two-course turkey dinner was served to those present.

Very Much Improved After Taking Cardui

"I have suffered a great deal from cramping," writes Mrs. W. A. Sewell, Sr., of Waco, Texas. "I would chill and have to go to bed for about three days at a time. I would have a dull, tired, sleepy feeling. A friend told me to try Cardui, thinking it would help me—and it did. I am very much improved and do not spend the time in bed. I certainly can recommend Cardui to other sufferers."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Snyder All-Stars Bury Pecos Under Avalanche of Touchdowns Tuesday

Eleven men (count 'em!) came over from Pecos and other Bankhead points Christmas afternoon. They had been advertised as a football team, but 200 or 300 customers who watched them perform against the Snyder all-stars decided somebody made a mistake.

The customers had several consolations, however. First, they enjoyed the balmy afternoon, with its fresh air that helped sweep away the results of too much Christmas. Second, they watched old Tiger stars, the two Tiger coaches, and two or three other snappy gridiron warriors in battle array.

The score was 54-0. Twenty-one in the first half and 33 in the last. Somebody counted 11 first downs for the home crew, and a lone first for Pecos. The visitors' 10 yards came near the first of the game, and included a 5-yard penalty.

Had Few Good Men. Three or four Pecos-ites helped hold down the score. Johnson, center, broke through to throw the locals for several neat losses. Brumlow, right end, was a defensive star. Bill Jones, full, flashed occasionally with his Simmons sweatshirt.

For the Snyder eleven, most of the yardage was made by two passing combinations, Coach Hill to Coach Curry, and Pete Tyler to Curry; and by Buck Howell, former Tiger, now a Hardin-Simmons speed demon. Bedford McClinton, touchdown artist of other days, failed to score, but he unreeled two or three sizeable runs.

In the line, Jesse Browning shone alongside his little brother, Broadway, as a tackle, and several other boys looked good.

Pete Tyler Scores. Not long after the kickoff, Snyder took the ball in midfield, and Pete Tyler, all-conference back from Hardin-Simmons, made the first marker after Buck had scooted for 10 yards, and three passes had been completed to Curry. The second score was a safety, following a fumbled kickoff return by a Pecos man. Buck returned the resulting kickoff into Pecos territory, and the Tyler-Curry combination accounted for 30 yards—and the score was 14-0.

Buck's 40-yard return of a punt, McClinton's 10-yard sally and a 10-yard Tyler-Curry pass made the count 20-0, and Buck converted.

After the half, Curry totaled 33 yards on another pass to run the score to 28-0. Hill made the next marker after several straight line plays. McClinton's 16-yard rush and a Hill-Howell pass, plus McClinton's extra point, made it 14-0. Beryl Rigby made the next one with a shifty 12-yard sally, and McClinton completed a pass to Hill for the final 6 points.

Woodson Smith helped Captain Hill handle the locals, in the absence of Doc Hicks.

To Play at Pecos. The same teams, plus probably a few Pecos boys who did not get as far as Snyder Tuesday, are planning to meet at Pecos on New Year's Day.

Pecos line-up—Wilson and Brumlow, ends; Pate and Bowlin, tackles; O'Neil and Robinson, guards; Johnson, center; Baker, quarter; Jones,

THE WEEKLY DOZEN

Too Many Runs for Christmas.
Talkative Tulle says her Christmas stocking was evidently running too fast for Santa to catch it Monday night.

Better Watch Your Swaps.
If you have any Christmas gifts to exchange, you'd better be careful when you step into any local store... the friend to whom you gave that freak cigarette lighter or statuette might be there ahead of you.

Check and Double Check.
Pessimism Pete says he can't see much merit in the plan of checking Christmas cards and gifts to see how many folks you have remembered who have not remembered you; and, what is worse, vice versa.

Welcome, Christmas Cards.
For all the Christmas cards The Times has received this Yule season, the entire force is duly thankful. Not only thankful; but so appreciative that here's wishing all the senders the happiest New Year of their lives.

Shakespeare, Not a Doll.
Did you read last week's Santa Claus letter in which a little girl asked for the complete works of Shakespeare rather than a doll? One of our most sincere wishes on Christmas Day was that this small friend of good literature had received the desire of her heart. Dolls wears out; Shakespeare, never.

Depression and Diplomacy.
A famed French seer foresees two occurrences in America that should bring relief to a weary land: The ending of the depression's major effects, and the birth of a new diplomacy that will help to avert war and international disputes. Much as we disliked the depression, it is entirely possible that this new diplomacy will bring us more lasting benefits than an era of prosperity.

It Happens Year After Year.
Year after year, Christmas after Christmas, the vast majority of shoppers wait until the last two or three days before Christmas to do the bulk of their shopping. Usually it is not a question of lack of money; most of us know how much we can spend on gifts and eats and decorations. It is usually just a case of the typical American spirit of "put off until tomorrow what you know you ought to do today."

Surveying the Dal-Paso.
Not much has been done about the Dal-Paso Route these last few years. Not much, we should say, as far as Scurry County is concerned. Carlisbad Chamber of Commerce intends shortly after the holidays to survey the entire route, which of course heads toward the west at the caverns, with a view to seeking end-to-end improvement on the highway. The need for this improvement is evident by the fact that Carlisbad Caverns have been visited by 68 per cent more persons in 1934 than in 1933.

Texas and Your Tires.
Carbon black alone is responsible for the automobile tires that will last for 25,000 or more miles, whereas it used to be that a 5,000-mile tire was unusual. One finds that statement in the little folder issued by Progressive Tires, Inc. But there is a more surprising statement. Snyder is within a short distance of the major production center of carbon black. "The Texas Panhandle," says the folder, "is accounting for 79 per cent of the production of carbon black in the United States, 64 per cent of the world production."

A Timely Suggestion.
More than 100 small children, plus many adults and in-betweens, were given Christmas cheer Tuesday morning when baskets were delivered by the firemen and Boy Scouts. The American Legion and its Auxiliary, as well as many other organizations and individuals, were responsible for assisting the two distributing groups. But there was a rather distressing lack of coordination. It is timely to suggest that these various Christmas cheer groups be organized next year, and that a central committee be responsible for handling the baskets.

Pilgrims to Bethlehem.
Pilgrims swarmed into Bethlehem Tuesday to pay homage to a Child who was born there almost 2,000 years ago. A report from the little city published in Monday's papers indicated: "Some 5,000 pilgrims and natives of Bethlehem will throng the various passages of the Church of the Nativity tomorrow night as the carols ring out to climax the revelation of the holy babe precisely at midnight." The spirit of the Child grows as the years grow. There is no doubt in the minds of those who study divine revelation but that the time will eventually come when that spirit will conquer all hearts at Christmas-tide, as well as throughout the years.

Government-Owned Utilities.
Government-owned utilities are apparently in the offing, no matter how many corporation czars may throw up their hands in righteous dissent. For that matter, many a private citizen looks with displeasure, from many angles, on the giant proposal. But the utilities have brought most of this misery and prospective misery on themselves. Giant holding companies, with much of their capital in the form of "watered" stock, put distrust in the public mind. The same condition—plus lack of courtesy and friendliness in the non-competition days—brought doom to the railroads, comparatively speaking. Government-owned utilities, mammoth truck lines, busses, heavy private automobile transportation—all these are realities in this present era, and utilities and railways may as well prepare for the inevitable.

The Great Judge Calls.

County Judge Robert H. Curnutte answered the final call of a greater Judge than himself Sunday afternoon.

It is not often that Scurry County pays tribute to such a unique citizen. Judge Curnutte was unique in this sense: That he unobtrusively, and without sham or pretense in any dealing, played a key part in the affairs of his home community from 1901 until the day of his death.

Judge Curnutte, like Judge Buchanan a short time before him, hastened the coming of death by putting more time and effort into county affairs than his strength would allow. That is usually the history of real public servants.

This community, in which Judge Curnutte has been a substantial and oftentimes a dominant figure these past 33 years, pauses to say "Well done."

Come on, You Young Tough Nut!

The year nineteen thirty-five will be a tough nut for Scurry County to crack.

But Scurry County is equal to the task. Although money has not been as plentiful this season as even a fair crop would have made it, only a few professional sourdoughs are complaining. Everyone who has a finger on the public spirit knows that folks are in a better frame of mind to meet the New Year than they have been at any Christmas season in recent years.

Folks are learning to count the blessings, privileges and prospects that they have instead of the ones they don't have. That is a good sign. That is the reason for a happy Christmas-time and the high hopes that look into the 12 months ahead.

Come on, you tough nut! Scurry County's typical hardiness and never-say-die spirit will crack you to a pulp before you are many days old!

EDITORIAL OF THE WEEK

OLD AGE PENSION.

I understand that they are planning an old age pension. I hear that they are going to give every fellow over 60 years of age a pension of $200 per month. Any one who receives $200 a month will not be allowed to work any more. He is to fool around and twiddle his thumbs and spend his money.

I know what that means. A fellow who has worked all his life will soon die when he quits. They figure that we old shuckless hulls will soon die off if they give us a pension and make us knock off our work. They think that the $200 a month will about meet the undertakers' bill for putting us away.

I would like to have the $200, all right, but if I am to quit work and do nothing in order to get it, they can keep the old $200. I am not ready to die yet.—Uncle Bill in Sterling City News-Record.

HOW TO GET ADVERTISING.

We notice every once in a while some of our exchanges take the business men of their towns for a "ride" through the columns of their paper for not advertising in their paper, and go on with a tirade about "if you want a newspaper in your town you must support it." After 30 years hammering around in the newspaper business we decided long ago that that kind of plava never gets you anywhere. If you want business, go out after it, and if you can't get it through personal solicitation, you just can't get 'er and that is all; and all the high-powered editorials you can write does not help matters one bit. In fact, we have come to the conclusion that it does more harm than good.—Bobbing Bout by Boyle in Briscoe County Times.

WAY OF THE LAW.

"The way of the wind," wrote the poet Crockett, "is a strange, wild way." Conceding a certain degree of strangeness and wildness to the way of the wind we maintain that in comparison with other phenomena it is familiar and tame. The way of the law is infinitely stranger and wilder.

The observation is inspired by a dispatch relating to the return of nurse Betty Gow from Scotland to testify in the Lindbergh kidnaping case.

"Miss Gow," says the dispatch, "is believed to have been the last person to have seen the child before it was kidnaped. A high state official said that her testimony would be necessary to establish the fact that the crime occurred."

It may be necessary, in compliance with the law, which is strange and wild. But even if Miss Gow said the crime didn't occur, we can't help believing that the father and mother, not to mention 130,000,000 fellow citizens who are not afflicted with strangeness and wildness but have a medium of common sense, would still harbor a suspicion that it did.—Lubbock Morning Avalanche.

McMurry Coach Says There's Place For Football In Stamina Building

"The disgrace in football is to quit and to play it dirty," Coach R. M. Medley of McMurry College, Abilene, said to the 1934 Tiger squad and their coaches Thursday night of last week.

Barbed language like this characterized the talk made by the dean of West Texas coaches at Snyder's annual tribute to her football boys, a banquet affair held at the Manhattan Hotel. Football and other popular sports were referred to as the only builders of moral and physical stamina that are left in our modern educational scheme.

Sixty squad members, pep squad girls, fans and entertainers enjoyed the program. Warren Dodson was toastmaster.

Santa Claus for Hill.
The football boys played Santa Claus to W. W. "Red" Hill, head coach, and Bob Curry, his assistant. Sonley Huestis, spokesman, assured the coach, as pajamas, bathrobe and house slippers were presented, that the squad appreciated the work and worry he had spent on them.

The coach traced the team's record for the year, citing holding the Lameta squad to a 7-5 count and defeating Roscoe, 13-6, as the high points.

The visiting speaker referred to the two local coaches as "his boys." Reminiscing, he recalled that Hill was quarterback and acting captain of the first McMurry team that ever scored a touchdown, and that the touchdown was scored by the local head coach, Curry, he said, was high basket ball scorer in the Texas Conference last season, with 212 points, he said.

Toasts, Music, Talks.
Frances Northcutt, one of the pep squad leaders, opened the program with a clever toast to the team. William Boren responded with a

A. C. Preuitt, secretary of the school board, dubbed for Dr. J. G. Hicks in paying tribute to a business man's standpoint to this year's football squad. Brief talks were made by "Doc" Hicks, Abs Rogers, High School Principal R. L. Williams and Superintendent C. Wedgeworth.

All the speakers referred to this year's team as one of the best from all standpoints that had ever been produced at Snyder High School. Especially did the two school officials and the toastmaster, who is county attorney, speak of the team as composed of boys who take the proper attitude toward school life as a whole, high ideals on and off the gridiron and sportsmanship above victory.

THE STORY

Chapter 1—Jim Wall, young cowpuncher from Wyoming, in the early days of the cattle industry, seeks a new field in Utah. He meets Hank Hays, who admits to being a robber, and tells Wall he is working for an Englishman named Herrick, who has located a big ranch in the mountains. Herrick has employed a small army of rustlers and gun fighters, and Hays and others are plotting to steal their employer's cattle and money. Hays wants Wall to throw in with the rustlers.

Chapter 2—At the little settlement of Green River, Hays gets into an argument with a gambler called Stud, over a poker game. Wall saves Hank's life by bluffing the gambler out of shooting. With Hays and two other rustlers, Happy Jack and Lincoln, Jim Wall starts out for Herrick's ranch. In camp, the first night out, Jim regrets the step he has taken, but it is too late to turn back.

Chapter 3—The four men arrive at the ranch. Herrick announces that his sister, Helen, is coming to the ranch. Hays unfolds his plans for getting possession of the 12,000 head of live stock on the Herrick ranch. He and his lieutenants ride away to drive out the first bunch of cattle. Jim remains behind to shoot it out, if necessary, with Heeseman, Hays' rival among the cattle rustlers. Jim sees a dust cloud, which he is certain denotes the arrival of Heeseman and his gang. He stands with rifle ready.

Chapter 4—Heeseman tells Wall that Hays was once his (Heeseman's) partner and double-crossed him. Herrick delegates Jim to go to Grand Junction to meet Miss Herrick. Jim gets Barnes, a young cowboy with him, to tell her that he (Jim) is a desperado of the worst type. Barnes does so, but the girl treats the information lightly.

Chapter 5—On his arrival at the ranch, with Helen, Jim is confronted by Hays, who betrays unusual interest in the coming of Miss Herrick. Jim tells Hays that Miss Herrick brought a Wells Fargo package, probably of money. Jim goes riding with the Herricks and greatly impresses Helen with his revolver shooting.

Chapter 6—The cattle drives to Grand Junction are started. Jim Wall finds himself falling in love with Helen.

down to the corrals he fell back under the spell of something sweeter than wine. The sunny hours with the sage flat ahead, the fragrant pines, the baying hounds, and always out in front this bright-haired girl, were vastly different from the dark hours when the day was done. Nothing could be truer than this utterly incongruous and bitterly sweet situation could not last. In moments of humility, engendered by the higher emotions this girl aroused, Jim clasped to his breast the fact that he was protecting her from worse men.

Barnes and another of the cowboys had taken the horses for the Herricks up to the house. To Jim's honest dismay he espied Helen riding ahead, with the cowboys behind leading her brother's mount. Herrick was not coming. The hounds bounded and cavorted about her, seen for the chase.

Miss Herrick looked far less proud and unattainable in the boy's riding garb she had adopted. Moreover, it had transformed her, yet her femininity appeared more provocatively manifest than ever.

Barnes turned Herrick's horse over to a table boy, and with his companion fell in behind Miss Herrick, who rode out upon the valley. Jim rejoined them, and they trotted their horses together.

"Why didn't Herrick come?" asked Jim.

"He was rowin' with Heeseman," replied Barnes, soberly.

"You don't say! What about?"

"Reckon I don't know. They shut up as I come along," returned the cowboy. "But I seen enough to calculate somethin's wrong. They was on the porch. Herrick looked sort of peevish. He didn't want his sister to go huntin' today, I heard that. An' she said right pert she was goin'."

"How did Heeseman look?" went on Jim, ponderingly. "Somethin' was up. For two days Heeseman's outfit had been through hauling timber."

"Dead serious, like he was tryin' to persuade the boss to somethin'."

Jim lapsed into silence. What turn would affairs take next? It was getting warm around the Star ranch.

Each day the hunters had to ride farther afield to find game. Jackrabbit chasing had grown too tame for Miss Herrick.

Three or four miles out the hounds jumped a coyote from a clump of sagebrush.

The cowboys took the lead, then came Miss Herrick, while Jim brought up the rear. It was a long, gradual ascent up to an open ridge.

Here the hounds jumped a herd of deer. Despite the yelling of the cowboys, they dashed up the ridge with a chorus of wild barks and yelps. They all passed out of hearing.

Jim caught up with Miss Herrick, who waited in an open spot among the pines. Flushed and disheveled, with her sombrero on the pommel, panting from the arduous ride, she made a distracting picture.

"Hunt's off for us, Miss Herrick," said Jim.

"Too bad! But wasn't it fun—while it lasted?" she replied gayly. "Let us rest the horses. I'm out of breath myself."

Jim dismounted to tighten his saddle cinches.

"Wall, take a look at my cinches," she said.

"May I ask you not to call me Wall? I must remind you I'm no butler."

"Pray pardon me," she rejoined, in surprise. "I presume I should address you as Mr. Wall."

"Yes, if you're too stuck up to call me Jim," he said.

She lifted her chin and deigned no reply. And that infuriated him. "While I'm at it I'll tell you this, too," he went on doggedly. "You must not ride alone again. I've had no chance to speak with you. But I told your brother. He laughed in my face. He is a fool."

"Mr. Wall, I will not listen to such talk," she spoke up, spiritedly. "Oh, yes, you will," he flashed, striding over to her horse. "You're not in an English drawing room now, confronted by a disrespectful butler. You're in Utah, girl. And I am Jim Wall."

"That last is obvious, to my regret," she returned coldly. "Will you please be so kind as to tighten my cinches? It will be the last service I shall require of you."

"Thank the Lord!" ejaculated Jim, in grim heartiness. "All the same I'll tell you. If you were an American tenderfoot, it wouldn't be hard to make you understand. If you were western, you would not need to be told. But as an English lady of quality, who thinks her class will protect her anywhere, you need to be jarred. . . . It's wrong for you to ride alone on this range like any wild tomboy."

"Why?"

"Some of these men might kidnap you for ransom."

"Nonsense," she retorted, contemptuously.

"What do you say, Miss Herrick, when I tell you that Hank Hays has been watching you from the ridge, riding the lonely trails, biding his chance to waylay you?"

She pealed at that.

"I don't believe it," she said, presently.

Miss Herrick took to the Western saddle like a duck to water. She could ride. Moreover, that spirit of which she had hinted certainly overtook her. More than once she ran off alone, riding like the wind; and upon one of these occasions it took the cowboys till dark to find her. That with Hank Hays and Heeseman there to see her gallop away unescorted! Herrick did not seem to mind.

As far as Jim Wall was concerned, however, these rides with her centered him upon the love which had come to consume him; and the several she took alone were more torturing because they aroused fear of Hank Hays. It could not be ascertained whether or not Hays followed her, but when the day came that Jim discovered Hays had been riding the trails frequented by Miss Herrick, it seemed time to act.

This placed Jim in a worse quandary. To act, for a man of his training at such a time and place, was to do only one thing. But how could he kill his leader upon mere suspicion of sinister intent to kidnap the girl? It was a predicament for a man who had always played fair, alike to honest friend and crooked ally.

Jim paced under his dark sheltering trees, in the dead of night, when he should have been sleeping. Days had passed without his once seeking to avoid disaster; and he had not sought because he knew it was of no use. To wish to be with his blonde girl seemed irresistible. More than once he had caught himself in the spell of a daring impulse—to tell Miss Herrick that he loved her. The idea was sheer madness. Yet the thought persisted, and when he tried to shake it the result was it grew stronger in a haunting maddening way.

At breakfast next morning Hays raved about the fact that Smoky had not been there for two weeks. "Things air comin' to a head," he concluded, gloomily.

"Reckon they ought to have made two drives by now," rejoined Happy Jack. "I rid down the valley yesterday eight or ten miles. Cattle thinned out, boss. Any cowboy with eyes in the back of his head would be on us by now."

"Shore. Haven't I kept them workin' up here? But I've no control over this horseback ridin' after hounds. Pretty soon Herrick will be chasin' down Limestone way. Then the fire'll be out."

"Hank, he wouldn't know the difference," interposed Jim.

"Aw, I don't care," replied Hays, harshly, and that finally intimidated much. "Walk till Smoky's outfit shows up."

The Pleasant View of 1934

The world has been impressed in 1934, with new emphasis of the value of friendship, goodwill, and the joy of fellowship with one another, and pleasant relations that make life sweeter and better.

So we come to this season with hearts attuned to the spirit of peace and fellowship. We come giving thanks for the loyalty of those who have made our business possible during the past year and who have made it a pleasure to us to do business.

All things else we cast aside and as earnestly as we know how, send to our patrons everywhere every good wish for the coming year.

Snyder National Bank
SNYDER, TEXAS

THANKS...

1834 has been good to us in having given us a good patronage from our friends. Though we tried to thank you with every transaction, let us again express our gratitude at the close of this year.

And here's to a New Year! A new year of health, happiness, and prosperity. 1935 is the opportunity year for all of those who take advantage of the things coming their way. A new era of progress, prosperity and development is just ahead of us and this business firm is going to try and improve every day over the same day last year.

We are going to improve in many ways, in courtesy, service, friend-making and business getting.

Our Gratitude...

As we look back over the year now drawing to a close we realize that it could have been better, but we know also that it could have been worse. The year brought us much to be thankful for, chief among which was the continued loyalty of many old friends and the addition of many new ones. To all who have accorded us patronage, be it large or small, we extend our sincere thanks.

Looking to the New Year we are thankful for the opportunities it offers and we pledge our patrons that we are going to work hard, give the best possible service and do so at the lowest possible cost. And in this connection we want to extend to each of you our best wishes for a New Year filled with health, happiness and prosperity.

Hugh Taylor & Co.

Well, Doc?

"A REAL bouncing boy, this 1935—full of life and energy, bound to do big things. But I'd recommend a good tonic to get him started on the right track, and the best one I know is a hearty old shout of Happy New Year!"

THANKS—We are thankful for being privileged to do business in one of the best towns in the world, and to have gained the friendship of so many good people and constant patrons, to dismiss thoughts of business long enough to write a few words to one and all right out of the heart.

Thinking of friends such as ours on such occasions, makes us wish for the ability to send to each one a personal word, but even if we did there is nothing we could say than is most sincerely incorporated in this familiar greeting.

HERE IS MORE CONCERNING

"And you'll go on riding alone when it suits your royal fancy?" he quivered witheringly.

"That is no longer any concern of yours," she replied, at last stung.

"But I certainly shall ride when and how I please."

"Then you're as big a fool as your brother," declared Jim hotly. "Here I am, the only man in this Star outfit with honesty enough to tell you the truth. And I get insulted and fired for my pains."

She sat her horse mute. Jim laid a strong hand on her pommel and shook it.

"Your saddle's loose. Will you oblige me by getting off?"

"I can ride it back," she rejoined, icily.

"But your blanket will slip out. The saddle might turn with you." She removed her foot from the stirrup. "Tighten the cinches then—and hurry."

Jim complied expeditiously enough, but in doing so he accidentally touched her. Something like fire shot through him at the contact. Under its stimulus he looked up to say a few more words to her, words to mitigate his offense and protest his sincerity. But they were never uttered. She had bent over to fasten a lace of her boot, and when Jim raised his head it was to find his face scarcely a foot from her red lips. Without a thought, in a flash, he kissed them, and then drew back, stricken.

"How dare you!" she cried, in incredulous amazement and anger.

"It just happened. I—I don't know—"

She swung her leather quirt and struck him across the mouth. The blood spurted. The leap of Jim's fury was as swift. He half intercepted a second blow, which stung his neck, and snatching the quirt from her hand he flung it away. Then his iron clutch fastened in her blouse. One lunge drug her out of the saddle. He wrapped his other arm around her and bent her back so quickly that when she began a furious struggle it was too late.

His mouth hard pressed on hers stilled any but smothered cries. There was a moment's wrestling. She was no weakling, but she was in the arms of a maddened giant. Repeatedly he kissed her lips, long, hard, passionate kisses.

Suddenly she collapsed heavily in his arms. The shock of that—its meaning—pierced Wall with something infinitely more imperious and staggering than bitter wrath. He let go of her. There was blood on her lips and cheeks; otherwise her face was like alabaster.

"I think I must have been in love with you—and wanted to protect you—from men worse than myself," he went on, huskily. "I hope this will be a lesson to you. . . . Your brother was crazy to come here—crazier to let you come. Go home! Go before it's too late. Make him go. He will be ruined shortly!"

Bob Curry, a teacher in the local school, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Curry, in Crosbyton, returning here on Christmas Day to play in the Pecos-Snyder football game. He is spending the remainder of the week with friends in Abilene.
