NUMBER 26

Remains; Dressing Plant in Full Swing Again.

Buying of Christmas turkeys is beginning in Snyder this week. Almost two-thirds of the 1936 crop remains to be sold, in the opinion of most produce men.

The opening price had not been set when The Times went to press but it was expected by all observers to run in the neighborhood of the Thanksgiving prices of 11 and 12 cents for No. 1 birds.

With fall and early-winter rains leaving ranges in such excellent condition. Yuletide birds are expected to be in unusually good marketing shape.

Dressing Plant Open.

The dressing plant operated here duce Company is open again. Capacity turnout is expected for several days of the picking season, and Manager W. P. Holt says dozens of pickers will be needed.

The plant leaves hundreds of dollars in the community annually during the picking season, most of the total going to the pickers.

Revenue is increased by many turkeys being brought in from adjoining counties for dressing here. More than two carloads of dressed birds were shipped from here during the Thanksgiving season.

To Littlefield for Titular Bout

Between 100 and 200 fans, possib more, are planning to leave Snyder for Littlefield Friday morning They will be trekking to the Plains to witness the first bi-district game in which the Tigers have played since 1932.

The game is scheduled to begin at 2:30 o'clock.

Plans for a special train to Littlefield were abandoned, primarily ecause of the distance and the fact hat many fans, busy with pre-Christmas plans, had rather dash Juanita and Jettie D. # College Students Return Home for Thanksgiving Holidays in Snyder

Local students in colleges and universities all over the state spent the holidays with parents and friends here. The majority of them arrived home last Wednesday, some bringing guests for the holidays, and returned to their schools late Sunday.

Largest number of homecoming students were from Texas Technological College, Lubbock, and Hardin - Simmons University, Abilene. Tech students home for the holidays included: Virginia Will, Hazel Pollard, Pauline Boren, Juanita Sentell, Martha Jo Jenkins, William Miller, Murray Gray and Cloyce Drinkard

From Hardin-Simmons the following were home from Wednesday until Sunday: Theo Rigsby, Evanelle Arnold, Royce Eiland, Frances Stinson, Irene Spears, Florentz Winston, Buck Howell and Travis Green. Both Snyder girls who are second

Laundry

Every doctor in Snyder agrees that the Laundry's modern methods of sterilizing and washing clothes destroys disease germs almost 10 per cent. No method that neither boils the clothes nor dries them with steam heat, these doctors will tell you, can protect you and your family.

2.—Cheapest in the Long Run

Aside from the fact that the health of your family means more than anything else, the Laundry assures you of fair prices, absolutely spotless clothes and helps keep your clothes looking fresh and new much longer.

3.—The Laundry Does It Best

Compare laundry finished clothes with those sent elsewhere. Up-to-date machinery and skilled employees insure work that is practically perfect.

"Did you know that each piece we send to the Laundry here is passed through eight to eleven waters?

"And I learned yesterday that germs of any disease are just about as good as dead when they go to the Laundry.

And how about evepost likes so well to fill editorial columns with. the kind that blink at you in the same brilliant tone when you suggest by dimming that their lights are too bright for your own safe driving?

The overgrown country towns of West Texas that are installing parking meters and a multitude of stop signals . . . well, they are still overgrown country towns, and their uptown airs don't fool anybody. At this writing, we refer particularly to Lubbock and Odessa, without apologies to Charley Guy and Ralph Shuffler, who also consider the new-fangled signals and meters a very low form of animal life. Folks of Lubbock, Odessa and environs would probably like to change "Signals, check!" to "Signals, check out!"

One sign of a fellow being newly rich is a tendency to grasp a mashie like a pick handle.

We've seen statues of great statesmen astride horses, but never one straddling a fence.

A man may be known by the company he keeps. and also a company may be known by the men it keeps.

Some people are always waiting to be given a chance while others run out and grab it.

A woman may be pensive while you're courting her, but she soon becomes expensive after you marry her.

They say that the early bird gets the worm, which serves the worm right for getting out so early.

One nice thing about the chronic borrower is he never hits you when you're down.

One fault of the self-made man is that he's never willing to make needed alterations.

It's said men are only grown up boys, which explains why some of them run around in knickers.

The man who does not cultivate solitude can never enjoy society, and he whose social actions are never subjected to the criticisms of his solitary hours will cease to be a man governed from above .-- Fairbairn.

Tugwell's successor, Rev. W. W. Alexander, will find it rather difficult to carry on Mr. Tugwell's ideals precisely, which will in all probability be a fine thing for that great humane agency, the Resettlement Administration. . . . Tugwell started out with the idea of being the administration's whipping boy; of deflecting attacks from rugged individuals, which resulted in few of his quotations making good "political fodder." . ! . Mrs. Roosevelt inspired Tugwell to sponsor a new pure food and drug bill (after being shocked at a quackery display), said bill giving Rex Tugwell his first black eye with the American public.

President Roosevelt was anxious to get off to Buenos Aires when he received Rex Tugwell's resignation, and hastily dictated a reply to a White House stenographer. . . . Amid excitement over a kindred' illness, the stenographer filed her notes and forgot about the matter, causing Tugwell to wonder why the White House did not announce his resignation. . . . The acid test of chivalry these days is giving your last cigarette to a lady. You never heard of a strike because the wages of sin are not high enough. Sometimes the finishing touch of a long friendship is a touch for a loan. A soft answer may turn away wrath, but it's ineffective against a book agent. An adult can exist Air . . 27 pounds per day { for approximately-10 minutes without air

The air supply of a person is of first importance. Therefore it is a wise precaution to keep the air in the home during winter as pure as the warm oxygen-laden air of summer. A room that is poorly ventilated can be injurious to health. Inadequate fresh air and a lack of pure, warmed air throughout the home make it easy to "catch cold."

A simple method of providing a constant circulation of fresh air is found by keeping a window in each room slightly open. Connecting doors left open between adjoining rooms, when the entire house is adequately heated, provide a natural circulation of pure, warmed air from one room to another.

Never permit the air you breathe to become "stuffy" through lack of pure air circulation. Heat your entire house and provide fresh air ventilation for your health's sake. It's important to you and your family.

W. E. DOAK, 💎

This is exactly true: Oil-Plating supplies lubrication in LESS THAN NO TIME AT ALL!

Faster than "instantly"... faster than the fastest-flowing Winter oil might even begin to flow, Oil-Plating is ready to lubricate.

That's because a genuine Plating of Conoco Germ Processed oil is always left firmly bonded to every working part. Like any other real Plating, this Oil-Plating cannot run off. After hours or days of standing in the cold, Oil-Plating is still perfectly ready-to-go.

Now these days you read on every side, how poorly-oiled starting causes most engine wear, and how fast a Winter oil ought to flow. But you cannot have even a doubt of sure starting-lubrication, when it is always UP IN ADVANCE. That's Oil-Plating ... a plain, straight, economic reason for changing to your correct freeflowing Winter grade of Conoco Germ Processed oil - patented. Costs no more than changing by hunch.
