C.OF C.OFFERS YEARLY EVENT FOR CHILDREN

Remember last year-and the two years before - when Santa Claus came to Snyder in person?

Of course you do, if you are a lively young boy or girl, or if you are the mother or daddy of one or more of the kiddies in this trade

Old Santa is coming again this year, in the same manner, and the date is Saturday, December 19, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The date was changed from mid-week this year in order that more kiddies NAMES ADDED would have a chance to take part in the festival.

Candy for Kiddies.

As usual, there will be plenty of candy for the kiddies. Santa Claus will mount to the top of the courthouse, as he did last year, and candy kisses-pounds and pounds of them -will be thrown to the crowds be- to the county's Red Cross Roll Call the kiddies may have a chance Forest Sears, president, and J. W. Scott, secretary, of the organization, join the entire town in inviting folks from all parts of the county and adjoining counties. Merchants Are Ready.

Merchants will be ready for the Saturday visitors. Decorations are bigger and better than they have been for years. Stocks offer plenty of variety in number, quality and price. Extra clerks have been added. Stores are remaining open later Mrs. Madge Popnoe, Alta Bowers, than usual during the next few days. Opal Darby, Mrs. W. P. Lovell Baze, Mrs. Dudley Anz Secure Directing Licenses

Mrs. Dudley Anz and Lovell Baze, who took examination before the State Board of Embalming in Dallas recently, received their formal funeral directing licenses this week. The examination, taken by the local people at Baylor Medical College in Dallas November 20, consisted of 100 written questions and 20 oral ones. Both served their apprenticeship under Loran Maples at Maples Funeral Home here.

Mrs. Anz is serving as lady assistant at the local funeral home, and Baze has assisted when necessary after receiving his license re- huge anniversary dinner.

Edd Dodds Closing South Side Grocery

The Edd Dodds grocery and market, south side of the square, is closing out its local stock and fixtures this week. Edd Dodds announced when he came to Snyder from Roscoe early this week.

In an effort to clear the building in less than a week, Mac Casey, manager, says every item of merchandise and fixtures will be disposed of not later than Saturday night. Reduced prices prevail on

Annual Cantata Formally Opens Holiday Season for Music Lovers

Musical Coterie's Christmas cantata presented Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian Church formally opened the Christmas season for the music loving people of this territory. Many of them were present for the beautiful service, which is held annually by the music study

Mrs. E. E. Spears was director and Mrs. W. C. Hooks accompanist for the program of music, "The Festival of the Nativity" by William Baines, which was a proclamation of the birth of Christ.

Lighted white tapers, cedar branches and autumn leaves outlined the choir loft, where the music club stood dressed in white vestments. Other slender white tapers, graduated in height, were in candelabra on a table in front of the choir and others were in the windows behind, making soft light for the white-clad singers of Christmas Decorations were in charge of the Crusaders Class of the First Methodist Church, of which Mrs. R. H. Odom is teacher. Misses Annie F Sewell and Margaret Henderson lighted the tapers just before the

Other members of the Musical Coterie in the choruses were: Mmes. Lyda M. Hardy, King Sides, Novis Rodgers, W. W. Hamilton, Melvin Blackard, W. W. Smith, W. C. Hollis and Hugh Boren.

Pastors of the town took part in the services. Rev. James E. Spiley, host pastor, made inspirational remarks directed toward the serious significance of Christmas, Rev. Lawrence Hays of the Pirst Baptist Church read the ser.pture, and Rev H. C. Gordon of the First Method.st Church gave the prayer which followed. Guy E McPherson of the First Christian Church closed the program with the benediction.

Peter Jones.

An unusual human interest story which it is easy to believe is told by H. H. Bennett, head of the United State Soil Conservation Service in the current issue of the Progressive Farmer. It is the true story of a moonshining mountaineer who got religion at a protracted meeting and resolved to restrict himself to farming. Here in brief is the story of how he has since succeeded on his 125 acres of hilly land:

"Now this is the true success story of Peter Jones, farmer. Peter Jones had vision. He began to think about 'scientific farming.' He subscribed to three good farm papers. He learned much about the impoverishing effects of rains upon soil fertility and took steps to keep his topsoil from washing away. As soon as he cleared a field, he built terraces to check erosion. He planted a variety of crops. In short, he versed himself in the knowledge of his profession, and practiced good

"Today his farm is clear of debt, his acres are productive. Mr. Jones and his family live in a beautiful old home, more than a hundred years of age. In the bank in town is a sizable account to his credit. And in the vicinity of the Jones farm is Jones Chapel, built by this erstwhile moonshiner without outside help other than a contribution of $6 in cash and $2 credit |

"The case of Peter Jones is an object lesson in scientific farming. His farm is an outstanding example of the importance of three matters concerned Britain. with successful farming:

1.-A love for the land;

3.-Applying modern methods, according to the fitness of the land.

BY LEON GUINN.

Now that King Edward VIII has abdicated and left the fate of Britain to his brother George (Duke of York) and Stanley Baldwin, the world can perhaps rest from the expose of Edward's private life. . . . On June 10, 1931, Lady Furness introduced Mrs. Simpson to the Prince of Wales in a casual manner, little dreaming the swirl of social events would one day ause a crisis in Edward's public life.

While Edward is thoroughly twentieth century in public and private life, and is recognized as the "super salesman of Britain's far flung empire," his affair with the svelte Mrs. Simpson has given American society a black eye in British opinion. . . . In his struggle between love and the throne, one concludes Edward need not have brought the crisis he did to bear on an already fidgety commonwealth. . . . Rather than buck up against the Mid-Victorian ideals of Britain's prime minister, and face the sneers of Parliament because an American divorcee had influenced his future life Edward could have, easily, married a British woman; retained the throneship of an empire that paid a million dollars yearly to the king for his services to 2.—Keeping up with the advance of agricultural Howe of Kansas, suggested Edward keep both Mrs. When that salty prophet of Americanism, Gene Simpson and his throne, telling the British people to "go to hell," he overlooked the fact one doesn't tell a people anything of the sort, especially when the common people pay that person a million dollars annually to represent all the pomp and glory of a monarchy harkening back to the Tudor kings of England.

. . Since Edward was no "one woman man," he month for "Nation's Business" by Franke Greene, was might have run a contest, selected the most beautiful all wet for December. It showed Amarillo and her girl in England for his bride, and retained his million trade territory, home of the ravishing, Golden Sand- dollar job. . . . That would make about as much sense as winding up with his present heart flame. . . . However, under George's guiding hand, England faces a promising future. . . . God save the king!

Cowpunching ain't what it used to be by any means. . When I saw a rancher Friday driving 300 cows gleaned from a press release by Julian Montgomery, and calves out of the county on one of our highways he had two mounted cowpunchers drive the dogies of Public Works: "Dear Mr. Editor: Please read the along, while said rancher stopped his V-8 to prepare attached press release before you throw it into the lunch. . . . From the car's turtleback he pulled out coffee, beans and bread. . . . And as I gazed at this rubber-tired chuck wagon, with its shiny polish and cramped "grub shelves," I realized ruefully cowpunching ain't 'what it used to be. . . . Ranchers are getting to be tenderfeet this day and age!

STATE LEADER SPEAKS TWICE FOR BAPTISTS

Mitchell-Scurry Workers Gather 300 Strong at First Baptist Church Here Tuesday.

Dr. R. C. Campbell, state secrevention, spoke twice Tuesday to and several others from the Mitchell-Scurry Association, meeting in monthly workers' conference. The state leader, former pastor of the First Baptist Church, Lub- be presented Sunday evening. He pointed out the immensity of cony choir of young people. the state field, and said that human organization and power, with divine Prophesies-Rev. H. C. Gordon.

guidance, will bring in the harvest. Texas Baptists cooperating with the general convention are more than 615,000 strong in more than 3,000 churches, he said. He painted a vivid picture of the fruits of a gigantic state-wide mission program. with emphasis on the glory of soul winning to local church units.

Speaks on Stewardship.

In the afternoon, Dr. Campbell speke on "Stewardship." Basing his message on the story of the faithful steward, he said stewardship of money is reasonable, should be worthy, and that pastors should lead their people to support a program of stewardship.

Rev. J. J. Strickland, new district missionary, Big Spring, brought a report of his activities, as did Rev. E. P. Gonzalez, Mexican missionary It was decided during the business session that the entire district, composed of three associations, will be asked to support Rev. Gonzalez' present offering of $50 monthly from the Mitchell-Scurry Association, and that he be made a district missionary to Mexicans. He also receives $25 monthly from the state mission board.

Next workers' meeting goes to Colorado January 19. The date was moved up a week because the state Sunday school convention will be held in Dallas during the second week of January Missions Discussed.

The Tuesday meeting's theme "Our State Mission Program," was carried out morning and afternoon Lawrence Dever led a song and praise service to open the meeting and Rev. J. F. Fields led the devotional. "Cultivating the Field for Missions" was the subject of Rev.

J. C. Childress, Westbrook pastor Rev. R. E. Day, Big Spring pastor, spoke briefly on state mission following Rev. Strickland's talk.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Car-dui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health describes. She writes: "My health" wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would late the hauseste me. I would just drag around, so aluggish and 'do-leas.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me.". If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.
