STATE SAFETY UNIT TO CHECK CARS LOCALLY

Special Trained Unit of Highway
Patrol of Texas Will Be Here
Thursday, June 3.

The special trained unit of the Texas Highway Patrol will swing into Snyder Thursday, June 3, carrying its message of safety to motorists.

Rained out last year when it set a date for a Snyder visit, the unit will check motor vehicles in what has become popularly known as a "Safety Lane." Information of the visit to be made by the flying squadron of good will and courtesy was made public this week by Captain W. W. Legge of the Lubbock district.

The patrol will spend three weeks in this district, visiting a dozen cities.

Innovations This Year.

A number of innovations have been added this year, including a big white loud speaker-equipped patrol ambulance, which recently made a record run from Beaumont to the New London school disaster, with Sergeant Ross Dickey at the wheel.

The program is strictly one of courtesy, and is designed to assist motorists in keeping check of their brakes, lights, horn, muffler, steering gear and windshield visibility.

Snyder officials plan to cooperate in every way to make the visit profitable to the motoring public.

The lane will be established on the east side of the square, next to the courthouse curb. Captain Legge and a patrolman late yesterday made advance preparations for the lane here.

"Wholehearted Cooperation."

"We received such wholehearted cooperation from the officials and citizenship of this district last year that members of the patrol were extremely anxious to return," Captain Legge stated, adding that "we expect to find a much lower percentage of defective cars this year as compared to the first program held in this section in 1936."

"I am informed from Chief Phares at Austin that 86 cities are now on the waiting list for this program, and I feel that we are fortunate in being able to bill the crew for Lubbock district this early in the year."

"It will enable many vacation bound motorists a splendid opportunity to receive a free check of their cars, thus probably preventing many unnecessary accidents and possible tragic vacation sequences."

Legion Auxiliary Will Sponsor Box Supper on June 3

American Legion Auxiliary will sponsor a box supper at the city tabernacle Thursday night, June 3, at 8:00 o'clock, according to announcement made by Mrs. Walla D. Fish, president, this week.

Women of the county are urged to attend and bring boxes, which will be auctioned by Arthur Townsend, local auction artist, and sold to men in the crowd. Proceeds will go into the club's treasury to be used for charity work and the Legion hut building fund.

Auxiliary members have arranged a program of music, readings and dances by junior artists of the town, which will be punctuated by music from a stringed instrument trio directed by Jesse Jones. The program will precede auctioning of the decorative boxes.

Mrs. Fish will be in charge of the following program: Mrs. Earl H. Louder, accordion numbers; Patric Hicks, piano; Ruth Lane, readings; Berry Lee Moreland and Lois Rogers, harmonica numbers; Ernestine Morton and Doris Wilson, tap dance; Cora Frances Arnett and LaVerne Hardin, vocal duet; Carolyn Henderson, reading; Mary Ellen Bowers, song and acrobatic dance; Nell Verne LeMond, piano; Bennie Jean Beavers, tap dance.

SOIL PROGRAM SIGNERS DROP

Farmers of Scurry County made out 975 work sheets, indicating participation in the government's 1937 soil conservation program, according to figures compiled this week by the county agent's office. Sign-up closed 12 days ago.

These 975 work sheets represent 156,493 acres of cultivated land, estimated to be 78 per cent of the total in the county.

Farmers signed 1,103 work sheets in 1936, topping this year's total by 128. Last year's sign-up represented 172,736 acres, 16,243 more acres than in the new sign-up.

County Becomes Part of Lubbock WPA District 17

Under a sweeping reorganization program, Texas WPA offices are being reduced from 20 to 12 in number. It was announced several days ago by State Administrator H. P. Drought of San Antonio.

Under the new plan, Scurry County will be shifted from District 13, with headquarters in Abilene, to District 17, Lubbock. Kent, Fisher and Jones are also being transferred to the Lubbock territory, while Nolan and Mitchell will go into the San Angelo District 19.

The consolidation, according to Drought, affects only administrative offices and will have no bearing on the number of persons employed on WPA projects now operating. Sue Snyder of Snyder is among the 40 employees of the Abilene office that will be affected by the change.

Purpose of the reorganization, Drought said in his announcement, is to achieve economy. He said $30,000 per month will be saved under the new plan.

H. L. Vann to Abilene.

H. L. Vann, manager of the local J. C. Penney Company store, returned from a district Penney session at Abilene last week-end to discover that Assistant Manager Horace Mullins and other members of the store rang up one of the best Saturdays in recent months during their "best sellers event." Planning of fall buying was one of the leading subjects for discussion at Abilene.

SUMMER TERM BEGINS JUNE 7

When the summer term begins in the local school system on Monday, June 7, the largest enrollment for any warm weather term in recent years is expected by school officials.

Slow Rain Gives Trade Area New 1937 Optimism

Drat That Rain!

Monday night's bountiful rain must have pricked the consciences of city employees who sprinkled many barrels of water, in the evening and early night, on East 26th Street.

The big water truck was getting the street in shape for the paving program, which has extended this month to the east side. Old Man Rain, falling slowly, helped do the job right.

The program around four Snyder churches—Christian, Presbyterian, Baptist and Methodist—was completed last week. Base coats of asphalt have been placed on three blocks of 26th Street east from the E. S. & F. tracks, and the work is moving rapidly toward connection with Highways 7-15-101 at Snyder General Hospital.

One of those rains came on a Monday night and Tuesday morning that makes you want to jump about 25 feet in the air, click your heels together, and yell to the whole bloomin' world that things are looking good in the county of Scurry and neighboring communities.

It wasn't a gully washer that visited. In scattered areas the water fell fast enough to wash a bit, but here in Snyder, and almost everywhere else in the area, the fall was gentle, like the hand of Fate soothing the brow of a worried people.

Precipitation in Snyder was 1.39 inches. The fall 10 days earlier was 1.75, bringing the May total to 3.05 inches. Showers began about 10:00 p. m., and did not end until after daylight Tuesday.

Other portions of the county received from a quarter to two and one-half inches. Heaviest fall was in the Dunn territory, and lightest was several miles west of Snyder, and toward the Koonman Ranch, northeast.

Immediate effect of the rainfall was to fill out old grain, give later grain a new lease on life, spruce up pastures, and assure cotton and feed farmers of a good start for their 1937 crop.

Combines are beginning to whir—more combines than the county has ever seen before. The small elevator of the Scurry County Grain Company is ready to handle the wheat crop, which is variously estimated to be good for 300,000 to 400,000 bushels, probably an average yield of seven to 10 bushels per acre.

Rainfall in some degree was almost general in West Texas. Borden County was light in a few spots, but the county as a whole must have hit Galt's average of .53. Claimant reported .97, while Fisher County, again over a young oil boom, saw her be t downpour of the year. All other counties adjoining Scurry received bountiful moisture.

Homecoming To Be Held May 30 By China Grove

Dozens of present and former members of the China Grove Baptist Church, established about 35 years ago, are expected for the homecoming program of the congregation Saturday night and all day Sunday.

Among speakers for the program will be six former pastors of the church and Rev. J. M. Fields, present pastor. The general public is cordially invited by church leaders to attend the celebration.

Saturday night's program will open with a song service, led by Billy Hairston. Rev. A. D. Leach of Colorado, a former pastor, will conduct the devotional at 8:00 o'clock. Rev. J. W. McGaha of the Canyon community, also a former pastor, will preach the Saturday night sermon.

Rev. Forest Huffman of Snyder, the third former pastor on the program, will conduct the devotional at 9:45 o'clock Sunday morning as the first part on the day's program. Old-timers will be in charge of Sunday school, which opens at 10:00 o'clock. A. T. Williams will bring the welcome address at 10:30, and Joe Hinton will give a history of the Sunday school at 10:45.

A memorial service will be conducted at 11:15 o'clock by the W. M. U. of the church. Rev. W. D. Green of Knox City is slated to bring the morning sermon at 11:30. He is a former pastor. An old-fashioned dinner on the grounds, for which full preparations are being made, will be served at noon, along with basket lunches.

Anton White will lead in an old-time song fest at 1:30. Rev. G. W. Parks of Roscoe, a former pastor, will preach at 1:45 on "The Value of the Church." Rev. J. E. McDermitt of Tyler, another former pastor, will bring an inspirational address at 2:15. The final sermon will be brought at 2:45 by Rev. A. A. Watson of Kermit, sixth former pastor on the program.

Miss Illia Heller, above, technician from the Ritz-Carlton Salon, New York City, is at J. H. Sears & Company this week, aiding women of this section in the selection of cosmetics from the Charles of the Ritz line. Mrs. C. J. Sims handles the cosmetic preparations at Sears' regularly.

"The 1937 spring and summer season is one of gorgeous colors and ultra femininity," according to Miss Heller. "Sun tan, so popular in past year, is definitely passé," Miss Heller says. "Faces must be carefully made up to accentuate the romance and glamour of lady-like femininity. Powder, rouge and lipstick are lighter this season—lighter make-up colors enhance the riotous colors in the wardrobe."

Miss Heller is giving free consultation and assistance to local women on their beauty needs this week until Saturday night at the local store.

Preuitt advances from the first vice presidency. W. E. Holcomb was moved up from second vice president to first vice president, and Warren Dodson was chosen as second vice president.

Other Nominations. H. S. Darby was renominated as secretary, and G. B. Clark Jr. as treasurer. Jack Martin will be the next lion tamer, and Willard Jones will be shifted from that position to ball twister, fun maker of the club.

A Ford dealer for 13 years, Louder cited several instances in which Henry Ford pioneered in the industry.

Entertainment for the day was provided by Berry Lee Moreland and Loyal Rogers, harmonica duet, and Jimmie Roberts, harmonica soloist. The boys were cheered by enthusiastic club members.

FLEECE WAS WHITE AS SNOW

By Aletha M. Bonner in "Our Dumb Animals"

Editor's Note—This article has particular timeliness because of the increasing interest in sheep raising in Snyder's trade territory.

The Mary's lamb of childish rhyme (Long since a sheep full grown), Through constancy to Mary gained A name that is world known.

Down the living age, lambs have been linked with purity, innocence and play. Of course, there have been "black sheep" in every flock, and it is quite likely that the "wanderers" from the fold of "Mary's" fiction-sister, "Little Bo-Peep," belonged in this questionable class!

Putting aside nursery-rhyme pleasures, and pursuing the fleecy flocks through pages of history, we find that the domestication of sheep occurred at an early date. In their wild state the creatures were fierce and venturesome; while the domesticated animals are docile and cautious.

From Asia came the first sheep tribes, this country being the home of the large "Marco Polo" type—an animal named for the Venetian merchant of thirteenth century fame, whose extensive journeys in the East brought to the historic page many of the wonders of the world, at that time, little-known land.

In Asia many wild breeds roamed the mountain ranges and plateaus, some wearing a bluish coat, and having stout outcurving horns, somewhat resembling the goat. America, too, had a wild breed—those in the Rocky Mountain regions, and because of their massive head appendages, they were given the name of "big horn."

Originally sheep were tamed for burden-bearing, as well as for their milk and fleece. Cross-breeding and climatic change wrought with the passing years a great improvement in the life of the animals, as well-developed herds found pleasant pastures in the broad fields of the world.

In Biblical times the sheep-herder lived a nomadic life, as it was necessary for him to move from place to place seeking fresh pasture lands for his flocks. There were grave hazards in tending herds in those days—ravages from wild beasts, raids by alien tribesmen—hence the faithful shepherd's work in guarding his flock from harm has been beautifully symbolized in the religious world.

The most distinctive characteristics of sheep is the herd instinct; and a "follow-the-leader" complex is the predominating force in a flock, for if one sheep pioneers a movement the rest are sure to fall in line. Insomnia sufferers make humorous testimony to the fact that if they can succeed in mentally corralling a flock of sheep, and then have the animals jump over a low "brain-wired" fence, by counting the participants in this slow-motion, head-to-tail procession, they (the sleepless ones) are lulled to slumbers!

With further reference to "Mary's Lamb," though its fabled fleece might have been as white as snow, in real life the sheep's coat rarely approaches that color, on account of the accumulation of dust and grease in the wool; hence a yellow-

Barns, Theatre Damaged by Fire In Recent Days

Two fire calls have been answered by Snyder volunteer fire department within the past week.
 A call to Southwest Snyder last Thursday afternoon came too late for the department to save a barn belonging to Zack Evans and a car shed and barn belonging to Lex Wilmeth, but quick action prevented a stiff breeze from carrying flames to the Wilmeth house.
 Severe casualty of the fire was a pig that was burned to a crisp in one of the barns.
 Fire broke out about midnight Saturday in the new Gym Theatre, east side of the square. Defective wiring caused ignition of the space under the projection room about 30 minutes after A. M. Morgan, owner, closed the show and left for Colorado.

Two Singings in Area to Attract Visitors Sunday

Two singing conventions Sunday are attracting the attention of Scurry and Fisher County singers.

The Scurry County fifth Sunday singing convention convenes at Plainview, six miles east of Snyder, at 2:00 o'clock for an afternoon of gospel singing.

Bud Payne, Plainview class president, says "all our good singers are especially invited to be at Plainview Sunday afternoon. We are planning a great convention, so come expecting to hear some good singing."

The Fisher County fifth Sunday singing convention meets at Fairview, two miles south of old Sardinia, for an all-day session. Singing will start at 10:00 a. m., with plenty of "dinner on the grounds" for attending singers.

Eddie Williams invites Scurry County singers down for the morning session and dinner. "We'll do our best to have dinner in time," says Eddie, "so all who want to can go to Plainview Sunday afternoon."

Guinn's Paper in Book.

In a letter late last week to The Times, J. Frank Doble of the University of Texas stated Times Staff Writer Leon Guinn's paper on "Legends and Folklore in West Texas" will appear in the 1938 yearbook of the Texas Folk-Lore Society, together with all the material Guinn has gathered on colloquialisms and home remedies. The paper was given by Guinn at the West Texas Historical Association at Anson recently.

King George VI on His Throne

London.—Seated on his throne in Westminster Abbey, King George VI receives the homage of his peers, immediately after being ceremonially crowned, by the archbishop of Canterbury. One is shown kneeling before the monarch.

Louise Gibson, who has taught the past year at Boyd's Chapel, arrived at home last week for a visit here before opening of summer school at West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon. She will probably attend both summer sessions.

Vacation School For Bible Study Set By Churches

At a recent meeting of leaders from the various churches of Snyder, it was decided that there should be a daily vacation Bible school this summer in which the churches of the community would cooperate. Four churches, First Christian, First Baptist, First Presbyterian, and First Methodist, have already expressed the desire to participate, and plans are now underway for the organization and selection of workers for the school.

The dates which have been set for the school are July 19 to 30, with closing exercises on the final Friday night, July 30. This school will take the place of schools which have been held by different denominations in the past.

Definite plans will be announced in due time, but at present the tentative outline calls for five departments in the school, as follows: Nursery, ages 18 months to three years; beginners, ages four and five; primary, ages six, seven and eight; junior, ages nine, 10 and 11; and intermediate, ages 12, 13 and 14. There will be a general assembly for the opening exercises in one of the churches at 9:00 o'clock each morning, and then the various departments will go to the different churches for their specialized work.

Announcement is made of the school at this early date because of the many inquiries which have been made regarding it by the children who have attended some vacation Bible school in the past. Parents are requested to plan their vacations so that the children might all have the opportunity to enjoy the two weeks of study, handwork, play, and worship in the Bible school this summer.

Borden County Farm - Ranch News

By E. B. McLeroy, County Agent

A general rain Monday night has made the crop outlook much brighter for Borden County. The precipitation at Gail was .93 inch. Stock water had been rather low in most of the surface tanks over the county prior to this rain. Practically all of the 24 tanks constructed under the range program to date now have some water in them. However, due to the large capacity of most of them, it will require several good rains to fill them to the spillways.

Nine Borden County 4-H Club boys have started their 1937 feeding projects with beef calves selected from various herds of this area. The following boys have selected one or more calves as a demonstration feeding project: Weldon Street, W. D. Everett, Kenneth Mull, Casner Dulin, Riddle Rogers, Jesse Everett, Billy Sealy, Clarence Simpson and Billy Gray.

One of the highlights of the 1937 4-H projects was the timely cooperation of the 9-R Ranch in making it possible for three Borden County feeders to select calves with the option of paying for them after completion of the feeding period and sale of the animals. Nathan Reynolds of the 9-R assisted the county in obtaining three choice calves from the ranch, and the calves have been placed with 4-H Club boys who have had previous experience with beef calf projects.

Beef calf feeding is the most popular project for 4-H Club boys in Borden County, and the enrollment to date is the largest for any year since Extension work has begun in 1934 in the county. In addition to the nine boys previously mentioned, there will be several more beef calf projects started within the next two weeks.

Agent Tells How To Treat Fowls For Sod Disease

Many chicken and turkey raisers have trouble with their young birds at this time of the year with a very peculiar trouble—they become crippled and their feet appear as though they might have walked through fire. Small blisters form on the feet and the toes curl up. The affected birds walk on the ball of the feet without the aid of the toes. This disease is commonly known as sod disease, and usually affects the chicks during the first few weeks of their life, according to County Agent W. R. Lacey.

Close examination reveals the presence of blisters between the toes or possibly small scabs on top of the toes and on the lower part of the leg. The whole foot usually is swollen and is very tender to touch. In a course of two or three days the blisters rupture and a thick heavy scab forms on the feet. If the chick survives, the scabs disappear in a course of two or three weeks, and the toes become extremely distorted, turning usually in an upward direction so that the only portion of the feet that touches the ground is the heel.

The symptoms may or may not appear on the head, and in some instances they may show on the head and not on the feet. In the early stages small blisters may be found in the unfeathered skin around the beak and around the eyes. Often the eyelids become glued together and the chick becomes totally blind.

The only treatment that can be followed is to move the chicks to newly plowed ground and to treat the feet or head parts with boracic acid ointment or corbulated vasoline at least once a day until the condition is cleared up. It is also suggested that as a further aid that the baby chick feed be a well balanced ration with plenty of mineral in it.

Letters from the People Our Readers Speak

Editors, The Times: Watchman, what of America? Never before in its short history has our nation been confronted with such sinister, monstrous influence boring from within; a subtle, contagious influence, no longer a mere threat but a dominating power. No one seems to know where we are trending, the man in the street is quite as intelligent in this respect as President Roosevelt. Those who are in close touch with government affairs make no bones in stating that over Washington's madhouse hangs a pall of apprehension. Roosevelt has out-generaled himself into second place. John L. Lewis, head of the committee for industrial organization, is America's man of the hour, and quietly for months has directed the administration. We don't believe this? We don't want to. Yet it seems to be common knowledge in Washington political circles. Without doubt, Lewis is the strongest political power in the United States today, by holding the balance of power. He has more votes under his thumb and a greater slush fund at his command than anyone else in America. No wonder Washington is apprehensive, holding its breath in anticipation of this labor leader's first big move. Lewis' votes, his $342,000 donation to the campaign fund went far toward re-electing Roosevelt. His votes put over Frank Murphy as governor of Michigan. That state was to be C. I. O.'s first big organization effort. Failure to oust the sit-downers by Murphy, Secretary Perkins' attitude and President Roosevelt's quiescence are confirmation of the Lewis power.

First Presbyterian Church

The pastor will be in Evvanna for both the morning and evening services next Sunday, and consequently there will be no preaching services at the local Presbyterian Church. Sunday school will meet at 9:45 in the morning, and Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p. m.

The first Sunday in June is children's day, and besides the special program to be presented by the youth of the school there will be a visiting speaker for Sunday school and the two preaching services. He is Rev. J. L. Cleveland of Abilene, who is Sunday school missionary for this area of West Texas. His visit here will be a part of the observance of the fiftieth anniversary of Sunday school missionary work by the Presbyterian Church—James E. Spivey, pastor.

First Baptist Church

The pastor will preach Sunday morning on "The Works of God." There will be special music. All of our church family will be in their places for this last Sunday in May, bringing with them friends and visitors that need the fellowship and helpfulness of the worship hour.

Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. More than 300 were in attendance last Sunday. With the leadership of our new superintendent and the right spirit of cooperation the month of June ought to see near 400 in regular attendance for faithful, consistent, regular Bible study.

The Baptist training hour is at 7:00 p. m. Many will want to attend the quarterly meeting of the associational B. T. U. at Payne Sunday afternoon. The director will report the high points of the meeting at the closing assembly.

The pastor will preach at 8:00 o'clock on "The Ministry of Suffering." This service is calculated to help those who have suffered losses and born sorrows. All our friends will help get to this service those who especially need the message and comfort. Welcome, thrice welcome.—Lawrence Hays, pastor.

Church Announcement.
H. J. Gill announces: "Bro. J. F. Lilly of Bunker will preach for the Church of Christ Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock and Sunday evening at 8:00 o'clock. He is an able minister of the gospel, and always preaches the word without fear or favor. The public is invited."

It's Mostly Bosh.

It's mostly bosh—the popular idea that independent stores are doomed because of chain store competition.

An exchange—an exchange dedicated largely, by the way, to defense of industrial America—points out that recent figures gathered by governmental and private agencies, prove that independent stores are increasing in number, not decreasing, and are likewise tending to increase their percentage of total retail trade.

The latest complete figures, continues this exchange, indicate that independent stores do over 71 per cent of the nation's retail business—more than they did four or five years ago. "And, with the return of better times, independent stores are increasing their volume considerably faster than the chains."

There is a place in American industrial life for both the independent and the chain store. Without the chain store, independents are inclined to minimize their service. Without independents, chain stores might create a hurtful monopoly. With both, the consumer profits in service, satisfaction and price.

Snyder merchants who really merchandise their wares have nothing to fear from chain store encroachment. And advantages the chain store might have are equalized by the local merchant's knowledge of his home folks and their wants and needs.

"Bee and Wind."

Scurry County Times (Snyder): A colony of bees a few evenings ago settled on the windcharger of the Rev. Buster Edwards, who lives three miles north of Camp Springs, adding a note of sweetness, no doubt, to this new business of getting electricity from the shifting winds. More than half the colony were murdered by the whirling blade, as they blindly followed the queen toward a perch on the generator. Large wads of bees—the lucky ones that escaped slicing—were hanging on the propeller the next morning. The Rev. Edwards, who takes quite a hand in singings throughout this area, says he "didn't know there could be so much honeyed music in the morning breeze." Probably a few of the older bees are lamenting the fact that even honeybees cannot avoid entanglements with our machine age.

State Press of The Dallas News quoted the above article from The Times of two weeks ago, then proceeded to comment thereon in this wise:

Assuming that a windcharger is what is known as a windmill in other regions, especially in Holland, it seems not inappropriate for a minister to own one. The Rev. Buster Edwards will use his windmill practically, not for sermonizing. Politicians could not be trusted in that direction, however. It appears that the Edwards windmill is used to run a generator and extort electricity from the circumambient ether. Would it not be wise for the TVA authorities and other government "lectricians" to abandon the very costly policy of dam building and flood storage in order to extract electric juice from water power for the use of scattered settlers? Rains and floods are fitful, whimsical, unpredictable. But there is wind all the time and everywhere. Why not give every farmer a windmill and a miniature dynamo and fix him to manufacture his own "lectricity"? The thing is practicable. Anybody is at liberty to go electrical at will. It costs some money, but who minds money when the utilities are to be combatted? Now about the bees—the tragedy at the windcharger shows how disastrous it is to follow a bad leader. The queen bee charted a fatal course. Incompetent leaders often do that.

J. J. Taylor recently stepped down from the State Press chair to become editor-in-chief of The Daily Snooze. As long as he decorated a given portion of the paper's editorial page with hieroglyphics of his own concoction, no such displays of ignorance as the above quoted paragraph were permitted to besmirch the ancient publication.

Emphatically, this new State Press is no West Texan, nor any part of a West Texan. He assumes... and no good newspaperman ever assumes... that a windcharger is known as a windmill in other regions. Anyone who has ever ventured as far west as Fort Worth knows that windcharger has become the popular term for all makes of machines that "run a generator and extort electricity from the circumambient ether." Although they have become popular only in recent years, they are used by thousands of West Texas farmers and ranchers as a means of providing their places with cheap "juice" for radio, lights and other small electrically operated units. Most of them are much smaller than windmills, using a blade similar to an airplane propeller.

"Why not give every farmer a windmill and a miniature dynamo and fix him to manufacture his own 'lectricity'?" this ignoramus of a State Press queries. Why not, indeed? In the first place, windchargers have not been perfected—at least, not at a nominal cost—that will handle the larger power needs of a farm or ranch. In the second place, S. P.'s little pun about snatching electricity out of the breezes instead of the flood waters is another symbol of his lack of knowledge concerning most of West Texas. We don't have enough rain out here to manufacture more than one hefty flood every ten years, so we've never considered wet electricity out in these parts.

"But there is wind all the time and everywhere," the unknowing Dallasite continues in all his nincompoop glory. Oh, yeah! S. P. should come out here many a day in the summer, when there's not enough wind for a windmill to pump water for a jackrabbit nor for a windcharger to bring in the first instance of Amos and Andy.

Much ado about nothing, you say? Then you haven't followed the trail of glory blazed by J. J. Taylor in his State Press column for years. Although reared and cultivated an East Texan, he gleaned a smattering idea of what it means to starve and propagate in West Texas, and reflected these gleanings in his daily meanderings in type. We shall have none of this new S. P., and we hope he ostracizes The Times henceforth from his kingdom of comic and caustic comments!

One night a negro was walking down Forty-second Street, New York, from the depot to his hotel, carrying a heavy suitcase in one hand and a heavier valise in the other. Suddenly a hand was laid upon the valise and the pleasant face of a young man looked into that of the negro's as he said, "Pretty heavy, brother; suppose you let me take one; I'm going your way." The negro protested, but the man already had the valise; and for several blocks they walked on together talking like cronies. "And that," said Booker T. Washington long afterward, "was the first time I ever saw Theodore Roosevelt."

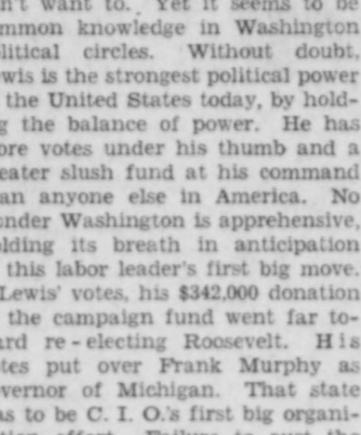

Each man has an aptitude born with him to do easily some feat impossible to any other. Do your work. I have to say this often, but nature says it oftener.—Emerson.

Former Local School Students Honored

Of the five representative students recently selected from among students in Newman High School, Sweetwater, two were formerly students in Snyder schools—Evelyn Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Harris, and Horace Young, son of Rev. and Mrs. Sam H. Young. Miss Harris, a junior, was selected because of the unusual number of student activities she was engaged in—associate editor of Pony Express, Sweetwater school paper; vice president of Older Girls' Conference from local Girl Reserve group, and member of pep squad. In addition to the student activities, Miss Harris has been Sweetwater's representative in several beauty contests. Young's outstanding contributions to school activities named included the following: president junior class, staff member of Pony Express, full-back on Mustang football team.

Industrial News Review: "It is reported that Congress—after several sessions in which it appropriated and spent, almost a matter of routine and with little debate, unprecedented sums of money and permitted the national debt to exceed the $35,000,000,000 mark—is seriously considering the proposal to reduce all appropriations by 10 per cent. Vice President Garner is said to be one of the leading spirits behind the movement. If he and his backers succeed, they will do the nation a service of inestimable importance."
