A playground for Snyder was the prime topic of discussion at a meeting of several business men with W. F. Shaffer of Lubbock a few days ago.

Shaffer, district project supervisor for NYA, suggested that NYA youths would do all the work, and outlined plans followed in Abilene and smaller cities of West Texas in carrying out playground projects.

Several city councilmen who attended the meeting suggested that the city property, commonly known as the carnival grounds, might be available for the purpose.

A. V. Bullock, district supervisor for an area that includes Lubbock, Amarillo, Big Spring and Abilene, was here yesterday to confer with local NYA committeemen and others concerning the proposed project.

Improvement for Sterling Highway Sought by Group

Designation of Highway 101 again as a state maintained thoroughfare connecting Colorado and Sterling City is to be sought through organized effort launched Thursday of last week by county officials, civic leaders and other citizens of Mitchell and Sterling Counties.

The road enthusiasts was held at Spade ranch headquarters with O. F. Jones, manager, host.

Citizens of the two counties convened at the ranch headquarters Thursday morning. Judge B. L. Templeton of Colorado called the meeting to order and served as chairman during discussion that followed. Motion to affect a permanent organization prevailed and Judge C. C. Thompson of Colorado was elected chairman. W. N. Reed of Sterling City was designated as secretary of the road boosting organization.

The following committee was designated to represent the association in meeting with the state highway commission to offer appeal that designation of the road be restored: G. C. Murrell, Sterling City, chairman; W. N. Reed and R. T. Foster, Sterling City; Templeton and Roy E. Warren, Colorado; County Commissioner Jim Boyd of Hyman, and Jones.

Another meeting of the association is to be held July 14 to hear report of the committee being sent to Austin and consider further plans for prosecuting the objective. Members of the highway commission are to be invited. W. A. French of Abilene, divisional engineer for the department, attended the organization meeting.

The meeting was held in a pecan grove near Renderbrook Spring, and at noon the visitors were entertained at a barbecue and chuck wagon feed. Other Colorado citizens attending were Lay Powell, Frank Smith, Irwin and Lester Terry, Sheriff Dick Gregory and "Shorty" Northington. Others attending from Sterling City included Dr. Everett, J. C. Reed, T. G. Brennan, L. F. Wallace and W. L. Kells.

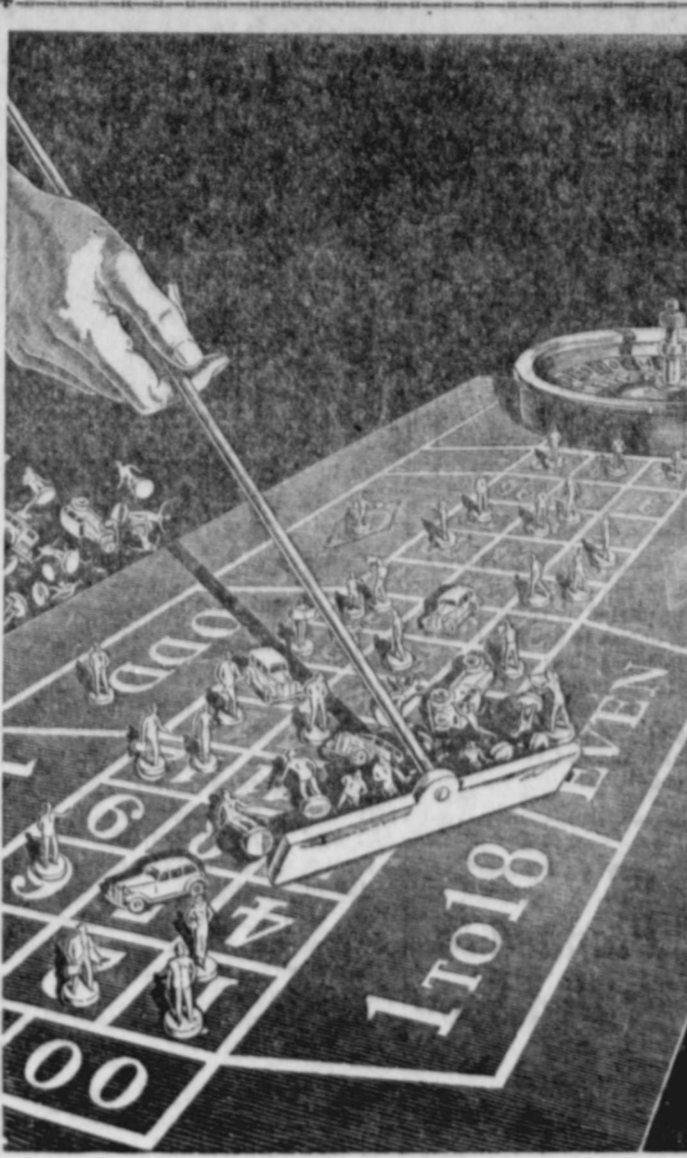

Earl Solomon of San Angelo, former Snyder resident, was a week-end visitor here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Hall of Odessa were week-end visitors in Snyder with relatives.

Mrs. A. M. Curry was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Curry of Floydada. Mr. Curry, the local woman's brother-in-law, suffered a heart attack last week, and his condition is critical.

Cowhands, Cowgirls, Old-Timers and Others Throng Stamford for Reunion

The vanguard of cowboys, ranchmen, chuck wagons, concessionaires and tenderfeet arrived in Stamford Wednesday in advance of the opening today (Thursday) of the eighth annual round-up of the Texas Cowboy Reunion.

Early arrivals found everything in readiness for entertaining the greatest crowd in the town's history—a crowd which from all indications will exceed the attendance record of 65,000 established last year. The expenditure during the past few months of over $10,000 for improvements at the reunion grounds will add to the convenience of visitors.

The new lighting system at the rodeo arena, claimed to be second only to that of Madison Square Garden, and the new exhibit building and dance pavilion have been finished, along with numerous other lesser changes.

Special features of the opening day, Thursday, include the opening meeting of the Texas Cowboy Reunion Association, the oldtime cowboys' organization with 1,400 members, at 10:00 a. m., preliminary judging of the cowgirl sponsors from the various cities and the annual sponsors' ball at 10:00 p. m.

Friday, the second day, will be featured by the grand parade, headed by Governor James V. Allred of Texas, Governor Tingley of New Mexico and Governor Bailey of Arkansas, along with Paul Whiteman, famous orchestra director. The parade each year is the most spectacular feature of the entire program.

The old fiddlers' contest, one of the biggest free attractions of the reunion, and the award of championship prizes in the various contests will feature the closing day, Saturday.

Three performances of the re-union's cowboy rodeo will be held each day, starting at 8:00 a. m., 2:00 p. m. and 8:00 p. m. Contests include calf roping, wild cow milking, bronc and steer riding. The cutting horse contest, unique with the Stamford rodeo, will be held the second day, and the old time cowboys' calf roping contest will be held Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. A junior cowboy contest is a new feature of this year's round-up.

Old-time square dances will be held at the cowboys' bunkhouse each night, and modern dances will be

Lubbock to Land "West of Pecos" Presents Beauty

A strange combination of deserts, canyons and fertile valleys await the visitors who heads down from Lubbock to the land "West of the Pecos." Possibly the most interesting route is across the line into New Mexico, where Carlsbad Caverns provide interest and beauty.

Swinging back into Texas by way of Guadalupe Peak and into El Paso, the traveler may catch his first view of Old Mexico in the city of Juarez, with its ancient missions and motley population. Immediately south of El Paso the cultivated areas of the Rio Grande Valley appear, and in the midst of the oldest community in the state are the missions of Yaleta and Socorro.

Southeastward the Davis mountains, rising a mile above sea level, are famed for their scenic beauty, healthy climate and historical importance. Here also is Mount Locke, where the University of Texas is building the McDonald Observatory with the second largest telescope in America.

No good Texan can skip a detour into the Big Bend country down in the southern tip of this western section. The continually producing Shafter silver mine is located here, and further on are the impressive Los Chisos (The Ghosts) mountains.

After a good look at the Santa Helena Canyon of the Rio Grande, with its 1,800-foot walls, the visitor can well understand why the state is trying to acquire enough land in this territory for a state park. Two hundred and fifty thousand acres of the proposed 1,000,000 acre tract has already been acquired, and the Mexican government is planning to match the Texas acreage with land just across the border. The completed international park will include 2,000,000 acres.

Lewisham and Catford Guide: If women's clothes were really beautiful they wouldn't seem so ridiculous when out of fashion.

Uncle Jim Says

"Poor soil washing down on good bottom land has ruined many Texas fields."

Terracing, contouring, strip cropping, or reverting sloping lands to pastures, has long been advocated by specialists of the Texas Extension Service as a means of controlling erosion. Best results are obtained, of course, when the land is still fertile and before erosion has leveled its soil.

In many cases, however, it pays to protect land that is so badly eroded that it will not grow profitable crops. The use of legumes may "bring the land back," but aside from this, protection of fertile lowlands often repays the expense of terracing barren hillides.

Almost every farmer in the hilly sections of Texas knows of cases of rich land which has been ruined by a deposit of poor soil which covered fertile fields.

Clothes Closet Not Dust Grabber Now

"My clothes closet is no longer a dust catcher on top," stated Mary Thomson, clothing demonstrator of the County Line Girls' 4-H Club.

Her closet formerly lacked three feet reaching the ceiling and this space was unused. Her father extended the closet to the ceiling, and placed a small door with hinges and a latch in the center front.

"This space is now used for storage of bedding, and the top of the closet is much more easily kept clean than before."

Milwaukee Journal: Passenger travel has so improved under the new rates a man stumbles over an average of seven more pairs of feet and six children on the way to the diner.

Bryant-Link Flooring.
Bryant-Link Company will be walking on hardwood within a few days. A complete new oak floor was started early this week on the south side of the large building. Manager E. E. Weathersbee says he is getting ready for that bumper cotton crop this fall.

Hold on 'Toity-Toid Street: "Pa, what's a vacuum?"
"A vacuum's a void, son."
"I know, Pa, but vat's the void mean?"

A tourist stopped his car on the road and asked a little country boy how far it was to Smithville.
The little boy replied: "It's 34,999 miles the way you're goin', but if you turn around it ain't but four."

Politeness is the strongest rebuke to him who is rude.

Giving you tops in Mileage

I know the trouble. So many oil ads yell mileage, that you can't tell one way or another. I don't want my own ads to be in that class, so I'd like you to know all I'm staking, when I personally recommend Conoco GERM Processed Oil to you. In my case, you see, I'm the owner of my business. And there's nothing makes repeat customers for me like my GERM Processed Oil . . . or I ought to say, the long mileage it gives you. The patent GERM Process makes this oil get fastened real firm to the bearings and cylinders and other parts—as if they'd been built with an actual plating of oil that can't separate . . . can't thin out and burn right up. Neither is it going to run down every time you stop. Then you can't make any "dry starts" with Oil-Plating, and right there is where engineers say you will end a good half of all the wear you used to get in Summer. The less wear, the less oil your engine eats. You'll get on to this yourself, from your cool quiet Oil-Plated engine. And that's how I make another good friend for my Conoco GERM Processed Oil.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By Julian Capers Jr.

Austin.—Whether the fee system of paying county and district officials for their services shall be restored, displacing the salary system voted by the people two years ago as a constitutional amendment, promises to be by far the most interesting of the constitutional questions voted on in August.

Generally speaking, officials in the smaller counties favor retention of the salary system, and will seek to defeat the new amendment to bring back the fee method, because they have been able to earn larger salaries than the fees formerly yielded.

Governor Allred, who campaigned vigorously against the "iniquitous fee system" when it was abolished, has changed his position, and announced he will make speeches in favor of returning the fee system, his reason being that he was "honestly mistaken," and he finds the salary plan too costly to the state and the counties.

With only half the normal total of poll tax payments made in this "off" political year, the decision—whatever it is—will be a minority one, with a light vote recorded.

Costly, But Resultful

Governor Allred, despite critics in the senate, demonstrated that he could get results from the legislature in special session, when the solons put through, at the $150,000 special session, bills repealing race horse betting, prohibiting dog races and tightening up the laws against book-makers and other forms of gambling.

The special session method, in which the governor can control the subjects considered, proved costly but resultful, and the governor hinted that it may be used to put through his platform pledge for utility rate regulation, in a speech at Silsbee, when he declared Texas has the highest telephone rates in the South, and said he would call special sessions until his program is carried out.

A Correction

Lobbyist Carl C. Hardin, former senator from Stephenville, has sent to this columnist a statement denying the accuracy of a report, circulated in Austin and chronicled in this column recently, to the effect that Hardin lobbied the bill prohibiting dentists from advertising, on a contingent fee basis, and would have lost his fee had the governor failed to sign the bill.

Third Term Talk

Third term talk in behalf of Allred was revived here this week-end with publication of a series of stories, obviously inspired, in which Secretary of State Ed Clark, close political advisor of the governor throughout his public career, broadly hinted the governor was under considerable pressure from those who approve his action on race repeal and sending rangers to the Fort Worth strike area, to run again.

Race for Treasurer

Serious illness of State Treasurer Charley Lockhart has led to speculation here as to whether he may seek re-election next year, and, with the treasurer's salary boosted to an attractive figure by the voters, at least two other candidates are reported ready to enter the contest.

Suicide Verdict in Kent County Death Of Dennis Ethridge

Final rites for Dennis Ethridge, 54-year-old Kent County farmer, were held Wednesday afternoon, 3:30 o'clock, at the Clairmont Baptist Church, with Rev. R. T. Barton of Clairmont officiating.

The justice of the peace at Clairmont rendered a verdict of self-inflicted death shortly after the Kent County man died at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. Members of the family said Mr. Ethridge sent one of the children for a knife with which to mend harness, and slashed his throat while standing in the front yard.

The deceased went to work on the Jack Smith Ranch near Clairmont when he came from Burnett County in 1905. After five years as a cowboy he began farming, a business he followed until his death.

Mrs. Ethridge and the following children survive: Two sons, Jewell Dennis and Robbie Jack; five daughters, Mrs. Jim Durham, Mrs. Rena Koonce, Mrs. Marie Harrison, Gertrude and Bonnie Ethridge. All the children reside in the Clairmont community except Mrs. Koonce, Children, Jim Ethridge of Kempaur; two sisters, Mrs. Belle Smith, Kempaur, and Mrs. M. D. Mackey of El Dorado, Oklahoma.

Pallbearers were Charlie Thompson, Charlie Byrd, Pink Stewart, Frank Stewart, Delmer Scoggins and Dick Sampson. Mmes. Vera Osman, Lucille Puryear, Dessie Carriker and Jewel Puryear were in charge of flowers.

Smith: "I wear the trousers in my home." Friend: "Yeah, but right after supper I notice you wear an apron over them."

"You often cook more for dinner than we use, darling." "Of course! If I didn't how could I economize by making left-over dishes?"

Dramatist: "I wish I could think of a big strong situation that would fill the audience with tears." Theatre Manager: "I'm looking for one that will fill the tiers with audience."

In this world one must be a little too good in order to be good enough. —Marilyn.

Joker: "Walter, bring me a slab of politic pie." Walter: "Yes, sir. Do you prefer the applesauce or plum filling?"

Farmer Jones: "What did your son learn at college?" Farmer Hicks: "Well, he hadn't been home three days before he showed me how to open a bottle with a half-dollar."

"Last year I was in Ceylon during an earthquake. Everything rocked and rattled, the house creaked, the china flew about." "That reminds me! I must fetch my wife from the station."

The actor was visibly downcast. Wife: "Did you get any applause?" Actor: "Yes, it sounded like a caterpillar crawling over a Persian carpet whilst wearing rubber shoes."

bers, and have encouraged him. Meanwhile, Attorney General Bill McCraw is campaigning actively throughout the state, and the return this week from Europe of Colonel Ernest O. Thompson, railroad commissioner, regarded as a certain candidate, is expected to add impetus to already highly interesting gubernatorial situation. Jim Ferguson has hinted broadly in recent weeks that Mrs. Ferguson may seek a third term, too.

KNOW TEXAS

By F. L. McDonald, Texas State College for Women, Denton

Most cosmopolitan of all Texas cities is San Antonio, with its rich blend of the old and the new, and its mixed population of Spanish, German and other nationalities. Numerous fiestas and patriotic celebrations have helped to win for it the name, "Playground of Texas."

North of the city is the cluster of German towns that have always been a delight to tourists. Freshly scrubbed New Braunfels, the famous old town founded by an immigrant German prince, is situated on the banks of the Comal River. Camping spots around these springs can hardly be surpassed in beauty and comfort.

Kerrville is also a favorite retreat for those who crave the outdoor life, and many kinds of commercial camps are located near there. After passing through another old German town, Fredericksburg, the traveler is ready to enter Austin.

High spots of Austin which the tourist cannot afford to miss are the state capitol, the university, various historical points and the ice-cold springs. Turning north again, one finds a good highway to Waco, where fishermen head to Lake Waco, picnickers take in Cameron Park and strollers go to Baylor University.

From this central section the way is clear to Dallas and Fort Worth, which are embarking on their second year as summer entertainment centers. At Dallas, Panamanian holds

Borden County Farm - Ranch News

By E. B. McLeroy, County Agent

In recent communications from the state Extension entomologist to all county agricultural agents in Texas, it has been disclosed that many farmers have been led to believe that epsom salts is equally as effective in bran mash as the arsenicals now recommended for use in standard bran mash mixtures.

For the benefit of farmers and others interested in grasshopper control, the following paragraphs are quoted from recent correspondence between R. R. Reppert, Extension entomologist, and Fred D. Butcher, acting in charge federal grasshopper control, with offices at Minneapolis, Minnesota. Butcher's answer with reference to available information on the use of epsom salts in bran mash mixtures was as follows:

"Our office at Bozeman has been able to conduct some experiments in the formula mentioned. In cages, standard bait (arsenicals, bran, etc.) killed 98 and 100 per cent of the grasshoppers in 48 hours. In duplicate cages, in which epsom salts, molasses and bran mixture was fed, there was no fatality at the end of

A Direct-From-the-Factory Shipment of Genuine Servel Oil and Gas Burning ELECTROLUX REFRIGERATORS
Consigned to Stinson Drug Company, Electrolux Distributors, Snyder, Texas
Yes, A Carload of Electrolux Refrigerators
Last week brought a full carload shipment of Servel Electrolux Refrigerators, the largest single shipment of Refrigerators ever to come to Snyder, for distribution in this territory by Stinson Drug Company.
Convenient Terms—
Because of its faultless operation, its sturdy strength, its practical convenience—the Servel Electrolux Refrigerator has been accorded official endorsement or approval by—
—Good Housekeeping Institute
—The Searchlight Institute
—Prominent Agricultural Schools and Colleges all over the Country
And also tested as safe by—
—Underwriters Laboratories
Operates on Natural Gas, Star-Gas, Butane and Kerosene for as little as 2c per day.
This big consignment was booked weeks ago to take care of the demand for these famous Refrigerators in this section.
Those who have seen the new Electrolux are enthusiastic concerning its economy of operation, its quiet and smooth performance and its trouble-free assurance of satisfactory operation for years to come.
You, too, owe it to yourself to see and understand the new Electrolux Refrigerator!
