Will Introduce New, Unique Foot Relief Service

They say that truth is stranger than fiction, and that old adage may be aptly applied to this story. To build shoes that would satisfy the most discriminating taste and at the same time fit comfortably has been the despair of shoe manufacturers.

Years ago Dr. Scholl, the well-known foot authority, began to work on a line of shoes that would completely solve this knotty problem. When he gave to the foot-suffering public his line of scientific shoes, his efforts were crowned with success.

J. H. Sears & Company, has for years been headquarters for Dr. Scholl's foot comfort appliances and remedies, has arranged with Dr. Scholl to demonstrate his scientific shoes at the J. H. Sears & Company on Monday, March 14. Dr. Scholl's foot and shoe experts will bring with them advance showings of the complete line of Dr. Scholl's new style shoes. There will be 622 fittings to meet the most fastidious tastes and all types of feet, in sizes for men from 6 to 14; for women from 2 1/2 to 13; in widths from AAAA to EEE.

With this array of shoes there will be included the latest model X-ray machine, the pedo-graph and Dr. Scholl's automatic shoe sizer. In testing feet and fitting these shoes all guesswork is eliminated.

Dr. Scholl has given the growing feet of children the same careful consideration as he has adults. He claims that many of the foot ailments from which men and women suffer today can be traced back to improperly made or fitted shoes when their feet were in the tender, plastic stage of childhood.

Willie Gibson Out For Weigher's Job in Snyder Precinct

Wm. R. (Willie) Gibson is announcing this week as a candidate for public weigher, Precinct 1, generally known as the Snyder precinct. Gibson has been "raised up" with cotton. His experience includes gin work for several years—work in cotton handling that he believes qualifies him for the position he is seeking.

"Since the handling of our cotton is one of the biggest businesses in the county, I believe the weigher's job should call for correct, fast service just as in any other big business," declares the candidate. "I shall do my best to see everyone in the precinct, but if I miss a few because of duties on the farm, please consider this a personal solicitation for their vote and influence."

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Johnson were in San Angelo Friday and Saturday to attend the fat stock show.

ONE LOCATION FOR 35 YEARS

Dr. Sed A. Harris, dentist, moved several days ago from the north side office he has occupied for 35 years. His move from this location to the second office on the west to the Bryant-Link building brought to a close what is believed to be the longest single occupancy of one space by any business or professional man in Snyder.

Dr. R. L. Howell is moving into Dr. Harris's former office. He has been occupying a north side office, just to the east of his new space, for some time.

Dr. Harris, one of the oldest dentists in West Texas in point of service, came to Snyder in 1898, first occupying a small building on the east side of the square. He was the first tenant in the north side building after it was erected by George Harris.

Wedgeworth Among Administrators to Atlantic City Meet

When C. Wedgeworth, Snyder superintendent, was injured near Sweetwater Saturday night, he was returning from Abilene, where he had stored his car while he attended the convention of the American Association of School Administrators and Allied Organizations at Atlantic City, New Jersey.

He left Snyder February 24, making the trip to and from Abilene on a special train from Texas that carried educators from this state.

The headline above a copy of the principal address of the convention, by Charles H. Judd, chairman of the Department of Education of the University of Chicago, suggests the general trend of the entire convention: "Major trends in organization, vocational training, federal support, scientific method, point to what lies ahead in American education."

Fair Store Staging Consolidation Sale

A consolidation sale, scheduled to begin Friday morning at 9:00 o'clock, is to be offered by The Fair Store, according to "Doc" Richardson, manager. Ed Sumner, former Snyderite, is in Snyder from The Fair Store at Monahans to help conduct the merchandising event.

Occasion for the sale was consolidation of the Monahans Fair Store stock of $40,000 with the local stock, made necessary because the Monahans store lease expired, according to Richardson.

Girls and Boys Debate.
 Debate teams, boys and girls, from Colorado engaged the Dunn teams in two battles of wits at Dunn Monday night. There were no decisions. Dunn girls won four out of seven volley ball games at Ira Tuesday night, although Ira led two out of three and three out of five.

Two "Lost" Men And Playlet Are Lions Features

Snyder's two "lost" men, A. C. Preuit, Lions Club president, and W. W. Hamilton, lawyer, were "given the works" at the regular Tuesday noon meeting of the service club.

A playlet presented by a local speech arts group, directed by Annie Fannie Sewell, was provided by the March program committee, King Sides and Abe Rogers. A chapter from the life of Braille, who discovered the raised letter system by which the blind may read, was enacted in the playlet.

The program was introduced by Olan Brown, who outlined the life of Helen Keller, noted blind-deaf woman, whose birthday was observed last week.

Led by Tail Twister Willard Jones, the club gave Preuit and Hamilton a strenuous reception. The two culprits were led into the Manhattan Hotel, handcuffed together, by Deputy Sheriff "Pop" Galyean and Constable Ather Chandler. Jimmie Billingsley was also a guest of the day.

After handcuffs were released, the men for whom a searching posse was organized Monday morning when they failed to return from a Sunday afternoon ride, were secured with dog chains and cowbells. Later they repeated their stories of the car mishap and all-night sojourn near Camp Springs. Warren Doxson, acting as judge and jury gave complete forgiveness from the club and the town, but stymied the whole legal procedure by asking: "Judge, did your wife believe that story?"

Now at Gulf Station.
 Now in charge of the Gulf Service Station, on the highway just east of the square, R. S. & P. tracks, is Elmo Hammit, formerly of Camp Springs. Ennis Floyd had been operating the station for some time.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character of any person or firm appearing in these columns will be gladly and promptly corrected upon being brought to the attention of the management.

Entered at the post office at Snyder, Texas, as second class mail matter, according to an Act of Congress March 3, 1879.

Check and Double-Check.

Within the past few days Mayor H. G. Towle and County Judge H. J. Brice have checked and double-checked on the value of various federal-aid projects to Scurry County the past few years.

Add all the projects, multiply them by the benefits derived, divide the benefits among those who needed them most, and subtract the drawbacks from the whole plan of federal help. . . and you get an answer that spells nominal success.

Scurry County and Snyder have many worthy projects that are serving hundreds of people daily. Much of the money, no doubt, was "thrown into a rat-hole." Too much of it went for administrative expense.

On the whole, however, judging from results and public reaction, few counties have more of which to be proud, in the way of WPA and other relief projects, than Scurry County.

But let us join in hoping that Uncle Sam may learn that you can't pull a man out of the ditch and then hold him out the rest of his born days, and expect that man to keep his self respect. The projects are fine, most of them, and the co-sponsors are to be congratulated. But why not help Uncle Sam to wear some of his over-anxious children away from the often-diseased public teat?

Harte Speaks of Allred.

Houston Harte, publisher of the San Angelo Standard-Times, was in Washington when Governor Allred gave a dinner to the members of Congress from Texas.

His reaction to the governor's self-anointed third-term sentiment is so cleverly pocketed in the following report from Washington that The Times is happy to pass it along to folks who are state-politics minded:

The governor in his conversations around the capitol week before last was known to have approached a number of Texas congressmen and to have held about this sort of conversation with them:

Governor: "We certainly do need to find a good man to run for governor this year."

Congressman: "Why I thought you were for Ernest, governor?"

Governor: "Ernest is all right, but he just can't win."

Congressman: "But you would help him, wouldn't you, governor?"

Governor: "Yes, I'd like to see Ernest governor, but he just can't beat McCraw. We need some one that is a good campaigner. Why don't you run, congressman?"

Congressman: "What, me! I would not think of running! I like my job and then I do not want to be governor, anyhow."

Governor: "Well, we certainly need a good man to run."

Congressman: "Why don't you run, governor?"

Governor: "Do you really think I ought to? (No answer from congressman) I have been thinking about it and if many more people solicit me to run I may have to. . . Well, glad to have seen you, congressman, don't fail to come visit me at the mansion! Goodby."

Editorial of the Week.

LOCAL CANDIDATES

We spent part of this week interviewing some of the candidates, among them W. W. Porter, Floyd Quinney, James Herrington, Jack Helton and Dick Gregory. We submitted to them the following platform on which to make their canvass.

Now that the candidates are starting to come around to ask for our vote, it is only fair to ask them a few questions, delve a little into their backgrounds so to speak.

We have compiled a questionnaire that might be taken as a criterion:

1. Will you give us and all our relatives positions with no work and large pay?
2. Who is your favorite radio-comedian?
3. Would you be willing to advocate a law requiring wives to bake biscuits at least twice daily?
4. Will you help abolish taxes, cockroaches and falling hats?
5. What brand of breakfast food do you find hardest to your throat?
6. How do you dispose of old razor blades?
7. Do you have dizzy spells or spots before the eyes?
8. Who wrote "Sunrise at Sunset?"
9. Why is a horse a horse and not a cow?
10. Abolish entirely Texas weather?

I believe that the above covers the ground pretty thoroughly and any candidate who can answer it satisfactorily is the man for the office.

Strange to say not a one would adopt this platform on which to run—"Uncle Bob" Whipkey in The Colorado Record.

Current Comment.

By LEON GUINN.

Meteor Crater in North Central Arizona, an age old repository in Nature's bosom for several million tons of meteor fragments, is at last yielding up her secrets to men of science. . . A Swedish geophysicist, Hans T. P. Lundberg, last week reported new findings within Meteor Crater rim that started metallurgists' hearts to beating faster.

Using variometers, which are extremely sensitive instruments where magnetic deposits are concerned, Lundberg reported finding five sunken masses of meteoric metal, the largest mass 1,500 feet underground, and covering an area of around 66,000 square feet. . . This sunken treasure, containing 92 per cent iron and 8 per cent nickel, would be worth at least $10,000,000 if mined and converted to industrial use. . . These figures, plus the difficult task of possible minings, set engineers atwitter at the possibilities.

Astronomers who follow the stardust trail have varied explanations to offer concerning how white hot slivers of meteors can navigate our dense atmosphere and land in the earth without burning up. . . Since most meteors "burn out" before reaching the earth, authentic news of meteor deposits are interesting to each and every researcher. . . The likeliest explanation about Meteor Crater is that the original meteors hit a supply of water and boiled it into steam. . . The pent up steam exploded and scattered fragments—weighing tons—horizontally in the ground.

Indian legend of old, however, sayeth that a tribe of Northern Arizona Indians thousands of years ago got to growing much corn, had much wampum, and captured heap lovely maidens from a weaker tribe to cookum buffalo tongues fit for 'um five scalp brave (one who had scalped five people and put the scalps in his belt to prove his valor). . . These Apache maidens wearied of a life of servitude, and prayed to the Earth God, the nightwinds carrying their chants to a higher tribunal. . . The Earth God heard. . . When this tribe had their green corn feast, the Great White Spirit snuffed the entire tribe out with stars from heaven—hence Meteor Crater. . . Which is just as logical as some beliefs floating around untamed today. . . For if a group of people believe in some creed, believing in the creed helps them somewhat, whether the creed be founded on fact or fancy.

As predicted in this column six weeks ago, the $250,000,000 requested of Congress by President Roosevelt, has been poured into WPA coffers to tide the emergency agency through the lean months ahead. . . Look for at least $500,000,000 to be spent by WPA until June 30, since this is the federal government's largest single spending agency. . . Since Monday figures indicate 13,750,000 unemployed in America, it is inevitable relief expenditures must continue. . . Now if the government would continue its "plow up" policies, and plow under every third white collar employee, one reliable New Dealer says WPA can carry on until the middle of July.

That long heralded business recession economists looked for this spring is here today, President Roosevelt told reporters last week. . . To bolster his timely observation, the president pointed to commodity prices as a reliable index of recession's creeping paralysis. . . Some cabinet members last week forgot current low tides of business and industry; and looking down tomorrow's untrodden pathways, predicted a rugged road ahead for government.

In the first hill ahead, Harry Hopkins sees an army of unemployed that must be fed and clothed within the limits of WPA monthly disbursements of $150,000,000, or $5,000,000 per day to approximately 1,500,000 employees (administration leaders see no possible way of hiring all the unemployed). . . The second hill ahead is steeper and loftier in altitude; harder to climb. Henry Wallace, AAA whipcracker, and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins (who leans toward a socialist Utopia), realize the laborer of America whether he be farmer or steel worker must be a producer of products, service, or goods at a living wage scale. . . Department of Commerce attaches are admitting international trade will not improve until there is an exchange of goods all the way around, with a stop put to the practice of piling cotton and wheat up in musty warehouses. . . And now that President Roosevelt and his administration need the support of all loyal Democrats, disappointed patronage seekers are deserting the ranks. . . He who guides the Ship of State needs the strongest cooperation when storm tide breakers roll high; not when a cool breeze to leeward bodes a fair weather ahead.

History Is Made.

Don't look now. . . but wasn't that W. W. Hamilton and his buddy, A. C. Preuit, who just passed in a wreath of grief? The manhunt that was occasioned by the absence of these two worthies for 15 or 20 hours was second in importance, in recent Snyder times, only to the rains that washed the drouth away, the cotton crop that washed the blues away, and January-paid taxes that washed the dollars away. It's refreshing, anyway, to discover anew that a touch of danger makes the whole world kin.

MEETINGS TO DISCUSS FARM PLAN SLATED

Four Sites for Gatherings to Explain Purpose of Saturday Vote

The county committee of the Scurry County Agricultural Conservation Association announces the following schedule of four meetings this week, for the purpose of detailed explanation of the benefits, requirements and penalties of the cotton marketing quotas under the AAA of 1938.

Fluvanna school house, Tuesday evening; Hermleigh school house, Wednesday evening; Ira school house, Thursday evening, 7:30 o'clock; district court room, Snyder, Friday evening, 7:30 o'clock, county-wide meeting.

Some of the facts that cotton producers should keep in mind, as they vote Saturday of this week in the cotton referendum, according to County Agent Luke Ballard, are as follows:

The marketing quota is voted for one year, regardless of whether it is for or against. Marketing quotas will become effective only if approved by two-thirds of the cotton producers of the United States voting in the March 12 referendum. Full benefits will go to cooperators. No matter how high the yield, all cotton produced on the farm acreage allotment could be sold without penalty.

The marketing quota will be either the actual or normal production of the acreage allotment, whichever is the greater. Each cotton farm will have a cotton-acreage allotment. Without cotton marketing quotas, only soil conservation payments would be available in 1938. Non-cooperators will pay penalties of two cents a pound in excess of marketing quotas. Cooperators will have soil conservation payments, the opportunity for parity payments, and can demand government loans.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hicks were in Lubbock Wednesday on business.

Emergency Hospital

Mrs. Don Hilton, teacher in the Ira, Schools, entered the local hospital Saturday and underwent a tonsil operation Monday. She was resting well late yesterday, still confined to her bed at the hospital.

Franklin Endes was operated for tonsils Monday, also, but he has already returned home.

C. B. Short of Bison, a medical patient the past week, was taken home Wednesday. Harlan Ball, eight-year-old Fluvanna boy, is a medical patient in the Emergency Hospital this week, entering Tuesday.

To My Many Friends And Patrons:

I have made arrangements to do my major operations at the Snyder General Hospital, but will maintain the Emergency Hospital and my office in the same location as I have for the past 10 years. I will do my minor operations and O. B. cases as I have in the past, unless patient wishes to go the General Hospital; I will gladly take care of them the same as at the Emergency Hospital.
