TIGERS WIN FIRST FIVE MINUTES, BUT LIONS ARE PESKY

One of the pleased and pleasant visitors to the Scurry County Products Show was A. J. Stricklin, veteran publisher of the Terry County Herald of Brownfield. He went to a little town in the Plains area more than 30 years ago, and he has seen it grow into the progressive Brownfield of today. He was visiting in Snyder with his daughter, Mrs. Herman Trigg. Compliments about Snyder and the Products Show came from his plain-spoken lips.

Vernon Bullard, teacher of shop history and sciences at the Hedley consolidated school, 90 miles east of Amarillo, is spending two weeks with his sister, Mrs. O'Dell Ryan. Dr. Ryan and other relatives and friends here, while his school is closed for cotton picking. Bullard took his B. S. degree from West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon, and is teaching his first year at Hedley. He was an employee in the local county agent's office during the summer months.

Grover Scott, older son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Scott, was the first young man from Snyder to enlist in the United States Army when war was declared in Europe. Six weeks ago Scott left for Fort Bliss, near El Paso, to begin training in the cavalry, and he's doing well, according to camp leaders.

An old newcomer to the Snyder business front is Col. P. H. who has become associated with Bryant-Link Company as window man and head of the shoe department. The Snyder-reared young man, who has his home up on 26th Street, has been wandering around in recent years, working in dry goods stores mostly in North Texas and Oklahoma. "It's great to be back home," he declares.

Earl Corder of Big Spring, area salesman for Duncan Coffee Company of Houston, reported while in Snyder yesterday that the roasters of Admiration and Bright & Early coffee are planning an extensive newspaper advertising campaign late this year and in 1940. Earl, who visits Snyder so much that he is almost like a homebody, recently attended a sales meeting at Abilene that was presided over by H. M. Duncan, president, and L. J. Bland, sales manager of the Texas-owned and Texas-operated firm, biggest of its kind in the South.

Death last Tuesday night at Minneapolis, Minnesota, of Alfred J. Stiles, former chief executive of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America, who had headquarters at Sweetwater, was a blow to those of this trade area interested in scouting. Stiles moved to Sweetwater in 1936, succeeding A. C. Williamson as executive, Scurry County, as a part of this area, was visited frequently by Stiles, and he made a number of friends in this vicinity. He resigned during the summer when he suffered a nervous breakdown.

It'll be clean-up time in Snyder in a few days. S. E. Keller, sanitary officer, announces that he will pick up boxes or sacks and other trash on the west side Friday and Saturday, October 27-28; on the east side, Friday and Saturday, November 3-4. Only one round will be made in this fall clean-up campaign. As usual, residents are urged to place their trash at locations convenient for haulers. The City Council, of course, is cooperating to make the drive successful. And someone has hinted that it might not be bad for women's clubs to assist in every way possible.

One of the most popular features of football games here this season is the play by play broadcast that has been presented by R. G. Dillard, grammar school teacher. The sound outfit that is used from week to week belongs to C. A. Seal, salesman for Servel Electrolux. Seal has also made the outfit available to the Hermleigh Fair and the Scurry County Products Show.

The delegation of Sweetwater friends that came to the Products Show early Friday afternoon was just making a gesture of neighborliness when the trip was planned. But George Barber, manager of the Board of City Development, admitted he picked up some pointers about conducting a free exhibit with two days of free stage shows.

People who heard Rev. J. W. McGaha, pioneer Baptist preacher, as he delivered his 60th anniversary sermon at Canyon Sunday morning said the minister had never before enunciated the gospel of Christ so clearly. The sentiment prevailed throughout the day of celebration (including dinner on the grounds) that "Brother" McGaha's influence for good will live on and on. From many communities came entire family groups to pay tribute to this man of God.

Sister of Snyder Woman Burned to Death at Hamlin

Hamlin's observance of Fire Prevention Week was marred Tuesday of last week when 16-year-old Nola Welch, sister of Mrs. Curley Johnson of Snyder, became a human torch when kerosene she was pouring on a cook stove fire exploded.

The girl, a sophomore in Hamlin High School, was alone at home preparing lunch when the kerosene exploded. Her clothing ablaze, she ran from the kitchen into the backyard of her home in Hamlin.

Screams attracted four neighbors, who seized the terrified girl and beat out the flames. Rushed to a Stamford hospital by ambulance, the injured girl lived until Wednesday morning. Rev. J. Henry Littleton conducted funeral services at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, in the Hamlin Baptist Church. Burial was in Hamlin cemetery.

Survivors include her father, Otto F. Welch; a brother, Edward Welch of Hamlin, and a sister, Mrs. Johnson of Snyder. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson reached Hamlin late in the afternoon of the tragedy, remaining through Thursday.

OIL FIELD ROAD ON LIONS MENU

Mayor H. G. Towle, County Judge Sterling Williams and J. E. Blakey were named Tuesday, at the weekly luncheon, as a Lions Club committee to investigate possibilities of improving the oil field road from Snyder to the Sharon Ridge field. More than a score of Lions attended the luncheon.

Geraldine Chapman, Edna Mae Gatlin and Bernice Starnes composed a trio that gave three musical numbers. Selections were also given by Beverly Johnson and Margie Arnett, who were accompanied at the piano by Margie Brown.

The weekly football quiz drew the usual number of fines, and another tail twister was appointed to help with the collections.

MAY THERE BE MORE OF THEM

Judging from the favorable comment, we believe our people with one accord enjoyed our second annual Scurry County Products Show. While it is true a place must be provided to display exhibits, it was the whole-hearted cooperation of our producers and entertainers that made the show. To them go the credit, congratulations and thanks.

It is true there are bigger shows than ours, but where will there be found better booth displays, livestock and poultry? Where will be had a finer, cleaner, continuous entertainment of more than 20 hours?

We are indebted to our city and county officials, to our schools and many clubs, to the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce for their whole-hearted cooperation. We were more than glad to welcome our Borden County, Hobbs and Polar community neighbors as exhibitors and visitors, and we extend an invitation to them to be with us next year.

Occasions like this build faith in ourselves and in each other. That we may all go forward together is the sincere wish of the officers and committeemen of the Acceptances received from leading West Texas singers this week indicate the song program will be featured by special as well as class singing, Tate reports.

A site for the spring session will be selected during the business session Sunday afternoon.

FLOOD WATER CONTROL PLAN BEING MAPPED

County Being Canvassed by Teams of Workers to Ascertain Losses Sustained in Recent Crisis

First definite step toward obtaining a flood control project for Scurry County was taken last Tuesday night by city and county officials, local business men and Chamber of Commerce officials at a meeting in the county court room.

The City of Snyder and the flood plain of Deep Creek were partitioned off into 20 units at the Tuesday night meeting, and 20 teams selected by W. R. Bell, Chamber of Commerce president, to make a house-to-house canvass of damages done by flood waters this year.

Forms for obtaining information on flood damages done along the Deep Creek flood plain were sent to the Chamber of Commerce last week by officials of the Upper Colorado River Authority, Chamber of Commerce Manager Ray Dickson reports, and statistics are being compiled for use in mapping out a county flood control project.

Upper Colorado River Authority engineers stated Monday the gathering of statistics on flood damages in the Deep Creek area marks the first definite action taken by Scurry County to obtain a project for checking damages done by flood waters during rainy seasons.

Three completely restyled series of Chevrolet passenger cars, combining greater length and width and embodying many mechanical refinements, were announced with the 1940 models, H. H. Elland reports.

Improvements include Chevrolet's exclusive vacuum power shift as regular equipment on all three models, knee action and shockless steering for the special de luxe and master de luxe series, and many features that make the 1940 automobiles new from bumper to bumper.

GROCERIES GET THE SPOTLIGHT

"Know Your Grocer Better" is the slogan on many tongues throughout the United States this week.

Several local grocers—and Snyder is said to have more good food stores than any other city in its size class in Texas—are joining in the observance of National Retail Grocers Week.

The local stores are celebrating the special occasion by offering some of the best food buys the folks in these parts have seen in weeks.

"Never before has the attention of the nation been centered on grocers as this year"—that is the report that comes from all sections of the country. This is the fourth year the week has been set aside to honor grocers.

OLD IRA WELL CLAIMS CHIEF OIL SPOTLIGHT

Ordovician-Thompson in New Pool Also Attracts Considerable Interest After Shot

Activity headlines on the Scurry County oil front this week was P. J. Moran's No. 1 W. E. Sorrells well, located three miles south of Ira in the old Ira pool, which flowed by heads after shot with 260 quarts of nitro in upper pay from 1,665 to 1,675 feet.

The No. 1 Sorrells, a west offset to the Chapman and Hardee wells, is located in the southeast corner of Section 101. The Chapman and Hardee wells were recently taken over by Buffington & Smith, Grand Falls operators, who have connected them with Coffield & Guthrie's pipeline.

The Sorrells shallow producer is located in the block on which Shell Oil Company proposes to drill an Ordovician test.

Sharon Well Shot.

Another oiler for the Sharon Ridge pool, seven miles northwest of the Sorrells well, was on record this week with Ordovician Oil Company's No. 4 W. P. Thompson, located 920 feet west of Ordovician's No. 2 Thompson, and in the north half of the southwest quarter of Section 129, which was shot with 750 quarts of nitro from 2,240 to 2,450 feet in upper pay saturation.

The Ordovician No. 4 Thompson was completed Tuesday as one of the best producers in the Sharon Ridge pool to date, flowing by heads.

Drilling activities in the Sharon Ridge pool promise to reach an all-time peak within the next 30 days, as a result of several deals closed this week.

The Scurry County Oil Exchange (SCOEX) reported Wednesday the sale of one-fourth of the Grace Holcomb royalty to Sabine Royalty Company of Tyler at top prices. A drilling contract was arranged between Roy D. Goltson of Tyler and

ROLL CALL FOR ENTIRE COUNTY

J. V. Robinson, abstract man, was chosen last week as Red Cross Roll Call chairman for the 1939 membership campaign. Mrs. Carrie Line, Scurry County Red Cross chairman, announces. A field representative of the American Red Cross was here to assist in making plans for the drive.

Robinson, who succeeds Sam O. Nations, 1938 Roll Call leader, says he is already contacting community leaders throughout the county in order to give every person, if possible, an opportunity to become a member of the Red Cross.

The annual Roll Call officially begins Armistice Day, November 11, and continues through Thanksgiving Day.

"The Red Cross gave us thousands of dollars during our drought period in the early thirties, then came back with thousands more when our flood came," Robinson points out. "It is our duty, therefore, to join not alone because the Red Cross steps onto battlefields and other places of distant tragedy, but because it has come twice in recent years to our own doorsteps."

Legion Hut Features Post Meet Tonight

A committee report on the progress made to date toward rebuilding the Legion Hut destroyed in June will be a highlight of the Will Layne Legion Post meeting tonight (Thursday) in the county court room.

Members of the Legion Auxiliary will also meet tonight in the district court room. Legion and Auxiliary officers urge all members of both organizations to attend tonight's meetings.

GINNINGS GROW BEYOND 6,500

County ginnings through Wednesday climbed slightly past the 6,500-bale mark, as continued pretty weather hastened the opening of cotton in every section of Scurry County and adjoining communities.

Snyder's five gins reported 3,300 bales through Wednesday.

Ginnings through this Wednesday are about twice the official government report of cotton ginned prior to October 1.

Ginners and producers predicted some time ago that the bulk of the crop in this area would not be in motion until the latter part of October. This week's reports verify this prediction.

Ballinger Turkey School to Attract Breeders, Others

The county agent's office announced Tuesday that county poultry raisers and poultry warehouse employees are extended an invitation to attend a turkey grading school at Ballinger Monday and Tuesday, sponsored by the Runco Turkey Association and the Ballinger Chamber of Commerce.

McCarthy, Extension Service poultry specialist, will begin at 9:00 o'clock Monday morning and be concluded Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. Henry G. Hamann, associate marketing specialist of the agricultural marketing section of the Extension Service, will be in charge of grading classes.

COUNTY'S BEST DISPLAY ENDS WITH ACCLAM

Quantity and Quality of Exhibits at Scurry County Products Show Set New Records

Between 10,000 and 12,000 people from Scurry and Borden Counties, and residents from the Polar and Hobbs communities, attended Scurry County's second annual Products Show here Friday and Saturday.

The two-day Products Show, which attracted the greatest number of entries in the livestock, poultry and farm crop exhibit divisions of any county fair or exposition staged in recent years, was said by attendants to be one of the best staged shows of its kind in West Texas. General Chairman E. J. Anderson reported.

It was a Products Show featured by exhibits of 102 head of beef cattle, 20 head of dairy cattle, 63 sheep, 77 horses and mules, and 68 hogs. The poultry department reported 23 pens of turkeys, 73 pens of chickens and nine pens of ducks and geese.

Entertainment "Hits."

Hit of the 1939 Products Show was the two-day free entertainment program, directed by E. O. Wedgeworth of Fluvanna. Approximately 4,500 people crowded into the large Harley Sadler tent show Friday and Saturday nights to witness the 15-minute broadcasts, each of which was sponsored by a Scurry County business man or merchant.

Ray Dickson, show secretary, says "The cooperation of city and county officials, Products Show committeemen and department superintendents, National Guard members and others who helped make the 1939 Products Show a success indicates Scurry County can stage a county exposition second to none in this area for number and quality of exhibits."

Communities of Scurry County were represented by 62 booths, with Borden County, Polar and Hobbs also represented by exhibits.

The person who took the wool from the wool exhibit booth at the Products Show Saturday afternoon is requested to return it to Miss Rabel's office as soon as possible. Products Show officials state.

Credit Given Workers.

"While we would like to give due credit to all who deserve it," E. J. Anderson said Wednesday, "in helping make the 1939 Products Show a success, we find space prohibits this, and would like to mention X. B. Cox Jr., county agent; Estella Rabel, home demonstration agent; Company G members; leading ranchers for cash donations and others as among those deserving special credit for helping in the Friday-Saturday show."

Casey Pine, head of the animal husbandry department at Texas Tech, Lubbock, judged livestock entries Friday. Since Pine was not able to be present Saturday, R. B. Tate of Sweetwater finished the livestock judging, with books kept both days by Buford Browning, Fluvanna vocational agriculture teacher.

Visitor From Australia Boosts Home Country as Similar to West Texas

Phyllis Hawtree of Sydney, New South Wales, Australia, who is completing a round-the-world trip with her return home from a several-week visit in Snyder, was as interesting a visitor as the town has had in many a day. She was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Winston in Snyder.

No word has been received in Snyder from Miss Hawtree since she sailed from San Francisco October 10. She left Sydney for her world tour in February, and had meant to be gone several months longer, but with war preparations becoming so general, she decided to cut short her stay in several countries.

Talks of Home Country.

During her visit in Snyder Miss Hawtree was gracious in answering questions concerning her home country, and even appeared informally in a travel talk before members of Altrurian Daughters Club. Highlights of her trip included in the talk to the local club concerned visits in the Mediterranean countries, Monte Carlo, night life in Paris, Rome, Pompeii, the Pyramids, London, Ireland and a stop or so in Germany.

She boosts her home country, and she boosts West Texas in saying that our section is a great deal like New South Wales. There's similarity, she says, in appearance and in climate. She got her first glimpse of a livestock show as carried on by Americans at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair in Lubbock, which she visited with Mr. and Mrs. Winston. And she was well initiated into Hereford raising as she visited with the local people, who are among the best known Hereford raisers in the country.

Young Business Woman.

In her home town, Sydney, Miss Hawtree is a young business woman. She is a clerk stenographer in the Rural Bank of Sydney, an institution similar in purpose to the Federal Land Banks of the United States. She has held her present position for several years, and it is pleasant, she says, in that she is permitted to go into the country and to contact business men.

"We do not have snow in Sydney, and we have a desert-like country similar to yours," she said. "Main crop in our section is wheat, where yours is cotton. Too, Australia has more sheep than any other country, you know."

Miss Hawtree left England late in July, when war preparations began in earnest, arriving in the United States in early August. She visited with a school friend, Mrs. Charley Winston, and family in St. Joseph, Missouri, for several weeks. Mrs. Winston, wife of a brother to Harrie and Wade Winston, the local Hereford breeders, is a Sydney girl. She and Winston were married in Sydney, moving back to the United States a short time ago.

Smith, and with their son, Weidon, a student at West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon, who spent the weekend in Plainview. Mr. and Mrs. Kincaid visited her parents at Littlefield Sunday night, and returned Monday.

Margaret Deakins, Jeanette Lollar, Johnnie Mathison and Ruby Lee were week-end guests of Roberta Raybon, former local girl, in Lubbock. The group attended the Tech-Arizona State football game in Lubbock Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McCarter Jr. and six-month-old daughter, Mary Ellen, returned to their home in Henderson late last week following a two-week visit with friends and relatives in Piquanna and Snyder. Red-haired, blue-eyed Mary Ellen saw West Texas for the very first time on the visit last week with her parents, former Scurry County teachers, Mrs. Mary A. Slavelly, Mrs. McCarter's mother, who has been in Scurry County for several months, went back to Henderson with them Friday.

Over 100 Pens of Birds Shown at Products Show Make Special Tent for Them Necessary

Poultry exhibits at Scurry County's second annual Products Show, featured by 23 pens of turkeys, 73 pens of chickens and nine pens of ducks and geese, formed one of the largest exhibits of its kind yet staged in Scurry County, and made necessary the obtaining of a special tent to house show birds.

D. V. Merritt, poultry superintendent, was not able to be present, and his place was filled most efficiently by Mrs. D. V. Merritt.

Of 46 turkeys exhibited in the turkey division, 36 of the show birds were either shown by Tom Stodghill, or from breeding stock purchased from Stodghill.

NEWS FROM SNYDER SCHOOLS

TEACHER ARRIVES.

P. C. Street, formerly a teacher at Troy, arrived in Snyder last week to take over the work of George B. Thomas, science teacher, who went East to continue his marine corps training. The new teacher, graduate of Baylor University, Waco, has a family composed of Mrs. Street, one girl and two boys.

TRIGG IS COACHING.

Coaching work formerly handled by George B. Thomas, assistant to Coach W. W. Hill, is being handled by Herman Trigg, who is directing the Tiger Band. Football fans of other years remember Trigg as a member of Tiger teams that "went to town" in the middle twenties.

SPOOK CARNIVAL.

Coronation of the Halloween carnival queen at 7:00 o'clock Monday evening, October 30, will be the signal for opening of the local school's most elaborate pageant. This year the parade of spooks, frolicking and noise will be held in the gymnasium, after the coronation is completed in the auditorium. As usual, many booths will be provided for entertainment, eats, drinks and "just fun." Parent-Teacher Association is sponsoring the annual event.

JESSIE HUEY NAMED.

President of the National Honor Society of Snyder High School this year is Jessie Huey, who was elected last week. Other officers of the group of students that leads in scholarship are as follows: Frankie Jo Wilson, vice president; Elsie Murphree, secretary; Sybil Irvin, treasurer; Nell Verna LeMond, reporter.

ALLEN IS PRESIDENT.

Delbert Allen, senior candidate, was elected several days ago, in a heated high school contest, as president of the Student Council. Garland Mustain was second in the school-wide poll. Home room representatives on the council, named after the principal election, are as follows: Florence Fisher, Jimmie Merritt, Freda Kelly, Thane McMane, Fern Rancey, Helen Andrews, Ernest Taylor Jr.

22 GIRL SCOUTS.

Katherine Northcutt and Polly Harpole, teachers, are captain and lieutenant, respectively, of 22 Girl Scouts. Fourteen of the girls have taken their tenderfoot tests. Girl scouting provides something interesting and constructive for the girls to do, and makes them better citizens, say the sponsors. The leaders and girls are seeking a club that will sponsor them.

Tech students at home for the week-end from Lubbock included Dorothy Winston, Powell Shydes, Clyde Boren Jr. and Bill King.

R. Lee Sanders Dies At Brownwood Home

R. Lee Sanders, 62, who formerly lived in Snyder, died at his home on the Indian Creek Route near Brownwood last Wednesday after a three-month illness. Mr. and Mrs. Sanders moved from Snyder several years ago after being here a number of years.

Funeral services were held at the Bangs Cemetery, with Rev. D. A. Chisholm and Rev. E. Sparks officiating. Mr. Sanders was born March 20, 1877, in Mississippi. Surviving are Mrs. Sanders; his father, L. D. Sanders of Brownwood; two brothers, M. H. Sanders of Snyder and D. S. Sanders of Brownwood; and three sisters, Mrs. Luther Cobb of Brownwood, Mrs. J. J. Hanes of Grosvener and Mrs. Mamie Melton of California.

One day Booker T. Washington, the noted negro educator and builder of the famous Tuskegee Institute, was walking with a white friend when another white man passed and rudely jostled the colored man into the gutter.

"Mr. Washington, how do you stand it?" the friend cried indignantly. "Have you no spirit of defiance?"

"Yes, indeed," replied Washington. "I defy any man to make me hate him."

A merchant advertised in his local paper for a clerk. One line of the copy read: "Must be able to bear confinement."

Among the letters of application was one in which the writer recited his many qualifications, and said in conclusion: "And I'm well experienced in confinement, as I have just served seven years in jail."

Nearly $12,000,000 paid last year to Texas telephone people

Into pay envelopes for Texas telephone people last year went nearly 12 million dollars—wages to operators, to linemen and repairmen, to others in the far-flung brigade of Texas telephone people.

The largest item in the cost of furnishing telephone service in Texas is the wages paid to the 8,700 men and women who make Texas telephones talk. Of every dollar it cost last year to furnish telephone service in Texas, more than 40 cents went for wages.

Nearly 12 million dollars' worth of human energy and skill went into your telephone service in Texas last year . . . to the people who furnish you fast, accurate, and dependable telephone service . . . yet the cost of a telephone in your home is only a few pennies a day.

STICKING.

Some people fall because they never begin. More fall because they never finish. Stick-to-it-iveness wins oftener than genius or luck. You may make mistakes, others may misjudge you. You may be mistreated and wronged. You may be tired and discouraged. But if you stick, by and by everything and everybody will give way to you.

If you have principles, they will do you no good unless you stick to them. If you do not stick to your friends, you do not deserve friends. If you do not stick to your job, you cannot make a success of it and find a better one. In a troubled and anxious time of the Civil War, General Grant said: "I will fight it out on this line if it takes all summer." Let that be your motto.—Dr. Frank Crane.

STICKING.

Some people fall because they never begin. More fall because they never finish. Stick-to-it-iveness wins oftener than genius or luck. You may make mistakes, others may misjudge you. You may be mistreated and wronged. You may be tired and discouraged. But if you stick, by and by everything and everybody will give way to you.

If you have principles, they will do you no good unless you stick to them. If you do not stick to your friends, you do not deserve friends. If you do not stick to your job, you cannot make a success of it and find a better one. In a troubled and anxious time of the Civil War, General Grant said: "I will fight it out on this line if it takes all summer." Let that be your motto.—Dr. Frank Crane.

The War in Cartoons

The history of the World War was written in pencil sketches and a few words by John Knott, Dallas News cartoonist, who last year was recognized as the outstanding American in the newspaper cartoon field. This history was preserved in a cartoon book, and a copy of this book is owned by Charles J. Lewis, county clerk.

If you want your senses shocked, and your memory rekindled, you should have a look at this book. Almost cartoon by cartoon it runs the gamut of public emotion and hatred, fear and distrust that have characterized what is being called the Second World War.

In one cartoon, published July 13, 1916, John Bull is pictured with sack and fork at the three-mile limit, with this statement on his lips: "A harmless submarine? There ain't no such animal!" In another, Woodrow Wilson slashes at the tree in which the wild animals of partisanship, tradition, ridicule, criticism, spite and fear are lodged, while Humanity, with World Peace in her arms, stands in the background.

One striking feature of the cartoons is that not one of them is derogatory in any way of France or England. The Kaiser—like Hitler of today—is always pictured as a devil. The point is strongly emphasized that the Allies are out to save the world for democracy. Here is the one direct departure from today's cartoons. Knott and practically all other American cartoonists are making drawings in this year of 1939 of the European scene. The sentiment today is to stay out of the Second World War at all costs; in 1916 it was to get in and fight the hated Hun and the Kaiser.

A few more cartoons will serve to show the trend of Knott sketches back in World War days. "The Temptation" shows the Kaiser, like a devil, tempting Mexico with the promise of New Mexico, Arizona and Texas as a reward. "Dissembling Their Love," printed March 31, 1917, shows the German naval commander, with the club called "Sub Warfare" in his hands, and the Kaiser in the background, saying, after he has given Uncle Sam a heavy blow on the head, "Uncle Sam is a good old scout and we don't want to have any trouble with him."

Then come the cartoons about the American expeditionary force going to France, Uncle Sam after the war profiteer, Russia's civil war, German bombing of civilians, the breaking of the Hindenburg line, Germany's loss of some of her allies, the Yankee's ability as a soldier, and many other pencil pictures that old Dallas News readers may recall.

In 1918 the cartoons turn to Germany's internal strife, to her losses on the Western Front, to the death of Prussian imperialism, to the critical days surrounding signing of the Armistice, and, last, to Germany's plans to divide the Allies at the peace table, and to the return of wretched men, women and children: "Back from Exile" to the former battlefields—their devastated homes.

Review of these cartoons convinces any American anew that the supreme sacrifice, if necessary, should be made to keep the United States out of the Second World War.

The Mayor Makes a Speech

Vice President Garner of these United States and Mayor Towle of Snyder are alike in two respects—each has been a Texan a long spell, and each has a horror of making speeches.

Thanks to the persuasive powers of some of the Products Show leaders, Mayor Towle departed from his anti-speech path long enough Friday morning to welcome thousands of folks to the second annual Scurry County Products Show. The speech has such a good flavor and it carries such fine thoughts for all of us that it is here published in full:

Greetings, Friends: I have lived in Scurry County for more than a generation. During this time I have seen the old wholesome friendliness of the early days of the West gradually blended in the grasping greed of modern day civilization.

My fellow citizen, no doubt felt the same, and when in conjunction with the Commissioners Court, this common meeting place was constructed it was with the view that we might again recapture something of that friendliness which once made us all one.

I believe we have made a real step in that direction at this show, and annual event of the Scurry County Products Show, and as mayor of the City of Snyder, I cannot recall an occasion when I more gladly welcome our countrymen and townsmen to be with us.

I congratulate you on the splendid results of this event, and trust they will carry on and on to bigger and better achievements every year. I thank you.

The Last Guesser

As usual this time of year, the big and the small-ginning boys are at battle. Those who predicted a crop for Scurry County are gradually holding their figures, and those who were in are gradually holding their figures. The guessers are probably averaging Times calculator continues to ure. Take your choice—and to Mother Nature to make

Current Comment

BY LEON GUINN.

An indication of how deeply Germany's undeclared war against Poland is cutting at the heartstrings of the economically tottering country may be gleaned from the frantic efforts of the Reich to obtain foreign exchange. . . . German commercial boats which managed to make a neutral port after the outbreak of hostilities sold their cargoes at the best cash price immediately available and sent the money back to the money-starved Reich. . . . Dutch importers, for instance, have recently been offered German leather goods at prices from 12 to 18 per cent below current market prices, if cash were offered on leather sales.

Potatoes, which are being advertised in European countries as non-fattening in order to stimulate consumption of this staple food necessity, promise to become increasingly important as the result of experiments recently conducted by Herman C. Nielson in the basement of his Trufant, Michigan, home. . . . Nielson has devoted several years of research to developing new uses for potatoes, and announces 24 by-products have been perfected by him for industrial use.

Some of the potato by-products Nielson lists include starch flour, flakes, crumbles, water paste, acoustic plaster, rubber filler, rubber paste, art gum, library paste, bookbinder paste, pancake flour, imitation stone, plastic wood, wall board, floor tiles, wall finish, cloth sizing, paper glue, wall paper cleanser, bread, caustic potash, gin and cologne sprays. The potato, which has been used for over 300 years as a staple diet necessity in most temperate countries, may find itself before long in the position of honored guest in the field of new industrial uses.

European residents during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries believed the potato to be an aphrodisiac, hence Shakespeare's use of the phrase, "potato finger." . . . Potatoes contain usually from 15 to 25 per cent starch, but are deficient in proteins, hence their chief food value lies in the use conjunctively with nitrogenous vegetables or meats. . . . Starch content of sweet potatoes is so high the government has established a laboratory in Mississippi to make starch in commercial quantities. . . . This field alone may result in Southern farmers obtaining an additional $1,000,000 annually in farm income from potatoes, in addition to the regular market outlets we already have for the tuberous food.

Scientific tests recently completed at the Florida State Experiment Station reveal that citrus livestock feed which utilizes pulp and rind refuse, when properly rationed out, is superior to beet pulp feeds many livestock breeders have used for years. . . . Citrus pulp feed is reported to increase the yield of superior quality milk, contains varied health building minerals and produces a glossy coat on animals when used over a period of time.

Annual importations of 25,000 tons of beet pulp to Florida may cease entirely if the everglades state succeeds, through experiment stations, in selling the idea of all-citrus pulp feed to Florida livestock owners. . . . Increased sale of canned grapefruit juice in Florida during the past three years indicates surpluses of this citrus fruit can be greatly reduced if state-wide markets can be found for grapefruit pulp. . . . Fruit growers of the Rio Grande Valley might well take a cue from the Florida experiment station, and sell the idea of citrus pulp feeds to Texas ranchers, especially if the price of cottonseed hulls and cake stay at present levels.

Tanning of the skin from dead men into a soft, tough leather superior to chamolins was said to be so prevalent from 1540 to 1562 London law makers ruled the practice of such would be punished by a fine of five pounds English currency. . . . Ambroise Pare, the famous French physician of the sixteenth century, is generally credited with being the first to stop bleeding by tying up severed veins.

Editorial of the Week

THE POWER OF ENCOURAGEMENT

"He is the most stupid boy I have ever encountered. I can't teach him a thing." Thus to a visitor to the little school did the teacher characterize a little boy who sat dull and listless in a far corner of the room. The visitor smiled, but said nothing. After a brief talk to the class, he made his way down the aisle to the desk of the "dull" boy, laid his hand upon the youngster's head, and said in a kindly voice, "Don't be troubled, my boy, by what people say. Some day you may be a great scholar. Try hard, and keep on trying. Don't be discouraged."

H. H. Simmons of Colorado City, formerly of Snyder, for drilling of two wells on the east 10 acres of the north one-half of northwest quarter, Section 129. Drilling is slated to start within 15 days.

Sterling Tract Plans.
Scurry County Oil Exchange has also arranged a deal whereby Goldston will take over and develop the east 80 acres of the north one-half of Section 122, W. H. Sterling tract. This tract offsets the Bristow and Cantrell No. 1 S. G. Tomlinson well on the north, and location of the first well in southwest corner of the 80-acre tract will give Magnolia Petroleum Company an opportunity to drill on its adjoining 160 acres.

The local oil exchange completed a deal this week whereby Miami and St. Louis parties acquired the south one-half of the southeast one-fourth, Section 122, with drilling activities to start by November 15. A 300-foot test well will be the first well drilled by the Miami and St. Louis interests.

Bristow and Cantrell's No. 1 S. G. Tomlinson, located in the northeast corner of the southwest one-fourth, Section 122, is completing cleaning out operations, before a nitro shot in the lower pay horizon from 2,922 to 3,150 feet.

Six-inch casing in Magnolia Petroleum Company's No. 2 R. O. McClure was cemented Tuesday at 2,230 feet. Equipment will be changed from rotary to cable tools and drilling-in operations started Friday.

Reiter Test Cemented.

Ten-inch casing was cemented at 325 feet in Coffield & Guthrie's No. 1 Reiter test, located in the southwest corner of Section 115, with drilling to be resumed Friday. D. & R. Oil Company has cemented 10-inch casing in their No. 3 R. O. McClure location, 660 feet due west of D. & R.'s No. 2 McClure. Drilling will be started again in this test Friday.
