The bride's mother wore a black dress with black accessories, and the bridegroom's mother wore grey crepe. Both wore white corsages.

The reception that followed was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Taylor. Mrs. Taylor greeted guests at the door. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Bynum, the bride and groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Brice.

Floral arrangements of pink deli-light roses, gladiolus and zinnias and green fern, featuring the pink and green combination favored by the bride, were used throughout the house.

The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth, centered with an arrangement of pink deli-light roses and fern. The three-tier wedding cake was pink topped with pink deli-light roses. Punch was served from a large green bubble urn.

In the house party were Misses Melvin Newton, Com Ezell, L. B. Worley, Doyle Bynum and Misses Dorelle Stokes, Mary Nell Hanks, Colon Higgins, Jeanie Nichols, Joy Bagwell of Lubbock and Louise Taylor.

The bridegroom is a senior student at Texas Tech in Lubbock, where the couple will live. A veteran of three years' service in the U. S. Navy, he has also attended North Texas State Teachers College at Denton.

COUNTY MEN REGISTERING AT STEADY CLIP AT DRAFT BOOTHS

Scurry County young men were being signed up for draft purposes at a steady clip this week, according to John A. Stavelly, Scurry County member of the three-county draft board. Men were signing up at two places in Snyder, and at the school and post office in Hermleigh, school and post office at Ira, and the post office at Fluvanna.

In a telephone conversation with Stavelly this (Thursday) morning he advised The Times that probably 150 men had signed up Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, although no actual count had been made for the county as a whole.

At Snyder fifty-five 25-year-olds registered Monday. On Tuesday and Wednesday 61 of the 24-year-olds had signed up.

Practically all the registering in Snyder was being handled in the office of Forrest W. Beavers, county superintendent, on the first floor of the courthouse. If congestion occurs in the registering office of Justice of the Peace W. C. Davidson will be utilized, Stavelly said. Schedule of registration days for the remaining ages of men is given below:

Those born in 1924 will register on September 2 or September 3.

Those born in 1925 will register on September 4 or September 7.

Those born in 1926 will register on September 9 or September 9.

Those born in 1927 will register on September 10 or September 11.

Those born in 1928 will register on September 13 or September 14.

Those born in 1929 will register on September 15 or September 16.

Those born in 1930 before September 19 will register on September 17 or September 18.

Those born on or after September 19, 1930, will register within five days after their eighteenth birthday.

Lt. Bynum Tells Lions of Snyder Troop at Camp

Lieutenant Doyle Bynum of Snyder's Troop A of the Texas National Guard, which Sunday returned from a two-week bivouac at Camp Hood, gave a report of activities at the camp to the Snyder Lions Club Tuesday at noon when the civic group met in the Manhattan dining room.

Bynum said the Snyder unit, traveling in its own equipment, was joined at Sweetwater by the Colorado City and Sweetwater units, and the Abilene units at that city Sunday morning, and under command of a National Guard major proceeded to Camp Hood in an auspicious looking Army convoy.

At camp the Snyder troop made an outstanding record in military drills and scored with its mess hall in inspections, Bynum told the Lions.

General Collins, Army chief of staff, who visited at Camp Hood during the maneuvers, declared that war is not expected, but that the United States is preparing for any eventuality with highly mobile and hard hitting striking forces, the lieutenant said.

Two new half-tracks were added to the equipment of the Snyder unit at Camp Hood, Bynum said.

Billy Bryant, who recently moved to Snyder from Carlsbad, New Mexico, was recognized as a new member of the Lions Club.

Lions voted to challenge the Rotary Club in a football game to be played the latter part of this month. Paul Keaton and K. O. Pitner were named as a team committee.

Rev. Bob Creswell of Hermleigh was a club guest at the Tuesday luncheon.

Mrs. C. J. Nelson Gets Degree at Texas U.

Mrs. C. J. Nelson Jr., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Strom, received her B. S. degree from the University of Texas at Austin last week. She has been employed to teach in Austin Ridge Top School.

Bill Strom and Mrs. Hayley motored to Austin Sunday, returning Monday to bring Mr. and Mrs. Nelson here for a short visit. Mrs. Nelson will return to Austin this week-end while Mr. Nelson will go from here to California to visit his parents, between terms at Texas University, where he will resume his studies at the fall term of school. He has been recreational leader of one of Austin's playgrounds this summer and also taking a course at the university.

Teacher Engaged For School Snyder For Handicapped

Alva Mae O'Neal of Paris was this week engaged as teacher of Scurry County's school for exceptional children that will open Monday, September 13, it was announced by Forrest W. Beavers, county superintendent of schools. Enrollment of 35 handicapped children has already been assured for the school.

Miss O'Neal has had 18 hours of specialized education for the type of school and has had seven years of teaching experience. She holds a B. S. degree from East Texas State College at Commerce.

School building for the special group will be arranged within a few days, Beavers said. It is probable that a building from one of the neighboring districts recently consolidated will be utilized for the group.

Appropriation of $6,900 has been allocated by the State Department of Education for the school for exceptional children, the first such school to be operated in the county. Equipment will be purchased, and the teacher's salary of $3,120 per year will be paid from this fund, Beavers said.

Enrollment of handicapped children already signed up will come from these districts: Ira, 12; Snyder, 12; and Hermleigh 11. They are divided into these types: Children with deficient vision, eight; deficient hearing, three; speech defects, four; infantile paralysis, 15; leg amputation, one; lowered vitality, two; and nervous disorders, two.

Henry's Cafe Makes Inside Improvements

Henry's Cafe, east side of the square, reopened last week-end after being closed for several days to make extensive alterations in the building. A soda fountain was installed in the front of the building, and two new booths were added at the rear of the dining room section to provide more serving space. New paint, back bar and lighting fixtures were also added, according to Henry Whitehurst, owner.

Fountain from the ice cream parlor operated by Whitehurst at rear of Pick & Pay Store was moved to the cafe location.

Guy Glenn Expresses Thanks to Supporters

To the Voters of Precinct No. 2: I wish to express my thanks to each of you. Although I was defeated in the race for the office of commissioner, I am democratic and believe in majority rule, so Mr. Chapman will continue to be our commissioner.

Especially do I thank those who supported me through both primaries. I am very grateful to everyone in and out of the precinct who contributed in any way to my interest during this campaign.

I am deeply interested for the success of the precinct and county in the coming administration. Again thanking all of you—Guy Glenn.

BUFORD BROWNING ELECTED AS JUNIOR STOCK UNIT PRESIDENT

Buford Browning, Fluvanna community rancher-farmer, was elected president of the Scurry County Junior Livestock Association Saturday when members of the board of directors and county VA teachers and the county agent gathered in annual business session. He succeeds Hugh Taylor.

Billy Boren was named secretary-treasurer, and Maurice Brownfield was elected vice president. Other directors are Carl Gray and Raymond Smith. Also attending the business meeting were O. M. Fowler, county agent, J. L. Browning of Snyder and Jake Greene of Hermleigh.

Directors voted to make the annual spring club boys' show next March a two-day event instead of only one as in previous years. It will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, and the boys will go to Fort Worth Friday and Saturday following to sell what stock from the show they desire.

The annual junior livestock show and trip to Fort Worth are among major projects sponsored by the association.

New class of dairy heifers will be added to the 1949 show, as well as a grass identification contest sponsored by the supervisors of the Upper Colorado Soil Conservation District.

Premiums totaling over $1,230 will be awarded to winners in the 1949 show, the association directors decided Saturday. Five divisions will split the premiums.

Ten places will receive awards in three classes of calves—Milk fed, dry lot light weights and dry lot heavy weights. Three places will be awarded for pen of three calves.

Two classes of hogs will compete for 10 places each light and heavy weights, and five places for pen of three.

Three classes of sheep—milk fed, fine wool and crossbreds, will vie for 10 places each, and five places for pen of three.

In the capons division two classes of lights and heavies will contend for 10 places each, and three places for pen of three.

The dairy heifers awards have not been announced by the association officials.

It was voted in the business session that only three animals may be entered by a boy in each class.

Others besides the club boys may bring stock to the spring show for exhibition purposes only.

It ought to make a husband pretty witten to discover that his wife has written to Dorothy Dix.

Hanks Says God Necessary Part of Balanced Life

"This old world is filled with fear and doubt, but we will come through all right if we make God a part of our life philosophy," declared Rev. H. W. Hanks, pastor of the Snyder First Methodist Church when he addressed the weekly luncheon session of the Snyder Rotary Club last night at the Snyder Community Club.

"No life is properly balanced, no life is complete without God," the Snyder minister said. "We need God for hope, for comfort, for vision. We have worshipped science, worshipped money, looked for knowledge, travel, communication, industry to solve our ills—but we need God to get real joy out of living and get along with our world neighbors."

Medical numbers were rendered by James Allen Patrick, who accompanied the group in singing.

President W. A. Casseday announced that the Snyder club will on the attendance honor roll for the month of July.

Committee composed of W. J. Bowers, Bob Dupree, J. B. Turner and W. J. Ely was appointed to represent the Rotary Club at a meeting of civic groups to discuss ways and means for attracting Mexican laborers to Scurry County to help in cotton harvesting.

Program Chairman J. L. Brown announced program leaders for the month of September as follows: Harold Brown, Giles Bowers, Bob Bickerstaff, G. B. Clark and Herman Doak.

Raymond Sears was installed as a new member of the club.

Besides Rev. Hanks and James Allen, O. D. Dillingham of Abilene was a visitor.

Send out thy light and thy truth, let them lead me, let them bring me unto thy holy hill, and to thy tabernacles—Psalms 43:3.

YESTERDAY AND TODAY—The old and the new in bathing suit styles go out for a stroll together in Beaumont. Bonnie Bland of Orange (right), who

BABSON SAYS LITTLE PROGRESS BEING MADE IN FOOD ADVANCE

Glocester, Mass.—The most useful people today are farmers, fishers, men and inventors. What about teachers, preachers, scientists, etc., you may ask. Well, if they make possible more useful farmers, more useful inventors, more useful fishermen, they are patriotic citizens. It, however, they merely make people dissatisfied with conditions and make them greater spenders and voters, then they are doing more harm than good.

Robert M. Hutchins, chairman of Chicago University, said:

"Americans have never had to be intelligent. America has grown rich and strong not because of its system of education, but in spite of it. Only a country with great natural resources could survive our education, a system so lacking in logic and ultimate aim."

The present increase in population demands a constant increase in food production, or the world will starve. The per capita productivity of the earth is falling rapidly. In fact, my friend, H. S. Richardson of Maitland, Florida, claims "so-called scientific agriculture is not solving the problem; in fact, it remedies aggravate the illness." There has been a greater loss of productive soil in the last few decades through cultivation than the accumulated loss of all previous time. Chemical farming is not the answer; it does not offset large crop diseases and insect pests.

Furthermore, DDT and other sprays are killing off honey bees, lady beetles, mantis, as well as birds, toads, spiders, etc., which have heretofore protected us from insects. It is dangerous enough to depend upon the soil for food but, as it is now being used for raising industrial products the situation becomes far more serious. We are fast approaching a time when a newsboy and mailman must collect an old paper and magazine in order to leave a new one, and when the sales tax will be assessed on what we waste rather than on what we buy. Hence, we must give every encouragement to the farmer, forester and gardener.

When we are moaning about soil erosion, we should remember that this oil with its minerals and vitamins has been washed down into the little streams and large rivers into the ocean. Hence, while the oceans have been getting poorer, the oceans are getting richer. This means that while grains, vegetables, cattle, poultry, eggs etc., raised on the soil without special prepared food, are constantly becoming less nutritious, the fish and other ocean products are constantly getting richer in minerals and vitamins.

The washing of the soil can be prevented by contour plowing; and by returning to the portion which crop excepting the portion which goes down the sewers of cities. When you consider, however, that over 12,000,000 people live in Greater New York, and 25,000,000 live in other large cities and their metropolitan areas this adds up to over a quarter acre of our population. Most of their waste goes down sewers ultimately into the ocean. Hence, my appeal to the fishing industry deserves as much protection and government subsidy as the farming industry. In fact, the ocean and its products are the hope and salvation of mankind along with religion and education.

Outside of the bare necessities of food, clothing and shelter, as enjoyed by the humblest original settlers, everything we have worthwhile, from a needle to a harvesting machine, we owe to inventors. Labor bosses claim that today's better standard of living has come from increased union wages, but this is a false standard of living. The increased wages enjoyed by wage workers today is due to new inventions, new products and new products. It is true that labor unions may have forced employers to encourage and finance inventors, but with few exceptions as we have today, wage workers would be just as well off if there had been no such thing as labor unions. Hence, I appeal for government subsidy for inventors, including necessary funds for financing worthwhile inventions, and that such cooperation be prevented from being bogged up and smothered in red tape to protect their own obsolete plants and machinery.

To the Voters of Precinct No. 4: I wish to thank you for electing me as your commissioner in Saturday's election.

Men in Troop A Unit Outstanding At Camp Bivouac

Several outstanding records were made by individual members of the Snyder National Guard company at the annual camp at Camp Hood. The two-week maneuvers closed Sunday morning, and the unit, under command of Captain Bill Schiebel, returned home Sunday afternoon.

The company as a whole was commended by inspecting Army officials for orderliness, discipline and camp cleanliness.

Joe Falls of Ira scored 385 points out of a possible 400 with a 30-caliber machine gun in range practice, one of the high scores of the entire camp.

Tiny Moore and Louis Byrd were commended for their mess hall and kitchen operations in preparing well balanced meals and good tasting meals. Sergeant Hugh Ferguson's functions as mess hall supervisor came in for considerable commendation.

Some sort of a record was established by David (Pinky) Smith, who gained 21 pounds during the 15-day stay at camp. Numbers of the boys gained from five to 10 pounds, officers of the company reported.

Dress Rehearsal for War

EIGHT MILES out of Frankfurt, Germany, at the Rhine-Main airport, is a place the G.I.s call "Boom Town." It is called that because a new town has sprung up overnight, with the carpenters' hammers still making as much noise as the airplane motors—all because of the Berlin airlift.

One thing about this airlift which most people don't realize is that it's an air force rehearsal for future possible eventualities. And the top air people are quite candid about this fact.

Furthermore, if the diplomats succeed in raising the Berlin blockade, the air force does not intend to abandon its installations. Boom Town will stay right on—just in case the Russians tighten up their economic grip on Berlin once again.

In the briefing room at Rhine-Main a pair of snowshoes are tacked on the wall—mementos of the 54th Troop Carrier squadron based at Elmendorf field, Anchorage, Alaska. Those snowshoes are symbolic of the manner in which the air force has abandoned all other tasks in all other parts of the world to break the Berlin blockade.

There might also be other symbols—trom Albrook field, Panama, Bergstrom field, near Austin, Tex., and Hickham field, Hawaii—pilots assembled from all parts of the earth, getting experience in a theater where they may have to operate with life-or-death determination in the future.

That is why the army, in calculating the cost of the airlift, reckons only the cost of gasoline and supplies. The cost of pilots' time, they figure, is a good investment.

Bradley's Inspection Tour

BEST INDICATION that the western powers don't anticipate early hostilities in Europe despite the tense state of the Moscow talks is that army chief of staff, Gen. Omar Bradley, plans an extended vacation trip.

General Bradley is combining vacation with business on a one-month tour of American outposts in the Far East. Although nobody will confirm it, it's considered likely Bradley will take to Japan another invitation from President Truman to MacArthur, asking the Allied Far Eastern commander to come home and receive a hero's welcome. MacArthur has indicated that if he returns home from Japan it will not be until after the November election.

Seek Small Town Vote

DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSMEN Melvin Price of Illinois and Frank M. Karsten of Missouri got a lecture from President Truman on the importance of the small town vote. Calling at the White House, Price and Karsten assured the President of their support next November. Whereupon Mr. Truman gave them a homely discourse on the coming campaign.

"I'm not worried about the election," he said. "We're going to win, that's sure. I know that's sure because we're right and they're wrong."

"I'm going to make it a rip-roaring, back-platform campaign to what Taft calls all the 'whistle stops,'" the President continued. "Taft calls them whistle stops, but I call them the heart of America. When they count the whistle-stop votes, Taft may be in for a big surprise. I think the whistle stops will make the difference between victory and defeat."

Condemn Housing Frauds

AN ALL-OUT CRACKDOWN on housing frauds against veterans was ordered by Atty. Gen. Tom Clark and Housing Expediter Tighe Woods at a conference of U. S. district attorneys from 21 key cities.

"I want you to put these housing frauds at the top of the list when it comes to prosecutions," ordered the attorney general.

Equally Vigorous was Woods

Equally vigorous was Woods, who has expanded the priorities they received to build for veterans, he recalled. In return, the builders were obligated to adhere to government regulations.

"Our task," thundered Woods, "is to prosecute those who welched on their obligations."

Woods said that his 400 local rent offices were all geared to handle veterans' complaints. While every effort would be made to arrange settlements out of court, he added, the worst cases would be turned over to the district attorneys.

New Farm Program

INSOFAR as the so-called long-range farm program adopted by the 80th congress is concerned, farmers, ranchers and truckers can forget it until about January 1, 1949 or thereafter. In the 1948-1949 crop will not be affected by the new act. These crops still will be largely marketed under the present support price system with a few changes.

The important change is that prices received by cooperating producers of the mandatory Steagall commodities, including Irish potatoes harvested before January 1, 1948, milk and its products, hogs, chickens and eggs marketed before

January 1, 1950, are to be supported at 90 per cent of parity. In other words, on these commodities the parity price cannot go over 90 per cent as under the old law.

On other mandatory Steagall commodities, including flaxseed, soybeans, dry edible beans, dry field peas, American-Egyptian cotton, potatoes of the 1949 crop, sweet potatoes and turkeys marketed before January 1, 1949, prices are to be supported at not less than 60 per cent of the parity price or more than the 1948 support level. So on these commodities the parity price is compared to the old law can drop from not less than 90 per cent to not less than 60 per cent.

On basic commodities the parity price is the same as the present law except that parity for cotton is dropped from 92 1/2 to 90 per cent. On wool the price is to be at the 1946 support level, about 42 cents a pound until June 30, 1950. Support price for non-cooperators on basic commodities is to be 54 per cent of parity and only on as much of the commodity as would be subject to penalty if marketed, as under the existing law.

Costly Support

While the solons talked long and loud about doing something about the waste in potatoes, they did nothing to take the secretary of agriculture off the spot.

The law still requires him to support the price of Irish potatoes and go into the market and buy them when they reach the support price. This policy, adopted by congress, is costing the government about four million dollars per month.

It was pointed out in debate that the early and intermediate potato crops could not be shipped abroad as food under the European recovery program because of the perishable factor. The late potato crop, much of it from northern states, can be shipped but even if sufficient refrigerated ships could be obtained for shipment there is insufficient cold storage in Europe to keep them when they arrive there.

Consequently the government sells them to distillers, to millers, to farmers for feed, to all sorts of institutions and takes a heavy loss.

Debate on Inflation

During the debate on inflation in the special session, some senators said open-mouthed, others looked warily at one another as they heard this exchange between Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (Dem., Wyo.) and Sen. Robert A. Taft (Rep., Ohio):

SENATOR O'MAHONEY: "I understand the senator to say that he thought the President had the power to enforce sound anti-inflationary policies and one of the powers which he mentioned was the power to abandon government bonds in the market and let them go down in value. Does the senator from Ohio recommend that policy?"

SENATOR TAFT: "I would rather have that done than to place price controls on the American people, yes. I do not think it necessary. I think that raising the rediscunt rate, probably on short term bonds, would be sufficient. As to a choice between that and the reimposition of price controls, I should prefer government bonds to go below par."

Dewey Request Denied

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Republican presidential nominee, apparently asked one favor of the special session and it was denied. Dewey reportedly asked Sen. Chapman Revercomb (Rep., W. Va.), chairman of the senate judiciary committee, to revise the displaced persons bill by cutting back the eligibility entry date into German DP camps from December 27, 1945, to April 21, 1947. Mr. Truman also asked for the revision.

Another Special Session?

The special session of congress did not adjourn sine die. It adjourned until December 31, which is considered a recess, and GOP leaders argued that with congress in recess the President does not have the constitutional power to call it back into session. House parliamentary Lewis Deschler, however, said the President can reconvene congress whenever it is not sitting. Mr. Truman may call another session after the election.

They All Went Home

"For sale. School equipment." That was the burden of a classified ad placed in a Washington, D. C., paper by the Russian Embassy. It was a school for children of Russian officials.

Benjamin N. Matchavariani, embassy press secretary, said the school was closed because "it was difficult to maintain the level of education necessary." The pupils and teachers had gone home.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS U. S. Registers Gold War Victory; Moscow Talks Headed for Failure; Truman, Congress in Budget Fight

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

COLD WAR Villians Revealed

At last something had happened that could and did make people understand what this Russian situation was all about. It had been pretty difficult going for the world public to perceive the basic truth when it was obscured by confusing circumstances like currency reform in Berlin, control of the German Ruhr, a maze of spies at home and political annihilation of small European nations by Russia.

What it all amounted to, as far as most people were concerned, was a mess of verbal potage that they wouldn't trade for the comics page any day of the week.

Then it happened. Mrs. Oksana Kosenkina, the Russian school teacher, jumped from a third-story window in the Soviet consulate in New York to achieve the liberty she so desperately sought.

Mikhail Samarin, the other Russian school teacher, was wanted by the Russians but managed to retain his freedom. Refusing the Soviet demand that he return to Russia, he tossed this scallion for the Communists into the propaganda war: "I won't return to death."

And finally, in England Olympic athletes from Czechoslovakia and other Soviet satellite states were steadfastly refusing to return to their home countries after their taste of a free land.

It all added up to the biggest break the western nations have had yet in their propaganda battle with the East.

This was simple, basic, understandable: These people from the land of the Soviets—the schoolteachers and athletes—utterly despised the idea of returning. They simply would not do it.

Thus, it was in the end a few ordinary persons who destroyed the elaborate structure Moscow had constructed to represent to the world the ideal way of life that existed in the Soviet Union.

One Voice of America spokesman said: "This is what we have been waiting for in our war of words. This is something that can be easily understood by people all over the world."

The Communists tried frantically to cover this breach in their curtain by calling it, among other things, an underground conspiracy in the U. S. to wreck any possibility for peace between the two nations.

But the villain's disguise was off now and everyone knew him. Try as they might, the Communists never would be able to explain why two obscure school teachers would seek their freedom so desperately, nor why Russia was so determined to get them back.

PARLEY: Failure

From Moscow came crushing news for all those hoping for peace: The talks between the western democracies and Russia were reported to be on the brink of failure.

Barring a last-minute miracle in the conferences between the U. S., England, France and Russia, the East-West stalemate would continue, along with the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

It was reported that the western powers were getting ready to stay in Berlin under conditions of economic siege planning to maintain and enlarge the air lift to supply the 2.5 million persons in their sectors.

There was, however, one slim chance that utter failure could be avoided. The three western ambassadors were scheduled for a final talk with Premier Stalin, and it was a possibility that the negotiations might be rescued. But the odds against agreement stood at about five to one, officials said.

If the conference ended in the anticipated failure, it was thought that the Big Four governments would try to conceal the extent of the fiasco from the public in order to avoid the even greater degeneration of East-West relationships that undoubtedly would result if every-one knew just how hopeless the case was.

However, if the Moscow talks did break up in futility it would not mean necessarily that all similar negotiations would be abandoned. It would mean that any further effort to reopen them would be delayed until at least next spring—possibly March—after the election and inauguration.

MASARYK: Murdered?

Last March 10 Jan Masaryk, foreign minister of Czechoslovakia under the Communist regime, fell to his death from a third-story window in the foreign office in Prague.

Since then Masaryk's friends, as well as many who never knew him but admired him because of his hopeless fight in behalf of Czechoslovakia's national liberty, have speculated long as to whether he committed suicide or was killed by the Communists who wanted him out of the way.

The official Communist version of the incident was suicide, but too many persons had too many doubts to let it rest at that.

Then, suddenly, last month the doubts were crystallized. Dr. Oskar Klinger, Masaryk's personal physician, asserted that the Czech statesman did not commit suicide.

He was sure of that, he said, because he and Masaryk had planned to escape by plane to Great Britain on the very day that Masaryk died.

Klinger said that the security police discovered Masaryk's plan to flee and came to his rooms that night to arrest or kill him. Defending himself, Masaryk shot and killed possibly four men.

With the remaining men closing in, Klinger's version went, Masaryk was forced closer and closer to the window. Then, the men either threw him out the window or, overwhelmed by fear, Masaryk flung himself out.

In proof of his conviction, Klinger offered this evidence: Masaryk would never have committed suicide because he was afraid of physical pain. Also, he left no note or letter—a usual practice in suicides.

Shots were heard in the building the night he died, and four coffins were carried from the place that morning before the Czech commission arrived to inspect Masaryk's body, indicating that four persons might have been killed during the night.

? Current Events ?

Here are five questions, based on recent happenings in the news, which are guaranteed not to keep you awake nights. Unless, this is, you stay up late to read the paper anyway.

1. Several witnesses before the house un-American activities committee, refusing to answer questions about Communist activities, invoked the fifth amendment to the Constitution. What does that amendment say?

2. President Truman said recently that a woman president of the U. S. "was not only a possibility, but a probability" some day. At present the Constitution prohibits a woman from becoming president. True or false?

3. Population of the U. S. is 143,414,000. Name the nations that have larger populations in order of their size.

4. What outstanding war events took place three years ago on these dates: August 8, August 9, August 14?

5. Born in 1865, he was governor of Kansas from 1915 to 1919 and became a senator in 1919. Recently he retired from the senate as its senior member in point of service. Who is he?

ANSWERS

1. "No person . . . shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself. . . ."

2. False. Only presidential qualifications are that he be born in the U. S., be a resident of the country for 14 years and at least 35 years old.

3. China (470 million), Union of India (330 million), U. S. S. R. (193 million).

4. August 8 Nagasaki was atom bombed; August 9 Russia declared war on Japan; August 14 Japan surrendered.

RADIO'S MONEY PROBLEM

The big radio question today is whether the melody being played by the Federal Communications commission is "The Baloney Waltz," "Doubletalk, How I Love You!" or "This Time I'm Leveling."

"It has (I'm going to) discovered that there are prize contests on the air and that they are illegal under one of its own rules adopted 15 years ago and based on a United States postal law not far from 100 years old! And it says it is going to act to stop the give away programs now flooding America and developing a race of free mink coat, ice box, bungalow, and dough-bag collectors."

In acting so late, the commission shows itself slower on the trigger than any contestants on give away programs. It has taken it over a decade to answer the simple question "Is your radio set a household fixture or a crap game?"

The commission declares that give away programs will be banned if: (1) The winner is required to furnish any money or thing of value or to have in their possession any advertised product. (2) If winners are asked to answer questions the answer to which is given on any broadcast. (3) If the contestants are required to be listening on their radios. (4) If answering a phone or writing a letter is required.

That about covers everything from boxtops and mystery voices to slogans and song identifications. And if the FCC is on the level, it means it is abandoning its own "Doubletalk or Nothing" program, a feature shared by the radio station owners.

That about covers everything from boxtops and mystery voices to slogans and song identifications. And if the FCC is on the level, it means it is abandoning its own "Doubletalk or Nothing" program, a feature shared by the radio station owners.

Voice: "Didn't the National Association of Broadcasters come out many months ago with their own code stating any broadcast designed to buy the radio audience by requiring it to listen in the hope of reward should be avoided? But did it raise a finger to enforce the ban? No prompt-please."

The FCC announces that it will receive reactions from the radio stations. (All radio stations glutted with jackpots will kindly submit their reactions in 50 words or less, stating clearly why they like or disapprove. All letters retain the property of the FCC, Ed. note.)

We shall see what we shall see. Despite all federal laws and commission rules, radio constitutes the greatest collection of raffles, lotteries, sweepstakes, bingo games and prize contests on earth. More people gamble on the airwaves in one night than at the race tracks and gambling houses in a year. You test a dial with the same feeling you get when you pull the lever on a slot machine. Nothing is missing except the three-plus symbol and the grinding noise.

It has reached a point where a man tuning in doesn't know whether he is listening to a radio program or getting a key to Fort Knox.

The Federal Communications orchestra and the National Association of Broadcasters' brass band will now play a selection. Listen carefully and see if you can identify it. If it turns out to be "I'm Sincere with You My Dear," you win two jet planes, a three piece mink suit, $50,000 in fresh meat, six months fun in the U. S. mint and an extra patty of butter.

Bonus Payment Emerging from his private office, a stern employer found a young man talking to his receptionist. Furious, he directed his office manager to pay the boy a week's wages and get rid of him immediately.

This done, the employer turned to the office manager and demanded: "Who in the world hired that boy in the first place?" "Nobody, sir," said the manager. "He never worked for us."

More Producers Added to Borden Scurry Milk Run

Fourteenth milk producer for the Snyder route of the Borden Milk Company truck operating out of Lubbock was added to area dairymen this week, according to Lester Jackson, supervisor for this area of the wholesale milk concern. Total of about 750 gallons per day is now being shipped by the 14 producers, Jackson said.

John R. Covey was the fourteenth Snyder area dairyman whose producing and milk handling facilities were approved by state inspectors. Oran Sturdivant hopes to have his plant ready for inspection the latter part of the week, Jackson said.

Six other producers are working on their milk plants and plants for approval for the route, the supervisor told The Times Wednesday. Gallons of whole milk produced for the Lubbock concern should reach 1,000 within a few weeks.

Price of Cotton Drops Below Loan Level Last Week

Spot cotton dropped slightly below the 1948 loan level this week, according to the Department of Agriculture's weekly release to The Times. Mill demand increased for both prompt and forward delivery, and spot markets were more active. Farmers were reluctant to sell at the current price level, and reports indicated that a considerable volume of cotton was being made eligible for loans.

Ginnings through mid-August this season were 68 per cent larger than in the same period last season. Consumption of cotton per active spindle in July was at the lowest level since September, 1940.

New Orleans Cotton Exchange reduced margins on futures contracts on August 17. Exports of cotton from Mexico previously duty free were subject to an ad valorem duty effective August 3 at the rate of 10 per cent for unspinned cotton and two per cent for lint.

The weather bureau reported generally favorable conditions for cotton in most sections of the belt.

Middling 15-16 inch cotton averaged 30.36 cents per pound in the 10 spot markets on Thursday, August 26. This compares with 31.13 cents a week earlier and 32.91 a year ago. Spot prices for middling 15-16 inch cotton dropped below the 1948 loan level on Monday, August 23. The average spot price on that date was 30.69 cents compared with the average 1948 loan rate for middling 15-16 inch of 30.74 cents. This marked the first time since November 29, 1943, that the spot price for middling 15-16 inch was below the government loan level.

Market activity increased this week with reported sales in the 10 spot markets totaling 143,700 bales. This was substantially larger than last week's volume of 92,500 bales and the 89,200 bales reported in the same week a year ago. Inquiries were relatively small in volume. Mill demand improved and mill buying increased in the active ginning areas. Farmers were not offering freely and reports stated that cotton was being made eligible for private or government loan. Textile markets were relatively inactive this week. Buyer demand was weak and trading was quiet. Prices of several gray goods constructions including some print cloths, drills and twills declined during the week.

Cotton ginned through August 15, 1948, totaled 544,000 bales, according to a preliminary report of the Bureau of the Census. This was two-thirds larger than the 324,000 bales ginned to this date last season. Of the 544,000 bales ginned through the middle of August this season about 488,000 were produced in Texas and 43,000 in Louisiana. In Texas cotton is running somewhat lower in grade and slightly shorter in staple this season than in the same period last season.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE
by Regor C. Whitman

QUESTION: How should plaster walls that show dampness through the wallpaper be treated? Some say that using black asphaltum on the wall would waterproof it. But how will wallpaper be over this material? Aluminum paint is said to be good for sealing the wall. But will wallpaper hold over this?
ANSWER: I would not advise using black asphaltum for this purpose. Your wallpaper may be pulpy and absorbent, and probably the plaster also absorbing and holding much of the dampness from the air. Before repapering, and after removing the present paper, try the effect of painting the walls with good aluminum paint. Let this dry, apply a glue size, and then hang a washable type of wallpaper or an oilcloth type of wall covering. If there is excessive moisture in the air of your house, try to locate the cause.

QUESTION: There is a "ring" in the ceiling where some patching had been done. Will this correct itself if the ceiling is repapered after a lapse of several months?
ANSWER: It is possible that the plaster may have disintegrated from excessive dampness or leakage, and the discoloration should be examined by a plasterer and taken care of before paper is hung. When the patching was done, it may be that not enough plaster was cut out, and a damaged area still remains.

ANYTHING FOR A FRIEND

By MARJORIE ABBOTT

SAM looked uncomfortable as he stood with his large feet planted awkwardly on Harriet's Sweet's oriental rug. His violin was tucked under one arm, and with his free hand he pushed a thick lock of hair away from his dark, ugly face.
"All right, Sam, let's try it again," said Harriet. She sat straight-backed on the piano bench and played the introduction to "Traumerel" on the mahogany grand. Her gray head kept time to the music with lively little nods.

"Yes, ma'am," said Sam. His voice was changing. Every move he made was done in an agony of self-consciousness. He brought his violin up to his chin, and then forgot himself as he brought the rich tones to life beneath his fingers.
Harriet sighed as the last note became stilled. "That was splendid, Sam," she said. "I haven't another pupil as talented as you are."

A light showed briefly in his dark eyes, and then he blushed and mistened his lips.
Harriet wondered sometimes why she counted so much to win this boy's friendship. He was unattractive. He had a last name she couldn't begin to pronounce. It was partly the longing of a lonely, childless woman, she supposed, for someone to mother.

The music should have formed a bond between them. But up to now she felt she was losing the battle to pierce his shyness and win Sam's friendship. For six months he had come to her late at night, she would have loved to help him in some way, but he was proud and independent.

Sam cleared his throat and wiped his arm across his sweating forehead.
"Mrs. Sweet, I'm going to stop taking lessons," he said.
"Oh, Sam," said Harriet. "Why?"
"My kid brother busted my violin. This one is borrowed from my old man's sister just for tonight. I'm going to earn another fiddle. It will take a while. They have them at Brothers' music store for 15 bucks. As soon as I get it I'll be back."

It was the longest speech he had ever made.
Harriet reached over the bronze bust of Beethoven on top of the piano and took her own violin lovingly from its alligator case.
"There's no need of missing those lessons, Sam," she said. "You may use my violin as long as you need one." She tried not to think about the kid brother who busted violins. This one had cost her a thousand dollars.

Sam's face was shining. "Gee, Mrs. Sweet, Gee! I'll make it right with you," he added hastily.
"I know you'll take good care of it."
"Oh, yes, ma'am."
She followed up her advantage. "I wish you'd always try to think of me as your friend, Sam. I like you very much."

He looked down at the floor and shifted from one foot to the other.
HARRIET thought of Sam often in the following week. She thought of his large, strong hands that would bring heartbreakingly sweet melodies out of her violin. She wondered if the boy would like the incredibly rich, full tone of the instrument.

She didn't see him again till the following week. As he came in he was filled with a strange restlessness that he couldn't control.

"Last week you said that you were my friend."

"Why yes, Sam."

"There's something important I've got to ask you."

"This was the moment she had been hoping for, in all her months of knowing Sam."

"I'll do anything I can for you, Sam," she said quietly.

He stood there facing her, almost defiant in his earnestness. For the

He saw the look of surprise on her face. His voice cracked as he went on.

"Gosh, I know it probably cost you some dough. I'd even pay 75 bucks for it."

She was staring at him incredulously. There was no sound in the room but the slow ticking of the grandfather clock.

He flushed and looked down at the floor. His fingers were restless on his plaid cap. In a sudden agony of embarrassment, he thrust his hands behind him.

"You think it's an O. K. fiddle, too," he said. "I suppose I shouldn't be asking you for it. Even if you are my friend."

She hesitated only a moment before she walked toward him and placed her small, blue-veined hand lightly on his arm.

"Yes, Sam. I am a little attached to the instrument. But if you think you can get 75 dollars, the violin is yours. For a moment I was shocked, because you see, 50 dollars is quite a bit of money to take. Especially from a friend."

She had an aching picture of him, working hard after school to earn money to help out at home with his brothers and sisters.

moment his shyness and awkwardness were gone.
"I played your violin all week," he said feverishly. "It was smooth as—oil or something. Gee, it was swell!" His eyes were blazing, and his dark face was no longer ugly.

"Look, Mrs. Sweet, I can get 50 bucks from my uncle. I'd want to pay it back to him."

Tricks for Teens

By Nancy Pepper

PETTICOAT PROTEST
There we go again—the girls introducing a new fashion and the boys giving it the well-known Bronx cheer. We're referring to the new P.H.D. society (Petticoats Hanging Down)—and to the caustic comments that are being made by your best friends and severest critics.

Petticoats have made the front pages of your high school papers, just as your long Gibson skirts did last season. But not even the ridicule of your favorite three-letter man can shake your belief in them.

CAN-CAN COMMOTION—Instead of lifting your cotton skirt demurely at one side with a pin or petticoat peeper, you sew a little buttonhole loop to the center back, at the edge of the hem, and sew on a button at the center back of the waistband. Then you can button up your skirt in back to form a can-can bustle and to reveal your contrasting petticoat beneath. It's a smart trick to play with a black cotton ruffled skirt over a striped or plaid cotton petticoat.

WELCOMED RELIEF—You teenagers who must wear uniforms to school have welcomed petticoats as a means of breaking the monotony—without breaking the rules. Before and after hours you can pull down your petticoat with your uniform hem line. During school you tuck your petticoat out of sight. So far, we haven't heard about any petticoat protests from the faculty.

PEGGED PETTICOATS—So you thought that petticoats were pretty only with your ballerina skirts, did you? Then you haven't seen them peeping between the side slits of those straight and narrow pegged skirts to which so many girls still cling—and vice-versa, which cling to so many girls. If your pegged skirts are too short, let your petticoat ruffles hang down below about an inch.

CONVERTIBLE PETTICOATS—Some petticoats are made to serve a double purpose. For instance, a pastel cotton petticoat with double hemline ruffles of eyellet, come with its detachable cummerbund belt. Without the cummerbund, you wear it as a petticoat under another skirt. With the cummerbund, you top it with a peasant blouse and wear it as a skirt. It's a good idea for those of you who are making their own petticoats, and judging from the reports of home ec teachers, lots of you are.

Now, that you've revived petticoats and camisoles, will you be saying "twenty three skidoo" instead of "scram" and "I love my wife, but, oh, you kid!" instead of "hubba, hubba?"

They Started on the Screen.
So many of your customs and fashions start with the movies. Why that Peter Lawford-June Allyson lesson scene from "Good News" has even inspired you to do your French homework these nights! Has your crowd adopted this movie-made idea yet?

YOUR NEW DANCE—It's that oldie, the Charleston—ever since you saw it danced in "Good News." But your parents could give you some fine points on it. Bet they could show you the cups they won in Charleston contests back in the days when Joan Crawford scintillated more than she suffered.

YOUR NEW CUSTOM—Since you've seen "Captain from Castile," you've revived the custom of giving a handkerchief to your T-man (top man) as a keepsake. He keeps it in his jacket pocket for show—not for blow.

NEW HAIR-DO—The short cut with bangs, as Eleanor Parker wore in "Voice of the Turtle" is sweeping through the high school halls these days. But do any of your upper classmen try to look like Ronald Reagan?

ment imported them to replace the depletion of whales, walrus and other sea mammals on which the Eskimos fed. Within 30 years the Eskimos became so abundant it was impossible to count them accurately. Estimates ranged from 750,000 to 2,500,000. As late as 1939 one government report put the figure at 500,000.

A major problem in herd administration, Cooley says, is the domesticated European reindeer's close resemblance to the wild native American caribou.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Relishes Will Add Zestful Touch to Meals (See recipes below)

Conning Relishes
BY THIS TIME you undoubtedly have finished your fruit and vegetable canning, but there still remain those late-in-the-season relishes. Those spicy, zesty accompaniments to meat and other entrees are almost as essential as the fruits and vegetables, and many women do not consider their canning complete without them.

Most relishes are easy to put up and there is little opportunity for spoilage if directions are followed. Enlist some help from the family for cutting up some of the vegetables and fruits and work will go forward rapidly.

SPICED GRAPES are delightful with mild-flavored meats such as lamb, veal and chicken.

Spiced Grapes
5 quarts stemmed grapes
8 cups sugar
2 cups vinegar
1 teaspoon grated nutmeg
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon ground ginger
Pray seeds from grapes. Drain. Boil sugar, vinegar and spices for five minutes. Add grapes and cook until thick. Pour into hot sterile jars and seal at once.

If you aren't certain you have enough spreads for bread already canned, make some spicy, delicious apple butter. It may be used in sandwiches, cookies or as spread for biscuits and muffins.

Apple Butter
1 peck apples
1 gallon sweet cider
6 cups sugar
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
Wash and slice apples; add cider and cook until soft. Press through sieve. Boil the strained pulp until thick enough to heap on a spoon, then add sugar mixed with spices and continue boiling until so thick that no liquids runs from the apples. Pour into hot jars and process for 10 minutes in a boiling water bath. Complete sealing if necessary.

RELISHES SHOULD be moist but not juicy. Chief ingredients in them should have a firm rather than mushy consistency. Vegetables in both of these relishes should be finely chopped.

Chow-Chow
1 gallon chopped cabbage
12 onions
12 green peppers
12 red peppers
2 quarts tomatoes, chopped
5 cups sugar
4 tablespoons ground mustard
1 tablespoon turmeric
1 tablespoon ground ginger
4 tablespoons celery seed
3 tablespoons mustard seed
2 tablespoons mixed pickling spice
1 gallon vinegar

Mix all vegetables, which have first been chopped, with one-half cup salt. Let stand overnight, then drain. Tie in a bag. Add sugar and spices to vinegar. Simmer 20 minutes. Add all ingredients and simmer until hot and well seasoned. Remove spice bag and pack hot chow-chow into sterile jars; seal at once.

LYNN SAYS:
Following Rules for Pickling Fruits and Vegetables
Pickles should be crisp and firm, solid and evenly colored. The correct color for the green pickle is olive rather than bright green. Pack sufficient liquid in the jars in which you can pickles so that those on top will not shrivel. Fresh spices are your best guarantee of flavor when making pickles. Spices lose flavor as they stand so only freshly opened packages should be used.

Pickles should not be started to cook in a heavy syrup. It is better to add sugar on successive days if the pickle is cooked several times so that it does not become tough and shriveled.

When boiling a thick mixture of vegetables or fruit for pickling, stir frequently enough so that the mixture does not burn and cause spoilage for the whole batch. Check jars for pickles and clean them thoroughly. It is a mistake to use imperfect or unsterile jars with the thought that brine will keep them perfectly.

Cider vinegar is preferred to distilled vinegar in pickle making. Use 40 to 60 per cent grain strength if you want the pickles to be crisp. Soft water is preferred to hard water for making good pickles. If the water in your community is hard, boil it and let stand for 24 hours before using. Do not disturb the sediment in the bottom.

Use good recipes as a guide to proper spicing of fruits and vegetables. Too much spice will destroy the natural flavors and may cause the pickle to have a dull, unattractive color.

Fruits and vegetables used for pickling should not be overripe. The same rules for selecting pickling material as for general canning holds true.

When making fruit pickles, cut the fruit uniform sizes and shapes so the pickles look attractive when served. The syrup for fruit pickles is as thick as that for preserves. Vegetables which are brined should be kept thoroughly covered with the brine, otherwise those standing uncovered by brine will spoil.

Cider vinegar is preferred to distilled vinegar in pickle making. Use 40 to 60 per cent grain strength if you want the pickles to be crisp. Soft water is preferred to hard water for making good pickles. If the water in your community is hard, boil it and let stand for 24 hours before using. Do not disturb the sediment in the bottom.

Use good recipes as a guide to proper spicing of fruits and vegetables. Too much spice will destroy the natural flavors and may cause the pickle to have a dull, unattractive color.

When you forget to put salt in the cooked cereal, dissolve salt in a little boiling water and mix that with the cereal so the taste will be uniform.

Add a little salt to the water in a double boiler and it will come to a boil more quickly.

To remove coffee or tea stains from teacups, dip a damp cloth in salt and rub the stains away.

Cardboard milk containers can be torn into pieces which are handy to use as plate scrapers and sink cleaners.

If you make your own fruit cake, here's a super way to do it. Slice the top off an orange and extract the fruit so that the shell is left in one piece. Candy the shell, let it drain dry; then fill it with the fruit cake batter. Steam the whole business for two hours before you bake it; and you end up with fruit cake in an attractive, edible container.

Columbus Letter Up for Sale
A rare auction of important historical documents will be held in London soon. Probably the item which will command the highest price is the letter written by Christopher Columbus in which he announced his discovery of the New World.

This letter is one of the 7,000 rare documents dealing with five centuries of North and South American history to be sold. They are in a collection formed by the late Sir Leicester Harmsworth.

Among the other items are the prayer book of Benjamin Franklin and the deed of sale of East New Jersey by William Penn, founder of Pennsylvania.

MOST FARM PRODUCTS DECLINE AS POULTRY AND EGGS STABLE

Only poultry and eggs held firm last week as prices for most farm products began to slip at Southwest farm markets, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration report to The Times.

Spot cotton prices dropped below the government loan value, yet improvement in domestic mill and export demand was reported.

Wheat was up about six cents, corn two to five cents, and oats two cents per bushel. Sorghum advanced 15 cents per 100 pounds.

This past week saw best demand for liberal offerings of Southwest fruits and vegetables. As a result, some prices began to slip below those of a week ago.

Light offerings of poultry and eggs met with good demand at Southwest markets this past week. Top quality eggs gained a penny or more at some markets while straight-run farm eggs held steady at 37 to 40 cents per dozen. Heavy hens brought 23 to 30 cents per pound at Dallas, 26 to 28 cents at Fort Worth, 30 to 32 cents Denver and 37 to 40 cents at New Orleans. Fryers ranged from 37 to 40 cents.

Southwest wool saw a flurry of trading last week. Prices in New Mexico and Texas ranged from $1.62 to $1.72 for average French combing wools.

Continued heavy runs of sheep and lambs at Southwest markets weakened prices. Monday's market was down 50 cents to $1 below a week ago. Goats averaged about steady with some weak spots at San Antonio. Mohair was dull at 40 cents for adult and 70 cents for kid, f. o. b. Texas.

Reduced cattle receipts at Southwest markets failed to halt declining prices last week. Losses ranged from 25 cents to $2 per 100 pounds. Monday's quotations for common and medium cows stood at $18 to $20.50 at Houston, $17 to $19 at San An-

Irrigation Should Pay Here

Irrigation that has proven such a crop maker on the South Plains during the past two decades is coming below the caprock to make thousands of acres of semi-arid soil among the most productive of the state. We learn that several Scurry County farmers are turning to irrigation.

Irrigation in this territory should be nearly as practical as in many other sections of the country. Of course, the water level in big quantities is deeper here than on the South Plains, but with big, modern pumping facilities, the depth of wells is not such a hugeboon any more. Some wells northwest of Snyder have found enormous underground sources of water at from 110 to 160 feet. Heavy duty pumps can bring the water to the surface easily.

Snyder area people will watch with considerable interest development of irrigation plans in this region.

Has Mom Had a Vacation?

It is still not too late for mom to have a vacation. Has she been on a little trip or a visit to her relatives the last few months? Mary and Charlie have gone to see Uncle Fred and Aunt Susie; big sister Martha spent two or three weeks with her college pals in Cool Colorado; big brother Harold went to California just for the trip.

But what about Mom? Has she stayed at home trying to keep clothes ahead enough for the other folks' trips; cooking meals for the relatives who have dropped in unexpectedly on their way from Oklahoma to the Carlsbad Caverns?

If Mom hasn't had her vacation, why not get her off this week-end for a few days before school starts? Let her go some of the places she has wanted to go for years. Tell her that things around the place will be handled somehow (though not nearly so well as when she is on the job). Mom doesn't want much of a vacation—but she deserves one. How about it?

School Doors Open Again

Despite complaints of many youngsters who have attended classes before that it has been a short summer, turn of the calendar Wednesday to September reminds us all that area schools will begin to open next week.

For a big crowd of six and seven-year-olds a new world will open. Half afraid, half curious, the youngsters are eager to experience for themselves some of the things they have heard about going to school. Most of them will like it—although they will come to habitually dread for that school opening day to come from year to year.

And just to remind us grown-ups and well as the children of one of the grandest things of this world—less than one-tenth of the children of the universe have the privilege of attending free schools unshackled by autocratic governments. If we'd just stop and realize what our free schools mean to our great land of freedom we probably would be more prone to see that competent, well paid teachers are not over-burdened with heavy pupil loads and more courses than they can feasibly teach.

As our schools open, we are sure it would mean much to our school officials if we would pledge our cooperation and backing as they endeavor to do their best for our children.

Editorial of the Week

MUST READING

The address of former President Herbert Hoover before the Republican convention should be "must reading" for every American, Republican and Democrat alike, and especially the Wallaceite. Here was an elder statesman who has no office to ask from his party, nothing in honor to ask from his country, speaking from the depths of vast experience and with the fervor of true Americanism, and pleading with his people, to protect and cherish the liberty which he knows is menaced by totalitarianism.

The crisis is grave, he warned, and it is "deeper than some may think." "Every important government, including our own," he continued, "has broken its promises to mankind. Civilization moved forward only on promises that are kept. Faith has been hurt; hope has been diminished; thinking has been corrupted and fear has been spread all over the world. The problems which confront us far transcend partisan action."

"Today the American people have reached an historic stage which has come to contribute to moral leadership in the world. Few such nations have come upon that task with so few liabilities. . . . Your greatest task by far is to generate a spirit which will rekindle in every American a love not only for his country but for our civilization. You are here to feed the reviving fires of spiritual fervor which once made the word American a stirring description of a man who lived and died for human liberty, who knew no private interest, no personal ambition, no popular acclaim, no advantage of pride or place which overshadows the burning love for the freedom of man."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

By LEON GUINN.

Science is still at grips with the baffling problem of what to do with the "virus," but men of research are keeping up their good fight because this killer of human life must be "corralled." . . . If a person happens to wake up some morning, head aching, sore throat, temperature climbing and the "sniffles" starting in (and one feels like having been through the wringer) one may have a virus that has entered the body to live and multiply. . . . Drugs so far are rather ineffective against the stubborn thing known as the virus, but the fight, rather than lagging, is now being backed by huge sums to track down the life cycle of many virus borne diseases. . . . We have been waging an unrelenting war against bacteria (since Pasteur started it in 1872) and while we are in sight of total victory over bacteria, no one knows yet why one type of virus has a likeness for the nervous system and another attacks other parts of the body.

A very gradual and commendable change in world culture has now made America the top musical nation. . . . We have, by latest survey, half again as many music lovers as we have baseball fans. . . . We have indeed taken music, hill billy, religious and even "long-haired" music to our hearts and have seen the world of U. S. music become tremendous business. . . . Last year, for example, almost 30,000,000 Americans were counted at serious music events. . . . Over 16,000,000 persons last year crowded into buildings of all types to hear recitals by schools, colleges, music clubs and impresarios, and over 7,000,000 turned out to hear professional and amateur orchestras. . . . Truly the soul of America is wrapped up in music; and in peace or war her people still find music is the greatest companion each human has in the always intriguing journey to the sun.

Now is the time ideal, before the bitter winds of winter start their annual pilgrimage across the world, for the American Overseas Aid-United Nations Appeal for Children to wind up a rather interesting and humane crusade. . . . The organization is closing the books on a $60,000,000 campaign that is as yet much too short of its goal. . . . In the United States, where the health of children is paramount, Americans are reminded that even $10 will help considerably in keeping one child overseas alive for a year. . . . Approximately 230,000,000 children, scattered all over the globe, are already going hungry as a tragic aftermath of World War II. . . . Those with any means at all could well "suffer little children" to come unto them for help; for not in over 1,900 years has the lot of the world's children been more pitiful and more deserving of our unstinted assistance.

"Operations Vittle" is continuing at a heartening pace to Berlin, but the cost to the U. S. Air Force alone is touching $260,000 daily, a late field report indicates. . . . Because of a diplomatic blunder at the close of World War II (around the so-called peace table) we must, as joint protector of Berlin, keep the grocery wagon circulating or plan to pull out of the troubled and rubble-gutted city. . . . Since the Soviets are hoping the U. S., Great Britain and France do pull out of the German capital, we either must "carry on" or else make General Clay and a lot of other good Americans appear as peddlers of untruths. . . . If American statesmen were half as capable as the spenders and the planners for world recovery most observers feel the air lift would be entirely uncalculated for and indeed out of order in this year of presidential sweepstakes.

GIs assuredly will never know just why the Veterans Administration is always bogged down in red tape and the average citizen finds the answer is too deep for him, but it may prove consoling to know that VA officials are going to get out those "notices of intent" to pay GI insurance dividends to slightly over 16,000,000 veterans. . . . The notices will go out well in advance of the November election, but a VA spokesman hints that the cash payments cannot in reality go out for at least 12 to 18 months (because of the complex and intricate bookkeeping system of the Veterans Administration). . . . According to a revised summary something like 5,502,000 vet policies are still in force, and dividends, when made, should average from 25 to 38 per cent of the total each vet paid in premiums. . . . It will require something like two billion dollars to pay out the dividends, and they will be made to each person who holds, or did hold, a policy for three months or longer.

There are important cases in which the difference between half a heart and a whole heart makes just the difference between signal defeat and a splendid victory.—A. H. K. Boyd.

Without earnestness no man is ever great or does really great things. He may be the cleverest of men; he may be brilliant, entertaining, popular; but he will want weight.—Bayne.
