Drugs

Fisher County is not all lilly-white. We have problems just like any other County of any size. But Fisher County is big enough and great enough to lick any problem that confronts it. We have a drug problem in Fisher County. To what extent at this time is unknown.

As a newspaper we will attempt to launch a series of articles beginning next week on "Drug Abuse".

With the help of many, many people we will attempt to educate the interested citizens on how to lick this problem before it becomes a problem of such great magnitude that it engulfs us all.

This is not a popular subject and we as a newspaper are not jumping on the drug abuse band wagon just because it seems like the thing to do. We are interested in this county and want to see it grow and prosper. We are interested in every citizen in this county and don't want to see anyone get "hooked" on drugs because they didn't know the consequences.

We are venturing into this series of articles with one thing in mind.... to help. If we awaken just one individual to the harmful effects of drugs we will feel like we will have won a great battle.

A Friend

Twenty Thousand dollars is a big medical bill even to a millionaire. G. W. Podgers is no millionaire, just a hard working Fisher County resident that experienced a stroke of bad luck last December. If he knew this article was going to appear in the paper, knowing G. W., he would be furious. He is the type of person that wants no handouts and has worked hard all his life for what he has. But, his friends in Rotan and Roby want to help him, and they will. He has been flat on his back at the Burn Center in Galveston for several months. We're sure he doesn't want or expect any financial help from his home town friends, yet knowing the open-hearted friends he has, we know they will help. Collection jars are being placed in numerous business locations and an account is now open at the First National Bank in Rotan for contributions to the G.W.Rodgers Fund.

February as American History Month is sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution. They recall to us a speech by George Washington in which he had this to say concerning the Constitution of the United States of America. "In all our deliberations we kept steadily in our view that which appears to us the greatest interest of every true American-the consolidation of our Union, in which is involved our posperity, felicity, safety and perhaps our national existence". With extraordinary ability, the framers of the Constitution designed, in the Constitution, an instrument capable, through amendment, to fit the needs of the future. It serves us -- "WE THE PEOPLE of the United States, " -- through representatives to Congress elected by us to express our wishes, in making the laws that govern our country.

SNAKE STORY

Mr. and Mrs. Ted McArthur of Rotan have a son, Don, that teaches Ag in the Blum School System just south of Ft. Worth. One of Don's students had this experience.... "Ronnie Buckaloo, 16, figures 1971 must be the Year of the Snake.

The youngster was pitching hay for cattle on the Halbert Dairy Farm at nearby Blum on Jan. 4 when a rattlesnake struck him on the forearm.

He was rushed to Johnson County Memorial Hospital in Cleburne, and responded quickly to treatment.

Earlier this week the boy was back on the farm and reached down to pick up a pair of wire cutters from the ground.

You guess it.

A rattlesnake lurched at him and bit him on the same forearm. A nurse at the hospital, where Buckaloo was recovering satisfactorily, said the tang marks from the second bite were within a quarter of an inch of the original ones.

The boy said he believed the snake was the same one which bit him the first time. It was about the same size and coloration as the first snake, he said, and, besides, the first one was never caught. " adorn have been introduced for boys and girls, announces Joanne Thurber, Extension clothing consumer education specialist at Texas A&M University.

The clothes include word-letter association groups. Denim pants sets are labeled with the letter "D" and a picture of a dog. Other outfits have letter appliques that teach the alphabet. The letters are upside down so the child can see them.

Some of the garments in the group have red and green "stop" and "go" signals to help teach fundamentals of traffic safety.

The clothes also have a manipulation group, with big zippers, buttons, buckles and snaps to help teach the child how to dress himself.

Miss Thurber reminds that it is important to recognize the time when a child is ready to dress himself. His spontaneous interest will be evident when en the opportunity, that interest or equivalent per 100 square will quickly be stifled.

Between 15 and 18 months, ting on his own shirt, while the next day he may refuse to try. By the age of three, a child should be able to fasten different types of garment closures, provided they are not too small or are not located in hard-toreach places. A child gets much satisfaction from being able to perform this job. When he masters the operation of these fasteners, he increases his feelings thion or Diazinon. of independence and self-sufficiency.

An important factor to consider, Mrs. Thurber suggests, is that clothes for a young child should fit his personal needs

Quiet Meditations by Rev. Albert Cooper

First United Methodist Church Rotan "A NEW IDEA"

Over 1900 years ago our Saviour brought forth on this earch a new idea, conceived in the heart of God, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal as the children of God.

Now we are engaged in a great war, testing whether that idea, or any idea, so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. We are met on a battlefield of that war. We are here to dedicate our very lives as a tribute to Him who gave His life that that idea might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot ahllow this place. The Christ who died for us has consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract.

The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what Christ did for the world, and for the Kingdom of God.

It is for us the living, rather to be dedicated to the unfinished work which He began, and for which many have died and nobly advanced. It is rather for us here to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us--that from the Majesty and love of God we take increased devotion to that idea -- that the cause of Christ, for which He gave the last full measure of His life, shall not diminish. That we here highly resolve that Christ hee not died in usin That this Nation. and the world. under God shall have a new spiritual birth, and that the church for which Christ died shall, through us, prevail against the evil and death in the world, and that all men shall gain, through Him, Life Eternal. What are your chances of being injured in an accident involving some consumer product this year?

If you are a male between the ages of 5 and 24, working or playing at home with some consumer product between 3:00 and 9:00 p.m. on a Saturday or Sunday, you probably should take greater care to avoid potential accidents. That could be one of the lessons learned from the 1970 Product Safety Report issued by the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The report is designed to furnish information concerning the types and severity of injuries, with particular emphasis on identification of consumer products usually involved or associated with those injuries.

The products most frequently involved in injuries are, in descending order: bicycles, nails, kitchen knives, tables, beds, playground equipment, chairs, snow skiis, non-prescription drugs, glass bottles, metal containers, ladders, power saws, prescription drugs, and drinking glasses. Also mentioned, but in less frequent numbers, are: clothes dryers, washers, stoves and ovens, power lawn mowers, and chain saws.

According to the statistics, almost one-half of the injured persons are under 15 years of age. And nearly 60 percent of them are males. Almost 70 percent of the accidents are reported to have occurred in or around the home.

J. M. Doughty, Jr., a Texas Health Department official, says those figures should not be viewed as reflecting all the consumer products accidents occurring across the country last year. They are, however, good indicators as to the types of products involved. who is involved, and when and where they occur.

Almost 50 percent of the injuries reported occurred between although Saturday and Sundays showed a slight increase. Governmental actions to protect the health and safety of the public will only be successful if the public itself becomes informed of these potential dangers from common consumer products. That's why the Texas Health Department emphasizes that safety is part of the good health habit.

Texas calves brought cattlemen in the state $.90/cwt.less in Dec. 1970 than they did in the same month of 1969.

This comparison is just the opposite of what happened in the nation as a whole. U. S. Calves rose to a level of $32.80/ cwt. in Dec. 1970, while Texas calves brought $31.50/cwt.

This opposite price movement probably has altered the cash receipts of Texas cattle producers.

The bulk of agricultural commodities in Texas took the same route as the calves in returning substantially lower prices to producers when the Dec. 1970 and Dec. 1969 date is compared.

Among the commodities in Texas returning lower prices were hogs, sheep, lambs, chickens. broilers, turkeys, eggs, wool, with a high degree of acuracy mohair, sweet potatoes, beef cattle, and calves.

Products in the state which brought higher prices included wheat, corn, oats, sorghum grain, rice, hay, upland cotton, cottonseed, and milk.

Only peanuts returned the same prices in both periods.

For the most part these same types of commodity-price relationships existed for the nation as a whole. However, there were some differences, such as the increase in U.S.Sweet potato prices opposed to the drop in Texas prices and the calf price comparison.

Food production is a highly complex business, and top output involves the use of numerous chemicals for disease, insect and weed control. Chemiof parts per million ance of the amounts recommended by the manufacturer as carried on container labels are mighty important.

As aids to producers, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service makes available guides, leaflets and other publications containing the latest information and suggestions for safe use of chemicals in agriculture. This material is available from county Extension Service offices.

The loss of a calf crop can result from the use of a non-breeding herd sire and that could amount to a sizeable disaster. The chance for such a happening can largely be eliminated by having a fertility check of the breeding potential of the herd sire before he is turned out with the cow herd.

The semen evaluation on the sire should be done a few weeks before the breeding season. In cases of substandard breeders, this allows for sufficient time to find and test replacements. Bulls which do not meet minimum standards can be sold or held for retest depending upon the advice of the veterinarian. Semen testing also provides an opportune time for a complete physical of the bull which should include the feet and legs.

Guar production looked good on two test locations in Fisher County this past year. On the Guar-Cotton interplanting by John Matthies involved 219 acres of land with 73 acres cotcal residues have become very ton, 78 acres guar, and 73 acres important. Residues permissible fallow. Mike Cade In Largest Calf Scramble

Mike Cade of Rotan will participate in the world's largest calf scramble during the 1971 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, at the Saturday Night, February 27 performance.

The Calf Scramble is one of the all time favorite events with the audiences at the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. From the first time the scramble was performances on February 26, held at the Houston Show in 1942, it has been a highlight of the rodeo. Of the 384 boys who participate, half of them will be successful in winning a calf of his own. Since its beginning the scramble has put more than one million dollars in Livestock in the hands of Texas youth. At each performance 24 boys are lined up within a square in the center of the Astrodome, and 12 calves are turned loose. At a signal, the boys race after the calves, the idea being to place a halter on a calf and bring it into the square. The 12 boys who accomplish this receive a calf certificate for either a dairy or beef calf, which has been donated by businessmen in the area. With his cash certificate he purchases the best animal he can find.
