THREAT: My wife asked me to put an article in the paper for her and my smart answer brought on a threat. "Sure, I'll be glad to put it in the paper, all you have to do is type it out (double spaced), double check the spelling, and space permitting, we'll try to get it in the paper". I said. Janeece's reply was "Forget it". "If I have to go through all the trouble to typing it, double spacing and all that junk. I'll just sent it to the Abilene and Sweetwater papers". After reconsidering for about two seconds. I snatched the article from her hand and stormed out the door. The very idea of even thinking of sending it to the Abilene or Sweetwater papers. If this doesn't make good sense, please try to understand that I am copying her article from the back of a Cheerios box top... written in pink crayon. The things I have to do to scoop my big brothers. Here is her article. All girls interested in joining the Girl Scouts that are in grade 7.8, and 9 are invited to call Janeece Pease at 735-3115 or Mrs. N. G. Underwood at 735-3361.

PRACTICE SESSION: Ben Reaid, local Farm Bureau Agent, and this year's Worshipful Master at the local Rotan Masonic Lodge has announce a practice session for each Thursday night at 7:30. DOUBLE SUPPER: The distinguished Mayor of Rotan and son Wes pulled a social blunder the other day and we got wind of it through an anonymous phone call. This is the story. Mayor Morrow and Wes were invited out to eat supper a few weeks ago and by the time they had finished an exhausting day at Farm Tractor and Service they both agreed they would eat supper that night at the Hatahoe, it didn't dawn on the pair until they pulled into the driveway of their home that hey missed their dinner date. Cool as a cucumber Mayor Morrow and Wes frantically rushed to keep their date. They sat down and enjoyed their second supper. The

Mrs. Landers gave the report on Council meeting of July 12. Handy Andy was won by Mrs. B. F. McGee.

The program on bathrooms was given by Mrs. Alice Ballenger. County HD Agent. She pointed out that bathrooms can now be bright and beautiful. Location in the home should be convenient and should not be located so as to be seen into when entering the home. Storage is also important. Safety is most important. Consider older family members and children by putting non-slip decals in the bottom of tubs, rails on tub and holding bars on walkin showers.

Following the program, new items made by members were discussed and shown.

Refreshments of cookies and punch were served to visitors. Mrs. Donna Lita Hyde, Miss Janis Thompson, Mrs. Ballenger; and 1902 REPRINT: Alva Kolb Sr. of Roby gave us the following City Man's Experiences As A Farm Hand.

In the Roby Banner of Nov. 1902 is the following account of a job on the farm by a city man:

Reached the charming country retreat at midnight. After feeding the horses and falling out of the loft in connection with an arm load of hay, I started to the house and collided with a harvester and two fence posts. Harvester and posts seem intact, but I am not. Connected with two dogs at the entrance of the yard gate-don't regard dogs as a necessity on the farm. Got to bed at 12:30.

First day (same being the day I went to bed). Had breakfast at 3:30. While on the way to the lot met the same dog that I met before. I think that if dogs are kept on a farm where the next day's work begins before the other day has ended the proper means of escape should be provided.

While harnessing a wild mule by the light of a dark moon, something flew up and hit me between the eyes. I think a mules hind legs should be sawed off about eight inches above the knees. After the episode with the mule, I went out through the side of the barn and slept for a few minutes on a rail fence. After bathing in a bucket of well water and letting me smell the camphor bottle, the farmer said if I had put the collar on the mule's neck instead of his tail the barn wouldn't be torn up so badly. He then said I could milk the cows while he finished harnessing the mule.

Any man who tries to run a dairy with a Jersey bull is going to lose money. The one I tried to milk this morning was a vicious brute,

Rotan Book Review Club Traces Birth Back To 1922

-- Delila Baird

While Rotan was a very young town, a group of civic minded women organized "The 1922 Study Club". The purpose of the organization was to afford an opportunity for interested persons to meet and study matters of an informative and cultural nature. The club was well received and continued to function until the beginning of World War II when meetings were discontinued. No extant list of members has been located. After the close of the war the group. with others, again felt the need for a study-cultural type program. This culminated in the organization of the Rotan Music Study Club.

The history of Rotan Music Study Club from its organization through 1950-51 is preserved in a scrapbook which is in possession of Mrs. Betty Patton. On the first page of the book is declaration of organization which reads as follows:

"In order to aid and develop musical education and to bring others to a higher appreciation for the Fine Arts through our study and interpretation, we hereby organize ourselves into the Rotan Music-Study Club. The date was January 7, 1948. The following names are signed below: Mmes. Lance Davis, W. F. Taylor, C. C. Cate, Mark Strickland. Jack Patton, R.T. Williams, G. W. Rollins. H. W. Withers. R.L. Young, Ira Morrow, and Elton Upshaw. On March 12, 1948 the Rotan Music-Study Club became a member of the National Federation of Music Clubs. The club scrapbook. made by Mrs. Ewell Jenkins, Historian, was awarded First Place at the District Meeting of Texas Federation of Music Clubs held in Vernon, Texas November 4 through 6.1948.

As this club keeps no minutes its present format, and a capable nor permanent records, there is no list of charter members, Membership varies, the highest recalled is seventy-four and the lowest about twenty-five. This year there seems to be renewed interest and indications from early enrollments indicate that this may well be a record year. Business of the club is carried on with three elected officers. The present officers are Mrs. James B. Day, president; Mrs. R. T.Williams, vice-president and program chairman; and Mrs. Fred Byerly, treasurer.

Mrs. Day, a retired teacher (who still teaches), has long been active in civic and professional organizations. She has served as president of Fisher County TB Association and as a member of the County Welfare Board for several years. She is a Charter Member of Gamma Tau Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma in which she has held a number of offices including that of Chapter Presient. She is an organizing member of Anne Pettus Shelburne Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution and is serving as the chapter's first Chaplain and as chairman of several committees. She is an ardent supporter of the Book Review Club. Mrs. Day is a Presbyterian but participates in the work of the Methodist Church of Rotan.

Serewworms are being report- screwworms could continue to ed from all areas of Texas, as well as two-thirds of the state of months. Oklahoma. Only the far eastern and northeastern portions of Oklahoma remain free of the livestock pest. In addition. screwworms are being reported from the southern one-third of the state of New Mexico. the southern half of Arizona. and from Imperial and Riverside Counties in California. Although screwworms have been reported near the Louisiana border in far east Texas, there have not as yet been any cases confirmed this year from Louisiana or Arkansas. The National Screwworm Production facility at Mission. Texas, bas been at maximum production since the first of May this year. The average sterile fly release since that time has been nearly 200 million per week, whereas prior to the first of May, the average weekly production was about 120 million per week. It was apparent by the end of 1971 that additional funds would be necessary in order to prevent a spring buildup of screwworms in the United States and particularly in Texas, as screwworms migrate north from Mexico naturally in the spring.It was also apparent that any delay in receiving additional funds after the spring buildup began, coupled with favorable weather conditions, could very likely result in the spread of screwworms throughout most of the south-

be a problem through in winter

The first areas of the southwest where sterile fly releases have been discontinued are the northern two thirds of Oklahoma and all of the Texas panhandle and extreme northwest Texas. As additional sterile flies are needed in the critical areas, sterile fly releases will be discontinued over other areas to the north where cold weather will eventually kill out screwworms this winter.

Cooperation from the livestock industry is needed more now than in many years:

1)The submission of samples of suspected screwworm cases to our laborator for identification is the only way of knowing where screwworms are and in what numbers they exist. These samples are important whether sterile flies are released over the area or not.

2) The creating of wounds on animals, such as castrating, dehorning or branding should be aboided until cold weather. 3) Animals should be inspected daily or as often as possible and all wounds, regardless of how large or small. should be treated with a larvacide and insect repellent.

THREAT: My wife asked me to put an article in the paper for her and my smart answer brought on a threat, "Sure, I'll be glad to put it in the paper, all you have to do is type it out (double spaced), double check the spelling, and space permitting, we'll try to get it in the paper". I said. Janeece's reply was "Forget it". "If I have to go through all the trouble to typing it, double spacing and all that junk. I'll just sent it to the Abilene and Sweetwater papers". After reconsidering for about two seconds. I snatched the article from her hand and stormed out the door. The very idea of even thinking of sending it to the Abilene or Sweetwater papers. If this doesn't make good sense, please try to understand that I am copying her article from the back of a Cheerios box top... written in pink crayon. In the Roby Banner of Nov. 1902 is the following account of a job on the farm by a city man:

Reached the charming country retreat at midnight. After feeding the horses and falling out of the loft in connection with an arm load of hay, I started to the house and collided with a harvester and two fence posts. Harvester and posts seem intact, but I am not. Connected with two dogs at the entrance of the yard gate-don't regard dogs as a necessity on the farm. Got to bed at 12:30.

First day (same being the day I went to bed). Had breakfast at 3:30. While on the way to the lot met the same dog that I met before. I think that if dogs are kept on a farm where the next day's work begins before the other day has ended the proper means of escape should be provided.

While harnessing a wild mule by the light of a dark moon, something flew up and hit me between the eyes. I think a mules hind legs should be sawed off about eight inches above the knees. After the episode with the mule, I went out through the side of the barn and slept for a few minutes on a rail fence. After bathing in a bucket of well water and letting me smell the camphor bottle. the farmer said if I had put the collar on the mule's neck instead of his tail the barn wouldn't be torn up so badly. He then said I could milk the cows while he finished harnessing the mule.

Any man who tries to run a dairy with a Jersey bull is going to lose money. The one I tried to milk this morning was a vicious brute.

Rotan Book Review Club Traces Birth Back To 1922

-- Delila Baird

While Rotan was a very young town, a group of civic minded women organized "The 1922 Study Club". The purpose of the organization was to afford an opportunity for interested persons to meet and study matters of an informative and cultural nature. The club was well received and continued to function until the beginning of World War II when meetings were discontinued. No extant list of members has been located. After the close of the war the group. with others, again felt the need for a study-cultural type program. This culminated in the organization of the Rotan Music Study Club.

The history of Rotan Music Study Club from its organization through 1950-51 is preserved in a scrapbook which is in possession of Mrs. Betty Patton. On the first page of the book is declaration of organization which reads as follows:

The present officers are Mrs. James B. Day, president; Mrs. R. T.Williams, vice-president and program chairman; and Mrs.

She helped set up the Welfare Board in the county, served one term on the Rotan School Board, and helped to organize the first Fisher County Historical Survey Committee. She is active in the work of the First United Methodist Church. Her husband contributed the opinion that her most important activity at present is opening gates.! Mrs. Byerly, treasurer of the Club, states, "I'm the newest of the three officers. Because I was working, I was never able to attend the Book Review Club. I always envied those who could go. When I retired about five years ago, I became a member and have thoroughly enjoyed it" As to other activities, Mrs. Byerly says. "Since I retired I just keep house and do nothing. In enjoy being able to keep my grand-children occasionally". Mrs. Byerly is an active member of the First Baptist Church, served as church pianist, and often teaches a Sunday School class in the Adult Department. The Book Review Club meets at 3:00 p.m. on the first Tuesday of each October, November, February. March and April. The meetings are planned to be brief, enjoyable, and relaxing. COUNTY AGENT NEWS By Richard Spencer ed from all areas of Texas, as well as two-thirds of the state of Oklahoma. Only the far eastern and northeastern portions of Oklahoma remain free of the livestock pest. In addition, screwworms are being reported from the southern one-third of the state of New Mexico, the southern half of Arizona. and from Imperial and Riverside Counties in California, Although screwworms have been reported near the Louisiana border in fareast Texas, there have not as yet been any cases confirmed this year from Louisiana or Arkansas.

The National Screwworm Production facility at Mission. Texas, bas been at maximum production since the first of May this year. The average sterile fly release since that time has been nearly 200 million per week, whereas prior to the first of May, the average weekly production was about 120 million per week.

It was apparent by the end of 1971 that additional funds would be necessary in order to prevent a spring buildup of screwworms in the United States and particularly in Texas, as screwworms migrate north from Mexico naturally in the spring.It was also apparent that any delay in receiving additional funds after the spring buildup began, coupled with favorable weather conditions, could very likely result in the spread of screwworms throughout most of the southwestern United States.

The spring buildup began about a monthearlier than usual this year due to an exceptionally mild winter in northeastern Mexico and in south Texas. By the time additionalf funds became available to allow the plant at Mission to increase production of sterile flies to the grated north from Mexico and invaded more than half of Tex-

The first areas of the southwest where sterile fly releases have been discontinued are the northern two thirds of Oklahoma and all of the Texas panhandle and extreme northwest Texas. As additional sterile flies are needed in the critical areas, sterile fly releases will be discontinued over other areas to the north where cold weather will this winter. Cooperation from the livestock industry is needed more now than in many years:

1) The submission of samples of suspected screwworm cases to our laborator for identification is the only way of knowing where screwworms are and in what numbers they exist. These samples are important whether sterile flies are released over the area or not. 2) The creating of wounds on animals, such as castrating, dehorning or branding should be aboided until cold weather. 3) Animals should be inspected daily or as often as possible and all wounds, regardless of how large or small. should be treated with a larvacide and insect repellent.

4) Animals should be sprayed or dipped in one of the recommended organo-phosphate systemic insecticides when animals are gathered for whatever pur-

Although the battle against screwworms is apparently lost this year, we need to begin to think about next year. A United States-Mexico Screwworm Eradication Program is at least two years away. It is thus necessary to push screwworms as far south as possible this fall
