A BUSY SABBATH IN CAPERNAUM

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:21-34. GOLDEN TEXT—I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day.—Revelation 1:10.

The Sabbath of the Jew and the Lord's Day (Sunday) of the Christian were both intended to be days of rest.

We have before us the account of a very busy Sabbath day which our Lord spent in Capernaum, the city in which most of His mighty works were done, but which ignored Him and His teaching to its own destruction.

I. In the Church (vv. 21-28). The Sabbath day found our Lord with His people in the synagogue, their place of worship.

Observe that because He was there He (as a distinguished religious teacher) was called upon to teach the people.

Jesus not only spoke, but He performed a miracle. Certain it is that we could not do what He did, but we can be ready to give ourselves in service as well as in worship, or in speaking.

II. In the Home (vv. 29-31). From the synagogue Christ went into the home. How appropriate! We too should go from the church to the home, always bringing with us the strength and blessing of the worship service.

The daughter of a great preacher and Bible teacher said the thing she most loved in her father was that he did not give out the "cream" of his Christianity in his meetings and bring home the "skim milk."

III. In the City (vv. 32-34). From the home the ministry of Jesus reached out to the entire city. As the strict laws forbidding travel on the Jewish Sabbath were set aside by the coming of sundown, not only the city but the entire countryside brought their sick and needy to Him.

The scene staggers the imagination as one attempts to conceive of this coming together of troubled humanity for the Master's touch.

We may learn from this incident that our Christian faith, which has been developed and strengthened by our time of worship and service in the church, should not only reflect itself in the home, but should reach out into the life of the community in which we live.

There is, however, a secondary responsibility which is of much importance and that is the extending of Christian influence into every phase of school, social, political, and business life.

The recent visit to this country of Jenny Lee, the Joan of Arc of the Welsh miners, reminded me of that incident. As an aftermath of the present war, she is demanding for the English working classes such opportunities as the American workman has always enjoyed—the chance to advance and a standard of living that is commensurate with his value to the nation.

GRASSROOTS by WRIGHT A. PATTERSON (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

U. S. LABOR AND CLOSED SHOP

LAST SPRING, W. O. Hart, editor of the Orange (Calif.) Daily News, under a heading "The Fifth Freedom," wrote and printed an editorial which has attracted nationwide interest.

In that editorial, Hart demanded for American workers the right to employment without the payment of tribute to labor racketeers; the right to join or not to join a union, as they chose.

The "closed shop" principle, for which labor racketeers are contending, is a violation of the constitutional privilege of the more than 50 million American workers now employed, of which only about one-fourth are members of unions.

We have been suffering from minority rule. Congress has listened to these organized blocs in the matter of legislation. Congress has failed to realize they are but minorities and do not represent a majority of the American people.

ADDING 'GADGETS' TO GOVERNMENT

SINCE 1913 they have added many new gadgets to automobiles that have made of them better machines which are more easily operated, more pleasant to ride in, and the improved cars sell at a much lower price than those made in 1913.

Since 1913 many new gadgets have been added to the national government. New departments, new bureaus, new commissions have been added, but the machine is not more easily operated and it does not provide any additional pleasures for us average Americans.

The cost has been multiplied up to 10 times what it was in 1913. If congress really wants to reduce the cost of civil activities of government, it should study that old 1913 model which we, the people, liked.

FARM PRICES IN WAR TIME

THE WORLD WAR I price of farm products, with wheat at a top of $2.97 a bushel in 1917 and other items proportionately high, harmed more farmers than it helped.

In this war America does not have the problem of feeding the greater part of Europe, as it did from 1914 to 1919. Now our one customer is England. But war does make a difference. Top price of wheat in 1939 was 72 1/2 cents.

CHANGE IN ATTITUDE OF BRITISH

IN 1918, in company with Sir Evelyn Wrench, then a major in the British army, I walked down the Strand in London. Just in front of us, walking in the same direction, was a distinguished member of the British house of lords.

The common man of England has found that he "rates." He will no longer make way for the nobility. He has defended England and he knows it.

The recent visit to this country of Jenny Lee, the Joan of Arc of the Welsh miners, reminded me of that incident. As an aftermath of the present war, she is demanding for the English working classes such opportunities as the American workman has always enjoyed—the chance to advance and a standard of living that is commensurate with his value to the nation.

to light one-fourth of all the homes in the U. S. A.

America's electric companies have been able to accomplish this by good business management—by producing over 90 per cent of the nation's electric power and making it available almost anywhere, over carefully interconnected systems.

We're glad we can make this report—and glad to pledge our unending effort to supply millions of workmen with all the electric power they need to make America POWERFUL!

CONTINUOUS production makes tremendous demands on men, machines, and on the electric service that powers practically every operation.

But the power is always there—day and night—Sundays and holidays—365 days a year.

The electric industry was ready when the crisis came—ready to serve every military need in addition to your home and business—ready to meet new needs with new construction. 1941 saw more than 2 1/2 million extra horsepower installed—enough

A BUSY SABBATH IN CAPERNAUM

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:21-34. GOLDEN TEXT—I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day.—Revelation 1:10.

The Sabbath of the Jew and the Lord's Day (Sunday) of the Christian were both intended to be days of rest. The ordinary activities of life were to cease and one was to be free to worship and to rest. The manner in which a man uses this God-given day of rest is a remarkably accurate indicator of his spiritual condition.

We have before us the account of a very busy Sabbath day which our Lord spent in Capernaum, the city in which most of His mighty works were done, but which ignored Him and His teaching to its own destruction (see Matt. 11:23, 24). As we look at our Lord's activity on that day we learn what we may do with our Sundays to make them bear fruit for eternity. We find Him in three places.

I. In the Church (vv. 21-28).

The Sabbath day found our Lord with His people in the synagogue, their place of worship. The service of worship was probably formal and lacking in spiritual vitality, but none-the-less He was there. What have we to say if we miss the opportunity for fellowship and service which church attendance brings us?

Observe that because He was there He (as a distinguished religious teacher) was called upon to teach the people. He taught them in the serene consciousness of His divine authority, and the people were delighted and astonished at His message. We may not serve exactly as He did, but if we present ourselves in God's house on His day we will find the way opening for us to share in the worship.

Jesus not only spoke, but He performed a miracle. Certain it is that we could not do what He did, but we can be ready to give ourselves in service as well as in worship, or in speaking. There is much work to be done in the church, and God's people should be ready and willing to do it.

II. In the Home (vv. 29-31).

From the synagogue Christ went into the home. How appropriate! We too should go from the church to the home, always bringing with us the strength and blessing of the worship service.

The daughter of a great preacher and Bible teacher said the thing she most loved in her father was that he did not give out the "cream" of his Christianity in his meetings and bring home the "skim milk." Too often we fail to bring into the home the power and beauty of the service in the church. We who have been very sweet and spiritual in the church should not come home to be sour and crabbed.

Jesus brought a blessing into Peter's home, miraculously healing his mother-in-law of a great fever, setting her free to serve. Here again we cannot do what He did, but we can, in His name, bring power and blessing into our homes.

III. In the City (vv. 32-34).

From the home the ministry of Jesus reached out to the entire city. As the strict laws forbidding travel on the Jewish Sabbath were set aside by the coming of sundown, not only the city but the entire countryside brought their sick and needy to Him.

The scene staggers the imagination as one attempts to conceive of this coming together of troubled humanity to the Master's touch. Mark tells us that He healed many; Matthew, that He healed all, and Luke, the physician, is emphatic in saying that He healed every one of them.

We may learn from this incident that our Christian faith, which has been developed and strengthened by our time of worship and service in the church, should not only reflect itself in the home, but should reach out into the life of the community in which we live. The primary interest of the Christian in his city or the place of his residence should be spiritual, a desire to bring to bear upon the people of the community the power of the gospel.

There is, however, a secondary responsibility which is of much importance and that is the extending of Christian influence into every phase of school, social, political, and business life. It is said that when D. L. Moody came into a barber shop the entire course of the conversation changed. The Christian should have an influence on problems of social welfare, the work of the public schools, the proper conduct of business in the community, and surely upon its political life. It is said that if every Christian in America would vote according to his professed convictions we could put the saloons out of business in a single election. Why not do it?

U. S. LABOR AND CLOSED SHOP

LAST SPRING, W. O. Hart, editor of the Orange (Calif.) Daily News, under a heading "The Fifth Freedom," wrote and printed an editorial which has attracted nationwide interest and has been reprinted from the Pacific to the Atlantic seaboard.

In that editorial, Hart demanded for American workers the right to employment without the payment of tribute to labor racketeers; the right to join or not to join a union, as they chose. He insisted the right to work was the basic right of all freedoms, that without it all other rights were valueless.

The "closed shop" principle, for which labor racketeers are contending, is a violation of the constitutional privilege of the more than 50 million American workers now employed, of which only about one-fourth are members of unions. Labor racketeers would say to the other three-fourths that they could not work to support themselves and their families without paying tribute—such amount of tribute as the racketeers may levy.

We have been suffering from minority rule. Congress has listened to these organized blocs in the matter of legislation. Congress has failed to realize they are but minorities and do not represent a majority of the American people. Congress will find a majority of the American people will vote out of office any group of senators or representatives who attempt to impose upon them any law that deprives the worker of "Bill" Hart's "fifth freedom"—the right to work without the payment of tribute to union racketeers.

ADDING 'GADGETS' TO GOVERNMENT

SINCE 1913 they have added many new gadgets to automobiles that have made of them better machines which are more easily operated, more pleasant to ride in, and the improved cars sell at a much lower price than those made in 1913. Automobiles are a product of private enterprise.

Since 1913 many new gadgets have been added to the national government. New departments, new bureaus, new commissions have been added, but the machine is not more easily operated and it does not provide any additional pleasures for us average Americans. But government does sell at a much higher price. In 1913 the national government cost for each man, woman and child in the nation the modest sum of $7.17, or a total of $692,000,000 for all of us. By 1939 the new gadgets brought the cost for each of us up to $69.76, a total of $9,142,000,000 for all of us. In 1939 we were not paying for any war preparations, as we are now.

The cost has been multiplied up to 10 times what it was in 1913. If congress really wants to reduce the cost of civil activities of government, it should study that old 1913 model which we, the people, liked.

FARM PRICES IN WAR TIME

THE WORLD WAR I price of farm products, with wheat at a top of $2.97 a bushel in 1917 and other items proportionately high, harmed more farmers than it helped. Such prices encouraged them to buy land at exorbitant values and the mortgage holders closed them out when neither principal nor interest could be paid as prices dropped to normal, or below, after the close of the war.

In this war America does not have the problem of feeding the greater part of Europe, as it did from 1914 to 1919. Now our one customer is England. But war does make a difference. Top price of wheat in 1939 was 72¢ cents. In 1941, top price was $1.28 3/4—not enough to encourage high land values.

CHANGE IN ATTITUDE OF BRITISH

IN 1918, in company with Sir Evelyn Wrench, then a major in the British army, I walked down the Strand in London. Just in front of us, walking in the same direction, was a distinguished member of the British house of lords. Coming towards us, and towards his lordship were four British tommies, arm in arm. As they approached, his lordship stepped off the sidewalk to let them pass.

"That," I said to Major Wrench, "typifies the England of the future. The common man of England has found that he 'rates.' He will no longer make way for the nobility. He has defended England and he knows it."

The recent visit to this country of Jenny Lee, the Joan of Arc of the Welsh miners, reminded me of that incident. As an aftermath of the present war, she is demanding for the English working classes such opportunities as the American workman has always enjoyed—the chance to advance and a standard of living that is commensurate with his value to the nation. She and her followers will get much of what they are demanding. The dominance of English nobility is passing. Being an earl or a lord will soon be rather meaningless.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

A.E.F. Takes Over Northern Ireland Base As U. S. and British Form Supply Pool; Jap Convoy Blasted in Macassar Strait; Hawaii Report Blames U. S. Commanders

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Justice Owen J. Roberts is shown (left) talking to newsmen after laying before President Roosevelt the report on the Pearl Harbor attack. Made public in its entirety by the President, the report fixed responsibility on Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Lieut. Gen. Walter C. Short for "dereliction of duty." Justice Roberts was chairman of the commission of six that visited Hawaii.

OVER THERE: New A.E.F. in Erin

When Uncle Sam landed an infantry force of several thousand men at an undisclosed port in Northern Ireland, it marked the first arrival of American troops in a European port since World War No. 1. Commanded by Maj. Gen. Russell F. Hartle, the Yank army of brawny, clean-limbed farm lads from the Middle West proceeded to camps prepared months before.

Few doubted that this detachment was but the advance guard of many more to come. It was believed, too, that the base they occupied might be the springboard from which an invasion of Hitler's Europe would be made.

This view was voiced in the address of welcome by Sir Archibald Sinclair, British air secretary, who said:

"This is a coming portent for Mr. Hitler, nor will its significance be lost on General Tojo.

"From here, assuredly you will rally forth with us to carry the war to the enemy's territory and free oppressed peoples of Europe. . . . You are the vanguard of American arms."

SUPPLY COMMAND: U. S.-British Pool

The creation of a supreme allied supply command that will speed and co-ordinate the production and flow of vital munitions and supplies to the fighting fronts was seen in the announcement by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill that the United States and Great Britain will pool all munitions, shipping and war materials to "further co-ordination of the United Nation's war effort."

Three joint boards have been set up to merge the combined war resources of the two nations and make them partners in vital fields of supply in addition to joint military and naval commands. These new agencies will include a combined war materials board, munitions assignment board and combined shipping adjustment board.

Board members, it was announced, will confer with representatives of the Soviet Union, China and such others of the 26 United Nations as necessary "to attain common purposes."

SHIPS: Japan Losing Them

The British, Dutch and American bombers and ships of war were not formally coming to grips with large bodies of Japanese naval ships, but they were whittling away at them, and Japan's losses were assuming important proportions.

A count of Japanese ships reported sent to the bottom in the first seven weeks of the war totaled 100, not counting those damaged and probably sunk.

This, it was pointed out, has been an average of better than two a day, despite the fact that when the war started Japan had the jump on the other nations by virtue of the surprise, and that opening successes had weakened the allied hitting power.

A continuation of this rate, observers said, would cost Japan more than 700 vessels of all types, and that no navy in the world, except the United States, could stand replacing such losses.

Latest exploit was an attack by air and sea forces of the United Nations against Jap war ships and troop convoys in the Straits of Macassar. Reported as the greatest demonstration of combined Allied might since the war's beginning, this force was revealed to have sunk or damaged at least 26 Japanese ships in a running battle.

Aid for Aussies

Australian Minister Richard G. Casey, arriving at the White House to confer with President Roosevelt on plans to aid Australia in its battle against Japan. Japanese advance troops have already occupied key island outposts of the Commonwealth.

PAN-AMERICA: Half-Loaf Won?

What had first looked like a half-loaf victory for American diplomacy at the Pan-American conference at Rio de Janeiro, was gradually assuming the proportions of a larger loaf.

Most of the South American and Central American countries had gone to Rio intent on a solid-front breach with the Axis. Some already had broken relations, some had declared a state of war.

But Argentina and Chile had remained adamant. Whether that meant simply long coastlines to worry about, or Axis leanings, or economic hopings made little difference.

Enormous pressure was brought to bear, but they would not go "whole hog" along with the rest. Finally, in true diplomatic management, our conferees managed to pull out the plum of a resolution which committed all nations to a breach of relations, but allowed any individual to do so at a time he might select.

Uruguay and Peru were the first to sever relations, followed by Paraguay and Bolivia. The lineup following the breakup of the conference was "At War": United States, Canada, Costa Rica, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Nicaragua, Panama and Salvador.

"Broken Relation": Colombia, Mexico, Peru, Uruguay, Venezuela, Paraguay and Bolivia. Only four maintained any form of normal intercourse, namely, Chile, Ecuador, Brazil and Argentina. It was regarded as certain that the first three would soon sever relations and the fourth, Argentina, would eventually take this step.

AUSTRALIA: Readies for Defense

Despite the heroic fight on land before Singapore, and the strenuous efforts being made to gain air supremacy and control of the long Malayan coasts, most commentators and observers actually believed the "island city of apathy" would eventually be besieged from the mainland, and might well be lost.

This intensified the belief in Australia and in many American quarters that the real battle of the South Pacific would center on the east coast of Australia.

Some trained observers, among them W. W. Chaplin, who had made a year's close study of the East Indies and Australia, including Singapore, publicly expressed the belief that Java and Sumatra constituted a "Maginot line" of defense in the East Indies, and that Japan was intent, in taking the Philippines, Singapore and Borneo on so surrounding and going behind that line that they might attempt to duplicate Germany's similar feat against France.

SQUADRON: Wiped Out

Despite the attacks by Japanese and Thailanders in the rear of the main Malaya battle for Singapore upon the British-American-Chinese defenders of Burma "the modern roads to Mandalay" had reported a two-day "bag" of 32 Japanese bombers, believed to be an entire squadron.

While military secrecy covered the development of the land action, thousands of Burmese, wild with delight, watched the American and British fighters in mad dog-fights overhead at mid-day.

MISCELLANY:

New York: A Berlin worker's slogan, smuggled out of the Reich, was broadcast: "We're winning ourselves to death."

Batavia: The Dutch army airmen, in an attack on a convoy in Macassar strait claimed that they struck a large transport carrying troops, which turned completely over and rolled about, keel upward.

LOS ANGELES.—For some time ahead, outside of two such physical and mental conditioning games as football and boxing, where body contact is vital, the main demand on the country will be for playing games above spectator games.

The two leaders here are golf and bowling. Basketball is also a playing game on the major side, but it also carries a major spectator following, which neither golf nor bowling needs.

The bowling call on the playing side now runs away with all the others. Experts tell me we have 20,000,000 bowlers of one degree or another now actively engaged at target work down the alleys. This far overshadows golf in numbers. But golf still has the call in the matter of open country and five miles of hiking for some 3,000,000 club swingers between the ages of 8 and 80.

Bowling today is by all odds the most popular sport in the United States. It is a game that costs far less than golf, that requires as much skill, but which still misses the sun and wind and rain and the longer leg hike. We are not trying to compare the two, since they are totally different. They are both great games.

Neither has the toughening, fiber-making aspect of football and boxing, in which you have to take and give a physical beating to get anywhere. But not everybody can play football or box. And almost everybody can play golf or bowl.

About Bowling

The astonishing feature about bowling popularity is that it happens to be a difficult game to write about. It lacks the thrills of football, boxing, tennis and other sports. I mean for the reader. It lacks the diagnosing qualities of golf.

But it is one of the simplest of all games for the player, especially on the equipment side. And it happens to carry just as much entertainment as any game one can think about in a hurry.

A game must have amazing qualities to round up from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 players without the ballyhoo so many other games get. If you have never bowled or if you haven't bowled for many years, give it a try and you'll be converted.

About Golf

Golf has always been—and always must be—a game for the player.

Many have asked me why big golf championships don't draw with other sports. In golf it is the spectator who takes the beating, not the player. Although, in a big tournament, the player takes his share.

How often would you draw big crowds in football, racing, baseball or any other game if the spectator had to gallop five or six miles over cross-country territory, jump ditches, climb fences, wade through a morass, fight through briar patches, be a broken-field runner and a blocking back to see every other shot played?

A golf spectator has to be an athlete, in training, willing to take a hard beating, to see most of the shots played in a championship by some leading star who is drawing the crowds.

If golf had the same accommodations for the spectator that other games have, it would be on a par with any game played in the way of admissions. It is the only game I know where the spectator gets a harder workout than the player draws.

The Range of Games

This happens to be the greatest sporting country in the history of a cock-eyed world. But with war conditions as they are there must be certain readjustments.

For the youth of the country I still insist there must be a maximum of body contact games—especially football and boxing. Baseball is also a great game. So are track and field and basketball. Also tennis. Also golf. They help to make legs. They add to physical stamina. They are strictly worth while. This is especially true of golf and bowling for those who have bumped into the march of the years.

But for high school and college play there should be a big increase on the side of football and boxing.

I am not referring to championships, to big spectacles, to money-making enterprises. I am taking into consideration the major values of give and take in the way of discipline, punishment, hardihood, stamina—rugged qualities of manhood.

This doesn't mean there should be any falling off, aside from all the needs of war, on the part of the older men participating in sport. To help win an all-out war an entire country must be physically ready. This means participation in the sport or game that is best suited for the individual.
