Indignant Mothers Protest Robbing Of Cemetery Graves

Indignant mothers have called the editor this week, requesting editorials to curb the robbing of graves in the Stratford cemetery of vases and floral decorations which have been placed there by loved ones.

There is no market in Stratford which would prompt the theft of flowers and vases from graves for monetary values as that which is practiced in our larger cities.

This places the blame to some of the ingenious escapades of some of our bewildering off-spring.

Not knowing what would prompt such action, I can only warn those guilty of the acts that they are creating enmity, and a bitter indignation which I would not wish to incur.

EDITORIALS PLAY STRANGE ROLE IN TOWN'S HISTORY

Stratford's history and its relation to editorial comment paint a rare and quaint picture of the past. So the story goes the town was founded as a church town. This was settled in the early days when two men ran a foot race to determine as to whether or not a gambling house or a place of worship should be erected. The race ended, and a place of worship was started.

About this time along came the editor of the Star, a burning editorial writer of his day. The little slowly turned away from its early decisions but with the combined efforts of his editorials and the cooperation of the church loving people, the town's first place of so-called amusement was purchased and burned with considerable celebration.

At times through the years, the editor has been called on again and again when circumstances aroused the indignation of the citizens.

An amusing editorial decried the negligence of those citizens who allowed livestock to run at large, falling through into cess pools.

Then we find the press was called on again when boisterous lads gathered in the old White Mill, tossing rubbish from the windows endangering those passing by on the highway.

It seems as though BB guns were plentiful about the time the town installed street lights, and burning editorials were used to reconcile the town's youth that these were entirely too costly targets to be used for their entertainment.

Hallowe'en then became a plague on the town and the continuous destruction of property called for more editorials to tame boisterous youngsters and bring them face to face with the fact that values of the property they destroyed came from the sweat of honest toil.

As years passed, the churches mourned the conditions which existed in the little city, and in cooperation with the editor of that day, the Blue Law was introduced. An amusing fact was that the member of the clergy of the drive, forgot to pick up his blank pledges that had been printed for signing on a certain Sunday morning, and he and that fiery editor were the first accused of being parties to the breaking of the law when they entered the business to secure them.

Softball in the years that followed became a popular sport in the evenings. This field was located in the residential section, and at the request of many citizens, was branded a public nuisance, and banned for many seasons.

Fowls and livestock running at large have been an annual complaint along with the usual epidemic of reckless driving which usually develops with each season.

The request for all owners of dogs to collar and tag them so that the strays may be disposed of usually appears about every six years. Just as sure as this editorial appears, in the next few weeks an editorial pleading with those who take matters into their own hands not to poison puppies tied in the yards of their owners usually appears.

The shooting up of mail boxes, and the reckless usage of rifles in the confines of the city, only made its appearance in recent years. These evils will perhaps pass in time.

BUT what happened to those young desperadoes of yester-years, why, they are the mature, sincere citizens who call the editor of today, asking for editorials to curb the prankish and unthinking devilry of the present decade.

And as time goes on, editorials on request will probably appear, depending largely on the seemingly unending ingenuity of the minds of our bewildering off-spring who within a few short years will grow mature and follow the custom of those who endured the follies of their youth by calling the editor of their time about actions of the youth of that day.

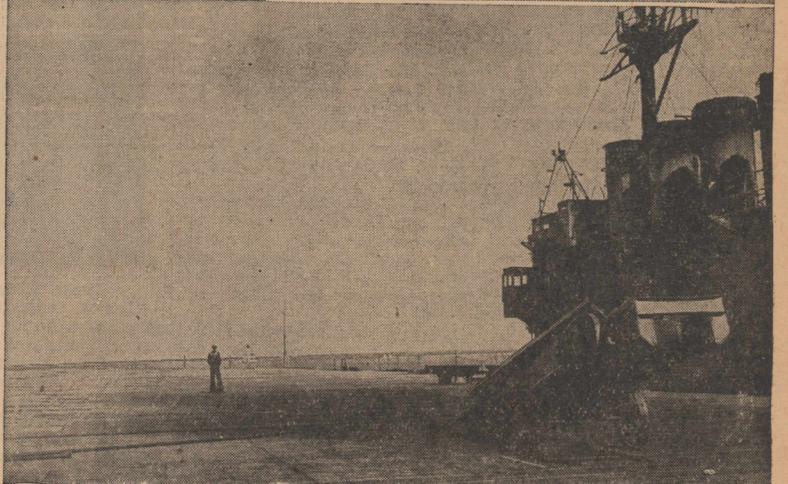

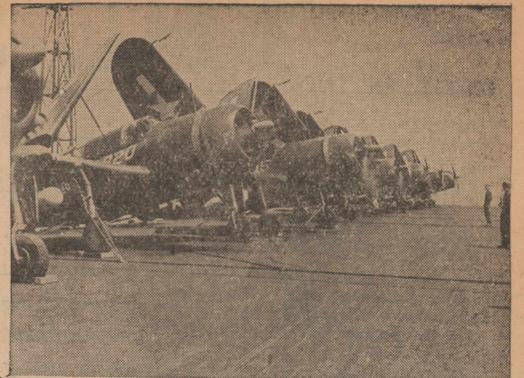

World Peace Insurance

(By George Peck)

Like every other American, I hate war and am rooting for United Nations to achieve its objective of establishing world peace. However, at the risk of being considered a war-monger, let me state it is my sincere belief that our military strength in the air and our aircraft production plant on the ground, will decide the destiny of

THE FLAT TOP of "Fighting Lady" is a safer place today for the wandering sailor than it was a year ago. On the flight decks of many of the carriers that brought America's naval air might to the very soil of Japan itself, the visitor, like the Navyman (below), can walk without fear of thundering propellers or the spotting of squadrons ready to roar out over the sea to drop lethal loads on enemy targets. This V-J Day finds thousands of "the birds with folded wings" voiceless and at rest and their mother hens secured snugly to their piers, but ready for almost instant action should the unwanted time for their services come again.

If we set up these two safeguards, it is even doubtful that any enemy would dare attack us; the knowledge that our retaliation would be swift and devastating to the point of extermination, would act as a powerful deterrent. That would seem to be the one sure way to protect America and to underwrite world peace insurance.

Name Texas Head Of State Chicken Breeding Program

Appointment of F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultryman of Texas A & M College at College Station, Tex., as state chairman of the Chicken-of-Tomorrow Committee opens the way for Texas poultrymen to compete with breeders from other states in the nationwide effort to produce better meat-type chickens.

Goal of the three-year breeding program is to develop a chicken which will yield at least 10 per cent more meat in relation to bone structure, said D. D. Slade, Lexington, Ky., chairman of the national committee, in announcing Beanblossom's appointment. The breeder who produces the best example of a meatier bird will receive a $5,000 cash award from A & P Food Stores, whose officials initiated the program. Other awards will total $3,000.

Objective of both the Texas and national committees is to stimulate production of meatier chickens that will grow more economically, Beanblossom said, in announcing plans for the contest. The hatching date for this state has been set for the week of May 12 to 17 inclusive. The birds will be judged when they reach the age of 14 weeks in August.

"The contest is open to every poultryman," Slade said, "but it will require more than just the selection of an outstanding bird and sending it in to be judged. Each breeder must start with from 100 to 300 baby chicks of known origin and develop a strain or type of chicken that can be reproduced in commercial quantities. Only by such a program of development can poultrymen assure the nation's consumers that chickens of the future will be the source of superior meat."

White Flour Means Lower Feed Prices

CHICAGO — Return of white flour will mean more feed at reasonable prices for livestock and poultry feeders, Walter Berger, president of the American Feed Manufacturers Association, said

Monday. Beginning this week, millers were permitted by the Agriculture Department to stop making "dark flour" and return to "white flour." Berger said that "150,000 tons of millfeeds, which formerly were left in the dark flour every month, would again be available for animal feeding." He predicted a lower trend for feed prices.

Glass Improves Home Safety

PITTSBURGH, PA. — Dark closets and their heaped shelves hold no more hazard for the harried husband or hurried housewife. Hastily improvised stepladders of stacked books or chairs from which to peer into crowded closet corners are no longer necessary. Herculean heat-tempered glass provides a worm's-eye view of what the shelf contains. With this added ounce of prevention of home accidents, a stored article is no longer elusive on a crowded shelf.

YOU DON'T HUNT BEARS WITH A SLINGSHOT

And you're sure hunting trouble when you put cheap, bogus replacement parts on your genuine John Deere Quality-Built Equipment.

The saddest and sorriest folks we know of are those who go around looking for bargain replacement parts—and find them; the folks who learn too late that a bargain today is a headache tomorrow.

Remember that when you put an inferior part on a high-quality implement, you're not repairing; you're seriously impairing the working and wearing qualities of that implement—it all boils down to the age-old saying that a chain is only as strong as its weakest link.

So, be wise! Buy only genuine John Deere repair parts for your John Deere equipment.

Genealogies of the Chinese
Go Back to Ancient Time

Some of the oldest records in the world today are genealogies of the Chinese, who for numerous centuries have supplemented the history of their ancestors with facts about their own families and passed on the documents to their descendants, says Collier's.

One of these genealogies, published in 1535 and now preserved in the United States, covers 81 generations of a family that originated before 1100 B. C.

ATHLETE'S FOOT NEWS

"80.6% of sufferers showed CLINICAL IMPROVEMENT after only 10-day treatment with SORETONE"

Foster D. Snell, Inc., well-known consulting chemists, have just completed a test with a group of men and women suffering from Athlete's Foot. These people were told to use Soretone. At the end of only a ten-day test period, their feet were examined in two ways: 1. Scrapings were taken from the feet and examined by the bacteriologist. 2. Each subject was examined by a physician. We quote from the report:

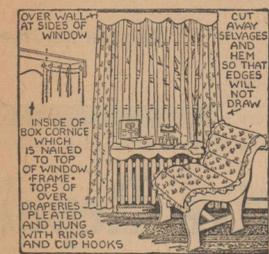

"After the use of Soretone according to the directions on the label for a period of only ten days, 80.6% of the cases showed clinical improvement of an infection which is most stubborn to control."

Improvements were shown in the symptoms of Athlete's Foot--the itching, burning, redness, etc. The report says:

"In our opinion Soretone is of very definite benefit in the treatment of this disease, which is commonly known as 'Athlete's Foot.'"

So if Athlete's Foot troubles you, don't temporize with this nasty, devilish, stubborn infection. Get SORETONE! McKesson & Robbins, Inc., Bridgeport, Connecticut.

Make This Chair, Shelf and Cornice

IT IS a combination of things that harmonize that make a home cozy and attractive. This corner of a room that was furnished with next to nothing proves that.

The chair frame was made from odds and ends of lumber—no piece longer than 2 1/2 feet. The shelf and matching cornice also were made of scrap lumber. The curtains and chair cushion are of an inexpensive cotton print.

This chair is made with pattern 265; and the scallops with No. 207. The curtain idea is from the booklet Make Your Own Curtains. Booklet and patterns are 15 cents each postpaid. Please mail requests for booklet and patterns direct to:

THERE seems to be a wide divergence of opinion as to whether the rabid fanatic is entitled to boo a good ball player on an off day and feed him the Old Bronx Cheer in his time of trouble. As you may know, there are two sides to every argument, the same as a plank. Usually both are just as wooden, leading nowhere, but in this case the argument at hand is a big part of baseball.

Booing a visiting or hostile player is another matter. This is often a tribute to the damage said player has slipped to the home club.

The argument we are taking up here concerns the ethical side in riding the home athlete when he is in the process of cavorting on the soapy chute, otherwise known as a slump.

The fan's argument is that as long as he pays his entrance fee and the game is offering him no particular thrill for the money invested, he has a perfect right to pick up his enjoyment and entertainment over another route, which is letting the erring or futile ball player know just what the fan thinks about him.

The fan has a good case here as long as he doesn't move into personal invective, involving the player's ancestry and his present family, which often happens. The only half-way shock I ever picked up over a booing incident occurred many years ago when Pittsburgh fans started riding Honus Wagner.

Wagner was then in his 41st year. He had been an outstanding star for over 20 seasons. He had given millions as many thrills as any ball player had ever displayed up to the reign of Babe Ruth, the all-time thrill king. His brilliant work at short with his bushel-basket hands, his great base running, his tremendous hitting through two decades seemed to be quite enough to allow for a few lapses in his fading days.

Home and Visiting Boos

But the theme song of the baseball crowd is: "It isn't what you used to be—it's what you are today." Just what the Flying Dutchman thought of the vocal raspberries thrown his way no one ever will know. But I've figured ever since that if a home crowd could boo Wagner, no one else should be immune.

Ball players tell me they have no feeling about being booed in hostile hamlets. I know John McGraw relished the dislike he deliberately built up in Chicago, St. Louis and other cities away from New York. I've heard Matty booed in New York—but not McGraw, although he may have been.

The swiftest and most effective reaction to booing from a rival crowd came from Cobb years ago. Ray Chapman, Cleveland shortstop, had just been killed by Carl Mays in a Yankee game. Cobb had been quoted in an interview denouncing Mays. Cobb denied the interview with considerable fervor.

The next day, appearing with the Tigers against the Yankees, Ty took a terrific vocal lathering from some 35,000 Yankee fans. "It's no fun," Cobb told me that night, "to be booed, hissed and cursed by 35,000 American citizens."

But in place of curling up or growing sour, Cobb stepped out that day and got four hits, stole two or three bases, scored several runs and broke up the ball game. The answer is that the big crowd was cheering him in his last time up.

Showing Up the Mob

This seems to be the best answer. The best reply to a boo or a vocal cataclysm of hate and derision is to show up the maudlin mob of goat-getters. You rarely hear them booing a fellow who is making good. No ball player ever took the terrific vocal riding Babe Ruth absorbed in the Yankee-Cub world series years ago when he came to bat against Jack Root in Chicago. Packed stands howled and yelled and called Babe names they wouldn't print in the press of purgatory. The Babe applied even viler epithets, one against 45,000, as he pointed to the center field flag pole. That was the most famous home run Babe ever hit in his collection of more than 700.

"All I know about it," the Babe told me later, "is that ball was kinder egg-shaped or flattened out after they found it."

Problem of 1947

We have been talking recently with a number of managers not club owners or ball players, about the 1947 baseball season. One of the smartest told me this—with the amazing increase in attendance, with the aftermath of the Mexican league and the union arrival, ball players for 1947 are going to demand big pay increases.

"A good many of these deserve such increases," the manager said,

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feet constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

JESUS AND SINCERITY OF SPEECH

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:16; Proverbs 26:23-28; Matt. 26:69-75.
MEMORY SELECTION—Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbor.—Ephesians 4:25.

God is truth, and therefore any kind of lie is evidence of godlessness. Satan is the father of lies (John 8:44) and the father of all liars.

I. The Prohibition of Lying (Exod. 20:16).
This "thou shalt not" of God has to do primarily with perjury; that is, the telling of an untruth in court.

This is one of the worst forms of lying, because it may result in the one against whom it is practiced losing his liberty, his life or his property, or the destruction of his good reputation.

It is obvious, however, that the commandment covers all forms of lying, whether in business, in social contacts, in the home, or in the church. We might do well to consider what the Bible has to say about whisperers, talebearers, backbiters and others (see Lev. 19:16; II Cor. 12:20).

II. The Purpose of Lying (Prov. 26:23-26).
Sometimes as one hears the continuous stream of lies which flow from the lips of some men, one is apt to feel that it is just a bad habit of careless talking which has become a part of the life.

There is, however, a real purpose behind the lies of men, and that is to deceive in order to get gain or advantage, or to cover up hatred.

How much of all this there is in the world today—yes, and in the church. Those who profess to be the followers of Christ use the devices of the devil in their relations with fellow members of the church. Christian workers who wish to appear greater than they are, or to look greater than others, use deceit and lying. With what results?

III. The Punishment of Lying (Prov. 26:28-28; Matt. 26:75).
One lie leads to, in fact calls for, another, and soon the liar has dugged a pit so big that he stumbles and falls into it. He is like one who starts a great stone rolling, and lo, it rolls back on him and crushes him. Yes, in due time he is shown up before the entire congregation (v. 26).

Then, too, the lie does harm to others. No matter what its nature—a half truth, or a truth used to deceive, or an outright falsehood—it bears awful fruit in the life of the one toward whom it is directed, or whose name is involved (v. 28). Once started, it is often impossible to stop. One cannot ever catch up with a lie.

But there is also a horrible and bitter fruitage of lies in the life and the heart of the liar. Lies do "come home to roost," and they make the heart and life of anyone who has a vestige of decency and honor left, miserably unhappy. Consider Peter (Matt. 26:75).

It is of the utmost importance that we stress before children and young people the awful results of lying, as well as its sinfulness. Lying and deceit are so commonly accepted in our day that many regard it as all right—if you don't get caught. But the fact is, you always do get caught by God—yes, and by your own lie.

IV. The Practice of Lying (Matt. 26:69-74).

Sadly enough, the constant lying of the world seems to have infected the minds and hearts of Christians. Instead of being cleansed from this worldly defilement they carry its awful tendencies into the church.

The great lie within the church, and one of Satan's prize exhibits, is the falsehood of modern religious liberalism (so-called), which is essentially a denial of real New Testament Christianity. Jesus said (v. 42) that if God is our Father we will accept him as the Christ. The one who speaks sweet words about the example, the manhood, the leadership of the Master, and who denies him his place as God, is clearly in mind here as the follower of the father of lies.

Someone has suggested that the great spiritual problem of our day is not the conflict between the church and the world; nor is it to determine how the church can best serve in the world, but rather what to do about the world which has gotten into the church. How did worldliness get into the church? The members brought it there after they had gone out and warmed themselves at the world's fire, and fellowshiped with the world in ungodly living.

The denials made by Peter seem almost unbelievable in the life of one who had been in immediate fellowship with the Lord and who had seen his glory. We have here a revelation of the fact that "the heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked; who can know it?" (Jer. 17:9).

Texas Bluebonnets Are Planted In September

Texas bluebonnets may be planted in September for blooms next spring.

Bluebonnet seed, which are available in most any seed store, will sprout much better if allowed to soak in water 24 hours before planting, says Sadie Hatfield, specialist in landscape gardening with the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. After the seed soak, they should be raked into the soil and watered at once. The young plants will grow during the cold winter months, since they are injured only by heavy freezes and even then only a few will be killed. In light, sandy soil, the bluebonnet will grow best, says Miss Hatfield. In rich, fertilized soil the plants will develop tall stalks, many leaves but few blooms.

In the acid soil area of East Texas, a litmus paper test should be made before planting. If the litmus paper turns pink after being exposed to wet soil for approximately three minutes, the soil should be sweetened with lime or wood ashes, at the rate of one pound of lime or ashes to each 10 by 10 foot plot of sandy soil. Clay or heavy soil requires two pounds for the same sized plot. No other fertilizer is needed. All the bluebonnets need is plenty of sunshine and good drainage at all times.

Although bluebonnets grow best when left where they are planted, they may be moved if necessary. In the Panhandle, where the plants won't grow the year around, they may be cared for in frame gardens or pots during the winter and transplanted in the open during early spring. Few plants can equal the hardiness of the bluebonnet, which will endure dry as well as cold weather.
