Sterling Lindsey Is Winner Of Distinguished Service Award

Sterling Lindsey, Coke County Extension Agent, has been named the winner of the District 7 Distinguished Service Award for his work with the 4-H program. The announcement was made at the Spring meeting of the Volunteer Leaders Association held on Saturday, March 27, at the Angelo State University MIR Center in San Angelo.

The annual award is given to the agent who has best contributed his time and service to the betterment of the 4-H program. The selection is made from nominations by the leaders of the counties in District 7. Judges are from counties in the district who have not submitted a nominee. Lindsey will now compete for the state award.

Each county in the district may submit an agent and/or specialist to be considered. There are sections to the nomination. Section A contains the service to 4-H, program management, leadership development, resource management, educational materials, promotion of 4-H, and liaison with various groups and key people. Section B gives an overview of the nominee's service to 4-H. This section may include letters of recommendation from citizens of the communities and county served.

Lindsey began his career as an Extension agent in 1952. Prior to coming to Coke County in 1957, he served in Coleman, Runnels, and San Saba Counties. He has had many judging teams to place well in his years in Coke County. Last year, the senior soil judging team placed first in district and third in state competition. The junior soil judging team placed first in district. The range judging team was second in district and fourth in state. Besides the county livestock show, Lindsey

Voting Set for Saturday In Three Local Elections

Three elections will be held Saturday, April 4, in Robert Lee to elect school, city and hospital district officials.

Voters who live in the city limits of Robert Lee will elect three members to the city council. The election will be held at the city hall with only three candidates running for the three places. Two incumbents, F.W. Prentice and Jody Rodriguez, and one new candidate, J.A. Dunklin, are listed on the ballot.

Holdover members are Mayor Robert Vaughan and council members Alice Beaty and Wilson Bryan. Allen Clendennen, the other council member whose term expires this year, did not seek reelection.

SCHOOL ELECTION

Two trustees for the Robert Lee Independent School District will be elected. Three candidates are running for the spots, including present members, W.L. (Dub) Metcalf and Phil Ray, plus one new candidate, Mary Herring. The election will be held at the school building, with Mrs. Winnie McPeck serving as election judge. Qualified voters who reside in the school district are eligible to vote.

Holdover trustees who have either one or two more years to serve are Joe Flowers, J.C. Wallace Jr., Ray Aldridge, Jeffie Roberts and John Stephens.

HOSPITAL DISTRICT

Those who are eligible to vote in the election for two directors of the West Coke County Hospital District include all resident qualified voters who reside in Commissioner Precincts 1 and 3. These voters will elect two directors for the district.

The election will be held at the county courthouse with Mrs. Golda Smith serving as election judge.

Three persons are listed as candidates on the ballot. Included are Mrs. Barbara Chesney, Jody Rodriguez and Teddy Pitcock.

Representative Larry Don Shaw Reports from Austin

It was a classic lesson in log-rolling. Individually, the banking, savings and loan, and credit card lobbies knew they would face tough opposition in their efforts to get the Legislature to raise their interest ceilings. So they looked around for other categories of lenders whose need for higher ceilings is obvious--state-chartered credit unions, for example, and retail merchants with open-end charge accounts. Then, the needy and the greedy all teamed up behind one "omnibus interest rate bill," combined all their lobbyists into one powerful juggernaut, and ran right over the people of Texas. It was not a fun thing to watch.

As introduced, the bill would create a "floating" interest rate ceiling, determined on any given day by doubling the current interest rate being paid by the federal government on 6-month U.S. Treasury bills. The bill included a maximum ceiling of 30 percent and a "minimum" ceiling of 18 percent, below which the ceiling could never fall, no matter how low the Treasury bill rate might dip. (Small loan companies, or finance companies, would remain one exception to the ceiling. The interest rate on their smallest loans, taking into consideration front-end "acquisition charges" and monthly handling charges, can run as high as 240 percent.)

Each type of loan is a different animal and, in my opinion, should be dealt with separately. State-chartered credit unions currently have a 12 percent ceiling and need an increase to compete with federally-chartered credit unions which have an 18 percent ceiling. Retail merchants and seed dealers, as another example, have a 10 percent ceiling, which is totally inadequate in today's money market.

These weren't the lenders who were crying the loudest, however. The small loan finance companies and the big bank holding companies actually convinced some legislators that they would be driven from the state if interest ceilings weren't raised.

How is it then that the five largest bank holding companies in Texas last year all showed 3rd quarter profits ranging from 18 to 25 percent higher than their profits in the same quarter of 1979, far better than the nationwide increase of 11 percent? And how is it that the ten largest consumer finance chains in Texas grew 8.85 percent in Texas between 1977 and 1979 and only 3.22 percent nationwide?

We did come within two votes of the two-thirds majority needed to exclude credit card companies from the new higher rates. They are already entitled to 18 percent interest, and they can charge merchants up to 6 percent more for handling. Under the bill as passed, they can charge cardholders double the Treasury bill rate (up to the ceiling), AND they can adjust the rate each month, even on outstanding balances on purchases already made at lower rates.

The only "victory" for Texas borrowers came when we succeeded in lowering the maximum ceiling from the 30 percent originally in the bill to 24 percent.

The bill as passed by the House is still a rotten bill. The Speaker Pro Tem said it's the "worst legislation I've ever seen" in his 10 years in the House. And the way it was rammed through is perhaps the most ominous part of the whole affair. Its successful passage serves as an open invitation for every distantly-related special interest group in the state to gang together to steamroll their pet wishes through the Legislature in an endless succession of "omnibus" bills.

Rep. Shaw Has Town Meeting

Rep. Larry Don Shaw of Big Spring, representative of the 63rd District in the Texas Legislature, held a "Town Meeting" Thursday of last week in Robert Lee School auditorium. About 35 persons attended the session.

The meeting was described as "being well conducted and informative." One of the main items for discussion was the proposed bill to allow small counties to decide how many justices of the peace they will have.

Shaw said he will have similar meetings in the county seats of all six counties in his district in the next few weeks. He urged constituents to contact him on matters which are coming before the legislature and let their opinions be known.

REDISCOVERING AMERICA'S ECONOMIC GENIUS: MATTER OF REDEFINING GOVERNMENT'S ROLE

No country on the face of the earth possesses the economic potential or the industrial might of the United States. But for too many years, we have allowed government to define our economy's limits, shape its direction and decide on how best it should allocate its resources.

The Reagan Administration has taken some bold steps to break with this treadmill of government regulation, taxation and interference, which has brought our economy's productive capacity to almost a total standstill.

The package consists of four key elements: (1) an immediate, deep, and sustained reduction in the growth of Federal expenditures, (2) an across-the-board reduction in taxes for both individuals and business, (3) a reduction in costly, needless regulation, and (4) a moderate, predictable rate of growth in the Nation's money supply to slow inflationary pressures.

Passed by the Congress as a package, and in the manner recommended, these elements can bring growth back to the economy, make us competitive once again on world markets, and provide the incentives necessary for savings and investment in this country. Real and lasting jobs will spring up from the private sector, once again.

No one has said the budget reductions would be painless. The President has asked for cuts in the Federal budget totalling $48.6 billion.

The President's budget reform plan includes some 283 major cuts in programs all across the spectrum of Federal spending. In future years, spending reduction will continue. In the period between 1981 and 1986, Federal spending will be reduced by over $474 billion, if the President's program is followed by the Congress.

Though the reductions sound enormous, they will only be making the first dent in the overwhelming size of the Federal budget. Subtracting the reductions this year will still leave a 1982 budget totalling $695 billion, an increase of 6.1% over 1981.

As much as anything, this is a reflection of the enormous momentum in Federal spending that has been built up by years of inconsistent and contradictory budget planning. Slowing it down, first, then reversing this spending momentum is the President's objective, and it is one the Congress I believe will be working to adopt.

Spending cuts by themselves will not be enough to breathe life into a bedridden economy. Enormous and increasing Federal taxes on both business and individuals have bred confusion and contempt among taxpayers of every kind. The President's plan for economic recovery contemplates reducing both personal and business taxes. The purpose is to stimulate savings and investment by individuals and business, to pump capital into the productive parts of our society, and away from the non-productive parts like the Federal government. With increases in production, it is my firm belief we will see reduction in the upward pressure of prices which for so long have been a dark cloud hanging over savings and investment decisions by shopkeepers, potential home buyers -- in fact, all Americans.

The third part of the President's plan is the elimination of needless, obstructive regulation, which not only ties the hands of business, but eventually costs us all in the form of higher prices for the goods and services we purchase. This is one area which deserves the most critical of reviews; it will be receiving it under the scrutiny of a task force headed by Vice President Bush.

The fourth important part of the President's recovery package is the close cooperation by the Federal Reserve System for a moderate policy of growth in the money supply. One of the prime engines to the inflation we have been experiencing has been the reckless policy of printing new dollars when there have not been enough on hand to pay the bills. Unfortunately, this has been accepted policy in the past.

We have mortgaged our future in the hope such shortsighted policies would not catch up with reality. As we are learning now, the day of reckoning always comes.

However comprehensive, however sound, no plan for economic recovery will work without the support of the American people. But it is here that I am most optimistic. Americans can and will sacrifice and do their fair share to meet a challenge as important as any foreign threat to our shores: this is the threat to our economic future.

Americans understand the difficult choices ahead. It is up to you to make certain the Congress does. Express your views. It will make a difference.

Racing Season To Begin Sat.

The Dead Cow Raceway, located on the Ballinger highway east of Bronte, will have its 1981 opening Saturday at April 4. The action will begin at 8 p.m.

Club fights featuring beautiful trophy girls will be on the program, according to Dirty Don Bell, owner and manager of the track.

Cars and drivers are expected from Odessa, Fort Stockton, Sonora, Del Rio, Abilene, San Angelo and the surrounding area.

Dirty Don said plans have been made for this year's races to be better than ever.

BRUSH CONTROL SUBJECT OF TUESDAY MEETING

Brush control will be the major topic in a meeting for Coke County producers to be held next Tuesday, April 7, in the Coke County Commissioners Courtroom, at 2:00 p.m.

Dr. J.Q. "Jake" Landers, Extension Service area range specialist of San Angelo, will be present to present the program. He will discuss some basics on brush control then present information on the status of various chemicals.

All producers interested in brush and/or weed control are encouraged to attend and hear Dr. Landers presentation.

Lamb Import Bill Introduced By Loeffler

Rep. Tom Loeffler, (R-Tex), today introduced legislation to curb the flow of imported lamb into the United States.

The bill is designed to correct the oversight created when this important commodity was omitted from current meat import restrictions.

"This legislation will provide protection for both the consumer and the producer of lamb by assuring an adequate supply of domestic lamb meat at a fair price while maintaining the stability of our international lamb trade," Loeffler said.

Loeffler said sheep producers in this country have suffered "a steady and serious decline in their herds" in recent years, dropping from a high of 50 million head in 1950 to about 12 million in 1978.

The decline has resulted in direct competition between importers and domestic producers, creating an excess supply in a relatively small market, Loeffler said.

"In addition, unlabeled foreign lamb meat is sold in many stores alongside fresh domestic lamb," Loeffler said. "The American consumer is not always afforded the opportunity to choose between the imported product and the usually more fresh domestic lamb."

Therefore, the bill also authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to provide for the labelling of all imported lamb meat to the best extent possible.

Cosponsors of the bill include Texas Democrats Kent Hance and Charlie Stenholm, and Republicans John Rousselot of California and Joe Skeen of New Mexico.

SHERIFF MILLICAN ATTENDS SEMINAR

Coke County Sheriff Marshall Millican attended a 40 hour seminar last week in San Angelo. The in-service training was held March 23-27 at the Police Training Academy.

Some of the subjects covered were laws of evidence, crime scene methods, and interviews and interrogations. Excellent courses were held on arson, child abuse, auto theft, and theft from coin operated machines. He said the week-long courses were very beneficial to the operation of his office.

PAGEANT ASSOCIATION PLANNING PRODUCTION

The executive committee of the Coke County Pageant Association met Monday, March 30, to discuss and plan the summer production of OLE COKE COUNTY.

Enthusiastic reports were heard from committees. A membership drive is planned in the near future. All members and friends of the pageant association are urged to meet at the theatre at 8:30 a.m. April 11 for a clean up day, due to the damages done in the September flood.

Someone burned down the brush arbor near the Pecan Baptist Church last Friday night. Such rascality could have taken the church also, had it not been for William and Pleas Millican.

Rufe Whiteside of Olga was in our city Tuesday greeting his many friends.

One of our best citizens, Will Richards, of Fort Chadbourne passed from us after being ill 104 days. He was buried at Old Fort Cemetery and was laid away in a most beautiful casket.

Wednesday evening about 6 o'clock a horse driven by Carl Warren become tired of monotonous every day life and set out to see the sights. He ran down main street and defied all efforts to stop him until he collided with the general delivery wagon of Buchanan and Bell. An examination revealed no serious damage was done besides the harness and shafts slightly injured.

J.E. Robbins of Hayrick remembered us on subscription Monday and also ordered the Dallas News.

Notice is hereby given that I own and control every acre of land in my Grape Creek pastures. All trespassers for hauling wood, hunting hogs, robbing bee trees, gathering pecans or any violation will be prosecuted to the fullest. N.M. March.

Lou Wright, NREMT-SS, who suffered a knee injury in February will be able to resume the completion portion of the paramedic course in Abilene which begins soon. She is also planning to return to active ambulance duty within the next week.

Valerie Taylor and Gene Hinnard both volunteers with the West Coke County Ambulance Service were neck and neck in the recent sausage sales. Other volunteers also made record sales. Watch for news about ordering extra sausage.

Dorothea Helen Wright, NREMT and EMS Instructor reported that the examiners from the Texas State Department of Health were quite pleased with the Robert Lee EMT Class students at the mid-term evaluation. Ernie Abalos, Juanita Schnabel, Gaylon Pitcock, Celeste Service, Tim Bosworth, Helen Murtishaw and Gene Hinnard were authorized to begin their clinical rotations at Shannon in San Angelo. Students will spend time in the Emergency Room (24 hours); Operating Room (8 hours) and ICU/CCU (8 hours) for a total of 140 clinical hours. In addition, they will each have the opportunity to ride with the San Angelo Fire Department EMS on ambulance runs. These students have invested tremendous hours and are only half-way through the course. THEY deserve YOUR support!!!

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Devlin of Duluth, Minn. recently spent eight days visiting his sister, Mrs. O.W. Newell, and other relatives here. Also toured were San Antonio's historical sights and architecture, with its Spanish influence, which was new to the Devlins. They said they were impressed, on their first visit to West Texas, with its towns and friendly people.

Landers Rites In California

A former resident of Robert Lee, Veroma Lois Landers, died March 27 in the El Centro Community Hospital, El Centro, Calif. after a short illness.

She was born June 7, 1907, in Robert Lee, the daughter of Judge William Helm Bell and Merriet Elizabeth (Hall) Bell.

Mrs. Landers spent most of her life in Texas, where she attended Sul Ross Teacher's College. She married Arthur F. Landers on June 8, 1927, in Robert Lee. Her husband, "Mannie" Landers, was a longtime teacher and principal at Robert Lee. For many years she was a substitute teacher in the Fort Stockton and Midland school systems. Upon retirement, the Landerses moved from Midland to Holtville, Calif. in March of 1967. She was a member of the First Baptist Church.

She is survived by her husband, a son and daughter-in-law, Craig and Jean Landers and granddaughter, Lori Landers, all of Holtville, Calif.; five sisters, Mrs. Paul (Opal) Brown and Mrs. Marcus (Robbie) Turner of San Angelo, Mrs. Lee (Jeffie) Williamson of Big Spring, Mrs. Freeman (Willie) Clark and Mrs. Alley (Alta) Bilbo of Robert Lee.

Services were held on March 29 in the Helms Bros. Chapel, El Centro, Calif. Burial was at Evergreen Cemetery.

Sherrill Davis Visits Europe

Sherrill Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Davis, recently spent two weeks with a friend, Miss Taby Martinez, in Schwabisch Hall, West Germany. The girls are graduates, and former roommates, at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. Miss Martinez teaches first grade to military dependents on the Army base there.

Sherrill left Dallas March 12 and flew non-stop to Germany. While on the trip, they visited with Miss Martinez' brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Josua Martinez, of Zweilsiiken, also a former H.S.U. student and other friends, formerly of Abilene, in Frankfurt, Germany. One of the highlights was a skiing trip on Zups Spitze Mountain in Garmisch. They also visited many other points of interest in the area. She reported a wonderful trip and returned home March 26.

Mrs. Clayton Bloodworth spent several days last week in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Burnett, at San Angelo, making the acquaintance of her new grandson, Matthew Ray Burnett.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carroll and little daughter, Julie, spent the weekend visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E.C. Bennett. Carroll is an attorney in Midland and the grandson of the Bennetts and Julie is their only great-grandchild.

FORT WORTH--This is Cowtown...for over a century the cattleman's capital and the hub of the real West. Fort Worth was the cowman's opportunity of true grit before John Wayne made a movie on the subject and long before the Urban Cowboy movement was born.

This writer has been here since Sunday attending the 104th annual convention of Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association. And for me, it's been like old home week. Back some 15 years ago, for nearly two years, I called Fort Worth home when I was associate editor and public relations person for The Cattleman magazine.

Many of my colleagues of that era are still with TSCRA. Don King, TSCRA secretary-general manager, was my boss back then.

Certainly the convention and its many speakers, Vice President George Bush, Texas Governor Bill Clements and San Angelo John Cargile (TSCRA president) have given some information to write home about. And you will be hearing some of that in this space for a couple of weeks.

However, for me the highlight of the whole meeting has to be the dedication of TSCRA's new home at 1301 W. Seventh Street. The multi-million dollar facility is most workable, beautiful and designed to handle any and all crises for the 25,000-member cattle raiser organization and the huge monthly magazine in a unique way. Offices, conference rooms, library, museum, computer center and parking make the new home a place ranch folks can share with pride.

Just the same, as we toured, I possessed a little sinking feeling and loneliness for the building where I worked. The address of 410 East Weatherford, a few blocks away, holds so many memories for me. It was there that I observed a number of crises within the cattle industry, the formation of the feeders division, the transition of The Cattleman and the very change of administration in TSCRA.

It was the final victory of those many problems which delivered us to this day. I realize that in years to come, the new building will gain its marks from challenges as well. Nonetheless, I did have to drive by the old building and park and visualize again the view from my office window on the second floor. That satisfied me.

The Tarrant County Convention Center is an asset to the city. Four years ago we gathered here to hear a keynote address from Ronald Reagan. His popularity was so great at that time, we liked to never have got him to the press room for interviews with the media. Some of us felt he would be the next president back then!

The Trade Show and western art show with some 150 booths has grown each year since its beginning at TSCRA Conventions. It in itself would keep an advertising-public relations man busy and has almost got this one talked to death. Each booth promotes new products for the livestock industry along with services and ideas to make the job on the range easier.

Besides getting an additional education, the trade fair, the convention and the trip to Fort Worth proved to be triple success. Seeing friends I made 15 years ago and meeting new ones gives us all a new lease on life. It inspires us to return home with new goals and challenges.

Thieves Raid Sun Oil Lease

Sun Oil Co. lost approximately $6,000 worth of oil field equipment to thieves over the weekend, Sheriff Marshall Millican reported this week. The material was taken from a lease near Silver where a workover job was being done on a well.

Among the missing items were a 5,000 pound pressure, two inch valve, valued at $1700; a 3,000 pound, two inch valve, valued at $1200; a 3,000 pound, two and seven-eighths valve valued at $1200; and an OCT choke assembly valued at $500.

The equipment was taken some time between late Saturday afternoon and Monday morning, when it was discovered missing.

Sheriff Millican investigation of the theft is underway, but as of late Tuesday, there were no suspects.

No Suspects In Burglary

Investigation is continuing in the burglary of Mack's Exxon Station located on the old Sterling City highway near Lake Spence and owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ogden McGinley. Authorities said this week that they have no suspects.

The McGinleys discovered the break-in early Monday morning, March 23, after the burglars struck some time Sunday night. Entry was through a side door on the west and the locks were broken off.

Sheriff Marshall Millican said the loss would be well over $300 at this time, but he noted that other losses are usually found later, when a more complete inventory can be taken.

Among the missing items were 14 cartons of cigarettes, six Zebco reels, four rods, nine knives, water jugs and various other miscellaneous items. There was no cash loss and the intruders apparently did not enter the adjoining laundry.

SPRING WEATHER ARRIVES

Spring has definitely been in the air this week with temperatures climbing up toward the 80 degree mark. Pleasant weather has been the rule, with only occasional high winds to mar the picture.

It has been reported that the light frosts of a couple a weeks ago killed some of the fruit crop in this area. However, most trees still have their blooms.

you're doing laundry, watching the tube or taking a snooze. What's more, you know you've got a phone that's as reliable as the phone company. So call your General Telephone business office and ask for an extension phone. You'll sleep better.
