MR. CLEMENT TALKS.

Member of Commerce Commission Before Senate Committee.

CALLS PROF. MEYER A "DOCTRINAIRE"

Wealth Which Could Hire Men to Advocate Theory of Vested Rights.

Washington, May 20. Both sides of the rate hearing question were represented at the session Friday of the senate committee on interstate commerce. Interstate Commerce Commissioner Judson Clements was the star witness, detailing the difficulties that confronted the commission in its work and repudiating attacks made on that body, particularly answering a number of criticisms by James J. Hill. Satisfaction with the present conditions was attested by the following shippers: Frederick L. Lyster, of Fredonia, Kan., E. T. Koch, Cedar Rapids, la., Archibald McGregor, Springfield, Mo., and others.

Commissioner Clements spoke sarcastically of the claim that only traffic men had the knowledge necessary to make rates and declared that in the hearings an effort had been made A to turn the investigation into a criticism of the commission, Mr. Clement's saying that it was not intended in the proposed legislation to confer general rate making power on the commission and, in answering a question of Mr. Dolliver, declared that the decisions in the maximum rate case which held that the power allowed to be exercised would give authority to fix all rates went too far. The commission, he said would deal with complaints as they were made.

Commissioner Clements in referring to statements of Prof. Meyer of the Chicago university, whom he called a "doctrinaire" suggested that there was "an aristocracy of wealth which could hire men to advocat the theory of vested rights against the rights of individuals," and asserted that the "patron saint of the institution to Which Prof. Meyer belongs," had a colossal fortune built up by rebates enabling him to obtain the property of competitors. He said that in the press and colleges were found the advocates of the superiority of vested rights.

HOCH MUST HANG.

Man Accused of Having Forty Wives Found Guilty of Murder.

Chicago, May 20 .- Johann Hoch, who by his own confession is several times a bigamist and who is charged by the police with having married at least 40 women in the past 15 years, was found gullty of murder Friday and the death sentence recommended, by a jury in Judge Kersten's court. The crime for which Hoch will be led to the galows was the murder of his last known wife, Mrs. Marie Welcker Hoch. Hoch had been married to this woman but a few days when she became suddenly ill and died. He then formed an alliance with the sister of the dead woman and securing the latter's money fled from Chlcage. This woman in quest of revenge notified the police that Hoch had poisoned her sister and a sarch for Hoch was begun. He was found two weeks later in New York and brought back to Chicago and confronted by several of his supposed wives. During the trial expert testimony was offered by the state that Hoch had poisoned the woman by administering arsenic. Friday's verdict was one of the quickest on record in Cook county, the jury having reached a decision in less than half an hour. Three ballots were taken. The first ballot was unaulmous is to Heah's guilt and then a ballot
