CATTLE. Supply Today More Liberal, Trade

St. Joseph & Grand Island. A. T. & S. F.

The supply of cattle today was just fairly liberal and not up to what trade had been expecting as a result of recent advances in prices. At five markets the total in sight was below a Tuesday average for these points. The local supply ran largely to steers and included a very fair showing of good kinds of medium to strong weights. Demand did not show the snap apparent yesterday and bids on first rounds were not up to the standard of that day. But there proved to be an outlet for the cattle and prices obtained as a rule were close to a steady level, although in some instances they were thought to be a shade easier. Demand proved suffi-

We have prepared and published at considerable expense a beautiful descriptive book entitled "As Seen by the Camera," which is daintily printed in four colors on fine enameled paper, with appropriate original cover design. It contains many fine illustrations from photographs taken especially for this book, in Central and Western Nebraska. The descriptive matter is interesting, and verified figures are given concerning improvements and crop conditions of the past few years. This will be mailed free to anyone who is interested in land.

This book is not only of value to anyone who is interested in Nebraska, but is a valuable textbook for conservative investors and homeseekers everywhere. You cannot afford to buy land anywhere until you have read this book, for you will learn more about the selection of real estate from one reading of it than you ever knew before. Chairman Boutell to read the report of the committee on rules pursuant to which the investigating committee was appointed. When the clerk reached that portion of the report which said that Mr. Lilley at his own instance appeared before the committee on rules in connection with his charges, Mr. Lilley interrupted to say that he had received a written notice from the clerk of that committee to appear before it.

When the reading of the report had been concluded Chairman Boutell called on Representative Lilley and asked him if he was prepared to go thead and state the facts in his possession. Mr. Lilley said he was not prepared to be examined at this time; hat he desired to be represented by an attorney and had not yet secured one. He however, submitted a number of locuments to the committee. He statectives and said that in order that his shadowing be stopped he would isk to have summoned as witnesses three operatives connected with a loal detective agency. He also subnitted a list of witnesses that he deto be summoned

Mr. Lilley stated that he did not propose to put himself in the attitude it but he would, if permi by the committee and assisted by an attorney, examine these witnesses and help the committee to the fullest extent possible in bringing out all the facts. He said that to formulate written charges and limit the investigation to these charges would simply be to stiffle real investigation and make the adoption of the resolution a

CAME BACK TO THE BLANKET.

Chaplain Didn't Make as Good Ex change as He Thought.

One would think that almost any thing is preferable to a soaked bed in the rainy open. The chaplain of the Fifty-second Massachusetts volunteers did not find it so, as the major of the regiment relates in an article on "Up the Teche with Banks." A bridge had been built, and the union troops were supposedly taking a rest, camping be side the bayou.

The chaplain and the sergeant major were sleeping, or trying to sleep, d that he had been shadowed by de under the same blanket. The sergeant major was soon fast asleep. Down came the rain.
