

CITY WINS CONTEST

ENID, OKLA., WHIPS RAILROAD IN BITTER FIGHT.

Attempt of Rock Island to Establish Townsite of Its Own is Abandoned—Victory Accomplished by Aid of Senate.

Enid, Okla.—The last chapter in the most historic town fight of the southwest was written when the Rock Island railroad abandoned its station in North Enid and moved the effects of the office there to this city.

When the Cherokee strip was opened for settlement in 1893 the Rock Island had the only line across the strip from north to south in the western part of the new country.

Twelve hundred acres of land were bought by the Rock Island from the Cherokee Indians prior to the opening of two miles north of the townsite of Enid and a future city laid out.

Thirty thousand persons assembled on the two sites the day of the opening, but the number soon diminished to about 5,000 at South Enid, as the Rock Island persisted in calling the present city, and 2,000 or 3,000 in North Enid.

In that year popular resentment reached a pitch where it was dangerous to life to ride on the railroad between Kansas and Texas.

To the Rock Island—Better build a depot in Enid. Wrecks became frequent, tracks were torn up or blocked.

A few months after the opening federal troops were imported to protect the railroad's property in Pond Creek and Enid.

So notorious did the loss of life and property and the reign of lawlessness become that congress finally took a hand and ordered the Rock Island to put in a depot at "South Enid."

The first train stopped in Enid September 16, 1894, while the inhabitants of the city were holding a great anniversary celebration.

MARRIAGE RECALLED

ALFRED VANDERBILT'S WEDDING MOST GORGEOUS IN AMERICA.

New York Society Discussing Brilliant Nuptials as Result of Divorce Suit—Union Was Genuine Love Match.

New York.—Society has recovered far enough from the shock of Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt's divorce suit to recall details of her gorgeous wedding at Newport January 14, 1901.

The marriage was the most brilliant ever held in America. Presents valued at more than a million dollars were given the young couple by their admiring friends.

Aside from the unusual richness of the ceremony, it was notable, society people recall, as a "real love match among the 400."

Mrs. Vanderbilt, her acquaintances say, wants to marry again, and that for this reason is hurrying the proceedings.

It is with a feeling akin to sadness that members of the 400 are to-day recalling the details of the splendid Newport wedding.

The guests went to Newport on special trains to witness the event, and it was the sensation of society for months afterward.

The ceremony took place at noon in the Zabriskie Memorial church, and was attended by about 100 guests, among whom were many of the ultra-fashionable set of New York society.

The wedding gifts were admitted to be the most magnificent ever seen at an American wedding. Mr. Vanderbilt's gift to his bride was a silver box containing securities worth $3,700,000.

Mrs. Cornelius gave to her daughter-in-law a superb tiara of the most striking beauty. Every stone used in its manufacture is very valuable and as near perfection as it was possible to obtain.

For many days decorators were busy getting Harbor View ready for the reception and the breakfast.

RACE AGAINST TIME

TROOPER LOST OPPORTUNITY BY NARROW MARGIN.

William Kerr One of the British Soldiers Who Reached Fatal Spot Just Too Late to Save Prince Imperial.

Digging in a mine in Joplin is William Kerr, who narrowly escaped being commingled with the prince.

For years Kerr was a resident of Kansas City, but it was not until a short time ago, just when he was on the point of taking his departure for the zinc fields, that he divulged his history.

New pointers in the art of digging trenches came to Kansas City with Kerr. His was none of the slow shoveling which usually obtains.

But this story is to tell of the race made by Kerr as a British trooper on his good mount, the goal being France. The opponent was Father Time.

France was not safe for a Bona parte after the Prussian invasion and the communa. Napoleon III, dying heart-broken in 1873, left little but his son, a delicate youth of 17.

School life and inaction palled when in 1879 came the chance which he had hoped for. England was at war with the Zulus.

When there was chance to do some scouting with a small party the prince imperial, as he is known to history, went along.

Those who managed to reach their horses in safety escaped. The prince might have escaped also had not his horse become unmanageable.

An examination of the place of ambush revealed the body of him who by the imperialists of France was termed Napoleon IV. The Zulus had stripped it of everything save the famous amulet of Charlemagne suspended by a chain around his throat.

How to Get Poorer Quicker. We hear a great deal about get-rich-quick schemes, but if you want to get poor quick, go into Wall street without a level head or a lot of experience.

Some time ago a New York man discharged a valuable employe because he played the races. When asked if he thought gambling wrong, he said: "It isn't so much that; but I am convinced that a man who would make the loose, one-sided contract required by a bookmaker is not competent to take care of his own business interests or those of anybody else."

Terrible Appetite for Chicken. Henry E. Dixey was sneering about the squabble that went on between two brave young men over a Carnegie medal.

ENERGETIC BOY HIRES FATHER.

Fifteen-Year-Old Merchant Also Employs Big Brother While He Studies.

St. Louis.—McKinley Edmiston, 15 years old, a student at a St. Louis business college, knows what it is like to have his father and big brother work for him.

His father, J. D. Edmiston, at that time chief clerk and registrar of the office of the state inspector of grain for Illinois, made the loan.

McKinley made use of the basement of his home for a distributing station. His business grew until he had 13 boys working for him.

Mr. Edmiston and another son, Clyde, will take care of the business until McKinley has finished his business course.

FARMERS IN NEED OF HELP. Immigration Officials Take Steps to Send Aliens to Country.

Washington.—The division of information—the immigration bureau can furnish places for 500 men who are willing to work on farms from $15 to $35 per month, board and lodging included.

The object of the division in sending out these circulars was to find places for aliens who came from farms in their native countries and form a large percentage of foreigners who are stranded in New York city, or nearby so, and who make a precarious living doing odd jobs.
