CATTLE.

Lower Turn on Native Steers For Middle Days of Week.

The small run of cattle arriving today was mostly yarded in the southern division. On the native side there were not, in fact, enough cattle offered to stimulate competition and trade conditions remain the same as on Thursday.

While the week opened on a snappy market with prices for all kinds of native killing cattle on a higher turn the middle days of the week saw a lower turn along the line and at all markets. This lower turn came on supplies that were not up to figures of last week or a year ago, the five point total of 106,000 being 18,000 less than last week and 35,000 less than a year ago. For cause for this decline of 15¢ to 25¢ from high time of the week it is necessary to look at something else than supply. The most plausible and perhaps the real cause may be found in the fact that beef prices are so high that consumption has been curtailed to a minimum and with prices for live cattle at an abnormally high level, the packers are not letting any chance to break prices go by default. Admittedly the available supply of beef cattle is short and prices must rule high indefinitely unless there should develop some unusual disturbance in industrial centers to curtail the buying capacity of consumers. It is perfectly natural that with cattle prices as high as at present and with the attitude of consumers such as it is, sharp breaks in prices are apt to occur at any time.

There has been an entire absence of choice to prime dry lot steers at this market and but few at any point during the week. The best here in load lots were heavy weights that sold at $7.15, although choice to prime steers would readily sell at $7.00 to around $8.00. Bulk of fat steers have been of grassy grades that sell here between $6.25 and $6.75 with a few at $6.90 to $7.05. Common to fat grassy light natives have been selling largely at $5.25 to $6.00 with inferior lots quotable down to $4.50.

COWS, BULLS AND MIXED.

There was not enough butcher stuff on offer this morning to stimulate any material competition. Trading was of rather slow character, but there was no change of consequence in prices.

Small receipts, scarcity of good to choice stuff and activity of demand have been principal features of the week's trade in cows and heifers. Supplies have been exceptionally meager all week and under a good demand prices were carried upward to the extent of 25¢ to 40¢ from last week's closing level. Following the break in steers toward the close of the week, there was a little activity of demand, but prices were well maintained up to the finish. Very choice to prime cows or heifers showed up this week, bulk of receipts consisting of common to medium grades. A few prime cows sold up to $5.50, but most of the decent grades sold in a range of $3.00 to $4.00. Cutters went largely at $2.00 to $3.00. Demand for cutters continues very quiet and there was little change in prices during the week.

STOCKS AND FEEDERS.

Trading in stockers and feeders today was of nominal extent at unchanged prices. The volume of stocker and feeder trade this week has been the smallest of the season. Supplies have been exceptionally light and the market of a nominal character all week. Farmers are busy with their work and have not given much attention to the purchasing of stock cattle. Inquiry from the country has not displaced much life, but nevertheless more good yearling stockers and fleshy feeders than are arriving could be handled on this market. These kinds are quotable strong to a point higher than a week ago. Buyers are indifferent toward anything on the trashy order and such steers are hard to move at low prices. A larger movement of range cattle is expected next week and prospects are that the run will include a larger showing of steers suitable for the stocker and feeder trade.

There has been little or no change in the market for stock cows and heifers this week.

QUARANTINE DIVISION.

Bulk of today's cattle offerings were yarded in the quarantine division. Twenty-five cars put in an appearance, three direct to a packer. This was the heaviest run of the week; in fact, except on Monday, receipts of southern cattle have been too small to allow of a test of values. The supply today ran largely to steers of pretty decent quality, in the 1,300 to 1,600 lb. class. The market was a little slow to get under headway and prices were quoted steady to weak. Best steers offered sold at $4.60.

The trade in butcher stuff was at a shade easier price.

HOGS.

Market Takes Upward Turn Again, Prices Big Dime Higher.

Reactions come quick in the hog market these days. Following two days of sharp decline and a sluggish close yesterday with above 3,000 unsold hogs in pens at the finish, the demand revived suddenly this morning and prices were readily advanced fully 10 cents over the average market of the previous day with sales not infrequently quoted big 10¢ to 15¢ higher than low time of that day. At the advance the demand proved equal to both fresh and holdover supply and none found but few unsold hogs in the pens.

The supply for the week at the local point is about the same as for the previous week and is little ahead of one year ago. At five points the total of 282,000 is 23,000 less than last week and 62,000 less than one year ago. On the advance of today prices now current are right at 20 cents higher than one week ago, but 10¢ to 15¢ lower than at high time of this week.

Quantity of hogs offered was about the same as it has been running all week. Prices ranged from $6.27 to $6.52, with the bulk selling at $6.35 to $6.50. The bulk yesterday sold at $6.27 to $6.35, a week ago at $6.15 to $6.25, a month ago at $5.90 to $6.00, a year ago at $5.80 to $5.90, two years ago at $5.25 to $5.35, four years ago at $5.35 to $5.45.

Live Stock Movements Heavier Than Last Year.

Washington, July 10.—Movements of internal commerce during May, as reported to the bureau of statistics of the department of Commerce and labor, show considerably heavier live stock movements than last year. There is also a slight but steady improvement in the freight car situation, the improvement appearing to be more or less uniform in the various parts of the country. Grain, lumber, and coal, while still below the May, 1907, figures in volume, show a marked percentage of improvement over the preceding months of the present year.

Live stock receipts at seven interior primary markets during May, 3,252,000 head, show a slight decrease compared with like figures for the corresponding months of 1907 and 1906, 3,292,800 and 3,340,985 head; the decrease being due mainly to cattle and horses and mules, while hogs and sheep showed material increases. Receipts of all kinds of live stock for the first five months of the year, 15,761,832 head, is considerably in excess of the 1907 and 1906 figures of 16,850,200 and 16,774,988 head, respectively. The increased receipts for the season of five months are shown in the case of hogs, while the other classes of animals show a slight decline.

May grain receipts at fifteen primary markets, 44,153,942 bushels, while slightly above the April receipts, were, however, below the May figures of 1907 and 1906 of 57,821,696 and 47,369,298 bushels, respectively, the decrease being due mainly to Duluth, Minneapolis, and St. Louis, while Omaha shows a decided increase over May, 1907. The total grain receipts constitute 114,570,270 bushels of oats, 2,314,871 bushels of barley, and 325,620 bushels of rye, besides 789,439 bushels of flaxseed, which however, do not enter into the above totals. Wheat and corn show gains over last month's receipts, while the other cereals indicate slight decreases. Grain receipts at the same markets during the nine months of the crop season, beginning September 1, 1907, 265,892,430 bushels, were likewise below the corresponding 1906-7 figures of 653,729,857 bushels, all the markets in question except Indianapolis, Little Rock, and Peoria, showing smaller season receipts than a year ago.

Stocks of meats at five principal interior markets at the close of the month, 322,082,766 pounds, were in excess of like figures at the end of May, 1907 and 1906. Kansas City, Omaha, St. Joseph and Milwaukee show decreases, while Chicago shows a decided increase in the stocks on hand as compared with the May figures for last year.

During the month shipments of packing house products, 126,761,639 pounds, while larger than the preceding month's shipment, fall below the May, 1907, figure of 160,558,8

BOARD TO REPAIR DUMP.

Hornby Mill Company Claims Its Ground Is Used—Diseases on Decrease.

Immediate action will be taken by the board of health to secure the repairing of the new city dump, which has suffered extensively from the ravages of the river.

Several weeks ago two rows of the piling supporting the dump were washed away and lately more has followed. The Hornby Mill Company in a complaint to the board last night says that garbage men are now dumping the refuse they haul on the company's property.

The board, accompanied by a representative of the board of public works, will this afternoon inspect the dump with a view to securing immediate attention to it. Contagious diseases in the city have been greatly on the decrease, according to the report of the city physician, Dr. E. S. Ballard. There is but one case of smallpox, twenty-three of tuberculosis, eleven of whooping-cough, two of measles, one of cholera.

OUR FARMERS' GREAT LUCK.

Their Prosperity and Great Income Keep Country's Business Going.

Boston Advertiser: In an analysis of the business and financial situation in the United States, prepared for the British government, Seymour Bell, British commercial agent in the United States, strikes at the meat when he says that "a country that produces crops valued at nearly $7,500,000,000 is unlikely long to suffer from industrial stagnation." This represents, Mr. Bell logically believes, too large a sum to be held long uninvested. Farmers have had nine years of almost uninterrupted prosperity and those who a few years ago owed money now own it for investment. They will invest it. As this great amount of money finds its way into circulation the impetus will not be lost, and the progress of the rehabilitation of business, already noted, will continue with an accelerated speed.

MOTHERLESS PIGS.

There are so-called orphan pigs from a great many different causes aside from the death of the dam. It is often the case that the litter is too large for the milk supply. In which case the runt would stand poor show if left in competition with their stronger mates.

Again the litter may be too small to allow to run with the sow. In any of these or other cases it is necessary and profitable, if properly done, to remove pigs to be raised by hand. Most persons expect a funeral as soon as such task is undertaken and their expectations are usually gratified.

It is true that a very small percentage of these unfortunates ever reach maturity. They are usually given very poor quarters, such as a box, which soon becomes damp and foul from an unchanged bed. How seldom do the little fellows have a nice, warm bed where the temperature would be that of a bed with the dam.

Unsanitary quarters will produce indigestion with the best of feeding. Little judgment is often shown in feeding. The pig is put down to a pan of milk where he may fill himself at a 60-mile rate of speed. The main precaution in feeding very young stock is to avoid their getting the milk too rapidly or too much at a time.

A THRIFTY PEASANTRY.

Over in England wages of farm help are ridiculously cheap, measured by American standards. The class of farm hands known as the peasantry receive smaller compensation than it would be possible to live on in this country and keep respectable. A stock yards man who has recently returned from a trip to the south of England, his old home, tells of the thriftiness of the peasant class.

help is called. This sheep man, who is an expert with the flock, receives 13 shilling ($3.25) per week. I know a man who has devoted all his life to the care of sheep for this weekly stipend. He is married, but wife, like himself, is frugal and has no wants beyond the horizon of their little home. Out of their kitchen garden they secure much to supply their meager table. Meat is a luxury and is not on the regular bill of fare. They have lived all their lives in this primitive fashion. They need but few clothes, and what they have are coarse but durable. They are happy in their poverty and simplicity and have no hope nor desire to journey out of their immediate neighborhood. Here is the strangest part of it all. Out of this niggardly sum of $3.25 per week they have lived and saved. Yes, they have saved so well that this man told me he was going to retire. They have $4,000 at interest and the income from this is quite enough to supply all their little wants.

SHEEP IN SOUTHWEST TEXAS.

San Antonio Stockman: The sheep raising industry is fast gaining the balance over the cattle business in Val Verde county, and that section of the state in general, according to John Kelly, a prominent sheep and cattleman of Comstock. Mr. Kelly has on his ranch about 20,000 sheep and almost as many cattle. The sheep of Val Verde county, he says, are this year entirely free from contagious disease of any kind and with the fine range conditions are fat. This year's receipts from wool sent from southwest Texas he believes will be by far the largest in the history of the industry. Mr. Kelly is one of the few ranchmen who believe the finest, fattest cattle are grown on a range grazed by sheep. He is now on his way home from St. Louis, where he went with a train load of beef cattle, and says he was assured by the buyers of that city that his cattle were the finest shipped out of Texas this season. He attributes the fact largely to his method of grazing sheep and cattle on the same range.

MISSOURI HEN IS GREAT.

Her Merry Cackle Song Dims Busy Bee's Sweet Refrain.

Jefferson City, Mo.—Great is the Missouri hen, and her greatness is growing, as is demonstrated by a young man here with a fondness of figures.

Thirty-one of the counties of the state for which the compilation of figures relative to the poultry products, shipments for 1907 have been completed by the Missouri State Bureau of Labor and Statistics reported during that year 40,371,891 dozens of eggs, or a total of 484,461,612 eggs. Statisticians estimate that three-fifths of a given product are exported and the remaining two-fifths consumed at home. If this be correct, the yield of eggs in these thirty-one counties—of which but few of the big counties have been heard from—was 67,286,255 dozens, or 807,435,920 eggs, or nine eggs for each of Uncle Sam's men, women and children, counting them at $5,000,000, with 15,435,920 left over with which to begin another round.

Pie For 15,387 Men.

But the aforementioned young man, whose taste runs to pastry as well as to figures, with a partiality for custard pie, has invaded the domain of the cook and figured the eggs exported from those thirty-one counties into pies. He has allowed two eggs to a pie, figuring that that number would make one sufficiently "rich for his blood," and figure out as a result 242,239,806 pies. Then, something after the fashion of Jack Horner, he fingers and figures those pies into dimensions of 10 inches in diameter and 3 inches in thickness, giving to each pie 285.4 square inches. Then the 242,239,806 pie would contain 19,242,807,505 square inches, and if converted into a single pie would make one measuring straight across 12,950 feet and 46,745 feet in circumference. Clapping hands, 15,387 men could circle about this pie, each one looking down upon his portion of it in anticipation. If it were evenly divided, of securing a slice three feet wide at the outer rim, 6,485 feet long and one inch in thickness.

Belt Almost Around Earth.

Before making this huge pie, however, this statistician did some other things with these eggs, taking only into the calculation in this instance, as with the pie, the 40,371,891 dozens exported. He finds placing them end to end, they would make a string 1,322,209 1/2 inches in length. Bringing the string to feet he would have to walk 111,022,458 feet to go from one end to the other of it, or a distance of 37,007,484 yards. This would mean 21,027 miles, or a belt of eggs almost sufficiently long to encircle the globe. Side by side these eggs would cover a piece of ground 847,507,261 inches wide, or would be 70,626,938 feet, or 23,552,229 yards across—a distance of 13,281 miles in width. Counting thirty dozen to a case, and 990 cases to a car, it would take a train of 2,243 cars to carry them, and if one shipment the train would be fifteen and one-quarter miles long. Stood up, end on end, the egg exports of these thirty-one counties would make a shaft 200,040 times higher than the Washington monument, which is 555 feet tall. The revenues realized from these eggs by the counties exporting them was $9,055,770, or only $944,230 short of giving to each of Missouri's 3,500,000 people $2.60.

When the returns are all in from Missouri's eighty-one other counties, calculating only the exports, and leaving out of consideration the two-fifths of the product consumed at home, this young man does not think it would be a difficult matter to prove that the Missouri hen, from a standpoint of energy and attention to business, has displaced even the "busy little bee," whose industry moved Dr. Watts to a song in his praise.

NOTICE STOCKMEN.

MONEY TO YOU IF YOU READ CAREFULLY.

Are you a feeder or breeder of stock? If you are interested in the raising of stock you know from experience that it is essential to keep your herd in a healthy and thrifty condition, crowd the growth and build up the frame of the animal as quickly as possible. As is well known a year old pig weighing 300 to 400 lbs. commands a better and quicker sale than a 5 or 6 year old hog of similar weight. The young, tender and healthy condition accompanying a young porker of that age and weight has a decided advantage over an older animal of forced condition. Hence the necessity of considering carefully the condition powders and remedies used in the keeping of your herd. Too often we find a stock food or condition powder being manufactured and put on the market for no other purpose than to give results only in some one particular cause. Just sufficient to consume a sale and make a profit by such sale, not considering the interest or benefit of the consumer who pays the price, and not considering in the manufacture of that particular remedy whether or not it contains properties that will insure a profit also to the consumer, but keep an eye singular on the old adage, that "self preservation is the first law of nature" and no matter who sinks, just only that they may swim. Such modes of doing business, sorry to say, we come in contact with every day. Still why should we support an institution of that kind? Not at all necessary.

We have in THE ST. JOSEPH STOCK FOOD MANUFACTURING COMPANY of St. Joseph, Mo., a company doing a manufacturing business on the merits of the goods manufactured and sold, believing that a customer paying the price for a product should get value received for his money and to that end every purchaser of THE OLD RELIABLE BRANDS OF STOCK FOOD OR CONDITION POWDER, HOG CHOLERA REMEDY, DIP, POULTRY TONIC AND LICE KILLER has the assurance under our guarantee that upon failure to derive the benefits from the use of our products as per our recommendations, his money back. Unlike the products of so many of our competitors we use no salt or ashes or unnecessary filler to make the consumer pay an enormous price for a product such as salt or ashes which he can provide at home. If your hogs are affected with worms, thumps, green scours, diarrhea, wheezes, coughs, lung fever, staggers, loss of appetite, etc., we have an infallible remedy as well as a never failing preventive of cholera. Our condition powder for horses and cattle we guarantee to save more than the cost of our product in saving of feed, taking on flesh, and increase in butter fat in milk, opening pores of skin, cleansing stock of worms and all common diseases among either horses or cattle. Our OLD RELIABLE DIP for hogs, cattle, sheep and all manner of animals, nothing better at any price to rid them of lice, ticks, fleas, etc. As a disinfectant the best to be had.

Our OLD RELIABLE POULTRY TONIC AND LICE KILLER is invaluable to the owner and fancier of poultry, being manufactured and sold as our other remedies under a guarantee to give results as per our recommendation or money refunded. A full line of dipping tanks, spray pumps, hog rings and all accessories always on hand. Prices and all information cheerfully furnished upon application. We are the sole owners of the original formula of the J. B. Barnett remedies. ST. JOSEPH STOCK FOOD COMPANY.

TOO MUCH WHIFFLE-TREE.

Fort Collins, Col.—The writer has just returned from a trip of inspection of a young orchard. The call was urgent, but the principal source of trouble proved to be too much whiffle tree. A careless hired man had succeeded in barking a number of trees in a ten-acre apple orchard, and then in many instances pear blight had gained entrance. The injuries were thus extended. Some of the trees were dead, but in a majority of instances the blight had died out and the trees were making heroic efforts to heal the wounds. But a wound which extends half way around a trunk is slow in healing, and there is danger of the trunk breaking at that point during wind storms. The loss of a five-year-old tree is considerable, so the owner was advised to bridge graft over the wounds. This can be easily and quickly done by fitting clogs over the wound.

HIS THIRD CHANCE

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN AGAIN NOMINATED FOR PRESIDENCY BY DEMOCRATS.

AFTER ALL NIGHT SESSION

Vote Was Delayed by the Failure of the Committee on Resolutions to Report—Much Oratory.

Convention Hall, Denver, July 10.—For the third time, William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska was at an early hour Friday morning nominated by a Democratic convention as the presidential candidate of his party, after a long and exciting session continuous since seven o'clock Thursday night.

Test votes on various questions since the beginning of the convention demonstrated that the Nebraskan's nomination was absolutely sure.

Only one ballot was necessary to nominate Mr. Bryan and it resulted as follows: Bryan, 89 1/2%; Johnson, 46; Gray, 59 1/2%; scattered, 2. New York cast all of her 75 votes for the Nebraskan. After the announcement of the vote the convention at 3:40 a. m. adjourned until 1 p. m. Friday.

HON WILLIAM J. BRYAN. Nominated for Third Time as Democratic Candidate for President.

Balloting did not begin until long after two o'clock a. m. as Mr. Bryan's friends refused to go on with the selection of the candidate, fearing that by some possible clever trick a "joker" might be slipped in the platform.

The resolutions committee completed its labors shortly before midnight, and just at twelve o'clock Gov. Haskell presented the report, embodying the completed platform, which was framed in exact accordance with Mr. Bryan's views and orders. It was adopted by unanimous vote.

Even after this there was much delay, due to long-winded patriots who insisted on making five-minute seconding speeches. In this way the balloting was still further delayed, and at three o'clock Friday morning was still in progress.

Wild and uproarious scenes marked the session after 1:30 o'clock. Tired, sore and angry through and through, the delegates demanded that the seemingly endless speeches be shut off. Harsh language was used, and personal encounters were narrowly averted.

The speech of Ignatius Dunn of Omaha, renominating William Jennings Bryan as the Democratic candidate for president, precipitated another avalanche of cheers and applause at the Democratic convention Thursday night. The tumult began at 9:10 o'clock and lasted an hour and thirteen minutes. The excitement was fully as intense as it was Wednesday, but lacked in lasting powers, although it broke the Roosevelt record in Chicago.

When Mr. Dunn declared that his candidate was the choice of the militant Democracy of the country, the convention broke in with wild cheers. The ever ready flags were tossed aloft and a roar of applause swept through the hall. While the cheering was at its height a white dove was let loose from the gallery and flew across the Convention hall, while the Democrats hailed it with great enthusiasm and cheered as long as it was in sight. Mr. Dunn brought out the name of William Jennings Bryan with intense dramatic force and the response from the great throng was electric. The delegates sprang up, the galleries followed suit, and the demonstration was under way in a manner that for the time being at least promised to rival Wednesday's exhibition of enthusiasm.

A few moments after the cheering began an immense oil painting of Mr. Bryan was lowered from behind a monster American shield, which had reposed over the chairman's desk ever since the convention began. The appearance of the picture raised the pitch of the outburst. It was not long then before the scenes of Wednesday's prolonged demonstration were renewed. The delegates puffed from the convention floor onto the already over-crowded stage. James Dahman of Omaha, a Bryan leader, jumped to the secretary's desk and urged the throng forward. The state standard were grouped about the platform. Galleries and delegates were on their feet waving the thousands of flags and cheering themselves hoarse. Many of the New York delegates stood and cheered with the others, but the majority remained seated.

A feature of the demonstration never before part of a national convention was that the greater part of the cheering and uproar was distinctly heard by the candidate at his home, 500 miles away. A telephone to which wires had been placed in the hall and Mr. Bryan at the other end of the wire, was at Fairview, where he was able to hear the cheering in his honor that filled the Convention hall.

That all the cheer was not yet killed in the convention was made manifest when Mr. Hammond concluded his speech nominating Gov. Johnson of Minnesota. The sons of Minnesota responded with cheer and several delegates in Massachusetts and Oklahoma joined in. Applause came down from the galleries, but the noise was only a whisper compared with the terrific roar of the Bryan demonstration. Some of the Georgia delegates mounted their chairs after a few minutes and added their voice to those of the Minnesota delegates. The demonstration lasted for 25 minutes. There was no attempt at a demonstration when Judge Gray was nominated.

Man and Girl Drown.

Hutchinson, Kan., July 10.—Claude Harris, a barber, 31 years old, and Miss Pearl Frazier of Atchison, Kan., known here as Jeanette Rowe, 18 years old, were drowned in Brandy lake, ten miles southeast of town, Thursday afternoon. Miss Frazier and Maud Sargeant were with Ed. Foster, also of Hutchinson, in a boat. They crowded it too near one end and it capsized. Foster took Miss Sargeant out of the lake, and Harris, who was with his wife in a boat near by, went to the aid of Miss Frazier. In her struggles she pulled both under and the others could do nothing to help them. The bodies were taken out a short time after. Harris came here from Kansas City two years ago and Miss Frazier had been here a few months.

Oklahoma Troops Ready.

Guthrie, Ok., July 10.—Dispatches received by Acting Gov. Bellamy from the scene of the threatened Snake Indian uprising in Oklahoma county indicate that the situation is sufficiently critical to warrant holding the militia in readiness to leave at a moment's notice by special train for the scene of the trouble. Reports Thursday afternoon that the Indians were pillaging the country around Henryetta were found to be untrue, and one company ordered out at the request of Sheriff Odum of McIntosh county was later directed to remain under arms until further orders.

Commander Peary in Portland.

Portland, Me., July 10.—Commander Peary arrived in town early Thursday and, accompanied by Mrs. Peary and their children, went to Mattocks to pass the day. Commander and Mrs. Peary will leave Friday for St. John to join the steamer Roosevelt for the polar expedition. Mrs. Peary will accompany her husband as far as Cape Breton.

Kansas Insurance Cases Monday.

Topeka, Kan., July 10.—Attorney General Jackson announced Thursday that on next Monday hearing would begin at Hutchinson in the insurance cases. Sixty-five fire insurance companies were complained against for using Eldridge rates and therefore violating the state anti-trust law. Tom Wagstaff of Independence will assist Mr. Jackson in the prosecution.

Old and New Committees Dine.

Denver, Col., July 10.—A dinner was given Thursday night at the Brown Palace hotel by Thomas Taggart, chairman of the Democratic national committee, to the old and new members of the committee. Practically the entire membership was present.

Bishop Potter's Condition.

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 10.—Bishop Henry C. Potter's condition Thursday night is less favorable than it has been for some days past. He passed the night in comfort and was in no pain during the day, but he has not gained in strength.

PLATFORM AT LAST

AFTER MANY DELAYS AND MUCH HARD WORK RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE REPORTS.

SUMMARY OF THE PLANKS

Principal Points of the Platform as Read by Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma and Adopted by Convention.

Denver, Col., July 10.—After more than 54 hours of almost continuous service, the committee on resolutions of the Democratic national convention Thursday night at 11:20 o'clock concluded its work on the platform, and after a period of revision and rearrangement of sections, the members of the committee headed by the chairman, Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma, with the document under his arm, started for the convention hall.

After the last plank had been agreed upon Senator Daniel of Virginia and ex-Senator Smith of New Jersey announced their intention to support the nominee of the convention on the platform agreed upon.

The committee adopted for presentation to the convention the following resolutions regarding Abraham Lincoln's birth celebration:

"Whereas: The one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, occurs on February 12, 1909,

"Therefore, Be it resolved by the Democratic national convention, that we recommend its appropriate celebration throughout our land."

The committee voted down a resolution providing that hereafter a majority vote shall be sufficient to effect the nomination of any candidate for president or vice-president in national Democratic conventions.

Following is a brief summary giving the most important points in the platform:

The preamble ends with the following: "Shall the people rule? is the overshadowing issue which manifests itself in all the questions now under discussion."

Regarding labor and injunctions the platform says: "The courts of justice are the bulwark of our liberties." The pledge of 1896 and 1904 platforms relating to contempt and providing for jury trial is reiterated. The right of wage earners to organize is upheld. Injunctions should not be issued in cases which involve labor disputes unless injunctions would be issued in like cases where no labor dispute was involved.

The belated promise of tariff reform is welcomed and the immediate repeal of the tariff on wood pulp, print paper, lumber, timber and logs is demanded.

The present power of the speaker in the house of representatives is deplored.

The publicity of campaign contributions is favored.

More power is favored for the Interstate Commerce commission and a valuation of the railroads taking into consideration the physical value and cost of reproduction is recommended. The anti-pass and rebate laws are approved.

The present Republican congress is condemned for extravagance.

Republicans are criticized for adding to the number of officeholders.

The responsibility for the recent panic is charged to the opposition party.

President Roosevelt is charged with using patronage to nominate one of his cabinet officers.

The immediate adoption of a comprehensive plan for improvement of waterways is favored.

The "experiment in imperialism" in the Philippines is condemned as a blunder.

An income tax as part of our revenue system is urged.

The election of United States senators by direct vote of the people is favored.

The party is pledged to regulate the rates and services of telegraph and telephone companies.

The platform declares for a navy adequate to defend the coasts of the country.

The admission to the country of Asiatic immigrants who cannot be amalgamated with our population is opposed.

The admission of Arizona and New Mexico as separate states is favored.

A territorial form of government is demanded for Alaska and Porto Rico.

The speedy completion of the Panama canal is favored.

Federal aid to state and local authorities in building post roads is promised.

The party is in favor of a generous pension policy.

The conservation of the natural resources of the country is demanded.

Regarding trusts the platform says: "A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. We therefore favor the vigorous enforcement of the criminal law against guilty trust magnates and officials, and demand the enactment of such additional legislation as may be necessary to make it impossible for a private monopoly to exist in the United States."

The Interstate Commerce commission has ordered a reduction in rates on all freight originating in the east for Missouri and Mississippi river points. The case was brought by Kansas City whole sale merchants, and was argued last spring.

Opening OF THE New Cigar Store

I have opened today the handsomest, most up-to-date Cigar Store in St. Joseph, and a traveling salesman told me yesterday (after making a special trip from Omaha to see it) that it was the finest he had seen between the two oceans. I am glad to have done this much towards welcoming the new hotel I'm directly across from the main entrance. TALLOW, FURS, PELTS, WOOL, HIDES

St. Joseph, Mo. Topeka, Kan. Wichita, Kan. Grand Island, Neb.

There has been some improvement in the hide market the past week and sales have been made on eastern markets at 1-2c per pound advance and we are marking up our prices 1-2c also for the coming week. This advance of course is partly due to the fact that we can from now on figure on all short haired hides, but for long haired stock we are still obliged to make a reduction as tanners do not want them. Tallow and wool are steady at unchanged prices. Let us hear from you with your shipments.

Major General Putnam, U. S. A.

THE hero of Bunker Hill—who first marshaled the Riflemen of the Revolution—and left his plow standing in the furrow to hoist the banner of defiance against legislative oppression! Who has not heard of him?

When others faltered and grew pale, facing fearful odds, this intrepid old Puritan Commander remained strong-hearted, steadfast and true. His tavern, known to fame as the "GENERAL WOLFE," was (in its day) a celebrated meeting place for Revolutionary veterans.

In its cozy bar parlor they delighted to periodically gather and drink with him the foaming juices of the malt; toasting each other in memory of the splendid and heroic days when they gave blood and treasure to found this nation and write the immortal principle of "PERSONAL LIBERTY" in our laws forevermore.

Hale, hearty and generous minded to the last, Israel Putnam died at eighty-three, and what living Prohibitionist dare stand up and say, "I am a purer patriot than he?"
